The swift and reliable analgesic action of AUDAX® Ear Drops was demonstrated very clearly in this controlled British trial.<sup>(1)</sup> In another recent British Trial,<sup>(2)</sup> the rapidly effective local analgesic action of AUDAX Ear Drops was also clearly shown. The author concluded: "The use of choline salicylate AUDAX Ear Drops provided a valuable means of giving prompt relief to patients with severe ear pain."

In these British clinical trials, AUDAX Ear Drops were compared with the commonly used, oral analgesics paracetamol and aspirin and AUDAX Ear Drops were shown to be superior to both.

AUDAX Ear Drops utilise choline salicylate in a rapidly penetrating vehicle and contain no sensitising or irritating constituents.

Studies of 6,500 cases treated with cephalexin

A further 5,000 patients had been treated with cephalexin and reported in the world literature since a review of more than 1,500 cases was presented to the Sixth International Congress on Chemotherapy.

The infections reported were of the urinary tract (2,238); lower respiratory tract (1,235); ear, nose and throat (892); skin and soft tissue (610); genitals (959); septicaemia (28); endocarditis (4); osteo-articular infections (87); biliary tract infections (13); peritonitis (11); and intestinal infections (45). Satisfactory responses included (a) clinical and bacteriological cure and, (b) clinical cure or marked clinical improvement without full bacteriological clearance. A summary of the results obtained with infections of urinary and lower respiratory tracts, is given in the tables below:

Urinary tract infections treated with cephalexin

Infection	Number	Per cent satisfactory response
Cystitis, acute or simple	216	92
Cystitis, chronic or complicated	105	57
Pyelonephritis, acute or simple	222	88
Pyelonephritis, chronic or complicated	440	77
Unspecified	1,255	87

*Summary of papers presented at the VIIth International Congress of Chemotherapy, Prague, August 1971.

Lower respiratory infections treated with cephalexin

Infection	Number	Per cent satisfactory response
Pneumonia/bronchopneumonia	345	91
Bronchitis, acute	134	94
Chronic bronchitis/bronchiectasis	326	87
Lung abscess/empyema	32	81
Unspecified	416	87

The presenters of the survey emphasised the need for the dosage to be adequate — particularly in lower respiratory infections. A statistically significant difference had been shown in favour of using 3 G to 4 G a day compared with 2 G a day for the treatment of these infections.

In most of the acute infections treated cephalexin had given excellent results. In certain chronic infections, particularly of the lung and bone, the response was not so rapid, but when treatment had been prolonged, clinical results had been very good. The adoption of higher doses, 4 G to 6 G or more daily, had widened the scope of cephalexin in the field of severe infections such as septicaemia and endocarditis. The results so far obtained with such infections had been encouraging although the number of cases treated was relatively small.

Even when cephalexin had been used in high dosage or for long periods, the tolerance had been good. Only rarely had treatment been discontinued because of side effects. When side effects had occurred they usually had been mild, many disappearing during treatment. Changes in haematological and biological parameters had been infrequent. There had been no evidence of nephrotoxicity. Cephalexin had been used successfully and safely in patients with impaired renal function, although accumulation of the antibiotic might occur in such patients unless dosage were decreased according to the creatinine clearance.

94% success rate with cephalexin in acute bronchitis

New clinical evidence* shows that cephalexin has achieved a 94% success rate in acute bronchitis. 87% clinical success rate was also noted in chronic bronchitis and bronchiectasis. The total number of bronchitic patients treated with cephalexin was 460.

These excellent results in bronchitis were achieved with a remarkably low incidence of side effects such as diarrhoea and sensitivity rashes. And it was noted that "No cross sensitivity was seen with cephalexin in the eight patients with a history of penicillin hypersensitivity."

Cephalexin in lower respiratory infections

Research workers from Royal Northern Hospital, London, expressed the opinion, on the basis of trials they described, that cephalexin was a suitable antibiotic for lower respiratory infections requiring treatment in hospital, and for urinary infections. For the respiratory infections, daily dosages of 3 G or 4 G produced a significantly quicker response as shown by X-ray, than 2 G — without increased incidence of side effects.

Nineteen men and 16 women (aged 21 to 85 years) with chronic urinary tract infection were treated with cephalexin 500 mg six hourly for 10 days. Twenty-eight of these had abnormal excretion pyelograms. Sixty-one per cent of Escherichia coli infections; 80 per cent of Proteus mirabilis infections, and both cases of Klebsiella aerogenes infection were cleared at 10 days. Overall eradication of pathogenic organisms was obtained in 68 per cent of the cases. The relapse rate after 14 days was 23 per cent.

Fifty in-patients with lower respiratory infections were given orally 2 G cephalexin per day (group A); a further 60 in-patients were given a dosage of 3 G or 4 G daily (group B). The groups received treatment for seven to ten days, they were matched for age.

Eighty of the patients had bronchopneumonia, 58 with chronic airways obstruction. Nine patients had lobar pneumonia, and 15 chronic bronchitis with airways obstruction, in whom the superimposed infection was the primary reason for hospital admission. All received physiotherapy, and 21 with airways obstruction were given a bronchodilator. Every patient with pneumonia was treated for 10 days. Forty-nine per cent of the pneumonia patients in group A showed complete resolution of radiological signs on day seven, compared with 72 per cent of those in group B — a significant difference. On the tenth day, however, no significant difference in radiological signs was detectable between the two groups. Clinical cure (clear X-ray, sterile sputum, no fever, no leucocytosis) at 10 days was obtained in 68 per cent of the patients in group A and in 81.5 per cent in group B, the difference not being significant. Bacteriological eradication was obtained in 73 per cent of group A and 91 per cent of group B patients, the difference being significant.

No cross sensitivity was seen with cephalexin in the eight patients with a history of penicillin hypersensitivity. The antibiotic was discontinued in five patients; in one for diarrhoea and four for vomiting, but in two cases the drug was not wholly to blame since vomiting continued after its withdrawal. Generally cephalexin was well tolerated.

Contra-indication

Ceporex is contra-indicated in persons who have shown hypersensitivity to cephalosporins.

Precautions

In patients treated with Ceporex, a false-positive reaction for glucose in the urine may occur with Benedict's or Fehling's solutions, or with 'Clinitest' tablets, but not with enzyme-based tests such as 'Clinistix'.

Ceporex is usually tolerated well by patients allergic to penicillin, but cross-reaction can occur occasionally.

As with other antibiotics, Ceporex should be administered with caution in patients with a history of allergy, especially to drugs. When renal function is markedly reduced, Ceporex will accumulate in the serum and tissues unless dosage is suitably reduced.

Laboratory experiments with animals and clinical experience show no evidence of teratogenicity, but as with all drugs, caution is needed during pregnancy.

Adverse reactions

A small proportion of patients receiving Ceporex may experience gastrointestinal disturbances such as nausea, vomiting, diarrhoea, anorexia and general abdominal discomfort. As with all broad-spectrum antibiotics, superinfection (sometimes monilial) can occur, and may present as vulvo-vaginitis.

Reversible neutropenia has occurred in a few patients, but is very rare.

Generalised drug rashes — urticarial or maculopapular — are uncommon.

Administration and dosage

Ceporex is administered orally. Treatment should continue for at least two days after the temperature has returned to normal and symptoms have subsided. However, in chronic, recurrent or complicated upper urinary tract infections a course of at least two weeks' duration may be necessary.

When renal function is considerably impaired, the dosage should be reduced. If the creatinine clearance is 20 to 50 ml/minute, the adult dosage of Ceporex should not exceed 3 grams/day; if between 5 and 20 ml/minute, not more than 1.5 grams daily; if the clearance is below 5 ml/minute, dosage should not exceed 500 mg/day.

Patients receiving intermittent dialysis should be given an additional 500 mg of Ceporex after each dialysis, i.e., a total dosage of up to 1 gram on that day.

New facts about oral Ceporex confirm very low incidence of side effects

New clinical data on cephalexin confirms the extremely low incidence of side effects accompanying the high clinical success rate.

"Even when cephalexin had been used in high dosage or for long periods, the tolerance had been good. Only rarely had treatment been discontinued because of side effects. When side effects had occurred they usually had been mild, many disappearing during treatment."*

It all adds up to the simple fact that in acute bronchitis, you can trust Ceporex to reduce the risks and improve the results.

A lifetime of freedom begins with Intal

Before INTAL, a diagnosis of asthma often meant a life sentence of constantly aborting attacks with bronchodilators, anti-histamines or steroids. Patients were constantly at risk from the relentless progress of lung damage and lived in perpetual fear of an asthmatic episode.

The discovery of INTAL (Sodium Cromoglycate BP) represents a turning point in the management of this distressing complaint. Newly diagnosed patients, as well as those of long standing, benefit from this entirely new approach to therapy. INTAL actually prevents the onset of asthmatic attacks, and is notably free from serious side effects.

By preventing asthma attacks the possibility of consequent lung damage may be avoided enabling the patients to lead a fuller, happier life. If they remember their daily INTAL – they can forget their asthma.

As an RAMC Doctor your practice is global.

A good way to gain experience as a Doctor is to serve as an Officer in the Royal Army Medical Corps.

You could be called upon to practise in a wide variety of conditions, both at home and abroad.

Because, for some of the time, in the RAMC you're likely to see something of the world: in Germany, Cyprus, or maybe on exercises in countries from Canada to the Far East.

You can join for 3 or 5 years. And in that time you'll not only travel, you'll also gain valuable medical experience.

You'll hold the rank of Captain. And at say 24 years of age you earn around £3668 gross p.a. On top of that, there are all sorts of allowances.

Your surgery is well equipped by the Army. And you won't just be dealing with soldiers. There are wives and children to care for, too.

What's more, you get 6 weeks' paid leave every year.

At any time during your service, you can apply to stay on for a Regular Commission. And have the opportunity of specialising. In fact, around 70% of all Regular Officers do take up post-graduate studies.

Alternatively, you can leave at the end of your Short Service Commission. All the better for the experience and for a tax-free gratuity. You get £1500 after 3 years. £3000 after 5.

So think about it. And before you decide on anything, find out more about the RAMC.

The nausea, vomiting and gastric side effects associated with nitrofurantoin are now effectively prevented by the addition of deglycyrrhizinated liquorice in CEDURAN tablets. In 82 patients<sup>1</sup> previously completely intolerant of nitrofurantoin, there was virtually a total absence of gastric side-effects when they were treated with CEDURAN. In a recent survey<sup>2</sup> of the sensitivities of urinary pathogens, nitrofurantoin was one of the only three preparations recommended as primary oral treatments. Duphaston defeats dysmenorrhoea and brings the woman back into his life again. Its progestational activity is unique in that it is orally active and non-contraceptive. Duphaston has been shown in 3 double blind trials to be successful in treating dysmenorrhoea. Endometriosis, a cause of secondary dysmenorrhoea and sometimes infertility, responds remarkably well to Duphaston. Because Duphaston does not inhibit ovulation, pregnancy, the best treatment, is not prevented. Each Duphaston tablet contains 10 mg dydrogesterone. Further information on request.

Research oriented and an open mind?

Most physicians would agree that the research-oriented members of the profession have made, and are making, a significant contribution to the advancement of medical knowledge. What is not so generally recognised is that much of the knowledge that has practical application has come from the pharmaceutical industry. Thus, the work of the pharmaceutical physician contributes both to the understanding and treatment of disease. In addition to becoming an authority in specific areas, this specialist has variety and intellectual stimulation. Our client, a British pharmaceutical company with large international interests, has a £multi-million research budget. Successful laboratory research and high standards in clinical research have enabled the company's physicians to score some notable "firsts"

It now seeks an additional physician, man or woman, to play an active part in its work. Ideally you should be in the 24 to 35 years age range with post-qualification experience either in hospitals, general medicine or research together with an interest in general medicine or other clinical work. An interest in research coupled with common sense, precision of thought and the ability to work in harmony with colleagues both in the medical profession and in the company are essential. Publication of scientific papers and a part-time clinical appointment are actively encouraged. Travel is involved. Location - Greater London. For specific information about the appointment, the work and the company please write or telephone in confidence to R. Llewellyn reference AM.2983.

SERVICES

Are you in your Pre-Registration Year —or recently fully registered?

Before you commit yourself to your permanent pattern of life, consider what the Royal Air Force has to offer.

The chance to practise total medical care, as a GP

Your first job would probably be a Junior Medical Officer on a large RAF Station. There would be at least one other doctor. Between you, you would have a 'list' of 2000 to 3000 people—servicemen and their families. You would meet all the usual clinical problems of a GP—and get plenty of experience in pediatrics. As well as this, you would be actively involved in the practice of aviation medicine and gain experience in the preventive, occupational and social fields.

Conditions of work are extremely good. You would have a consulting room in a specially built Medical Centre—like a small hospital with its own treatment room, theatre and resuscitation room, and wards for a dozen or so short-stay patients. There is a full secretarial and nursing staff. Your clinical freedom would be absolute.

The chance to specialise, too

Because General Practice is so highly developed in the RAF, this does not mean you have no chance to specialise. The contrary is true. 47% of all RAF doctors are now working in specialist departments. On a 'full career' contract you have every opportunity to reach consultant status in your late or middle thirties—perhaps earlier.

The chance to study for higher qualifications

Any RAF doctor, whether specialist or GP (as long as he is not on the very shortest of contracts) can apply for six months study leave on full salary. On a permanent commission, he may have up to two years external study leave.

The chance to travel

The RAF operates in many different conditions and climates. Abroad, the RAF doctor looks after RAF personnel and their families and, very often, the local population as well. Your gain in clinical experience would be marked.

The RAF hospital at Akrotiri, Cyprus. It has 130 beds and can be adapted to accommodate up to 250. Here are a few figures for 1970: admissions, 4041, with an average length of stay of 11 days; X-Rays, 10,857; path lab tests, 53,703; anaesthetics, 2,035. Medical staff is 22 doctors, 31 nurses, 25 nursing auxiliaries. The hospital has specialist departments of surgery, orthopaedic surgery, medicine, gynaecology and obstetrics, pathology, dentistry, neuropsychiatry, radiology, anaesthetics, otorhinolaryngology and ophthalmology; and, in the tamarisk trees by Dreamers' Bay, perhaps the most beautiful location of any hospital.

The chance of a good social and family life

The RAF is a young community, with a full and active social life. There are facilities for almost every kind of sport and, which is most important, the time to enjoy your family while you are still a young man. Living conditions are excellent. If you are single you live in the Officers' Mess, which has all the amenities of a good hotel. If you are married, you will nearly always have a furnished house that goes with the job; rent for this is very modest; and it can save a large financial outlay at the beginning of your career.

A realistic pay scale

Pay is based on the average earnings of a civilian GP. Immediately after full registration, the present basic salary is £3668; after 5 years it rises to £4424; after 13 years to £5453. There are various other allowances; for instance, with children at boarding school the figures are £330 (net) for one child, £723 (net) for two children, £1194 (net) for three children. There are tax-free gratuities of £1500 after 3 years, or £3000 after 5 years. After service of 16 years or more there is a pension, payable for life, and a generous terminal grant.

For full information please write, giving your age, nationality, and date of full registration, to Group Captain J. G. Donald, OBE, MB, ChB, MRCP, DTM&H, RAF, Ministry of Defence, 1-6 Tavistock Square (724KC4), London, WC1H 9NL. Or visit your nearest RAF Careers Information Office.

ASTHMA IN BRONCHITIS

Freedom from asthmatic attack throughout the winter

In the past, antibiotics have cleared the infective component of his bronchitis. But his already damaged lungs have had to rely on ever increasing intakes of bronchodilators to obtain relief from asthmatic symptoms.

Now that INTAL CO is prescribed routinely along with his antibiotic, he is protected from the allergic undertones which may often accompany infection. Because asthmatic attacks are thwarted before they start, there may also be a reduction in the number of infective episodes. The possibility of consequent lung damage may also be avoided and winter becomes less of a hazard. Daily INTAL CO will help him enjoy life to the full for the rest of his days. It's quite a prescription.
