

Anxiety symptoms are often the ones that trigger a patient's visit to your surgery – these are generally relieved in a few hours. Depressive symptoms take at least a few days – and sometimes a few weeks – before they are resolved.

LIMBITROL

treats anxiety in a matter of hours and depression in a matter of days

Anxiety symptoms are often relieved in 1 to 2 hours, and depressive symptoms usually respond within 7 to 14 days.
Limbital is the trade mark for pharmaceutical preparations containing chlordiazepoxide and amitriptyline.

Clinical experience with chemotherapeutic agents*

Studies of 6,500 cases treated with cephalexin

A further 5,000 patients had been treated with cephalexin and reported in the world literature since a review of more than 1,500 cases was presented to the Sixth International Congress on Chemotherapy.

The infections reported were of the urinary tract (2,238); lower respiratory tract (1,235); ear, nose and throat (892); skin and soft tissue (610); genitals (959); septicaemia (28); endocarditis (4); osteo-articular infections (87); biliary tract infections (13); peritonitis (11); and intestinal infections (45). Satisfactory responses included (a) clinical and bacteriological cure and, (b) clinical cure or marked clinical improvement without full bacteriological clearance. A summary of the results obtained with infections of urinary and lower respiratory tracts, is given in the tables below:

Urinary tract infections treated with cephalexin

Infection	Number	Per cent satisfactory response
Cystitis, acute or simple	216	92
Cystitis, chronic or complicated	105	57
Pyelonephritis, acute or simple	222	88
Pyelonephritis, chronic or complicated	440	77
Unspecified	1,255	87

*Summary of papers presented at the VIIth International Congress of Chemotherapy, Prague, August 1971.

Lower respiratory infections treated with cephalexin

Infection	Number	Per cent satisfactory response
Pneumonia/bronchopneumonia	345	91
Bronchitis, acute	134	94
Chronic bronchitis/bronchiectasis	326	87
Lung abscess/empyema	32	81
Unspecified	416	87

The presenters of the survey emphasised the need for the dosage to be adequate — particularly in lower respiratory infections. A statistically significant difference had been shown in favour of using 3 G to 4 G a day compared with 2 G a day for the treatment of these infections.

In most of the acute infections treated cephalexin had given excellent results. In certain chronic infections, particularly of the lung and bone, the response was not so rapid, but when treatment had been prolonged, clinical results had been very good. The adoption of higher doses, 4 G to 6 G or more daily, had widened the scope of cephalexin in the field of severe infections such as septicaemia and endocarditis. The results so far obtained with such infections had been encouraging although the number of cases treated was relatively small.

Even when cephalexin had been used in high dosage or for long periods, the tolerance had been good. Only rarely had treatment been discontinued because of side effects. When side effects had occurred they usually had been mild, many disappearing during treatment. Changes in haematological and biological parameters had been infrequent. There had been no evidence of nephrotoxicity. Cephalexin had been used successfully and safely in patients with impaired renal function, although accumulation of the antibiotic might occur in such patients unless dosage were decreased according to the creatinine clearance.

94% success rate with cephalexin in acute bronchitis

New clinical evidence* shows that cephalexin has achieved a 94% success rate in acute bronchitis. 87% clinical success rate was also noted in chronic bronchitis and bronchiectasis. The total number of bronchitic patients treated with cephalexin was 460.

These excellent results in bronchitis were achieved with a remarkably low incidence of side effects such as diarrhoea and sensitivity rashes. And it was noted that "No cross sensitivity was seen with cephalexin in the eight patients with a history of penicillin hypersensitivity."

Cephalexin in lower respiratory infections

Research workers from Royal Northern Hospital, London, expressed the opinion, on the basis of trials they described, that cephalexin was a suitable antibiotic for lower respiratory infections requiring treatment in hospital, and for urinary infections. For the respiratory infections, daily dosages of 3 G or 4 G produced a significantly quicker response as shown by X-ray, than 2 G — without increased incidence of side effects.

Nineteen men and 16 women (aged 21 to 85 years) with chronic urinary tract infection were treated with cephalexin 500 mg six hourly for 10 days. Twenty-eight of these had abnormal excretion pyelograms. Sixty-one per cent of Escherichia coli infections; 80 per cent of Proteus mirabilis infections, and both cases of Klebsiella aerogenes infection were cleared at 10 days. Overall eradication of pathogenic organisms was obtained in 68 per cent of the cases. The relapse rate after 14 days was 23 per cent.

Fifty in-patients with lower respiratory infections were given orally 2 G cephalexin per day (group A); a further 60 in-patients were given a dosage of 3 G or 4 G daily (group B). The groups received treatment for seven to ten days, they were matched for age.

Eighty of the patients had bronchopneumonia, 58 with chronic airways obstruction. Nine patients had lobar pneumonia, and 15 chronic bronchitis with airways obstruction, in whom the superimposed infection was the primary reason for hospital admission. All received physiotherapy, and 21 with airways obstruction were given a bronchodilator. Every patient with pneumonia was treated for 10 days. Forty-nine per cent of the pneumonia patients in group A showed complete resolution of radiological signs on day seven, compared with 72 per cent of those in group B — a significant difference. On the tenth day, however, no significant difference in radiological signs was detectable between the two groups. Clinical cure (clear X-ray, sterile sputum, no fever, no leucocytosis) at 10 days was obtained in 68 per cent of the patients in group A and in 81.5 per cent in group B, the difference not being significant. Bacteriological eradication was obtained in 73 per cent of group A and 91 per cent of group B patients, the difference being significant.

No cross sensitivity was seen with cephalexin in the eight patients with a history of penicillin hypersensitivity. The antibiotic was discontinued in five patients; in one for diarrhoea and four for vomiting, but in two cases the drug was not wholly to blame since vomiting continued after its withdrawal. Generally cephalexin was well tolerated.

For your detailed reading
Ceporex cephalexin

Contra-indication
Ceporex is contra-indicated in persons who have shown hypersensitivity to cephalosporins.

Precautions
In patients treated with Ceporex, a false-positive reaction for glucose in the urine may occur with Benedict's or Fehling's solutions, or with 'Clinitest' tablets, but not with enzyme-based tests such as 'Clinistix'. Ceporex is usually tolerated well by patients allergic to penicillin, but cross-reaction can occur occasionally.

As with other antibiotics, Ceporex should be administered with caution in patients with a history of allergy, especially to drugs. When renal function is markedly reduced, Ceporex will accumulate in the serum and tissues unless dosage is suitably reduced.

Laboratory experiments with animals and clinical experience show no evidence of teratogenicity, but as with all drugs, caution is needed during pregnancy.

Adverse reactions
A small proportion of patients receiving Ceporex may experience gastrointestinal disturbances such as nausea, vomiting, diarrhoea, anorexia and general abdominal discomfort. As with all broad-spectrum antibiotics, superinfection (sometimes monilial) can occur, and may present as vulvo-vaginitis. Reversible neutropenia has occurred in a few patients, but is very rare. Generalised drug rashes — urticarial or maculopapular — are uncommon.

Administration and dosage
Ceporex is administered orally. Treatment should continue for at least two days after the temperature has returned to normal and symptoms have subsided. However, in chronic, recurrent or complicated upper urinary tract infections a course of at least two weeks' duration may be necessary.

When renal function is considerably impaired, the dosage should be reduced. If the creatinine clearance is 20 to 50 ml/minute, the adult dosage of Ceporex should not exceed 3 grams/day; if between 5 and 20 ml/minute, not more than 1.5 grams daily; if the clearance is below 5 ml/minute, dosage should not exceed 500 mg/day.

Patients receiving intermittent dialysis should be given an additional 500 mg of Ceporex after each dialysis, i.e., a total dosage of up to 1 gram on that day.

New facts about oral Ceporex confirm very low incidence of side effects

New clinical data on cephalexin confirms the extremely low incidence of side effects accompanying the high clinical success rate.

"Even when cephalexin had been used in high dosage or for long periods, the tolerance had been good. Only rarely had treatment been discontinued because of side effects. When side effects had occurred they usually had been mild, many disappearing during treatment."*

It all adds up to the simple fact that in acute bronchitis, you can trust Ceporex to reduce the risks and improve the results.

THE NEW GENERAL PRACTICE 2

from the British Medical Journal

What important developments are there in General Practice? Does the General Practice Team work successfully? What is the Family Doctor's future role in the Hospital Service? These and other questions are answered in The New General Practice 2 which, published two years after the first volume in this series, also deals with topics such as the use of computers, plans for the new towns, and Scandinavian developments in general practice. This second volume contains 27 articles published in the B.M.J. in the last two years. The introduction has been written by Professor J. D. E. Knox, Professor of General Practice at Dundee University.

The Retreat, York

For the Treatment of Psychiatric Illnesses

This Private Registered Nursing Home at York of 275 beds, established in 1792, is managed by members of the Religious Society of Friends (Quakers).

It combines psychological and physical investigations and modern forms of treatment for patients suffering from psychiatric illnesses, including drug dependence, and has a separate unit for the assessment and treatment of psycho-geriatric conditions. There are also facilities for long-stay patients.

The Hospital is surrounded by 42 acres of its own grounds and is within easy walking distance of the City centre. In recent years, the Hospital has been modernised throughout. A new spacious occupational therapy centre provides a wide range of creative activities.

British United Provident Association and Private Patients Plan assist their members who become patients at The Retreat within the range of their published benefits.

Anything less than full support for topical hydrocortisone is undesirable

In addition to the production of contact dermatitis, the dangers of the selective action of topical antibiotics in the treatment of infected dermatoses are now well-recognised.⁽¹⁾

Experimental studies⁽¹⁾ have shown, that even in healthy subjects, pyoderma developed following occlusive treatment with neomycin. It was concluded that these experiments "do emphasize the dangers which can follow the alteration of the normal flora of the skin." In view of the variety of hazards associated with topical antibiotics, it was also stated: "...serious doubt must now be cast on their routine use."

In Betadine[®] H/C Cream, povidone-iodine provides ideal support for hydrocortisone because it kills all pathogenic and potentially pathogenic organisms within 15 seconds of contact. "It does not allow the emergence of antibiotic resistant strains as it kills pathogenic organisms in an unselective manner."⁽²⁾

Betadine Ointment, which has no hydrocortisone

acetate content, is also available when purely antimicrobial therapy is required.

GYNAECOLOGY IN GENERAL PRACTICE

from the British Medical Journal

As in other branches of medicine, the pattern of gynaecological problems likely to be encountered by the general practitioner will probably change in the future. Moreover, many doctors now in practice were taught little about some of the topics which are important today and are likely to become even more so.

In 1971 the B.M.J. published a series of articles in the "Medical Practice" section discussing the management of various gynaecological disorders in a domiciliary setting. These have now been collected together as a booklet entitled Gynaecology in General Practice and provides a useful and up-to-date account of gynaecology in general practice.

When babies* have duodenal ulcers...

and senior citizens present problems

Caved-S in contrast to other liquorice preparations can be prescribed because the liquorice principle has been deglycyrrhizinized. This means that the hazards normally associated with ordinary liquorice agents are avoided.

*(A 13 week old infant with D.U. reported)

But for your adult patients who have failed to respond to other forms of chemotherapy, the reason may be due to underdosage or the normal dosage produced side effects which cannot always be tolerated.

A metabolic study¹ and more than twenty hospital trials, and treatment with more than eight million patients in over forty countries has proven Caved-S deglycyrrhizinized liquorice is free from side effects of oedema, hypokalaemia, muscle paresis etc.^{2, 3, 4}

An unpublished hospital trial, the results of which are in our hands, has been carried out with Caved-S tablets at increased dosage on forty severe duodenal ulcer patients (age range 40-65) who had all been referred for surgery has demonstrated recurrent episodes can be prevented. The report stated "Patients with severe duodenal ulcers who had been referred for surgery were divided into two groups and treated with either eight or twelve tablets daily, for eight or sixteen weeks respectively. The higher dosage was statistically more effective than the lower dosage in preventing relapses..." Patients were followed up for a minimum of one year and it was concluded that,

"HIGH DOSES OF DEGLYCYRRHIZINATED LIQUORICE (CAVED-S) SHOULD BE GIVEN TO PATIENTS WITH DUODENAL ULCERS BEFORE SURGERY IS ATTEMPTED".

Hypertension. Introduce her to treatment gently with Neo-NaClex-K.

When a patient is new to hypertension, Neo-NaClex-K makes it a lot easier to live with.

Easier, because just once-a-day treatment can control the mild to moderate case.

Easier, because her sleep won't be disturbed by diuresis during the early days of treatment.

Easier, because postural hypotension won't be something she'll wake up to.

And even in severe hypertension you can still keep her on Neo-NaClex-K in conjunction with minimal doses of a more potent antihypertensive. So you can control the severe condition with less risk of side effects.

Neo-NaClex-K is a unique two layered tablet containing bendrofluazide to lower blood pressure safely and surely, plus a potassium supplement to replace any loss. And right from the start, it provides a gentle introduction to the long-term treatment your new hypertensive patient may need.

Many people can't stomach iron.

'Slow-Fe'TM patients don't have to...

Because the iron content of 'Slow-Fe' is released mainly in the duodenum and upper small intestine, providing efficient absorption with minimum intolerance. The precision-release principle of 'Slow-Fe', developed from the expertise of 'Slow-K', the most widely used potassium supplement, ensures iron is released evenly over a period of 1½ to 2 hours. This avoids high local concentrations of iron in the stomach which cause nausea and vomiting. It also prevents constipation and wastage of iron released in the lower gut.

In two studies of 'Slow-Fe' and 'Slow-Fe folic' involving nearly 4,000 patients 93% reported no side effects^{1,2}. This low incidence of side effects is comparable to that expected on placebo. 'Slow-Fe' can be taken in an easy once daily dosage, presented in a press-through monthly pack. ¹ Clin. Trials J. (1969) 6, 229 ² Medical Digest (1971) 16, 194

'Slow-Fe' and 'Slow-Fe folic' tablets both contain 160mg dried ferrous sulphate (≡ 50mg Fe) in a specially formulated slow-release base. In addition 'Slow-Fe folic' contains 400 micrograms folic acid. 'Slow-Fe', 'Slow-Fe folic', and 'Slow-K' are trademarks

Hay fever immunity

Bencard and allergy in general practice.

The Problem Most hay fever sufferers respond in some degree to symptomatic treatment. However, in every practice there are chronic sufferers who do not respond and whose social and business lives can be seriously affected during the grass pollen season.

All these cases exhibit the Type 1 Immediate Allergic Response.

The Treatment The only fundamental treatment for hay fever is Immunisation: no other vaccine gives such broad-based protection as Alavac-P.

- ☐ Alavac-P contains extracts of the twelve grass pollens known to cause over 80% of hay fever in Great Britain.
- ☐ No skin tests are needed. Prescription can be from case history alone.
- ☐ A short course of only 8 or 9 injections gives a high degree of protection throughout the grass pollen season.
- ☐ Alavac-P developed by Bencard, leaders in allergy research.

The time to prescribe is now!

Penbritin

Territory

Penbritin destroys the bacteria which commonly cause otitis media and upper respiratory infections. Its spectrum of activity includes streptococci—now less sensitive to tetracyclines than they were—and Haemophilus influenzae. This pathogen often causes otitis media in the young and is insensitive to oral penicillins V and G.

Penbritin's decisive bacteria-destroying action, so important in treating infections in children, contrasts with the tetracyclines and erythromycins which merely inhibit bacterial growth.

As a penicillin Penbritin has a well-documented record of safety. In contrast it has been suggested that tetracyclines are "absolutely contra-indicated for children aged under 8" because of serious effects on tooth development.

(Brit. med. J. (1970), 4, 509).

Acceptability is important in choosing an antibiotic for children. Penbritin syrup, paediatric tablets and the new paediatric suspension are extremely acceptable to the young. And at the normal children's dosage, Penbritin syrup's N.H.S. cost is just 8½p a day.

Usual children's dosage: 125mg. q.i.d. ½ – 1hr a.c.

Contra-indication: Penicillin hypersensitivity.

Side effects: As with other penicillins.

SUDAFED

nasal decongestant

The efficacy of SUDAFED as a decongestant has recently been demonstrated:

“In a double blind trial, oral pseudoephedrine (60 mg) was shown to produce a significant increase in maximal nasal flow...” Europ J clin Pharmacol, (1971) 3, 182

Unlike many decongestants SUDAFED* does not cause drowsiness because it contains no antihistamine. SUDAFED leaves your patient breathing clearly and thinking clearly.

Each SUDAFED tablet contains 60 mg of pseudoephedrine hydrochloride.

Also available: SUDAFED Elixir containing 30 mg pseudoephedrine hydrochloride in each 5 ml.

Hand signals which can't be ignored

“Patients stated that their ischaemic digits had been much less painful while taking tetranicotinoylfructose (Bradilan) . . .”*

“During the past 10 years we have tried in a group of about 100 patients with impaired digital circulation most, if not all, oral adrenergic blocking agents with unsatisfactory clinical results. During the past 3 years we obtained more encouraging subjective and objective findings with oral tetranicotinoylfructose (Bradilan) . . .”*

In this double-blind controlled trial* the patients had already taken most available oral vasodilators and were sceptical about further treatment. The authors, however, reported that most patients were delighted with Bradilan's beneficial effect. Bradilan® employs the molecule of tetranicotinoylfructose which is gradually hydrolysed in the intestine—the consequent slow, even release ensures prolonged effective vasodilation—with side reactions at a minimum.

Glaxo brief

The elderly have a lot of problems Nutrition need not be one of them

When elderly patients are ill or lose interest in preparing proper meals, their nutritional balance inevitably suffers, often because they try to live on a limited range of convenience foods such as instant mashed potato, packet soups, and tinned foods. By adding three dessertspoonfuls of Complan to these convenience foods, the patient not only retains interest in preparing simple dishes, but will receive the protein, fat, carbohydrate and all the vitamins and minerals that are necessary for a balanced diet. Alternatively, a cup of Complan, as easy to make as a cup of tea, can be recommended as a light meal in itself. It can be flavoured to taste, sweet or savoury. Either way, Complan offers the patient excellent value for money.

94% success rate with cephalixin in acute bronchitis

New clinical evidence* shows that cephalixin has achieved a 94% success rate in acute bronchitis. 87% clinical success rate was also noted in chronic bronchitis and bronchiectasis. The total number of bronchitic patients treated with cephalixin was 460.

These excellent results in bronchitis were achieved with a remarkably low

incidence of side effects such as diarrhoea and sensitivity rashes. And it was noted that "No cross sensitivity was seen with cephalixin in the eight patients with a history of penicillin hypersensitivity."

Minadex— when a child needs building up

When a child is ill, or recovering at home after an illness, Minadex restores essential vitamins and iron, promotes a return to normal appetite and speeds recovery of health and vitality. Minadex is a carefully formulated vitamin-mineral syrup that contains vitamins A and D, iron, glycerophosphates and trace minerals. It has a delicious orange flavour that children love.

Recommend Minadex to build up children after illness.

New facts about oral Ceporex confirm very low incidence of side effects

New clinical data on cephalixin confirms the extremely low incidence of side effects accompanying the high clinical success rate.

"Even when cephalixin had been used in high dosage or for long periods, the tolerance had been good. Only rarely had treatment been discontinued because of side effects.

When side effects had occurred they usually had been mild, many disappearing during treatment."*
It all adds up to the simple fact that in acute bronchitis, you can trust Ceporex to reduce the risks and improve the results.

BRITISH MEDICAL ASSOCIATION NORTHERN IRELAND SECRETARY

The Council of the British Medical Association invites applications from senior registered medical practitioners over the age of 45 for the post of Northern Ireland Secretary. The salary scale for this appointment is £5,170 rising by annual increments to a maximum of £6,260 per annum, but in determining the starting salary regard will be had to the successful candidate's age, qualifications and experience. The Association's superannuation scheme will apply on substantive appointment.

The candidate appointed will be required to reside in Northern Ireland. Although the duties of the post require a substantially whole-time appointment the Council is prepared to consider candidates with other commitments of a very limited nature which would not prevent them from devoting the major part of their time to the duties of the post.

The appointment will be for a probationary period of six months in the first instance, and thereafter may be terminated by six months' notice on either side.

Applications, giving details of qualifications and experience, and accompanied by the names of three persons to whom reference may be made, should be addressed to the Secretary of the Association, BMA House, Tavistock Square, London WC1H 9JP, and must be received not later than 17th March, 1972.

UNIVERSITY OF EXETER

POSTGRADUATE MEDICAL INSTITUTE
A full-time postgraduate course lasting 10 weeks will begin on 19th April, 1972. These courses are held 3 times a year starting in October, January and April. Each course includes instruction in general medicine, paediatrics, preventive medicine, pathology, psychiatry orthopaedics and general surgery. The programme is planned so that students wishing to specialize in a particular clinical subject are given facilities to do so, while other students are taught in each of the main clinical departments. Unpaid clinical attachments can be arranged at the end of the course for students requiring a longer period of training, but these are normally reserved for students sponsored by some official body. It is sometimes possible to accept general practitioners for 1 or 2 weeks of a course, and attendance for this period is recognized under Section 63 of the Health Services and Public Health Act 1968. These courses are also recognized under the special scheme for the re-training for general practice of doctors who have been out of the Health Service for at least 5 years. The fee for this course will be £40 (£83 for students from outside the United Kingdom).

Further particulars and application forms for these courses can be obtained from the Director, The Postgraduate Medical Institute, The University, Exeter, Devonshire. (17567) 2

COMMERCIAL APPOINTMENTS

(See also p.xxxiii)

A major long-established international pharmaceutical company is anxious to develop their clinical pharmacological investigations in this country. They are inviting applications from medical graduates who have experience in internal medicine and preferably hold the M.R.C.P. Some experience in clinical pharmacology is desirable, but if a suitable candidate applies without such a background, training could be arranged in a leading clinical pharmacology department in London. The applicant should be interested in and willing to organize as well as do basic clinical research and the testing of drugs in man, including phase 1 and early phase 2 studies of new molecules. Ample laboratory research and technical facilities will be provided. The salary and fringe benefits offered will be attractive. Box 3787 BMJ. 15

HOECHST PHARMACEUTICALS A Division of Hoechst UK Limited

Medical Research

A SENIOR position exists within the company for a medical graduate, preferably with a higher medical degree, and with specialised knowledge in one relevant branch of medicine. Hoechst's interests are manifold - areas in which our team are engaged include, among others, cardiovascular, central nervous system, endocrine, renal and antimicrobial research.

THE APPOINTED graduate will assume responsibility for a particular therapeutic area. He will become an authority on the existing products in that area and will later be responsible for the evaluation of new products and he must be prepared to learn how to organise and perform human pharmacological experiments, in particular those concerned with absorption, metabolism and excretion of drugs. A hospital attachment will be encouraged for this purpose.

IT IS IMPORTANT that the applicant possesses the ability to interpret and communicate scientific data to the medical profession and to the company.

A GENEROUS salary will be negotiated, a company car provided and other benefits include participation in a private health insurance scheme and a generous pension plan.

WOULD applicants please send the fullest possible details, including a photograph, which will be treated in the strictest confidence to:

medical advisers

Because of recent expansion, an International Ethical Pharmaceutical company with world-wide interests is now looking for two European-based Medical Advisers. Both of these positions offer an excellent salary and exciting career prospects.

Medical Adviser U.K.

This is an excellent opportunity to join the U.K. subsidiary of this fast growing Pharmaceutical Company. The successful applicant will become an essential member of the small Medical Department. He will be working closely with the Marketing Department, advising on medical content of promotional material. He will also be responsible to the Technical Director for the company's clinical research into new and existing products. There will be a certain amount of travel involved in the job, both in Britain and on the Continent, where he will be responsible for the setting up of trials in certain countries. As a member of the International Group Clinical Research Committee, he will naturally be in close contact with the Company's European headquarters. Applications are invited from registered medical practitioners who qualified at a U.K. medical school. Specialisation is not important. Age: under 35.

Personality: lively and imaginative.

Experience of the pharmaceutical industry is desirable but not essential. Conditions of employment are good and would include assistance for removal expenses where necessary.

The salary offered is negotiable, according to experience and qualifications.

Please reply in the first instance to: Executive Selection, General Advertising Company of London Ltd., Crest House, Thames Street, Weybridge, Surrey. All applications will be treated in the strictest confidence, and no applicants' names will be disclosed to the company in question unless prior permission is given.

Medical Adviser based in Europe

This is an important appointment at the European headquarters of this Pharmaceutical Organisation. The successful applicant will be responsible to the Medical Director of the parent company. His primary duties are the setting up and processing of clinical trials, particularly for products which have just emerged from research. Because of this he will be working closely with Pharmacologists and Toxicologists. He will be a member of the International Group Clinical Research Committee, and will therefore be in regular contact with the European subsidiary companies.

Applications are invited from registered medical practitioners. Specialisation is not important.

Age: under 35.

Personality: lively and imaginative.

Experience of the pharmaceutical industry would be desirable. A good working knowledge of French or German is essential.

Salary and conditions of employment are by negotiation, although all removal expenses will of course be paid.

SERVICES

Are you in your Pre-Registration Year —or recently fully registered?

Before you commit yourself to your permanent pattern of life, consider what the Royal Air Force has to offer.

The chance to practise total medical care, as a GP

Your first job would probably be a Junior Medical Officer on a large RAF Station. There would be at least one other doctor. Between you, you would have a 'list' of 2000 to 3000 people—servicemen and their families. You would meet all the usual clinical problems of a GP—and get plenty of experience in pediatrics. As well as this, you would be actively involved in the practice of aviation medicine and gain experience in the preventive, occupational and social fields.

Conditions of work are extremely good. You would have a consulting room in a specially built Medical Centre—like a small hospital with its own treatment room, theatre and resuscitation room, and wards for a dozen or so short-stay patients. There is a full secretarial and nursing staff. Your clinical freedom would be absolute.

The chance to specialise, too

Because General Practice is so highly developed in the RAF, this does not mean you have no chance to specialise. The contrary is true. 47% of all RAF doctors are now working in specialist departments. On a 'full career' contract you have every opportunity to reach consultant status in your late or middle thirties—perhaps earlier.

The chance to study for higher qualifications

Any RAF doctor, whether specialist or GP (as long as he is not on the very shortest of contracts) can apply for six months study leave on full salary. On a permanent commission, he may have up to two years' external study leave.

The chance to travel

The RAF operates in many different conditions and climates. Abroad, the RAF doctor looks after RAF personnel and their families and, very often, the local population as well. Your gain in clinical experience would be marked.

The chance of a good social and family life

The RAF is a young community, with a full and active social life. There are facilities for almost every kind of sport and, which is most important, the time to enjoy your family while you are still a young man. Living conditions are excellent. If you are single you live in the Officers' Mess, which has all the amenities of a good hotel. If you are married, you will nearly always have a furnished house that goes with the job; rent for this is very modest; and it can save a large financial outlay at the beginning of your career.

General Practice? With a difference. At this RAF Clinic, in the busy town of Limassol, in Cyprus, almost all the patients are women and children (specially children). Staff is 7 doctors, each with his (or her) own panel of patients; and 5 dentists. There are 5 SRN Nurses, and 7 Health Visitors. Next door is the RAF's Child Guidance Clinic, with psychiatrist, educational psychologist and speech therapist.

A realistic pay scale

Pay is based on the average earnings of a civilian GP. Immediately after full registration, the present basic salary is £3668; after 5 years it rises to £4424; after 13 years to £5453. There are various other allowances; for instance, with children at boarding school the figures are £330 (net) for one child, £723 (net) for two children, £1194 (net) for three children. There are tax-free gratuities of £1500 after 3 years, or £3000 after 5 years. After service of 16 years or more there is a pension, payable for life, and a generous terminal grant.

For full information please write, giving your age, nationality, and date of full registration, to Group Captain J. G. Donald, OBE, MB, ChB, MRCP, DTM&H, RAF, Ministry of Defence, 1-6 Tavistock Square (724JZ3), London, WC1H 9NL.
