'Largactil' has been a name to conjure with in psychiatric medicine for over sixteen years. An influence of such magnitude and long duration can be explained by examining this legendary name.

'Largactil' was so named because of its LARGE variety of ACTIONS; apart from being the first major tranquillizer, it acts in two other pharmacologically distinct ways – as a potentiator of central nervous depressants, including analgesics, narcotics and sedatives, and as an anti-emetic.

'Largactil' has achieved success in the fields of psychiatry, general medicine and anaesthetics in an ever-widening range of indications. These include major and minor psychoses; as an adjuvant to E.C.T.; drug withdrawal; senile dementia; the control of terminal pain and nausea and vomiting.

LOMODEX 70 (formerly Dextraven 70) has been shown to produce a highly significant reduction in the incidence of thrombosis when administered during surgery. The properties of LOMODEX 70 are such that, apart from its ability to maintain blood volume, it has been shown to have a signifi-

The Cephalosporins*

*Extracts from The British Journal of Hospital Medicine (Dec) 1971, 795-804.

Cephalexin

The value of parenteral cephaloridine is so universally established that it highlights the need for a form that is active by mouth. This is now available as a semisynthetic derivative of cephalosporin C. It is broad spectrum, bactericidal, well absorbed after oral administration and not significantly bound to serum protein. Following a single dose, peak blood levels are noted at one hour in fasting subjects. Food causes a delay in onset, a lower peak and prolongation of the blood levels but does not decrease total absorption. Most of it is excreted unchanged by glomerular filtration and tubular secretion in the urine during the first 8 hours after absorption. Probenecid causes retention and delay in excretion (Braun et al, 1968) and raises peak serum levels by between 50 and 100 per cent. Serum protein-binding is of the low order of 25 per cent.

Antimicrobial spectrum

The cephalosporins are broad spectrum (Table 2) and bactericidal, acting, like penicillin, on bacterial cell walls and interfering with cell wall synthesis by preventing cross-linkage of the linear peptidoglycan strands of the cell wall (Benner, 1971). Whereas the cephalosporins are stable to staphylococcal penicillinase, they may be susceptible to the  $\beta$ -lactamases produced by Proteus vulgaris, Proteus morganii, Proteus rettgeri and Aerobacter aerogenes. Resistance in organisms may be due to these  $\beta$ -lactamases as well as to native intrinsic resistance (in the same fashion as methicillin-resistant staphylococci).

Gram-positive pathogens

The Gram-positive bacteria are susceptible to the cephalo-sporins (Table 2). Staphylococcus aureus, whether sensitive or resistant to penicillin, is sensitive to cephaloridine. Commonly

"Estimates of the frequency of allergic reactions to penicillin vary from 1-10 per cent..."<sup>1</sup>

With allergic reactions to the penicillins apparently on the increase, Ceporex deserves an increasingly important place as first line antibiotic therapy.

It can safely be prescribed where the penicillins are considered unsuitable and rarely produces side effects. "No cross sensitivity was seen with cephalixin in the eight patients with a history of penicillin hypersensitivity."<sup>2</sup>

"When side effects had occurred

they usually had been mild, many disappearing during treatment."<sup>2</sup>

It all adds up the simple fact that when the penicillins aren't suitable, you can trust Ceporex to reduce the risks and improve the results.

Ceporex

is cephalixin from Glaxo encountered Gram-positive bacteria, chiefly pneumococci, group A streptococci, and staphylococci (whether penicillinase producers or not) are uniformly susceptible to low concentrations of these antibiotics.

Gram-negative pathogens

A variety of Gram-negative organisms respond to the cephalosporins (Table 2). Escherichia coli, behaving in somewhat the same fashion as Staph. aureus, is often resistant to ampicillin in hospital practice but still sensitive to ampicillin in domiciliary practice. This organism is sensitive to all the cephalosporins, and oral cephalixin has become established as a major advance in the management of urinary tract infections.

Guttman (1970) has made a careful survey of the antibiotic sensitivities of urinary pathogens by the disc diffusion method, comparing ampicillin with cephaloridine and cephalixin, against E. coli, Proteus and Klebsiella. The percentage sensitive to ampicillin was 75, compared with 86 per cent sensitive to cephaloridine and 96 per cent sensitive to cephalixin.

Cephalosporins versus penicillins

In clinical practice the choice of antibiotic in the first instance has resolved itself into the decision of whether to use ampicillin or a cephalosporin (Table 3). Inhibitory concentrations of these antibiotics for Gram-positive bacteria are comparable, but as a group the Gram-negative bacteria show considerable variability in their susceptibility to them. Other antibiotics including the tetracyclines, sulphonamides, erythromycin, chloramphenicol, and the polymyxins all have a special and sometimes unique role to play in the management of infections, but a penicillin or a cephalosporin is nowadays a central issue.

The penicillins are usually chosen unless the patient is allergic to this antibiotic. Hence the problem of whether or not an individual is allergic to penicillin is pertinent. There may be a previous history of adverse reactions to penicillin itself or to other drugs. Estimates of the frequency of allergic reactions to penicillin vary from 1–10 per cent ranging from immediate histamine-type acute fatal anaphylaxis to mild delayed-type contact dermatitis. Particular care should be taken of the fair-headed blue-eyed diathesis, or of patients with a history of eczema, asthma or hayfever.

Ceporex the logical alternative to the penicillins

When you prescribe Ceporex (cephalexin) you are prescribing the logical oral alternative to the penicillins. Ceporex has a broad spectrum of activity and recent clinical evidence<sup>2</sup> shows that cephalixin has achieved 94% success rate in acute bronchitis, 87% in chronic bronchitis/bronchiectasis and 91% in pneumonia and bronchopneumonia. These results were based on 805 case histories.

Ceporex gives peak blood levels one hour after administration and is not significantly protein-bound, leaving most of the antibiotic free to fight infection.

Ceporex is available as 500mg and 250mg tablets, capsules and syrups.

Brighter prospect for angina patients

Atromid-S trial results

Two double-blind trials.

One in the North East of England, the other in Scotland, involving 1214 patients, 55 physicians, up to 5 years duration – show that in the angina or angina plus infarct sub-groups the death rate and rate of non-fatal infarcts was reduced by about half. In both trials 'Atromid'-S was shown to be remarkably safe even after long-term continuous treatment.

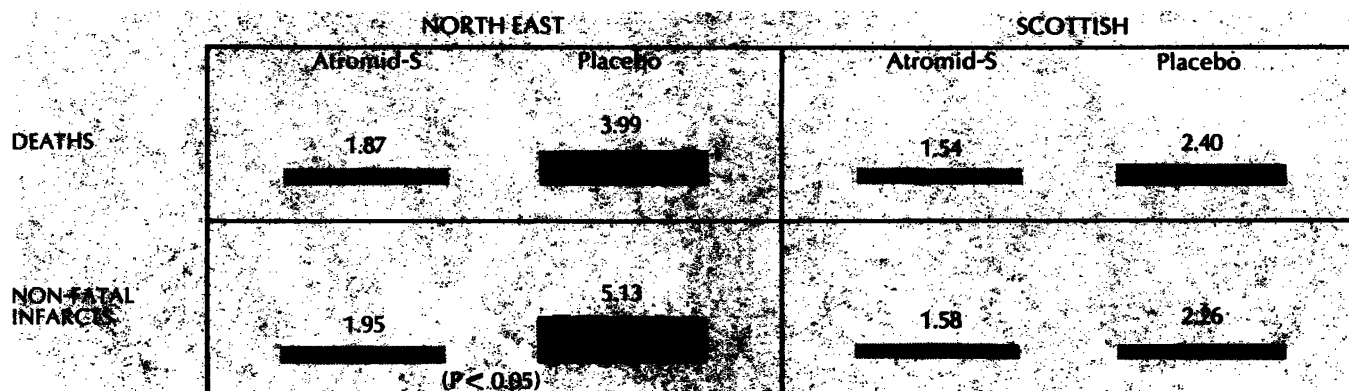

The results speak for themselves.

	SCOTTISH TRIAL	NORTH EAST TRIAL
Death rate reduced by	62%	55%
Non-fatal infarcts reduced by	44%	39%
All events reduced by	53%	47%

How Atromid-S reduces mortality and morbidity in angina patients

Results of both trials in patients with angina only

Rate/1 200 patient months

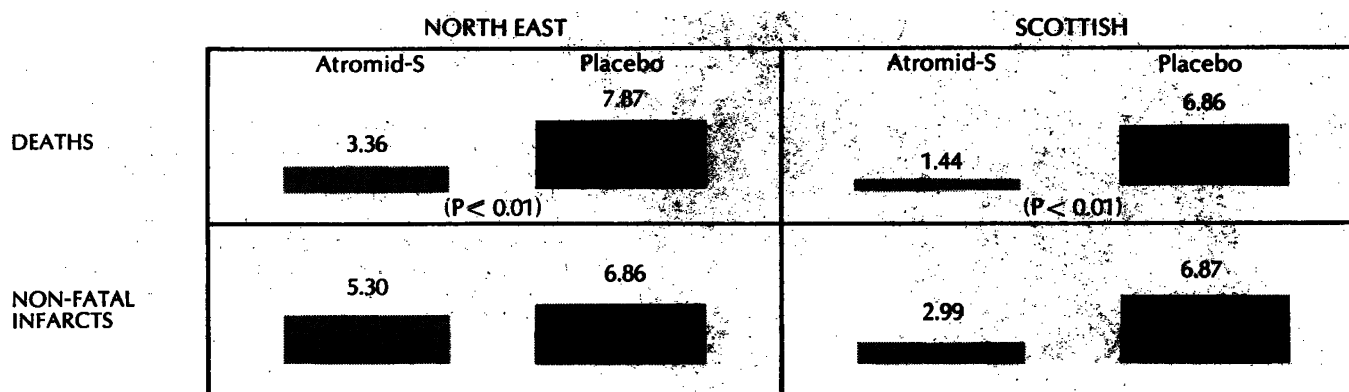

Despite the unexpectedly and unusually low mortality rate in the Scottish trial (expected rate 4-9%), the 'Atromid'-S treated group showed a better result than placebo in patients with angina but without infarction.

"Both trials agree in showing a significant reduction in mortality, especially in sudden deaths, and in total events when clofibrate [Atromid'-S] is given to patients who had angina."

Brit. med. J., (1971), 4, 784-786

Results of both trials in patients with myocardial infarction plus angina

Rate/1 200 patient months

These results clearly indicate a significant reduction in mortality and a lowering of the non-fatal infarct rate (more marked in the Scottish trial) in this group of patients.

"... it is nevertheless clear that patients taking clofibrate [Atromid'-S] were protected (against death) if they had a history of angina or of both angina and myocardial infarction."

Transvasin at the summit

The summit of Annapurna 8090 metres high, was reached on 20th May 1970, by Owens and Day of the British Nepalese Army Expedition. During the 3-hour climb from Camp 5 at 7400 metres, oxygen breathing apparatus was used. The only previous ascent, by Herzog and Lachenal in 1950, took 8 hours. They had no oxygen and suffered severe frostbite, losing all their toes and Herzog his hands. The temperature at the summit for Owens and Day was—30°F.

ON ANNAPURNA the members of the British Nepalese Army Expedition chose Transvasin to relieve muscular pain. Three British climbers used it:

"One suffered badly strained back and chest muscles following involvement in an avalanche. The second developed severe intercostal fibrositis, and the third had badly bruised himself after falling 30 feet and jamming in a crevasse. Transvasin gave considerable relief to all three climbers."

Personal communication, 3rd September 1970.

Transvasin was also used with great success by many other members of the party who complained of various other aches and pains.

IN GENERAL PRACTICE too, Transvasin provides effective relief from muscular and rheumatic pains. It contains esters of nicotinic and salicylic acids which ensure a rapid hyperaemic and analgesic effect.

Available in 30 g. tubes.

Gynaecology in General Practice

As in other branches of medicine, the pattern of gynaecological problems likely to be encountered by the general practitioner will probably change in the future. Moreover, many doctors, now in practice were taught little about some of the topics which are important today and are likely to become even more so. In 1971 the B.M.J. published a series of articles in the "Medical Practice" section discussing the management of various gynaecological disorders in a domiciliary setting. These have now been collected together as a booklet entitled Gynaecology in General Practice and provides a useful and up-to-date account of gynaecology in general practice.

Anything less than full support for topical hydrocortisone is undesirable

In addition to the production of contact dermatitis, the dangers of the selective action of topical antibiotics in the treatment of infected dermatoses are now well-recognised.<sup>(1)</sup>

Experimental studies<sup>(1)</sup> have shown, that even in healthy subjects, pyoderms developed following occlusive treatment with neomycin. It was concluded that these experiments "do emphasize the dangers which can follow the alteration of the normal flora of the skin." In view of the variety of hazards associated with topical antibiotics, it was also stated: "... serious doubt must now be cast on their routine use."

In Betadine® H/C Cream, povidone-iodine provides ideal support for hydrocortisone because it kills all pathogenic and potentially pathogenic organisms within 15 seconds of contact. "It does not allow the emergence of antibiotic resistant strains as it kills pathogenic organisms in an unselective manner."<sup>(2)</sup> acetate content, is also available when purely antimicrobial therapy is required.

Betadine Ointment, which has no hydrocortisone

A lifetime of freedom begins with Intal

Before INTAL, a diagnosis of asthma often meant a life sentence of constantly aborting attacks with bronchodilators, anti-histamines or steroids. Patients were constantly at risk from the relentless progress of lung damage and lived in perpetual fear of an asthmatic episode.

The discovery of INTAL (Sodium Cromoglycate BP) represents a turning point in the management of this distressing complaint. Newly diagnosed patients, as well as those of long standing, benefit from this entirely new approach to therapy. INTAL actually prevents the onset of asthmatic attacks, and is notably free from serious side effects.

By preventing asthma attacks the possibility of consequent lung damage may be avoided enabling the patients to lead a fuller, happier life. If they remember their daily INTAL – they can forget their asthma.

SUDAFED

nasal decongestant

The efficacy of SUDAFED as a decongestant has recently been demonstrated:

“In a double blind trial, oral pseudoephedrine (60 mg) was shown to produce a significant increase in maximal nasal flow...”

Europ J clin Pharmacol,
(1971) 3, 182

Unlike many decongestants SUDAFED* does not cause drowsiness because it contains no antihistamine. SUDAFED leaves your patient breathing clearly and thinking clearly.

Each SUDAFED tablet contains 60 mg of pseudoephedrine hydrochloride.

Also available: SUDAFED Elixir containing 30 mg pseudoephedrine hydrochloride in each 5 ml.

Hand signals which can't be ignored

“Patients stated that their ischaemic digits had been much less painful while taking tetranicotinoylfructose (Bradilan) ...”

“During the past 10 years we have tried in a group of about 100 patients with impaired digital circulation most, if not all, oral adrenergic blocking agents with unsatisfactory clinical results. During the past 3 years we obtained more encouraging subjective and objective findings with oral tetranicotinoylfructose (Bradilan) ...”

In this double-blind controlled trial* the patients had already taken most available oral vasodilators and were sceptical about further treatment. The authors, however, reported that most patients were delighted with Bradilan's beneficial effect. Bradilan® employs the molecule of tetranicotinoylfructose which is gradually hydrolysed in the intestine—the consequent slow, even release ensures prolonged effective vasodilation—with side reactions at a minimum.

Actifed and Space age Medicine

The space helmet worn by the astronaut in the above illustration has already been adapted for use as an extremely reliable respirometer. Children get a great thrill out of wearing the helmet and their oxygen consumption can be measured without the alarm often seen with older methods.

In the space programme, medical benefit has been a two-way exchange. Of the medicines taken on Apollo flights, ACTIFED* has been repeatedly chosen as the decongestant. ACTIFED TABLETS and SYRUP contain the decongestant pseudoephedrine and the established antihistamine triprolidine. ACTIFED COMPOUND LINCTUS contains, in addition, codeine. It provides effective and palatable cough control for all age groups.

SERVICES

AS A NAVAL DOCTOR, YOU'D GET A WHOLE LOT MORE OUT OF LIFE.

(AND SO WOULD YOUR FAMILY)

Right from the start, you'd have a complete change of scene.

Serving either with the Navy at sea or among service personnel and their families at a naval establishment. Very likely in another part of the world.

Either way, you'd never find yourself short of assistance. (Every naval doctor is fully supported by medical staff).

Equally important, you'd never find yourself getting into a rut – for in two years or so you'd receive a new appointment.

In a new place. Doing a different job. Perhaps with the chance to learn something of the special problems of diving, aviation, or tropical medicine for example.

It's a stimulating life. Not only for yourself but for your family too.

For in most cases they'd accompany you. And wherever you go there are usually married quarters – fully furnished houses or flats, equipped with everything you need. And at very reasonable rents.

What's more, a generous education allowance is made for your children if they are at boarding school. £330 p.a. for a first child, £393 p.a. for a second, £471 p.a. for a third. On top of this, removal and other allowances are also provided.

Add this to the salary and you'll see how well a naval doctor's pay compares with a civilian doctor's.

For instance, with five years' post registration experience you would join us as a Surgeon Lieutenant-Commander on £4,424 a year.

And any specialist qualifications/experience you have could increase your salary even more.

There are opportunities, too, to keep up with the latest developments in medicine. For the Navy fully recognises the need for such opportunities both in the interests of naval medicine and a doctor's professional advancement.

That's not all. You can join on a 3-year or 5-year commission (each carrying a tax-free terminal gratuity of £1,500 and £3,000 respectively) and you can transfer to a full 16-year pensionable commission if you wish.

Provided you're resident in the U.K. or Eire, you can find out more by writing to Surgeon Cdr. F. M. Kinsman, O.B.E., R.N. (724AB2), Dept. of the Medical Director-General (Navy), Empress State Building, London S.W.6.

He'll give you all the facts.

Trends in Clinical Pathology

Essays in Honour of Gordon Signy

This book is no pious collection of personal tributes but a survey of the old and the new disciplines in clinical pathology since the second world war — research in atherosclerosis and ischaemic heart disease, progress in medical virology, microbiology and cytology, the impact of antibiotics on medical bacteriology, chemical pathology and also molecular defence, haematology in mid-century, including haemostasis and blood transfusion. The place of fibrin in the story of hyalin is another modern study, so also is that on automation. The outlook on some members of the family Enterobacteriaceae is changing, and the 'old' forensic medicine is indeed new. And those pathologists working in the under-developed countries are not forgotten. The contributors are internationally renowned.

Pain is but a symptom, best treated with the lowest effective dose of any medicament

Low dosage, low cost in the control of pain

Clinical experience shows that, in fibrositis, dysmenorrhoea, sinusitis, and other commonly encountered conditions of persistent pain, just one tablet of Paramol-118 every four hours provides relief.

By fortifying 500 mg paracetamol with a low dose (10 mg) of dihydrocodeine it is possible to control pain with a minimum daily intake of both drugs: in such low dosage the possibility of side effects is remote.

Needless to say, if necessary, this dosage can be increased to two tablets every four hours—and, even at this higher dosage level, risk of any really undesirable side effect is insignificant.

Costs, too, are kept low: with one tablet every four hours the basic NHS cost of a day's therapy is only about 2p.

Formula Each tablet contains:
Paracetamol BP 500 mg
Dihydrocodeine tartrate BP 10 mg

Do teen-agers want the facts on menstruation from you?

Your requests for 300,000 booklets indicate they do.

Ignorance isn't bliss for many young girls when the changes of puberty occur. They want facts – and they're very likely to ask you for them.

To help you give them the facts about menstruation, we provide free booklets and charts. The booklets – one for beginning menstruants and one for older girls – also answer their social questions on menstruation.

The coloured charts, prepared by R. L. Dickinson, M.D., depict the physiology of menstruation. Laminated in plastic for permanence, they are suitable for grease pencil marking and erasure.

Do they help? Your response indicates they do. In five years, we've received over 25,000 requests for the charts – and we've sent you more than 300,000 booklets. Many of these are reorders – a good indication that you and your young patients appreciate them.

Users appreciate the distinctive features of the Tampax tampon, too. Designed for intravaginal use, it is softly compressed for efficient absorption and maximum comfort. It's placed in correct position hygienically by means of a satin-smooth container-applicator, prelubricated to facilitate insertion. It expands in three dimensions for complete protection. Its removal cord is chain stitched, for safety, to the entire length of the tampon. Both tampon and applicator are readily disposable in the toilet.

Because Tampax tampons are worn internally, there's no irritation, no chafing, no embarrassing menstrual odour. And for sports-active girls, particularly swimmers, tampons are a must.

Tampax tampons are available in Regular and Super absorbencies, with explicit directions for insertion and use enclosed in each package.

Please order your charts and booklets by writing to the address below.

Adagio cantabile...e sostenuto

The diuretic you prescribe for patients needing long-term therapy should be gentle.

'Massive, rapid diuresis might produce considerable reductions in blood volume and blood pressure, which might be particularly dangerous in elderly patients.'*

Such a diuretic should be combined with a potassium supplement, but there is a risk of small bowel ulceration or obstruction when patients take preparations which release a large concentration of potassium ions in the small bowel.

CENTYL K reduces the risk by combining the highly effective diuretic, bendroflumazide BP (a Leo discovery) with a slow-release potassium chloride supplement to provide greater safety during long-term maintenance therapy.
