PFIZER ANNOUNCES
A UNIQUE NEW AGENT FOR THE TREATMENT OF HYPERTENSION

SMOOTH ONSET OF ACTION ... SMOOTH CONTROL.. NO DEVELOPMENT OF TOLERANCE

Hypovase provides a notably smooth, sustained response in hypertension. Elevated pressures are reduced in both lying and standing positions with no sudden falls in pressure. This smooth, gradual onset of action, combined with the lack of most common antihypertensive side effects, makes Hypovase particularly well suited to long-term treatment, especially as tolerance to its efficacy has not been reported.

SMOOTH CONTROL MAINTAINED WITH NO DEVELOPMENT OF TOLERANCE

Effective in all grades of benign hypertension

To date, Hypovase has been evaluated clinically in over 1,000 patients with hypertension of all degrees of severity. Improvement of at least one grade of severity has been seen in the majority of patients treated and, in intractable cases, the addition of a thiazide usually brought about further improvement.

Low incidence of orthostatic and other distressing haemodynamic effects

The postural hypotension seen with many other agents is seldom seen with Hypovase. Cardiac output, rather than being depressed, is often actually increased, and there are no adverse cardiac or renal changes.

Effective control through a unique mode of action

Hypovase, unlike any previous antihypertensive agent, produces a direct, specific relaxation of arteriolar smooth muscle to reduce increased peripheral resistance—the major haemodynamic abnormality in essential hypertension. This action, in effect, produces a normalization of the vasculature and accounts for both longterm efficacy and the significantly low incidence of adverse effects.

"In a group of 14 hypertensive patients a 10-week course of treatment with prazosin [Hypovase], 3 to 7.5 mg./day, produced a significant reduction in mean blood pressure without serious side effects."

Brit. med. J., 1974, 2, 298-300

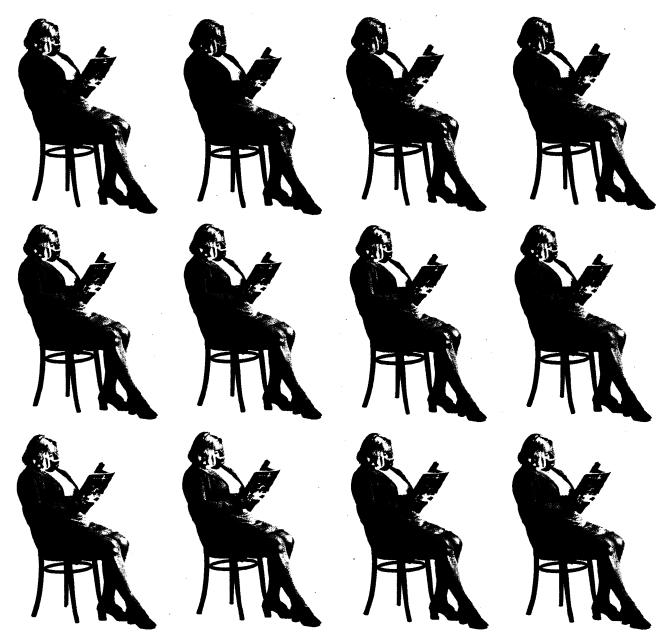

"Of 24 patients ... only three showed little or no response and in many the blood pressure control has been very satisfactory. There was little postural effect and tolerance was not seen."

Brit. med. J., 1974, 1, 637

Heartburn

If antacids were the complete answer, would she return to your surgery so often?

Antacids deal with excess acid. But, in many cases, dyspepsia involves more than this.

Unpleasant symptoms such as dyspepsia, heartburn and gastritis can frequently be traced back to disturbed gastric motility. Recent research has shown that in many patients food is retained for too long in the stomach, gastric contents enter the oesophagus, and bile refluxes from the duodenum.

With Maxolon, you can resolve this underlying problem. Maxolon restores gastric motility to normal, so that symptoms of dyspepsia are prevented.

Prescribe Maxolon (tablets or syrup) for your dyspepsia patients. They-and you-will appreciate the difference.

The Health Education Council can't stop all pregnant women from smoking. But what we can do is reinforce your medical advice. During February and March we are running an intensive advertising campaign warning women about the dangers of smoking during pregnancy.

Two television commercials and a campaign in national magazines will reach 90% of all women. And at the beginning of March, posters and leaflets will be available from Area Health Authorities.

For this campaign to be fully effective, we need your support. Please put this poster up in your waiting room. And when you advise a pregnant woman to give up smoking, give her one of our leaflets.

An appeal to all medical scientists

It is assumed that most medical scientists recognise they have a moral responsibility not to subject animals to unnecessary suffering in the cause of research; and, furthermore, that every effort should be made both to reduce the number of experiments on animals and to develop alternative methods, wherever possible.

With this assumption in mind, we earnestly appeal to you all, that, as a New Year's Resolution, you should very seriously consider the following points before initiating any project likely to involve the use of living animals.

- 1. Whether the proposed research has already been done elsewhere; and, if so, is there adequate justification for repeating the procedures.
- 2. Whether the contemplated project is meaningful in having the potentiality of saving life or alleviating human suffering; or whether it is just another research exercise: perhaps to satisfy scientific curiosity or to swell the volume of irrelevant data or even to provide research employment for personnel.
- 3. Whether, after a study of available alternative techniques, there is not one, or a combination of several (possibly necessitating multi-disciplinary co-operation) which could be employed instead.
- 4. Whether, should a decision be reached to proceed with animal-based techniques after all, the number of animals to be used could be fewer than originally contemplated without serious detriment to the research.
- 5. Whether, as numbers are not the sole criterion, the severity of the experiences likely to be undergone by the animals could be lessened without significantly affecting the project.
- 6. Whether the large number of additional licensees (an increase of 1,121 in two years) is justified in the light of current research developments with an emphasis on replacement techniques.

- 7. Whether all who countersign applications for licences and certificates are really satisfied they are performing their duties conscientiously and with their moral obligations fully in mind. And whether those who prescribe certain mandatory tests (e.g. LD 50 and LO 50) are confident that such do indeed produce useful data relevant to the actual concentrations likely to be incorporated in the envisaged product.
- 8. Whether quite apart from the nature of the proposed experiments, the conditions under which the animals are kept (especially in the case of certain larger animals unaccustomed to confinement) are not in themselves inflicting a degree of misery and suffering unacceptable to the ideals of humanity.
- 9. Whether the full implications inherent in the aphorism that the Means are more important than the Ends, because ultimately the nature of the Means determines the nature of the Ends, have been considered in depth.

The Air Chief Marshal the LORD DOWDING FUND for Humane Research is confident that, if all medical scientists seriously considered these points before embarking upon new projects, or authorizing them, then 1975 would be a year which marked a great turning point: one where British medical scientists set a sorely needed example in the humanities to their counterparts in other countries.

We appeal to each and all of you, that in 1975 you should do everything in your power, by the many means open to you, to elevate medical science to the true dignity which is its rightful status, by applying these criteria to all relevant research programmes.

We, on our part, will continue to make such modest contributions as our resources permit to the development of viable alternative procedures designed to replace living animals in research. Over £40,000 was awarded in grants by the Fund for this purpose during the 18 months following its inception.

Heart Attacks-can they be predicted?

"The conclusion seems inescapable that the occurrence of a cardiovascular catastrophe in the hypertensive patient constitutes a medical failure rather than the first indication for treatment. Apparent medical trivia such as asymptomatic hypertension when accompanied by hypercholesterolaemia, impaired glucose tolerance, the cigarette habit or ECG abnormalities are responsible for the bulk of cardiovascular mortality. We must learn to diagnose cardiovascular disease on its way to happening, to recognise the hallmarks of increased vulnerability and to synthesize them into a composite risk estimate, and also how to deal with the cardiovascular disease precursors effectively.

'With a casual blood test for cholesterol and sugar, blood pressure determination, cigarette history and ECG examination, it is possible to identify a tenth of the asymptomatic population from which 25% of the coronary heart disease, 40% of the occlusive peripheral arterial disease, and 50% of the strokes and congestive failure will evolve."

"The Tell-Tale Heart", the title of Edgar Allan Poe's story has a second meaning for the general practitioner. The patient at risk to heart disease will often reveal this unwittingly by 'Tell-Tale'' signs.

First suspicions may be aroused by tobacco stained fingers, obesity, dyspnoea, raised blood pressure or a family history of heart disease. Glucose intolerance or an ECG abnormality may show at closer examination. Furthermore, a raised serum cholesterol level may also be found.

Each of the above factors significantly increases likelihood of C.H.D., the risk rising with the number of factors present.<sup>1</sup>

A recent study proved the predictive use of these risk factors in a group of 5000 men. C.H.D. was twenty-nine times more common in the high risk group than in controls - smoking, raised cholesterol and raised blood pressure being the best predictors of C.H.D.<sup>2</sup>

Since medical opinion at present recommends reduction of these risk factors, moderation of smoking and eating habits may be advantageous. However, reduction of a major risk factor - raised serum cholesterol - is of prime importance and here therapy may be indicated with Secholex, a new palatable ion exchange gel. Taken alone, or with clofibrate, marked reductions in serum cholesterol are obtained.3,4,5

in the resent entrof parkinsonism

Carbidopa/MSD and Levodopa/MSD

Levodopa therapy is aimed at replenishing dopamine, which is deficient in the corpus striatum of patients suffering from parkinsonism. Once in the brain, levodopa is metabolised to dopamine.

But levodopa is also metabolised to dopamine in extracerebral tissues, before it reaches the brain, often producing troublesome side effects. Because of these, it is frequently not possible to attain adequate brain dopamine levels.

Carbidopa, discovered by MSD, inhibits the extracerebral metabolism of levodopa. By inhibiting this metabolism of levodopa only outside the brain, carbidopa allows more levodopa to reach the brain for conversion to lonamine.

'Sinemet' is a combination of levodopa and carbidopa. With a lower dose of levodopa in 'Sinemet', higher brain dopamine levels can be achieved. By reducing certain of the dose-limiting adverse reactions usually experienced with plain levodopa, 'Sinemet' permits more patients to obtain adequate relief.

Highly effective

'Sinemet' is highly effective at doses approximately one-fifth of those needed with plain levodopa.

Simplified dosage-rapid response

'Sinemet' offers prompt relief of many of the major symptoms of Parkinson's disease—fully effective doses are usually reached within seven days compared with weeks or months with levodopa alone.

Reduced peripheral side effects

By reducing certain of the dose-limiting side effects produced by plain levodopa, 'Sinemet' permits more patients to obtain adequate relief.

Ease of transfer

Patients maintained on levodopa can be easily transferred to 'Sinemet', with expectation of better patient acceptance and response.

In particular, they will find full details of facilities provided in most hospitals in the United Kingdom in the current edition of the Hospital Gazetteer. If such details are not included members are advised to consult the Secretary of the B.M.A.

Applicants requiring hospital married accommodation are strongly advised to obtain, prior to interview, clarification in writing from the employing authority as to whether such accommodation will be available on appointment.

No advertisement may stipulate that a non-resident must live less than 10 miles from a hospital. Advertisements for post-registration house officers, senior house officers and registrars should state clearly whether the post is resident, i.e. compulsorily resident.

In all advertisements grade should be clearly indicated. A consultant vacancy must be advertised as (a) part-time with the number of sessions clearly stated, or (b) whole-time with the option of maximum part-time.

In the view of the BMA, an advertiser should not insist on possession of English higher qualifications in preference to Scottish or Irish higher qualifications (or

CSIRO AUSTRALIA

DIVISION OF HUMAN NUTRITION CHIEF OF DIVISION

The Commonwealth Scientific and Industrial Research Organization has a broad charter for research into primary and secondary industry areas. The Organization has approximately 6,500 employees — 2,100 of whom are research and professional scientists — located in Divisions and Sections throughout Australia.

General: The Executive of CSIRO has recently decided to establish a Division of Human Nutrition. This will come into being on 1st January, 1975. The Division will be located in Adelaide, S.A. using the facilities of the Division of Nutritional Biochemistry which will cease to exist on 31st December, 1974. The research programme will be a subject for discussion with the new Chief, but areas which might be considered could include, the nutritive value of new and processed foods, problems related to food additives and pollutants, the nutritional significance of trace elements, minerals and vitamins and fundamental studies on the biochemical aspects of nutrition and on human calorimetry.

The Executive is seeking for appointment as Chief of the Division of Human Nutrition a scientist of demonstrated research ability and leadership, with experience in a field of research associated with human nutrition.

Duties: The Chief of Division will be responsible to the Executive for the conduct and direction of to the Executive for the conduct and direction of the research activities, for its general administration and for the control of funds available to it. The Chief is expected to make recommendations to the Executive on the future orientation of the Division's research programmes. Redeployment of appropriate staff and vacancies from the former Division of Nutritional Biochemistry together with such additional positions as will be allocated the Division in the course of its development will result in a Division of about 100 staff of which about 30 will be professional scientists.

Salary: Salary for the position will be not less than $A23,463 p.a., and appointment at a higher level would be considered in the case of an exceptional candidate.

Tenure: Appointment to the Organisation will be for an indefinite period, and Australian Government Superannuation benefits are available. However, the tenure of appointment as Chief could be subject to negotiation, but a fixed term (of the order of 7 years) would be envisaged initially. Such an agreement could be renegotiated for a further period.

Further Information: A member of the CSIRO Executive will be visiting Britain and the U.S.A. during February/March, 1975, and will be available for discussions concerning the appointment with applicants and other interested parties. Those interested in discussing the appointment should contact the Chief Scientific Liaison Officer, Australian Scientific Liaison Office, 64 Kingsway, London WC2B 6BD, England, or the Counsellor (Scientific), Embassy of Australia, 1601 Massachusetts Avenue, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20036, U.S.A. It may be possible to arrange such discussions at a number of points in Britain and the U.S.A. Scientists interested in discussing the appointment should ensure that the appropriate overseas office is contacted in ample time to enable suitable arrangements to be made.

Further information on existing and planned facilities, on the location of the Division and on the availability of related institutes and hospitals is available on request from the Secretary (Administration), CSIRO, P.O. Box 225, Dickson, ACT 2602, Australia.

Applications: Applications stating full personal and professional details, the names of at least two professional referees, and quoting Reference Number 250/225 should reach:

The Secretary, (Administration), Head Office, CSIRO, P.O. Box 225, Dickson, A.C.T. 2602, Australia

much better to go to bed with a couple of

Safaprin brand of enteric-coated aspirin with paracetamol and codeine *Trade Mark

The usual advice is to go to bed with a couple of aspirin. But aspirin can cause a problem – gastric irritation. Much better to go to bed with a couple of Safapryn-Co tablets. This formulation provides all the benefits of aspirin without the risk of gastric irritation. In Safapryn-Co, the aspirin is enteric-coated to pass intact through the stomach and dissolve in the alkaline fluid of the small intestine. Hence, there is no direct contact between the aspirin and the gastric mucosa to cause irritation.

But good toleration is only half the story. Each tablet contains:

enteric-coated aspirin/ paracetamol/codeine	to relieve the aches and pains
codeine	to reduce the cough

(Each sugar-coated tablet contains 300 mg. aspirin as an enteric-coated core,  $250\,\mathrm{mg}$ . paracetamol and  $8\,\mathrm{mg}$ . codeine phosphate).

A new and powerful treatment for insomnia

Getting to sleep

Clinical trials 1-3 have shown that Dalmane cuts the time taken to get to sleep by half: reducing it from an average of 36.2 to 13.9 minutes in one trial and from 63.4 to 27 minutes in another.2

Trials 1,2,4 have shown that Dalmane patients enjoy a longer night's sleep with fewer nocturnal awakenings. Dalmane has increased the average night's sleep by 65 minutes<sup>5</sup> and 93.3 minutes<sup>6</sup> and in a third trial to an average of over 8 hours.

Patient preference

The low incidence of side-effects such as hangover with Dalmane is undoubtedly one reason why many patients prefer it. In one study Dalmane produced exactly the same incidence of hangover as placebo.

Safety

Dalmane, a non-barbiturate, has a high mean lethal dose in mice and rats,9 suggesting that overdosage would be unlikely to present undue problems of management or threat to life. Human toxicity studies 10 in which healthy men were given large doses of Dalmane for some time confirmed that it is well tolerated
