for today's hypertensive patient

Hypertensive patients who have few or no symptoms won't want to put up with therapy that may produce unpleasant or disturbing side effects. They need to carry on with their normal life, with as little interference or complication as possible. They need 'Blocadren' — a beta-blocker which can provide simple and straightforward control of their elevated blood pressure.

BLOCADREN®

Timolol maleate/MSD

- In most patients with essential hypertension, 'Blocadren' reduces blood pressure smoothly, and without acute hypotensive episodes.
- 'Blocadren' is usually effective within a narrow dose range, and patients find treatment simple and convenient.
- Side effects such as postural hypotension, drowsiness, or depression are infrequently observed, so patients find few restrictions on their activities.
- 'Blocadren' may be used alone, or concomitantly with other antihypertensive therapy, such as a thiazide, 'Moduretic' (amiloride hydrochloride and hydrochlorothiazide), hydrallazine, or 'Aldomet' (methyldopa/MSD).

'Blocadren' makes antihypertensive therapy more acceptable

'Blocadren' is supplied as half-scored 10 mg tablets. ® denotes registered trademark; 'Aldomet' and 'Moduretic' are registered trademarks.

NOTE: There are important contra-indications to the use of 'Blocadren', particularly congestive heart failure, allergic rhinitis, bronchospasm, and asthma. Detailed information is available to physicians on request.

Behavioural Neurology

J. H. Pincus and G. T. Tucker

This book explores the traditional border zone between neurology and psychiatry and offers guidance in diagnosing conditions that can cause confusion as to whether they belong in one field or the other. The symptoms of dementia are discussed in terms of anatomic locus and aetiological considerations. The evidence that schizophrenia is an organic disorder of brain function is presented along with criteria by which it can be distinguished from diseases that can cause similar symptoms. Paper covers £2.40 Oxford Medical Publications

Structure of the Human Brain

A Photographic Atlas

Stephen J. DeArmond, Madeline M. Fusco, and Maynard M. Dewey

This atlas provides a clear demonstration of classical neuroanatomical concepts, stressing the neural systems that have the broadest clinical significance. Several different views of major structures have been given. The illustrations are of unusually high quality, almost all are full page size, and labelled diagrams of the same structures are placed on facing pages. In addition to Weil stains of nerve tracts, Nissl stains of nuclei have been included. Illustrated paper covers £5.75

The Care of Patients

Concepts and Tactics

Mack Lipkin

Complaints about the dehumanization of medical care have become common, and the aim of this book is to view patients as whole persons rather than as collections of tissues and organs and their disorders. Practical and moral guidance are combined in discussions of such topics as terminal illness, manipulation and the laying on of hands, patients' and doctors' attitudes towards illness, the use of drugs and machines, and the role of suggestion in the doctor-patient relationship. £5.25

Psychiatric Diagnosis

R. A. Woodruff, D. W. Goodwin, and S. B. Guze

The hallmark of this book is its reliance upon follow-up studies in defining diagnostic criteria, and the twelve diagnostic categories described are those sufficiently studied to be useful. The authors define psychiatric illness as a cluster of symptoms or signs or both with a more or less predictable course, and they place emphasis on its natural history. Medical students, sociologists, and psychiatric social workers will find this book invaluable. Paper covers £2.50 Oxford Medical Publications

The Theory and Practice of Public Health

Edited by W. Hobson

This book provides basic information for all engaged in public health work in any part of the world and places special emphasis on epidemiology, the community aspects of medicine, and on the managerial sciences in public health. Fourth edition Illustrated £16 Oxford Medical Publications

Notes on Eliciting and Recording Clinical Information

Teaching Committee of the Department of Psychiatry, Institute of Psychiatry, London

These notes are intended to provide guidance for those with little previous experience of psychiatry on the scope and organization of psychiatric case notes and to ensure that a fairly uniform style and layout are used for the recording of clinical data. Paper covers 50p Oxford Medical Publications

The Biochemical Basis of Neuropharmacology

Jack R. Cooper, Floyd E. Bloom, and Robert H. Roth

For this edition, information in each chapter has been updated, new illustrations have been added, and the chapter on catecholamines divided in two because of all the recent findings on dopamine. New material on the prostaglandins, cyclic AMP, and the cholinergic receptor has been included. Finally, more attention has been paid to drugs and neurological diseases. Second edition illustrated paper covers £2.50 Oxford Medical Publications

Disability in Childhood and Youth

Peter Henderson

This introduction to the subject deals with the disabilities and difficulties of the young that affect their development and education, some temporarily, some permanently. The disabilities covered include visual and hearing handicaps, speech disorders, educational subnormality, emotional and physical disorders, and social deprivation. The book is addressed primarily to student teachers, but is of interest also to practising teachers, health and social service workers concerned with children, and medical and sociology students. # One thing you shouldn't

Dermatophagoides pteronyssinus scanning electron micrograph

asthma immunisation made easy.

sweep under the carpet.

Because, no matter what you do, you can't get rid of Dermatophagoides pteronyssinus, the house dust mite, "... the most common cause of allergic asthma in this country". Brit. med. J., (1970), 2, 501.

The mite is an extremely potent allergen. In fact, it has been calculated that the inhalation of mite material in an amount weighing less than one whole live mite would be capable of precipitating an allergic reaction.

In 1698 Floyer in his "Treatise on Asthma" stated that, "all asthmatics are offended by the least dust made by the sweeping of a room, or making of a bed". But it wasn't until 1964 that the significance of this tiny, semi-transparent creature was first appreciated.

Today, although only 0.3 mm. in length, the common house dust mite has been proved to be a major cause of a disease that disables over 300,000 Britons.

A Thriving Subculture

Although the mites will live and breed in any house dust they are most often found on the mattresses and pillows of our beds, close to their staple diet - human skin scales. For most people this thriving subculture means little. But for the allergic asthmatic it could mean the difference between a dream and a nightmare.

Avoidance is Impossible

In the home, it is virtually impossible to remove every trace of the mite. The ubiquitous creature exists in beds, carpets, curtains, cushions - anywhere that human beings and domestic dust come together. Even immaculate dwellings produce dust samples rich in live mites, their excreta and dead remains - all potent allergens. This is why the most effective way of controlling house dust mite sensitivity is immunisation.

Migen - for the prevention of Asthma

Migen is a new short course vaccine which immunises against the house dust mite.

So it does not simply treat the symptoms of asthma - it prevents them. Immunisation against the powerful house dust mite allergen can raise the patient's overall level of tolerance. If he is multi-sensitive he may well find that he no longer reacts to contact with other allergens which have previously provoked attacks. And the stress caused by the fear of attack is reduced.

Migen is the first short course treatment that gives you, the family doctor, real control over asthma.

Migen and Simplicity

There was a time when immunisation was both a complicated and lengthy business. Not so with Migen. Just six injections form a course of treatment for asthma and perennial rhinitis. With each syringe pre-filled to ensure easy administration and accurate dosage.

Migen and Safety

In Migen the active material is adsorbed on to tyrosine - a naturally occurring amino acid which is metabolised in the human body. The active material is therefore released slowly but completely for maximum effectiveness and minimum risk of adverse effects.

Diagnosis

Migen may usually be prescribed on the basis of a careful case history alone. A Diagnostic Aid has been devised to help identify, by case history, those patients who are most suitable for Migen treatment. If the diagnosis is still in doubt after the case study then the Migen Skin Test Kit may be used for confirmation. Both the Diagnostic Aid (which also includes notes for the guidance of patients) and the Skin Test Kit are available on request from Bencard.

Migen

Many products have been advocated for use in the treatment of asthma. Most have drawbacks that you and your patients suffer for the sake of some relief. Now Migen offers you an opportunity to treat the most common form of allergic asthma. From your surgery.

Migen  Bencard

Migen is a tyrosine adsorbed vaccine prepared from pure extract of Dermatophagoides pteronyssinus. Full information on Migen (regd.) is available on request from Bencard, Freepost, Brentford, TW8 9BE.

How much Caved-S can an intractable duodenal ulcer patient take?

For a full year without relapse,
12 tablets a day for up to 16 weeks*

The Practitioner

June 1973 Vol. 210 pp. 820-823

* This dosage regimen was established in a recent trial of Caved-S on patients all with intractable duodenal ulcer and a history of more than six relapses in the year prior to the trial. Of twenty patients receiving 12 Caved-S tablets a day for 16 weeks, 12 had no relapse in a full year's follow-up, and the other 8 had two or one relapse in the follow-up year. All these patients had actually been referred for surgery, but surgery was avoided in all cases. Another similar group of 20 patients received 8 Caved-S tablets a day for 8 weeks - the condition of patients selected was too serious for controls with a placebo. Of this second group 3 had no relapse, 7 up to two relapses, and 10 up to 4 relapses in a year's follow-up.

No significant side effects occurred. Only one patient discontinued treatment, and he later resumed treatment successfully.

The authors conclude:

"Caved-S... should be given in high dosage before surgery is attempted in patients with duodenal ulcer who fail to respond to a low dose or other treatments."

This is what we call practising medicine.

A career in Naval medicine can be a rewarding experience. Opportunities to specialise abound. And perhaps above all else, there is an immense satisfaction to be gained from the wide variety of work you will be involved in.

At sea, for instance, you could be anywhere from the Mediterranean to the Pacific Ocean. Looking after the health and well being of the company of a modern warship.

And though you could spend as long as the first eighteen months of your five year Short Service Commission on board different ships, you need have no fear of losing contact with mainstream medicine. For no matter where you are, you will be kept informed of current medical opinion.

After this, the choice is yours. Post graduate medical training and a career in the clinical disciplines at one of our naval district general hospitals. Haslar or Plymouth, for instance, with their wide spectrum of clinical material drawn from naval personnel, their dependants and the local civilian population as well. There are also naval hospitals in Malta, Gibraltar and Mauritius, with opportunities for exchange appointments elsewhere.

Or you might prefer occupational medicine in our research orientated naval dockyards. Aviation medicine with its accent on rotary wing support of the Fleet. And for those with an administrative turn of mind, community medicine.

Royal Naval expertise in maritime medicine is recognised world wide and research into underwater medicine, nuclear medicine and the closed submarine environment is centred at the Institute of Naval Medicine at Alverstoke.

Naval general practice in well staffed and equipped medical centres extend as far afield as Hong Kong and Singapore. And new training schemes are now under way in the United Kingdom.

Should you be moved or sent abroad at any time, all expenses will be paid by us. We will help you with accommodation (at very reasonable rents) and provide allowances for the education of your children, if you have a family.

If you enter the Royal Navy immediately after registration you will be given the rank of Surgeon Lieutenant and a salary of £4,776, rising to £4,929 after four years.

On the other hand, if you are older (up to the age of forty) and more experienced, we can offer you a number of opportunities in general practice and the specialities. And, depending on your post-registration experience, you could enter as a Surgeon Lieutenant Commander at a salary of £5,780, rising to £6,375 after five years.

Then, at the end of your five year Short Service Commission you could leave with a tax free gratuity of £3,000.

But if it is mutually agreeable, you could apply for a Full Career Commission or a 16 year pensionable commission. The choice is yours.

In the meantime if you would like further information, write giving details of your age and qualifications to Surgeon Commander L.C. Banks, R.N., (724 BU19) Department of the Medical Director General (Naval), Empress State Building, Fulham, London SW6.

"For some people summer comes too soon"

Mid-Winter may seem early to start thinking about summer and the symptoms it brings to hayfever sufferers – unless you are a hayfever sufferer, in which case summer always comes too soon.

For hayfever patients treated with Pollinex, summer can be an enjoyable experience, perhaps for the first time.

Recent clinical trials<sup>1</sup> have shown that a single three-dose course of Pollinex produces substantial improvement in some 77% of patients. It is considered that the benefit following a second year's pre-seasonal course may be greater.

In Pollinex twelve chemically modified grass pollens are adsorbed onto a tyrosine base to allow slow and complete release of active material, ensuring maximum effectiveness and minimum risk of side effects.

The three injections which make up a complete course of Pollinex are given pre-seasonally. Pre-filled disposable syringes ensure accuracy of dosage and ease of administration. Simply prescribe "One course Pollinex."

Your hayfever patients are likely to find summer can't come soon enough.

What would you give to be able to arrest the progress of Arthritic Disease?

New clinical and biochemical evidence has shown that unlike other anti-arthritis Prinalgin capsules effect a significant reduction in the severity of rheumatoid arthritis.<sup>6,7</sup>

The implications of this in the patient with early inflammatory arthritis is that only Prinalgin can offer in the short term good control of symptoms...<sup>1,2,3,4</sup>

Several studies have shown that Prinalgin is either as effective as or superior to other anti-arthritis in providing:

- relief of pain
- easier mornings
- better gripping ability
- less joint swelling
- and fewer inflamed joints

...and in the long term a reduction in the severity of the disease.

Comparative studies of two years or more have shown that patients on Prinalgin migrated to less severe disease categories (A.R.A. rating scale fig.1) whilst those on indomethacin showed no marked improvement.<sup>6</sup> Detailed biochemical evidence supports the conclusion that Prinalgin exerted a fundamental effect on the disease process itself.<sup>7</sup> Furthermore, intolerance, particularly gastro-intestinal, was uncommon.

Reduction of disease severity in group treated with Prinalgin compared with indomethacin

A.R.A. Severity Classification

The American Rheumatism Association (A.R.A.) severity classification is accepted as providing a standard for the classification of the severity of a patient's rheumatoid arthritis. Measurements are taken of objective physical parameters: grip strength, morning stiffness, joint index and functional capacity, and a score given for each of these. The total score decides the severity of the disease in the individual and hence the A.R.A. class. Therefore a patient with very severe rheumatoid arthritis could on this system be placed in class H or I while one with mild disease would be in class A, B, or C.

Dyspepsia

If antacids were the complete answer, would he return to your surgery so often?

Antacids deal with excess acid. But, in many cases, dyspepsia involves more than this.

Unpleasant symptoms such as dyspepsia, heartburn and gastritis can frequently be traced back to disturbed gastric motility. Recent research has shown that in many patients food is retained for too long in the stomach, gastric contents enter the oesophagus, and bile refluxes from the duodenum.<sup>1</sup>

With Maxolon, you can resolve this underlying problem. Maxolon restores gastric motility to normal, so that symptoms of dyspepsia are prevented.

Prescribe Maxolon (tablets or syrup) for your dyspepsia patients. They—and you—will appreciate the difference.

a complete change

MUCODYNE is a unique treatment for bronchitic mucus. This means easier expectoration<sup>1</sup>; decrease in dyspnoea; a more normal secretion which does not plug the bronchus, is less likely to damage lung tissue or act as a source of secondary infection.

Other treatments are mostly expectorants, "nauseants which, reflexly, increase the secretions within the respiratory tract"<sup>2</sup>, thus forming more mucus. MUCODYNE avoids this vicious circle. It acts at biochemical and cellular levels to restrict sticky mucus formation, to convert tenacious sputum to a healthier secretion and to reduce hyperplasia of the respiratory mucosa. MUCODYNE literally changes bronchitic mucus. And your patients will feel the change.

The menopause is a 'natural' occurrence for almost every woman, and it is dreaded by most because of the unpleasant symptoms that so often accompany it.

These symptoms can range far beyond the usual hot flushes and nocturnal sweating to include such problems as insomnia, irritability and depression. And they can all, totally or in part, be attributed to the failure of the adrenal cortex to respond quickly enough to the dramatic decline in ovarian oestrone output during the climacteric.

Few doctors these days would disagree with the need to alleviate these symptoms by partial oestrogen replacement therapy, until such times as the adrenal cortex catches up.

Oestrogen replacement therapy has, of course, been practised for some time using Conjugated Oestrogens and Esterified Oestrogens. Both are derived from a 'natural' source—pregnant mares' urine—and apart from varying quantities of sodium oestrone sulphate also contain a high percentage of sodium equine sulphate (a more potent equine hormone) and can also contain other unspecified oestrogens.

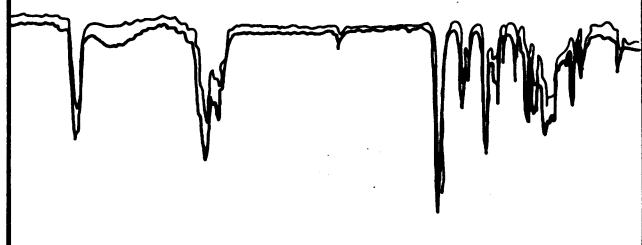

Ideally, you would wish to put back exactly what the body has been producing naturally—and nothing more. Harmogen has been formulated to do just that. The oestrone in Harmogen is pharmacologically identical to human oestrone. Only a small amount of piperazine has been added as a stabiliser, but this is pharmacologically insignificant and separates from the conjugate on ingestion.

In a recent series of highly sensitive tests, comparing the oestrone in Harmogen with human oestrone, the results confirmed unequivocally that the two were identical.

Infra-red Spectra

of the two samples were the same and as definitive as a human fingerprint in identifying both samples.

Differential Thermal Analysis

showed both samples to have the same melting point.

in bronchitis

highly effective sometimes vital

You fastened your safety belt this morning just in case of an emergency. You're not expecting trouble, of course, but you never know . . .

You never know with bronchitis either.

Minocin* (minocycline) protects against the hazards of bronchitis, but unlike traditional tetracyclines and some semi-synthetic penicillins is also highly effective against resistant staphylococci — the pathogens which could threaten your patients life.

Staphylococcal pneumonia is the only really life endangering infective hazard in bronchitis.<sup>1</sup> So whenever you treat bronchitis be sure from the start with Minocin — just in case . . .

Eases the strain on the threatened heart

NB Isoprenaline dose-ratio is the dose of isoprenaline required to produce a standard increase in heart rate (20 beats per minute) when a given dose of  $\beta$ -blocker is used, divided by the dose of isoprenaline required to produce this increase under non-blocked conditions.

$\beta$ -blockade reduces tachycardia resulting from everyday emotional stress, but in the model provided by isoprenaline infusion, all  $\beta$ -blockers are not alike in this respect.<sup>1</sup>

Anginal patients without previous infarct

$\beta$ -blockade before infarction

A three-year prospective study in general practice showed that when  $\beta$ -blockers were used, morbidity and mortality fell significantly, regardless of blood pressure.<sup>1</sup>

$\beta$ -blockade after infarction

A statistically significant reduction in sudden death following the use of non-selective  $\beta$ -blockade has been demonstrated under double-blind conditions in a two-year study.<sup>2</sup>

THE INTELLIGENT WAY TO GET AROUND THESE DAYS.

A new car today has to justify itself in so many ways. Will it be reliable? Is it well engineered? Is fuel consumption low? Are servicing costs reasonable? Does it hold its resale value?

The DAF can answer yes to all these questions—and has one special virtue in addition. A unique form of automatic transmission that is both simple and highly efficient. It makes crowded roads more enjoyable. Even those irritating stop-start conditions we seem to find ourselves in more and more these days.

You see, DAF gives you 100% automatic drive. Its Variomatic transmission keeps the car in the right gear at all times. This helps keep fuel consumption to a minimum (at a steady 50 you can expect 40mpg according to Autocar*). DAF also gives you the most effortless driving you've ever experienced. Just push the lever forward to go forward. Back to go back. What could be more natural.

But this is only the beginning. Take the DAF66 Super Luxe for instance.

It's a remarkably roomy and well equipped car. It has fully-reclining cloth seats that are still comfortable after a day's journey. It has a heated rear window, Michelin ZX radials, two-speed wipers, an alternator, and De Dion rear suspension for superb roadholding and safety.

It's also designed for the British climate. Built to last. With stainless steel bumpers and the latest deep dip electrostatic bodywork protection. (Remember how DAF cars were praised in the AA's VISA survey on rusting).

In short, a sensible car for sensible people, and obviously the intelligent way to get around these days. There are fourteen DAF models to choose from. See your DAF dealer now. He's listed in Yellow Pages.

ADDED YEARS

All doctors have been circularised regarding the possibility of supplementing their pension by the purchase of added years under the N.H.S. Superannuation Scheme. This operation enables a participant to increase the number of years on which the pension and other benefits are calculated, to the maximum of 40 years, if this is not attained during the course of his/her normal service. Payment for these added years may be by means of a lump sum or, in suitable circumstances, by instalments.

It is important, when considering this matter, that it is not contemplated in isolation, but is looked at in the framework of one's family finances generally, the relative ages and states of health of husband and wife and other factors.

There is no doubt that advice should be sought on this subject and it is vital that the person offering advice is cognisant not only of the various alternatives available but has a good working knowledge of the Superannuation Scheme as well.

The Medical Insurance Agency will in this — as in all matters — give an unbiased opinion and advise on alternatives available, if they should be more attractive, or will recommend purchase of added years where they provide the best answer.

You will incur no obligation by asking for our advice.

The Medical Insurance Agency was established over 60 years ago to act as independent Insurance Brokers to the Medical and Dental professions.

Through our dealings with thousands of your colleagues, we are constantly studying your problems and the vast experience of our experts in all financial fields ensures a competent and unbiased service to you entirely without fee or obligation.

APPOINTMENTS

Applicants for medical appointments are advised to check whether the post advertised is included in the Important Notice and to scrutinize carefully the remuneration and terms of service offered. Any member who is in doubt about these terms in relation to B.M.A. agreements should consult the Secretary of the Association.

Advertisers are reminded that the Race Relations Board insists that no descriptive term implying racial, national, or ethnic characteristics may be used in any advertisement. Further, readers are advised not to apply for any appointment which discriminates between applicants on grounds of creed or sex.

Applicants should state name, address, age, nationality, and qualifications, and enclose (unless otherwise specified) one copy of each of three recent testimonials, with a short statement of experience and appointments held. Applications should be sent at once if no closing date is given: Canvassing disqualifies (Statutory Instrument, 1974, No. 361).

All National Health Service hospital appointments are in accordance with the Terms and Conditions of Service of Hospital Medical Staff.

Further details concerning standards of residential accommodation, telephone charges, removal allowances, study leave and other matters should be obtained from the Hospital Secretary; or by B.M.A. members from the Secretary, British Medical Association.

In particular, they will find full details of facilities provided in most hospitals in the United Kingdom in the current edition of the Hospital Gazetteer. If such details are not included members are advised to consult the Secretary of the B.M.A.

Applicants requiring hospital married accommodation are strongly advised to obtain, prior to interview, clarification in writing from the employing authority as to whether such accommodation will be available on appointment.

No advertisement may stipulate that a non-resident must live less than 10 miles from a hospital. Advertisements for post-registration house officers, senior house officers and registrars should state clearly whether the post is resident, i.e. compulsorily resident.

In all advertisements grade should be clearly indicated. A consultant vacancy must be advertised as (a) part-time with the number of sessions clearly stated, or (b) whole-time with the option of maximum part-time.

In the view of the B.M.A., an advertiser should not insist on possession of English higher qualifications in preference to Scottish or Irish qualifications (or vice versa).

The decisions you make during the next few months are likely to be crucial to your future career. But are you sufficiently aware of all the worthwhile alternatives open to you? One fast-growing specialty you may not yet have considered offers you the following:

- The intellectual interest and horizons of hospital research work*
- The immediate financial attractions of general practice*
- The opportunity for international travel*
- Good facilities for keeping abreast of new developments in clinical practice*
- A career structure allowing rapid advancement on merit*
- Regular hours, permitting free time for family and outside pursuits.*

It is a professionally demanding career — as an active member of a multidisciplinary team researching and developing tomorrow's medicines within the pharmaceutical industry.

(21273)

About a third of all the medical research in the UK is carried out by pharmaceutical companies, and there is a strong and consistent growth in the number of physicians choosing to make their careers in this increasingly important medical specialty.

Starting salaries are in the £6000-£8000 range and are strongly progressive: top salaries in the industry compare very favourably with those in other branches of medicine in the UK. Other benefits include a car, the opportunity for an honorary hospital attachment, heavily subsidised health assurance and pension schemes, and generous housing and relocation assistance.

To embark upon such a career you should have a good British medical degree (ideally backed by a higher qualification), good clinical and therapeutic experience, and a questioning research-oriented mind.

If you would like to know more, please write or 'phone for further details — entirely without cost or obligation. We are an independent organisation with wide experience of the pharmaceutical industry in this country and overseas. Over the years we have helped many physicians to further their careers in clinical research, both in the UK and internationally.
