Madopar is a combination of levodopa (Larodopa) and benserazide, a decarboxylase inhibitor developed by Roche, in the well-researched and documented ratio of 4:1. Trials in many centres confirm this ratio as the one best tolerated in clinical practice.

Benserazide inhibits the peripheral decarboxylation of levodopa with the result that therapeutic levels of dopamine in the brain are achieved with lower doses and a clinical response occurs within days.

Thus, the well-known benefits of levodopa are realised but with a dramatic reduction in both side-effects and the refractory period—aspects of levodopa therapy which up to now have posed problems for many Parkinsonian patients.

Madopar is the trade mark for pharmaceutical preparations containing levodopa and benserazide.

Larodopa is the trade mark for Roche pharmaceutical preparations containing levodopa.

Macrophages as effector cells in specific and nonspecific inflammatory processes are receiving ever increasing attention from all concerned with defence mechanisms of the mammalian host. In October 1973, thirty leading scientists (including the Nobel prize winners, De Duve and Fauve) met to present and discuss their latest research results.

This book includes all the conference papers given at the meeting as well as the ensuing discussions, and is therefore an up to date review of macrophage research of interest to all those studying immunology and experimental pathology.

The problems posed concern all clergy, jurists and laity as well as the medical profession, and the book indicates lines of approach in seeking Christian answers.

MEDICAL AND SURGICAL ENDOCRINOLOGY

D. A. D. Montgomery and R. B. Welbourn

This text provides a systematic account of clinical endocrinology, in which the essential unity of the endocrine system is emphasized. It is divided into six parts: I. Hypothalamus, the anterior pituitary and their dependent glands. II. Calcium metabolism and the hormones which control it. III. The alimentary tract including the islet cells of the pancreas. IV. Multiple endocrine adenopathy and para-endocrine syndromes. V. Endocrinological aspects of general medicine and surgery. VI. Miscellaneous. The basic anatomy, physiology and pathology of the endocrine glands are outlined. The clinical features, investigation and treatment of endocrine disease are described and all aspects of treatment – medical, surgical and radiotherapeutic – are discussed. The aim is to help all clinicians with the management of patients whether or not they have access to sophisticated methods of investigation.

Symptoms: Persistent unwillingness to think seriously about the possibility of your being disabled by sickness or accident and the need to take out insurance against the consequent loss of income you would suffer.

The Treatment

Ask yourself one question. How long could you pay your bills if you couldn't work at all. A month? Three months? A year? If you haven't got round to safeguarding your income yet, act now.

Non-cancellable sickness and accident insurance from the Medical Sickness Society could replace a high proportion of your income if you were too ill to work. And it would go on paying you until you were back earning again. Even if the worst happened and you could never work again, it would pay you until you reached retirement age. Premiums are modest, and once you are accepted, the Society cannot cancel the insurance or increase your premium because of long or frequent claims.

The Medical Sickness Society is a mutual society providing protection for doctors and dentists only. All the directors are either doctors or dentists. This specialisation gives the Society a deep insight into the medical profession's financial needs, and helps to provide a personal and continuous service. The Society's premium rates are very competitive, even with policies that do not share in profits, and all our profits go to policyholders.

To find out more about how the Society can help you, please contact the address or telephone number below.

By the end of the day he'll know why you chose Nobrium.

Most people who need tranquillizers also need to work or run a home, so they should remain alert.

Nobrium can provide tranquillity without undue sedation. It has a specific, precise action on the amygdala which leaves most other parts of the brain virtually unaffected.

Nobrium "...is an anxiolytic agent to be given throughout the day, particularly in the treatment of out-patients with duties in productive employment.... It is a medication with a strikingly low component of sedative action coming close to being the ideal anxiolytic for daytime use."<sup>1</sup>

Heart Attacks—can they be predicted?

"The conclusion seems inescapable that the occurrence of a cardiovascular catastrophe in the hypertensive patient constitutes a medical failure rather than the first indication for treatment. Apparent medical trivia such as asymptomatic hypertension when accompanied by hypercholesterolaemia, impaired glucose tolerance, the cigarette habit or ECG abnormalities are responsible for the bulk of cardiovascular mortality. We must learn to diagnose cardiovascular disease on its way to happening, to recognise the hallmarks of increased vulnerability and to synthesize them into a composite risk estimate, and also how to deal with the cardiovascular disease precursors effectively."<sup>1</sup>

"With a casual blood test for cholesterol and sugar, blood pressure determination, cigarette history and ECG examination, it is possible to identify a tenth of the asymptomatic population from which 25% of the coronary heart disease, 40% of the occlusive peripheral arterial disease, and 50% of the strokes and congestive failure will evolve."<sup>1</sup>

"The Tell-Tale Heart", the title of Edgar Allan Poe's story has a second meaning for the general practitioner. The patient at risk to heart disease will often reveal this unwittingly by "Tell-Tale" signs.

First suspicions may be aroused by tobacco stained fingers, obesity, dyspnoea, raised blood pressure or a family history of heart disease. Glucose intolerance or an ECG abnormality may show at closer examination. Furthermore, a raised serum cholesterol level may also be found.

Each of the above factors significantly increases likelihood of C.H.D., the risk rising with the number of factors present.<sup>1,2</sup>

A recent study proved the predictive use of these risk factors in a group of 5000 men. C.H.D. was twenty-nine times more common in the high risk group than in controls—smoking, raised cholesterol and raised blood pressure being the best predictors of C.H.D.<sup>2</sup>

Since medical opinion at present recommends reduction of these risk factors, moderation of smoking and eating habits may be advantageous. However, reduction of a major risk factor—raised serum cholesterol—is of prime importance and here therapy may be indicated with Secholex, a new palatable ion exchange gel. Taken alone, or with clofibrate, marked reductions in serum cholesterol are obtained.<sup>3,4,5</sup>

Now from Beecham: an oral penicillin specifically for Urinary Tract Infections.

Urinary tract infections are rarely as simple as they seem. Patients with renal infection may present with no symptoms other than dysuria and frequency. And management is very often complicated by relapse and recurrence.

Now Beecham have introduced Uticillin, a powerful oral penicillin indicated specifically for the treatment of urinary tract infections such as cystitis and pyelonephritis. Uticillin will successfully treat 9 out of 10 patients first time, with a reduced risk of relapse. Uticillin has the inherent safety of penicillin. Unlike many urinary antibacterials, Uticillin can be prescribed both in pregnancy and when the possibility of pregnancy must be considered.

And the dosage is simple to remember—1 tablet three times a day.

Uticillin. The decisive answer to acute and chronic urinary tract infections.

Adult dosage: Simple urinary tract infections, 1 tablet (500 mg) t.i.d. Complicated and recurrent urinary tract infections, 2 tablets (1g) t.i.d.

Contra-indication: Penicillin hypersensitivity.

Side-effects: As with other penicillins.

Precaution: In mild and moderate degrees of renal impairment the normal dosage recommendations should be followed. In patients with severe renal failure (creatinine clearance of 10 ml/min or less) carficillin is not recommended; in such patients urine levels may be insufficient for therapeutic efficacy.

In the treatment of parkinsonism SINEMET®

Carbidopa/MSD and Levodopa/MSD

Levodopa therapy is aimed at replenishing dopamine, which is deficient in the corpus striatum of patients suffering from parkinsonism. Once in the brain, levodopa is metabolised to dopamine.

But levodopa is also metabolised to dopamine in extracerebral tissues, before it reaches the brain, often producing troublesome side effects. Because of these, it is frequently not possible to attain adequate brain dopamine levels.

Carbidopa, discovered by MSD, inhibits the extracerebral metabolism of levodopa. By inhibiting this metabolism of levodopa only outside the brain, carbidopa allows more levodopa to reach the brain for conversion to dopamine.

'Sinemet' is a combination of levodopa and carbidopa. With a lower dose of levodopa in 'Sinemet', higher brain dopamine levels can be achieved. By reducing certain of the dose-limiting adverse reactions usually experienced with plain levodopa, 'Sinemet' permits more patients to obtain adequate relief.

Highly effective

'Sinemet' is highly effective at doses approximately one-fifth of those needed with plain levodopa.

Simplified dosage—rapid response

'Sinemet' offers prompt relief of many of the major symptoms of Parkinson's disease—fully effective doses are usually reached within seven days compared with weeks or months with levodopa alone.

Reduced peripheral side effects

By reducing certain of the dose-limiting side effects produced by plain levodopa, 'Sinemet' permits more patients to obtain adequate relief.

Ease of transfer

Patients maintained on levodopa can be easily transferred to 'Sinemet', with expectation of better patient acceptance and response.

the new therapeutic solution for the treatment of pressure diseases of the large bowel

DIVERTICULAR DISEASE IRRITABLE/SPASTIC COLON
HAEMORRHOIDS
ANAL FISSURE

These are the pressure diseases of the large bowel—a wide range of conditions with a common aetiological factor: low level of fibre in the diet.

The pressure problem

Raised intra-colonic pressure due to excessive segmentation. This leads to the formation of diverticula when pressure builds up in an occluded segment.

Raised intra-abdominal pressure due to straining to evacuate the resulting concentrated stools. This may lead to the formation of haemorrhoids when pressure on the pelvic diaphragm occludes the venous return from the haemorrhoidal plexus.

Fybogel—the natural solution

By providing a natural fibre regimen Fybogel treats the main cause of pressure diseases—a low level of dietary fibre. Fybogel is a controlled regimen, presented as granules in single dose sachets. The granules disperse in water to make a palatable drink.

APPOINTMENTS

Applicants for medical appointments are advised to check whether the post advertised is included in the Important Notice and to scrutinize carefully the remuneration and terms of service offered. Any member who is in doubt about these terms in relation to B.M.A. agreements should consult the Secretary of the Association.

Advertisers are reminded that the Race Relations Board insists that no descriptive term implying racial, national, or ethnic characteristics may be used in any advertisement. Further, readers are advised not to apply for any appointment which discriminates between applicants on grounds of creed or sex.

Applicants should state name, address, age, nationality, and qualifications, and enclose (unless otherwise specified) one copy of each of three recent testimonials, with a short statement of experience and appointments held. Applications should be sent at once if no closing date is given: Canvassing disqualifies (Statutory Instrument, 1974, No. 361).

Applicants requiring hospital married accommodation are strongly advised to obtain, prior to interview, clarification in writing from the employing authority as to whether such accommodation will be available on appointment.

Medical Officers

£7,300

You are offered the prospect of a tour of duty — for as little as one year — in Zambia, one which will give you both a wide range of professional experience and early responsibility. It is with the nation's major mining organisation, Nchanga Consolidated Copper Mines Ltd, with an international staff of technical specialists.

The company is responsible for providing full medical care to its employees — over 30,000 — and their families; the total of persons to be looked after is about 150,000.

There is a senior doctor staff of over 40, together with a full complement of specialists and 150 fully qualified nurses. The modern facilities include 5 well-equipped hospitals (847 beds), 18 clinics and 9 main first aid dressing stations.

General Duty Medical Officers will be involved in preventive and curative medicine, surgery, anaesthetics, gynaecology/obstetrics, public health and nutrition; and although the mines have a strict safety code an amount of accident work can be expected.

Contracts may be negotiated for periods of one to three years. Locums can also often be arranged.

Salaries will depend on experience, but the minimum is K11,275 gross per annum (£7,320 based on an exchange rate of K1. = 65p). In addition there is a tax free settling-in allowance; subsidised Company private primary schools; a detached, furnished house with garden is provided for £3 per week; and children receiving secondary education overseas are granted up to £780 per child per year, tax free, towards school fees and three free return passages to visit their parents during holidays; interest free car loan available. Study leave is available, and there are 60 days standard annual leave.

Up to 33 % of gross income can be sent home each month.

In ASTHMA, when Bronchodilators or Bronchodilators + Cromoglycate will not provide adequate control, Becotide Inhaler is the rational approach.

THE RATIONALE

When asthma can neither be prevented by sodium cromoglycate nor adequately relieved by a sympathomimetic bronchodilator, the most effective treatment is unquestionably a corticosteroid.

Until beclomethasone dipropionate inhaled steroid was made available (as Becotide Inhaler), corticosteroids could only be given in asthma by mouth or injection and unfortunately when administered by these routes on a long term basis, they depress the response of the hypothalamic-pituitary adrenal (HPA) axis to stress and may cause other well known undesirable side effects.

Thus the decision to prescribe steroids in asthma has posed a considerable dilemma for clinicians. Side effects have either been accepted as the inevitable consequence of efficacy or attempts have been made to minimise them by using a reduced dosage which has often led to inadequate control of the disease.

A NEW DIMENSION IN ASTHMA THERAPY

The acceptance and success to date of Becotide Inhaler has introduced a new dimension into asthma therapy. The benefits of effective control of the inflammatory processes in the lung can be achieved without causing potentially dangerous side effects, including adrenal suppression. The only adverse findings with Becotide Inhaler have been occasional hoarseness and candidiasis of the mouth and throat which responds to topical antifungal therapy without discontinuing treatment with the inhaler.

Thus patients with asthma may now be given the full benefit of steroid therapy without serious risk: for many, their whole lives can be transformed.

"For those who are poorly controlled on bronchodilators or DSCG, this treatment (Becotide Inhaler) can give complete or comparative freedom from airways obstruction without risk of adrenal suppression or other side effects."

(Brit. med. J., 1973, 3, 161.)

"These show very clearly the dramatic changes which took place on the introduction of aerosol therapy (Becotide Inhaler), but cannot illustrate the even more striking improvement which occurred in psychological adjustment to the disease and in athletic performance."

(Brit. med. J., 1973, 3, 161.)

THE CLINICAL EVIDENCE IS EXTENSIVE AND CONVINCING

Becotide Inhaler has been evaluated in many British Chest Units, at first in severe chronic asthmatic patients already maintained on systemic steroids and, as its efficacy has been established, increasingly in patients with only occasional or no previous treatment with steroids.

To date, no fewer than twenty published clinical trials confirm that Becotide Inhaler is an exceptionally effective means of controlling asthma without the risk of serious side effects.
