Specialist Journals on MICROFICHE

Since January 1976 all the BMA Specialist Journals will be published in a microfiche edition simultaneously with the standard paper editions. Overseas subscribers to the microfiche editions will receive microfiches, by AIR MAIL, within days of publication. The availability of the microfiche editions should have great appeal to libraries and other readers far distant from the United Kingdom.

The microfiche produced for the British Medical Association conform to the international standard as laid down by the National Microfilm Association of America. These microfiches are produced by a step and repeat camera with duplicates produced on silver halide film for archival permanence. Each fiche measures 105 mm x 148 mm and can contain up to 98 images filmed at a reduction ratio of 24x along with an eye readable title with a coloured backdrop for ease of identification. Details of microfiche volume binders are available on request.

THE LIQUORICE STORY

Part III

After extensive research a field was discovered in Pontefract which had been used for growing liquorice some years ago. We were fortunate to find a considerable amount of liquorice root still there and we extracted as much as possible, under the expert advice of a retired local liquorice grower. Buds were taken from the liquorice root and these were planted, observing the necessary conditions of cultivation as mentioned in Part I.

We are now extremely pleased to report that these plants are growing most satisfactorily: the current stage of growth is shown in the photograph below:

Our intention is to promote the growth of liquorice in this country and to investigate whether the minimum three year growing process can be accelerated.

A recently published trial described the effect of deglycyrrhizinated liquorice on the gastric mucosal barrier of the dog. This trial suggested that deglycyrrhizinated liquorice "protects the gastric mucosa from the damaging effect of bile".<sup>i</sup>

In a second trial involving approximately 80 gastric and duodenal ulcer patients,<sup>ii</sup> a dose regime to twelve Caved-(S) tablets daily was administered in severe cases. After such high doses no side effects were observed; measurements of blood pressure, body weight, and serum electrolytes (sodium and potassium) were taken during the whole of the treatment with Caved-(S), including the follow-up investigations. In no case did body weight at the end of the treatment exceed that at the beginning. No oedema was seen, and no change in serum sodium and potassium was observed. Blood pressure also remained constant. There was complete absence of relapse after treatment with Caved-(S).

The latest trial to be published on Caved-(S),<sup>iii</sup> was a retrospective endoscopic study of 32 cases of chronic duodenal ulceration. Many of these patients had a long history of ulceration. These were all treated with Caved-(S) tablets. Results showed that healing of the ulceration occurred, and in the majority of cases the mucosa appeared normal. It was demonstrated that to achieve optimum effect, it is important that the preparation, in adequate dosage, should be well chewed and swallowed on an empty stomach, rather than taken after meals as had been recommended previously.

Inflation proof savings?

Guaranteeing your savings against inflation is an impossible task. However, the new Index Linked S.A.Y.E. Scheme does just that — it is backed by a Government guarantee.

Although designed to be paid by monthly instalments out of income, it is now possible to deposit a capital sum from which these monthly payments are made. The capital sum required is less than the total S.A.Y.E. payments, so that quite apart from the guaranteed basic benefits of the S.A.Y.E. Scheme, there is the further attraction of the discount on the capital.

An investment for all the family

This scheme is available to husbands, wives and children of 16 or over. The amount of your investment depends on your age of application, as follows:—

Teaching and Research

The training has been designed primarily to prepare the graduate for the variety of medical administrative posts in the reorganized National Health Service. There is a widespread shortage of university teachers of social medicine which it is hoped that the course will also help to meet. In the first year an integrated academic training is given in statistics — epidemiology — behavioural sciences, social administration, organisation and management (jointly with the London School of Economics) — theory and practice of the organisation of medical care, all in relation to policies and services for the promotion of health, the prevention and control of disease, health and social care. A variety of teaching methods are used. During the second year each student is attached to an academic or service unit and carries out his/her own research in order to gain practical experience in the application of the theory and methods learned in the first year; this second year also provides an opportunity for the student to develop professional and career interests.

The Course and Degree exempt from Part 1 of the examination for Membership of the Faculty of Community Medicine; The Report on the Second Year project may also be prepared with the requirements of the Membership in mind.

For successful applicants, "Trainee" appointments with initial secondment to the Course can be arranged with Regional and Area Health Authorities.

APPOINTMENTS

Applicants for medical appointments are advised to check whether the post advertised is included in the Important Notice and to scrutinize carefully the remuneration and terms of service offered. Any member who is in doubt about these terms in relation to B.M.A. agreements should consult the Secretary of the Association.

Advertisers are reminded that the Race Relations Board insists that no descriptive term implying racial, national, or ethnic characteristics may be used in any advertisement. Further, readers are advised not to apply for any appointment which discriminates between applicants on grounds of creed or unreasonably on grounds of sex.

HOSPITAL APPOINTMENTS

Applicants should state names, address, age, nationality, and qualifications, and enclose (unless otherwise specified) one copy of each of three recent testimonials, with a short statement of experience and appointments held. Applications should be sent at once if no closing date is given: Canvassing disqualifies (Statutory Instrument, 1974, No. 361).

All National Health Service hospital appointments are in accordance with the Terms and Conditions of Service of Hospital Medical Staff.

Further details concerning standards of residential accommodation, telephone charges, removal allowances, study leave and other matters should be obtained from the Hospital Secretary; or by B.M.A. members from the Secretary, British Medical Association.

In particular, they will find full details of facilities provided in most hospitals in the United Kingdom in the current edition of the Hospital Gazetteer. If such details are not included members are advised to consult the Secretary of the B.M.A.

Applicants requiring hospital married accommodation are strongly advised to obtain, prior to interview, clarification in writing from the employing authority as to whether such accommodation will be available on appointment.

No advertisement may stipulate that a non-resident must live less than 10 miles from a hospital. Advertisements for post-registration house officers, senior house officers and registrars should state clearly whether the post is resident, i.e. compulsorily resident.

In all advertisements grade should be clearly indicated. Normally a consultant vacancy must be advertised as (a) part-time with the number of sessions clearly stated, or (b) whole-time with the option of maximum part-time.

In the view of the BMA, an advertiser should not insist on possession of English higher qualifications in preference to Scottish or Irish qualifications (or vice versa).
