PERSONAL VIEW

An Anthology

Since the feature started in 1968 PERSONAL VIEW has been one of the most popular pages of the B.M.J. A hundred of these have now been gathered together in an anthology, to which an introduction has been written by a noted PERSONAL VIEW contributor, Dr. Mahadeva of Ceylon, Sri Lanka. The subjects of the views contained in this anthology range from experience of practice all over the world to work as a schoolteacher, the role of music in medicine, learning to be a farmer's wife, and running a fringe event at the Edinburgh Festival.

Slimming with Bread

Some typical slimmers' questions answered by

Derek Miller

Lecturer in Nutrition at London University

1. Should I give up bread completely?

"A slimming diet certainly may contain bread. In fact, it's a convenient method of ensuring that a diet contains an adequate supply of most nutrients, since bread provides an important quantity of protein, vitamins, and minerals. If you give up bread, you will need to get these from other more expensive foods. It's also good training for maintaining weight after your target weight is achieved; because one learns the calorie value of ordinary foods, rather than knowing only about so-called 'slimming' foods which you don't intend to use for the rest of your life."

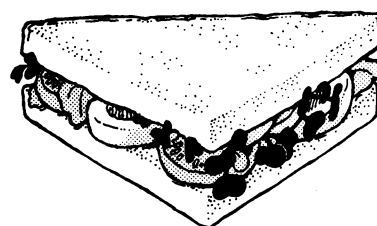

2. Must I cut out all high-calorie foods?

"It's necessary to reduce your total calorie intake. For many people, it's easier to cut down on high calorie foods like fat which, incidentally, contain more than 3 times the number of calories in bread on an ounce-for-ounce basis. Really low-calorie foods (e.g. lettuce and tomatoes) are clearly an advantage and can be used as sandwich fillings."

3. What's the best way to avoid an expensive slimming diet?

"Many slimming diets are expensive, some very expensive. There's no need for this. If you're going to eat less food, diets should be cheaper than normal. The easiest thing to do is to stick to ordinary foods and learn their calorie values. Generally it is more sensible to cut down on 'empty calories', i.e. foods which contain little or no nutrients, such as sugar confectionery; but for those with a sweet tooth, small indulgences can be included, so long as they are calorie-counted."

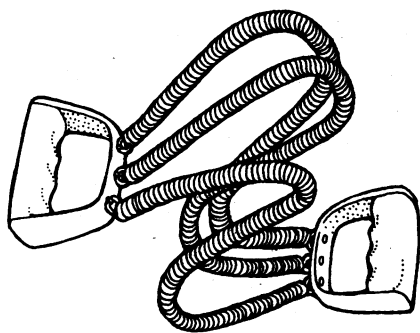

4. Are regular sandwich lunches a bad thing on their own?

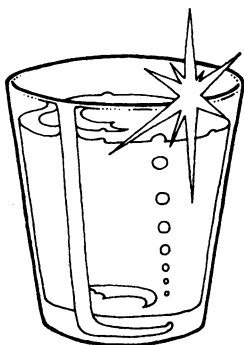

"It's a common fallacy that hot meals are essential for good nutrition. But this is not so. Most sandwich lunches are highly nutritious, but slimmers should avoid high calorie fillings."

5. How much help is exercise, and what kinds help most?

"The energy cost of exercise is disappointingly small. To lose weight by exercise alone is almost impossible unless you change your occupation and become a coal miner or lumberjack."

A weekend game of golf helps very little. On the other hand, exercise may help the successful slimmer to improve her shape by increasing muscle tone and reducing flab. The exercise of particular muscle groups can improve measurements—but has little effect on the weight."

6. Is it true that you should avoid liquid, even water, during a meal?

"Some charlatan diets restrict fluid intake with the suggestion that obesity is due to too much body water rather than too much fat. This is nonsense. The body normally controls its fluid content very carefully and, if it does not, your problem is more serious than being overweight. Such cases are rare except in famine—and they require medical attention."

'Slim with Sense' tells you about the essential foods, the quantities to eat, the foods to avoid at all costs, and the foods which can be consumed in large quantities. It also tells how to diet sensibly without giving up bread.

If you would like a free copy of 'Slim with Sense' just send a stamped self-addressed envelope (measuring not less than 9" x 4") to Dept. I, The Flour Advisory Bureau, 21 Arlington Street, London, SW1A 1RN. (Enquiries from UK residents only).

Why forbid the patient coffee?

Thanks to H-A-G Decaffeinated Coffee even in cases of Insomnia, Palpitations, Disorders of the Heart and Circulation, Excitability, Gastritis and Peptic Ulcer, Gallstones, certain Diseases of the Liver the patient need not forego his favourite beverage.

 THE H-A-G DECAFFEINATING PROCESS.
Swelling the green beans by steam pressure enlarges the pores and exposes the maximum surface to the highly volatile caffeine solvent (not trichlorethylene) which is flushed through the beans, carrying the caffeine with it. The surplus solvent is removed by a final steam flushing. The beans are then roasted in the normal way.

H-A-G coffee is available in 3 forms, Beans, Ground and Instant.

Liberal samples of Ground or Instant will be sent free and post free to any Doctors applying to:

One of our doctors on night call.

Are you a doctor? Or a student waiting to go to a teaching hospital?

If so, may we ask a few questions?

While you'd obviously prefer to operate in a hospital, could you in an emergency do so on a street corner, possibly under fire?

Remember, you won't be able to call for blood tests, x-rays or second opinions.

We don't want to exaggerate the situation. You'll probably spend far more of your time looking after the general health of the regiment in your own medical centre.

But when the regiment's on active duty so are you, and you could easily find yourself jumping into the back of a Land Rover one night if some of your boys are in trouble.

This leads us to the next question: in these circumstances you might well be responsible for half a dozen soldiers.

To them you won't just be a doctor, you'll be an Officer, and they'll expect you to act like one. Could you cope?

To help you do this, you'll spend a month at Sandhurst.

Your military training.

We don't ask you to leap around assault courses with eager young Infantry Officers. Nor will we expect you to become a crack shot.

But it is essential that you study map-reading and learn how to operate a field radio.

It'll also help if you know how to lead a platoon, possibly on a night exercise (the idea is to give you a taste of the practical problems in giving orders).

But of course, it's your qualification as a doctor that interests us most, and the one we want to make most of. So your next stop will be the RAMC training centre, Aldershot.

Your medical training.

At Aldershot you'll attend lectures and demonstrations to explain the functions of the RAMC and how medical units fit into the Army as a whole.

Then you'll go to the Royal Army Medical College at Millbank.

Here you'll learn about certain medical aspects of cases and conditions that you would not come across in civilian life. Gunshot wounds and burns, for example, and field hygiene, as well as military psychiatry and preventive medicine.

Later, we'll want you to brush-up on tropical medicine since we still have men overseas.

Your first appointment.

You'll work as a general practitioner in a medical centre responsible for the health and welfare of soldiers and their families.

As such, you'll also be the Regiment's Medical Officer and the Colonel's adviser on all health matters affecting the troops.

During this time you could go with a regiment to Northern Ireland and just as easily to Norway on winter exercises.

After a year you'll come to something of a cross-roads in your career: what do you want to do next?

It might help if we outline some of the alternatives.

Your post-graduate training.

You could complete a Vocational Training Programme whilst in general practice or take Community Medicine.

Alternatively, you may go for specialist postgraduate training in one of the military hospitals.

Then there are the numerous opportunities for medical research.

Recent projects have covered the study of Q Fever in the Middle East. Investigation of common dyspeptic syndromes in young people.

An enquiry into the causation of renal lithiasis, the treatment of missile injuries and the long-term preservation of blood.

Medical cadets.

Another way to become a doctor in the Army is to join as a student.

If you've completed your pre-clinical studies and have obtained a place at a teaching hospital, you can apply for a medical cadetship.

As a Medical Cadet you'll earn £1,099 a year and get an education grant of £1,095.

One thing we must point out. When you've qualified you must stay with the RAMC for five years from the date of joining.

As a fully registered doctor your starting salary will be £5,997, with a tax free gratuity of £1,500 if you decide to leave after three years, and £3,000 after five years.

Before you make your final decision why not visit one of our medical establishments and talk to some RAMC Officers?

Write to: Brigadier (Retd.) John J. Voller, MRCS, LRCP, FFARCS, Dept. M6, Regimental Headquarters RAMC, Royal Army Medical College, Millbank, London SW1 4RJ.

Some people take barbiturates because they can't face another day

Every year many thousands of people attempt to kill themselves with barbiturates. Some die. Most survive. But usually only after intensive treatment, in hospital.

Virtually all of these patients could be transferred to Mogadon, which is much safer,¹ but just as effective in inducing sleep.² Moreover, it causes few of the barbiturates' many other problems.³⁻⁵

Patients may still try to kill themselves. But with Mogadon few, if any, would succeed and most would recover in less than 12 hours without treatment.¹

Mogadon: far safer, far better

The Allergic Salute

A sign of perennial rhinitis, the cold that can last for 25 years.

Some children seem to have a permanent cold. They're constantly sniffing and often have a troublesome nocturnal cough. They're always twitching, pressing, wiping or rubbing their nose, usually upwards, causing an accentuated crease in the skin.

They may not be suffering from a cold at all, but from perennial allergic rhinitis.

Now you can prevent it with Lomusol. Lomusol provides an effective prophylactic treatment in metered-dose form. It's easy to carry, simple to use and its safety makes it ideal for long-term treatment.

APPOINTMENTS

Applicants for medical appointments are advised to check whether the post advertised is included in the Important Notice and to scrutinize carefully the remuneration and terms of service offered. Any member who is in doubt about these terms in relation to B.M.A. agreements should consult the Secretary of the Association.

Advertisers are reminded that the Race Relations Board insists that no descriptive term implying racial, national, or ethnic characteristics may be used in any advertisement. Further, readers are advised not to apply for any appointment which discriminates between applicants on grounds of creed or unreasonably on grounds of sex.

HOSPITAL APPOINTMENTS

Applicants should state names, address, age, nationality, and qualifications, and enclose (unless otherwise specified) one copy of each of three recent testimonials, with a short statement of experience and appointments held. Applications should be sent at once if no closing date is given: Canvassing disqualifies (Statutory Instrument, 1974, No. 361).

All National Health Service hospital appointments are in accordance with the Terms and Conditions of Service of Hospital Medical Staff.

Further details concerning standards of residential accommodation, telephone charges, removal allowances, study leave and other matters should be obtained from the Hospital Secretary; or by B.M.A. members from the Secretary, British Medical Association.

In particular, they will find full details of facilities provided in most hospitals in the United Kingdom in the current edition of the Hospital Gazetteer. If such details are not included, members are advised to consult the Secretary of the B.M.A.

Applicants requiring hospital married accommodation are strongly advised to obtain, prior to interview, clarification in writing from the employing authority as to whether such accommodation will be available on appointment.

No advertisement may stipulate that a non-resident must live less than 10 miles from a hospital. Advertisements for post-registration house officers, senior house officers and registrars should state clearly whether the post is resident, i.e. compulsorily resident.

In all advertisements grade should be clearly indicated. Normally a consultant vacancy must be advertised as (a) part-time with the number of sessions clearly stated, or (b) whole-time with the option of maximum part-time.

In the view of the BMA, an advertiser should not insist on possession of English higher qualifications in preference to Scottish or Irish qualifications (or vice versa).

MULTI-CENTRE INTERNATIONAL STUDY SHOWS THAT

Beta-blockade reduces cardiac mortality

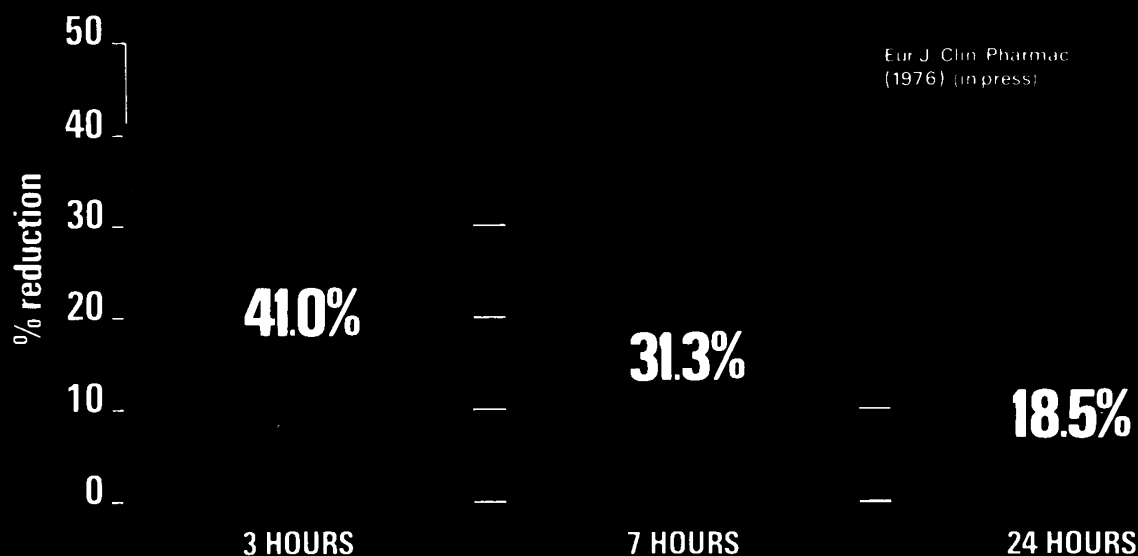

An important multi-centre international study† has demonstrated an improved prognosis for patients with recent anterior myocardial infarction who were on long-term practolol therapy and concludes that these findings are likely to be applicable to other beta-adrenoreceptor antagonists.

It recommends that because of severe side effects in the long-term use of practolol an alternative beta-blocking agent should be used.

Just such an alternative is Beta-Cardone. Thoroughly researched since 1962, and clinically investigated for seven years, Beta-Cardone is particularly notable for its prolonged effective action.

†Br. med. J. (1975)3,735.

Beta-Cardone: % reduction in exercise tachycardia after 400mg dose orally

The exceptionally long action of Beta-Cardone in exercise tachycardia is clearly illustrated in this chart. As long as 24 hours after a 400 mg dose, there is still an 18.5% reduction in exercise heart rate.

Protection for the heart day and night

Beta-Cardone

the longer acting beta-blocker

Beta-Cardone (Sotalol hydrochloride) is a trade mark of DUNCAN, FLOCKHART & CO. LTD., LONDON E2 6LA. Full information is available on request.
