Stricture and other Urinary Disorders.

By REGINALD HARRISON, F.R.C.S., Surgeon to the Liverpool Royal Infirmary.

"Treat of stricture, urethral fever, retention of urine, injuries to the urethra, urethromy (internal and external), foreign bodies in the bladder and urethra, prostatic diseases, cystitis, calculous disorders, tumours of the bladder and prostate, and ulcerations of the bladder. . . . Contain an able record of an extensive experience. The cases chosen to illustrate his views are well selected, and in themselves form a collection of clinical observations of no small merit."—Med. Times and Gazette.
"In this modest volume of Lectures, Mr. Harrison again appears in the world of letters, and by the simplicity of his style, the practical good sense displayed, and the value necessarily attached to decisions based, as they are, upon a large experience, is entitled to a respectful hearing and in our opinion, to the confidence of all who may consult his pages for information."—American Journal of the Medical Sciences.
