Remembering Henry (1977)

A man of stature—in all ways—Henry Miller occupied a large part in many people's lives and his death in 1976 left a large gap. Though a neurologist of world renown he was best known in the North-East, where he spent most of his life, and where, for the last eight years of it, he was Vice-Chancellor of the University of Newcastle upon Tyne. A cross-section of his many friends and colleagues have contributed their reminiscences to Remembering Henry and, as each person saw him from a different angle, those who did not know him will find that the whole man gradually comes to life. Professor John Walton has written the introduction, three of Henry Miller's best-known articles are included (writing was his first interest after neurology), and there is a bibliography of his prolific publications. A fitting tribute, Remembering Henry may fill some of the gaps for those who have stayed behind. Profits from the book will be given to the Henry Miller Memorial Appeal.

Bone and Joint Diseases (1977)

Arthritis used to be the Cinderella of diseases, but improved diagnostic techniques, advances in joint replacement surgery, and a whole range of non-steroidal drugs have led to a much more active approach to the management of the common bone and joint diseases. Detailed advice on their diagnosis and treatment was given last year in a series of 16 articles in the BMJ, and these have now been gathered together in the latest volume based on the popular "Today's Treatment" series.

Price: Inland £3.00; Abroad US$6.00

Today's Treatment/2 (1977)

The first volume of Today's Treatment has proved a best-seller. Doctors clearly welcome its down-to-earth advice on the selection of effective remedies for common disorders. The second volume, just published, covers endocrine and metabolic diseases, cardiovascular disorders and the alimentary system. Again the chapters are based on articles first published in the BMJ; and the advice provides busy practitioners with a reliable working manual.
