This College was established for the purpose of affording a complete Medical Education. It is situated opposite the General Hospital, so as to afford Students every advantage which can be derived from Clinical Instruction and Study in an Institution which contains two hundred and forty beds, at which more than twenty thousand patients received medical and surgical aid during the past year, and which, from its close proximity to the mining and manufacturing districts, affords opportunities for the practical study of Medicine and Surgery equal to those of any similar institution in the kingdom. It is governed by a Council composed of more than sixty of the most eminent Medical Practitioners of the midland counties. Attendance upon the Lectures and Hospital Practice will qualify for examination at the Royal Colleges the Army, Navy, and Indian Boards. In conformity with the recent regulations of the Examining Boards, Classical and Mathematical Tutors have been appointed, as well as a General Tutor, who is in attendance daily to assist in the discipline of the College, to superintend the dissections, and to hold classes for the instruction of Students. Clinical Lectures will be delivered by the Physicians and Surgeons of the General Hospital, and Prizes are given annually for the best sets of Medical and Surgical Reports. The Chemical Laboratory is fitted with every convenience, and special care is taken to instruct the Students in Manipulative Chemistry. Ample opportunities are afforded for obtaining a practical knowledge of Midwifery. Prizes are awarded in each class, and one is given by the Council for general proficiency.

Further particulars may be obtained on application to the Principal, Dr. Bell Fletcher, Waterloo Street; to the Treasurer, Dr. Russell, Newhall Street, who is authorised to receive Students; or to the Secretaries, Mr. Bassett, 1, St. Paul's Square, and Mr. Howkins, Bennett's Hill, Birmingham.

Liquor Bismuthi, (Schacht)—a
Fluid preparation of Bismuth, not decomposed by dilution. This article has been extensively used at the Bristol General Hospital, and in private dispensing, since 1857; and is recommended by many of the faculty as more efficacious and more convenient of administration than any other form of the remedy.

Prepared by G. F. SCHACHT, Chemist, Clifton.

Round Shoulders, Stooping H-

bits, Contracted Chests, and other Deformities of this class, are effectually cured by CHANDLER'S IMPROVED CHEST-EXPANDING BRACES for both sexes of all ages. Their action is to carry the weight of the shoulders off the chest, and throw the arms behind the body, thus causing the wearer to walk and sit perfectly erect, and are especially recommended to children for assisting the growth, preventing deformities, and producing a noble and symmetrical figure, superseding the old braces and stays.
