Books for the Practitioner

SECOND
EDITION

MOYNIHAN'S ABDOMINAL OPERATIONS

RECENTLY

By B. G. A. MOYNIHAN, M.S.(London), F.R.C.S., Surgeon to the General Infirmary, Leeds. Cloth, 28s. net.

Mr. Moynihan's work is the abdominal surgery for the general surgeon, giving not only the actual modus operandi of the various abdominal operations, but also the technic of preliminary preparation and sterilisation. The British Medical Journal says: "The work as a whole is marked by well-balanced estimate of the value of, and the indications for, the various operative procedures described, by discussion of the views of other surgeons, which shows a wide acquaintance with their practice and their writings, and by careful descriptions of technique, which will place many a surgeon under an obligation to the author." Peritonitis and appendicitis are accorded unusual space; and the subjects of chronic ulcer and intestinal obstruction are also excellently detailed. Send for Circular.

NEW (6th)

SCUDDER'S TREATMENT OF FRACTURES

Octavo of 628 pages, 854 illustrations. By CHARLES L. SCUDDER, M.D., Surgeon to the Massachusetts General Hospital, Boston. Polished Buckram, 24s. net.

Dr. Scudder's work has now reached a sale of over 25,000 copies. Devoted to treatment it is above all others the book for the practitioner, for not only does Dr. Scudder tell how to diagnose and treat every fracture, but he shows how to do it. In reviewing a previous edition the British Medical Journal said: "It is one of the best of modern works on the subject, and with its full and lucid teaching, supplemented by an abundance of excellent illustrations, will be found a useful guide in the management of this class of injuries." In this edition operative procedures have been considered at some length. Over a hundred new illustrations have been added.

KELLY & CULLEN'S UTERINE MYOMATA

Large Octavo, 700 pages, with 388 original illustrations, 19 in colours. By HOWARD A. KELLY, M.D., and THOMAS S. CULLEN, M.B. of Johns Hopkins University. Cloth, 35s. net.

This monumental work, the fruit of over ten years of untiring labours, will remain for many years the last word upon the subject. Written by those men who have brought, step by step, the operative treatment of uterine myoma to such perfection that the mortality is now less than one per cent., it stands out as the record of greatest achievement of recent times. As an example of the practical results accruing from the association of the operating-room with the pathologic laboratory, this work will stand as an enduring testimonial. The Dublin Journal of Medical Science says: "The book is splendidly illustrated. No pains or expense seem to have been spared.....It contains an immense amount of useful information for the general practitioner, and it should certainly not be absent from the library of any gynaecological surgeon."

DaCOSTA'S PHYSICAL DIAGNOSIS

By JOHN C. DaCOSTA, JR., M.D., Associate in Clinical Medicine, Jefferson Medical College, Philadelphia. Octavo, 575 pages, illustrated. Cloth, 15s. net.

Dr. DaCosta's work is a thoroughly new and original one. Every method given has been carefully tested and proved of value by the author himself. Normal physical signs are explained in detail in order to aid the diagnostician in determining the abnormal. Both direct and differential diagnoses are emphasised. The cardinal methods of examination are supplemented by full descriptions of technic. The British Medical Journal says: "It is so full of material, and almost always very good material, that it cannot be discussed in detail. To classify its subject-matter on an academic basis it may be said that it is mainly concerned with clinical anatomy, the origin, mechanism, and significance of normal physical signs, and with a really thorough discussion of applied pathology and of diagnosis." Send for Circular.

NEW (3rd)
EDITION

FRIEDENWALD & RUHRÄH ON DIET

By JULIUS FRIEDENWALD, M.D., and JOHN RUHRÄH, M.D., of Baltimore. Octavo of 764 pages. Cloth, 18s. net.

This new third edition will be found still more useful than the former two. The articles on milk and alcohol have been rewritten, additions made to those on tuberculosis, the salt-free diet, and rectal feeding, and several valuable tables added, including Winton's showing the composition of diabetic foods. All in all, the revision for this edition places this book far in the front of works on Diet. The Lancet says: "The authors have presented in a readable form various alternative diets adapted to many conditions. The book is well printed, is easy of reference, and is a valuable presentation of the subject of which it treats."

"Mr. Lane makes out a clear case for early and most immediate operation. To sum up: Mr. Lane has absolutely proved his contention, and rendered it quite clear, that early operation is the right course on every ground, developmental and otherwise; and further, that delay in performing staphylorrhaphy until the third to the sixth year is fraught with most harmful results, and should not be permitted."—British Medical Journal, January 27th, 1908.

WRIGHT'S LIQUOR CARBONIS DETERGENS

This speciality has been prescribed by the medical profession for upwards of 45 years, and its value as a specific in certain skin diseases is such that many imitations have been placed before the medical profession, and the Compilers of the British Pharmacopoeia of 1898 have even introduced a "competitive article." The official preparation does not correspond with Wright's

"LIQUOR CARBONIS DETERGENS," and disappointing results are inevitable from the use of the Pharmacopoeia preparation in place of Wright's Original Liquor.

KOND'S Euonymised Cocoa

What is it?

A delicious Beverage, taking the place of Tea, Cocoa, or Coffee.

Why take it?

Its use is attended with a marked increase of appetite and rapidity of digestion; all feelings of heaviness after meals disappear; and an increase of the natural flow of bile takes place. It is not aperient, except in repeated doses, but the increased activity of the liver is valuable in removing constipation. It is used in stomach or liver disorders, alcoholism, slow digestion, overwork, depression, loss of appetite, in cases where tea and coffee are not desirable, sedentary habit of life, gout, rheumatism, and biliousness.

Euonymised Cocoa can be freely taken by those unable to take ordinary Cocoas.

The Euonymin is taken in the form of a hot infusion in a delicious beverage. Its action in this form is incomparably more direct and powerful than when taken in any other forms.

MIST. HEPATICA CONC. (HEWLETT'S).

COMPOSITION.—Ext. Cascara, Ext. Rhei, Jalapin, Podophyllin, Cocainæ Hydrochlor, 1-12th grain in each fluid drachm.

THIS excellent compound, first introduced as a general aperient and cholagogue, has now become a popular remedy, and attention has very recently been called to the value of the mixture, by various authorities, in that class of cases spoken of as Chronic Biliousness, in Catarrhal Jaundice, and in the Jaundice of simple Hepatic Torpor. The remedial value of the compound depends chiefly upon the power which it possesses in influencing the action of the liver and other glandular organs of the alimentary canal. The remedy would not seem to be indicated in Hepatitis with high fever, so much as in the more chronic form of the affection which ends in enlargement and induration of the organ. In passive or habitual Congestion of the Liver, so frequently met with, it has been used with marked benefit. Even in the early stages of cirrhosis, whilst the liver is still enlarged, the compound should be regularly given, as great benefit has been derived from its use.

In the treatment of acute or temporary constipation, frequently met with in the convalescence from acute disease, and in pregnancy, or in the constipation due to sedentary habits, to habitual overwork (especially of the nervous system), to a deficiency of intestinal secretion, and of peristalsis, and a paralytic state of the intestinal muscular fibres, the mixture can be prescribed with wonderful effect, positively curing cases that have resisted other remedies.

The Dose is from 10 to 60 minims, according to the age and condition of the patient. One drachm is a direct aperient, and is not accompanied by griping or tenesmus.

Packed for Dispensing, only in 10-oz., 22-oz., 40-oz., and 90-oz. Bottles.

Please write: "Mist. Hepatica Conc. (HEWLETT'S)" to ensure obtaining this Preparation.

'THE' MALT EXTRACT.

"THE LANCET"

DIAMALT MALT EXTRACT WITH COD LIVER OIL.

(The British Diamalt Co., 11 & 13, Southwark Street, London, S.E.)

We have already remarked upon the high diastatic value of this company's malt extract. According to our experiments, Diamalt digests nearly seven times its weight of starch at body temperature and as much as 13 times its weight of starch at higher temperatures.

It is therefore not surprising that Diamalt blends perfectly with a high percentage of cod liver oil. Samples recently submitted to us yielded respectively 17.00 and 33.73 per cent. by weight of cod liver oil. The excellence of the malt extract adds not a little to the palatability of the compound in spite of the oil. Altogether these preparations may be regarded as the standard of a malt and cod liver oil combination.

BENGER'S

BENGER'S Peptonised Beef Jelly

In Patent Glass Jars, retail 2s. A delicately flavoured, concentrated, partially digested and solidified Beef Tea.

It excels the various Extracts and Essences of Meat, or the most carefully made ordinary Beef Tea, inasmuch as it contains, besides the Salts and flavouring principles, much of the fibrine, or flesh-forming elements of the beef in a soluble form, fit for immediate absorption. On this account it constitutes an exceedingly valuable and delicious quick restorative.

The LANCET says—

"It is a most valuable form of concentrated food."

The LONDON MEDICAL RECORD says—

"We have found it invaluable for old people, whose digestive powers are feeble, and also in convalescence from acute diseases."

BENGER'S Peptonised Chicken Jelly

A Nutritive Jelly for Invalids. In Patent Glass Jars 2s. each

It is prepared in a similar manner to the Peptonised Beef Jelly, and, like it, contains the nutritive constituents in a concentrated, partially digested, and solidified form.

The LANCET, in an article on Benger's Peptonised Chicken Jelly says—"Mr. Benger's Preparations are now so well known that all we need say of the sample before us is—that it is excellent. It has a delicate chicken flavour."

THE BRISTOL MEDICO-CHIRURGICAL JOURNAL says: "Benger's Peptonised Chicken Jelly is an elegant variety of food, physiologically similar to the Beef Jelly, but with a different flavour, and likely to be useful to patients who require frequent changes in their dietary."

Reports on MASSOLETTES

(REGISTERED)

November 30th, 1909.

Report on the Bacteriological Examination of MASSOLETTES.

I have made a careful examination of the contents of two separate boxes of Massolettes and submit herewith the details of my experiments and the results obtained.

Two Massolettes from each box were cut up, with due precautions to prevent bacterial contamination, and added to separate flasks each of which contained half a pint of sterilised skimmed milk. The flasks were carefully plugged with cotton wool and incubated for 24 hours at a temperature of 40° Centigrade.

At the same time two similar flasks of the same milk were placed in the incubator to serve as control experiments.

A culture medium was also prepared consisting of lactose, 5 parts; neutral beef peptone broth, 25 parts; water sufficient to make 100 parts. This was carefully sterilised and filled into small flasks. Into the flasks I placed the interior portions of a massolette, rejecting the chocolate exterior, and after shaking, the flasks were placed in the incubator for 24 hours. The reason for the employment of this Peptone-Lactose medium was that I might obtain cultures which could not possibly have been contaminated with any organism from the milk employed in the other set of cultures.

After 24 hours the results, with the milk cultures, were apparent in all the flasks owing to the formation of a solid curd and the separation of a small amount of clear whey.

The control flasks remained unaffected even after two days' further incubation.

The Peptone-lactose cultures were all thick and turbid and a small amount of gas was being disengaged from each.

INOCULATION EXPERIMENTS.

Tubes of nutrient broth were inoculated by means of a platinum needle, separate tubes being used for each culture.

From each of these tubes other tubes of nutrient peptone agar, containing some lactose, were prepared and poured into Petri dishes. All of these were incubated for 36 hours at 40° Centigrade.

Petri dish cultures were also made with carbolised gelatine peptone and incubated for three days at 22° Centigrade.

RESULTS WITH PLATE CULTURES.

The plates prepared from the milk cultures developed a large number of well-defined colonies in all the dishes, and with the exception of one mould in one of the dishes, no coloured, fluorescent or well-marked adventitious organisms developed. The colonies were apparently of two types, a free growing variety and a smaller type of slower development.

The plates resulting from the peptone-lactose inoculations were of an exactly similar type and no extraneous organisms were detected by naked eye observation.

The cultures on carbolised gelatine yielded numerous well-defined colonies, all of which were of one appearance.

TUBE CULTURE RESULTS.

From the separate colonies obtained, in the different ways, from the plate cultures I inoculated sterile milk tubes and ones filled with the peptone-lactose medium and all were incubated at 40° Centigrade for 24 hours.

The Milk Tubes were found to have become curdled in most of the experiments, but some showed no signs of change even after further incubation for 24 hours.

The peptone-lactose tubes showed a considerable development of organisms and a slight disengagement of gas. All of the contents of the tubes had become markedly acid and some which I titrated with decinormal soda contained from 0.13 to 0.15 per cent. of lactic acid. None of the tubes yielded any butyric acid and I was unable to detect any acetic acid in either of them.

The organisms developing on carbolised gelatine did not curdle milk but they grew well in the peptone-lactose medium.

MICROSCOPICAL EXAMINATION.

Cover glass preparations were made from the tube cultures and from a number of the colonies on the plates and these showed that the organism which was present, but did not curdle milk although it developed in the other medium, was a well-defined yeast containing a few cells of a long shaped variety of the same type of organism.

In the other tubes two well-defined organisms were present—namely, a streptococcus and a very small bacillus. In one tube I found the streptococcus only and it had curdled the milk.

The preparations from the colonies on the plate cultures showed only the same three organisms.

The organism growing on carbolised gelatine was a well-defined yeast which was apparently capable of fermenting the sugar in the peptone-lactose medium used throughout my work, for it developed quickly in that medium at 37° Centigrade.

The cultures obtained in milk and in the other medium yielded only these same organisms and nothing was contributed by either medium for all the control experiments were blank.

The development in milk was, however, much more rapid and vigorous than in the experiments where it was not employed.

My results show conclusively that Massolettes contain at least three well-defined types of micro-organisms and that all are capable of producing fermentation in milk. The yeast attacks milk sugar and the other two organisms yield lactic acid.

(Signed)

C. EDWARD SAGE, F.I.C., F.C.S., Ph.C., &c.

THE LANCET, December 4th, 1909, says:—

"The 'Massolette' is a very ingeniously chocolate-covered sweetmeat, containing the Bacillus of Massol in its highest state of activity. We have carefully examined the preparation in regard to this statement and find that it is true."

"A distinct advance on Easton's Syrup"

—The Lancet.

"Bynin" Amara

"BYNIN" AMARA is an analogue of Easton's Syrup, in which the sugar is replaced by an active Malt Extract. This affords a far better vehicle than syrup, as it is actively digestive and nutritious, and there is not the likelihood of the sugar crystallizing out, and carrying down in the crystal the alkaloid principle.

As a digestive tonic, therefore, "BYNIN" AMARA is not only safer to take than Easton's Syrup, but is of greater value both in aiding and strengthening the powers of assimilation.

It has been found very effective in neuralgia and similar nerve troubles.

Composition :

Quinine Phosphate	1½ grains
Iron Phosphate	2 "
Nux Vomica Alkaloids equal to Strychnine	⅓ "
"Bynin," Liquid Malt	1 ounce

THE DIET OF DYSPEPTICS.

IN all conditions of dyspepsia Sanatogen offers a valuable reinforcement of ordinary therapeutic measures. This substance is a proteid food, highly nutritious, easily absorbed and assimilated, and so bland and non-irritating that even in acute gastritis it is well borne.

Sanatogen gives rise to no disturbance in the way of pain, vomiting, or flatulence and is therefore of unsurpassed value in inflamed and ulcerated conditions of the gastrointestinal tract, such as gastric ulcer, malignant diseases of the stomach and gastric dilatation.

Sanatogen contains 5 per cent. of Sodium Glycero-phosphate, and to this must be attributed its tonic properties on the neuro-muscular gastric apparatus which clinical experience has shown this preparation to exert. It is an important fact, too, that flavoured Sanatogen is palatable and that it stimulates the appetite.

Exhaustive experiments have proved that not only is Sanatogen itself completely absorbed and assimilated, but it also secures a better utilization of other food products taken with it. For this reason, the tissue starvation to which chronic dyspeptics are liable may be effectually obviated by the use of Sanatogen.

Diphtheria Prophylaxis:-

A Medical Officer of Health writes in "The General Practitioner" (July 31st, '09):

"Since adopting Formamint as a prophylactic, I have had 17 cases of Diphtheria reported, two treated at home, and the remaining 15 sent to the Isolation Hospital. There were many contacts in connection with these cases who were all given Formamint for use daily and not a single case has occurred amongst them."

N.B.—The numerous imitations of Formamint are mechanical mixtures only. Formamint Wulff is a new chemical compound, and its dissolution in the mouth liberates nascent Formaldehyde, in which condition the drug exerts its most potent action. "I commend this line of prophylactic treatment with the utmost confidence, as being painless and pleasant, non-toxic, provedly anti-bactericidal, and easily carried out."

A Medical Officer of Health writes in "The Practitioner" (Dec., '07):

THE "VanHorn" PROCESS of Catgut Sterilization involves (4) steps, each of which is assumed to be complete in itself, and all are done after the catgut has been placed within the tube, viz.:

THREE STERILIZATIONS before sealing the tube and THE FOURTH STERILIZATION after the tube is sealed (in a steam sterilizer at 18 lbs. pressure for one hour).

As a final precaution, to sterilize the outside of the tube BEFORE OPERATION, the tube may be boiled with the instruments without affecting the tensile strength of the catgut.

The "Lancet" says:

"This is a simple and effective device for obtaining the steady vaporization of antiseptic tar vapour or eucalyptus or pine oils for inhalation purposes. The source of heat is an ordinary night-light. Above this light is placed a hollow absorbent block which is saturated with the antiseptic oil before the night-light is lighted. The method is satisfactory; the apparatus occupies a conveniently small space and gives off a stream of antiseptic vapour, the output of which can be readily regulated."

The "Practitioner" says:

"An exceedingly simple and ingenious plan for the preparation and diffusion of Coal Tar Vapour in diseases of the respiratory system."

THE CAR FOR DOCTORS.

After careful study of existing cars for, and the many needs of, Doctors we designed the Car illustrated above with the object of perfecting the type. We confidently leave the medical profession to judge of our success, believing we have produced a car that is and can do all that a busy practitioner could desire. Special note should be taken of the high side doors, so conducive to comfort; the neatness of wind screen and hood, the ample luggage space at rear, the roomy, well-upholstered interior and the gracefulness of the lines throughout. Ample accommodation is ingeniously provided for instrument cases, etc.

Silent, speedy, reliable, and economical to run, it has no equal as a doctor's car.

Extract from a recent letter of a medical man at St. Leonards, referring to his Wolseley-Siddeley car:—

"It may interest you to know that since June 1907 the car has worked always six days a week and generally seven, and now goes quite as well as the day I took it over at York Street. I consider it a most excellent doctor's car."

"I had a 12 h.p. Métallurgique car, delivered to me at the end of May of this year, and have driven it over 2,600 miles since that date. I have used it chiefly in my professional work, and have found it absolutely reliable so far. The rear tyres show scarcely any signs of wear, and that I attribute to the spring drive. I think "Doctor" may safely rely upon this car as being both reliable and durable. I find my car exceedingly pleasant to ride in and to drive. It starts with a single pull up of the starting handle, and goes about its work with workmanlike hum."—"Another Doctor" in Autocar, Nov. 13th, 1909.

of his 8 h.p. De Dion, as follows:—

"The car has run over thirty-four thousand miles, with never a breakdown, and the only repairs needed during the three and a half years I have had it, have been one new piston ring, and two new road axles for back wheels; this alone, to my thinking, being an admirable testimonial to the simplicity, durability, and excellent workmanship, which, combined, go to make an ideal doctor's car."

M.D. THESIS

Coached for. Pass Guaranteed.

Write, Box 531, REYNELL'S Advertisement Offices, 44, Chancery Lane, W.C.

EDINBURGH, December, 1909.

To the Parliamentary Electors of Edinburgh and St. Andrew's Universities.

GENTLEMEN,

The Conservative Association and Unionist Committee of your Universities have done me the honour of inviting me to stand as Unionist Candidate at the approaching General Election, Sir JOHN BATTY TUKE having intimated his intention to retire.

That invitation I have accepted, and I now beg to offer my services if you should see fit to elect me as his successor.

My connection with the University of Edinburgh has been long and intimate. I spent five years there as a student, and graduated in Medicine. In 1901 the University conferred upon me the Honorary Degree of LL.D., and from 1902 to 1905 I had the honour to fill the office of Lord Rector.

The University of St. Andrews conferred upon me the Honorary Degree of LL.D. in 1889.

As a Member of the House of Commons in 1886 I took an active part in resisting the Home Rule Bill introduced by Mr. Gladstone; and as a private Member I was a steady supporter of Lord Salisbury's Government during the six years that followed. I had the honour of being a Member of the two last Unionist Governments under Lord Salisbury and Mr. Balfour, from 1895 to 1900 as Solicitor-General, and from 1900 to 1905 as Attorney-General.

The Government which has held office for the last four years has been now compelled to submit itself to the judgment of the people.

The Budget introduced by Mr. Lloyd George contained proposals of so mischievous and so revolutionary a character, that the House of Lords would have failed in their duty to the country if they had allowed it to become law before the people of the country had an opportunity of giving their opinion upon the proposals so momentous and so far-reaching.

The Constitutional right of the House of Lords to act as they have done is beyond question, and it would have been inexcusable if they had refrained from exercising it on this occasion.

The Budget itself, and the arguments by which it has been supported by the Chancellor of the Exchequer, have shaken the sense of security on which the prosperity of the country must depend, have driven capital abroad, and have greatly aggravated the crying evil of unemployment. Its passage into law would have been a public calamity.

It is essential for the welfare of the country that it should have an effective Second Chamber. Such a Chamber exists in the House of Lords, and it is clear that the present Government has been for some time engaged on a scheme for getting rid of the House of Lords as an effective check upon the action of any temporary majority in the House of Commons.

I need only refer to the emphatic approval by the country in 1895 of the rejection by the House of Lords of the Home Rule Bill of 1893, which had passed the House of Commons, to show how vital is the maintenance of an effective veto.

Any proposals for curtailing the powers of the House of Lords as a Revising Chamber will have my resolute opposition.

Proposals have been made for the reform of the House of Lords, but the present Government have lent no countenance to any such proposals, as their desire is not to improve but to destroy.

I cordially support Mr. Balfour in his policy of Tariff Reform. An extended tariff upon imports would not only yield a substantial revenue, but would give this country the means of securing from foreign countries fair terms for our goods in their markets, and of counteracting the evils of "dumping," and would also enable us, by arrangements with our great Dependencies beyond the Seas, to draw closer the bonds which hold the Empire together.

A strong Navy, able to overpower any combination against us, is for this country a necessity of national existence. Great and legitimate apprehension has been caused by the inaction of the present Government and the declarations of some of its members on this subject. The reductions which have been made in our Army, more especially in the Artillery, have been wholly unjustifiable. The position of this country as regards National Defence ought to be beyond question, and this it will not be so long as the present Government remains in power.

I am and always have been a strong opponent of any proposal for Home Rule, which we now know is an integral part of the policy for which the present Prime Minister asks the approval of the Electors. A Parliament for Ireland would be calamitous to that country and a source of weakness to the Empire.

I have always been opposed to Disestablishment, and my views on that subject have undergone no change.

I am strongly in favour of the maintenance of Religious Education in our Public Schools.

If you honour me with your confidence, I shall do everything in my power as your Representative to promote the prosperity and efficiency of your Universities.

I trust that I should be able effectively to voice the opinion and protect the interests of the Medical Graduates who form so large a part of the Constituency. I was myself in practice as a medical man for a year after my graduation, and I have always been in close touch with the Profession.

The encouragement of Scientific Research in the Universities will have my warm support.

The great extension which has taken place in the scope of the studies pursued at the Universities must be a source of satisfaction to all who have their interests at heart.

It is very gratifying to know that the connection between the Universities and the great Teaching Profession is every day growing closer, and that so many members of that profession now take a University Degree. It will be my endeavour in every way to safeguard and promote their interests.

I trust that my political career in the past has your approval, and if you should select me as your Representative, it will be my most earnest endeavour to further the interests of the Universities and of their Graduates.

I remain, GENTLEMEN,

Your obedient Servant,

R. B. FINLAY.

N.B.—No charge made to purchasers.

Notice. — Mr. J. C. Needes, with an experience of over a quarter of a century, is in an exceptional position to give intending purchasers independent information concerning most Practices and Partnerships. Those investments in the following List marked with an Asterisk are well known to him, having been purchased through his office by the present incumbent years ago, and in many other cases, introductions can be given to gentlemen who have taken charge of the practices during the absence of the Incumbent.Surrey. — Within 12 miles of London, a middle class PRACTICE averaging £750 per annum, conducted partly from a private house and partly at a separate surgery. Conveyance not required. Drug bill £35 to £40 a year. Visiting fees 2s. to 7s. Midwifery 1 to 3 guineas, 40 cases yearly. Large detached residence with garden, &c. Rent £70. Premium £700. 3 months introduction given. Premium 1 year's purchase.Death Vacancy. — First class suburban PRACTICE. The cash receipts of which average £1,200 per annum. Held 20 years by late incumbent, who died suddenly. Work easy and pleasant, and dispensing done by a chemist. Visits 5s. upwards. Midwifery 5 to 10 guineas. Commodious residence in the best part of the suburb. An unusually good introduction can be given, as the widow is personally acquainted with most of the patients and the locum tenens in charge has acted in the practice for several years past.Unusual opportunity. — An easily and inexpensively worked PRACTICE in a favourite town on the Lancashire Coast, held many years by the present incumbent. Receipts last year £610. No clubs and very little midwifery. Good house and garden. Considerable scope for increase. Premium 1½ years' purchase. A suitable bona-fide purchaser will be allowed three months' trial of the Practice before finally deciding to buy, and will be paid for his services during such period.A Bargain. — Old-established

No opposition in the place. Expenses light, horse not kept. Good detached house (5 bedrooms, bathroom, stabling, and large garden). Rent low.Partnership. — In a country town, about 30 miles from London, the HALF-SHARE of an old-established PRACTICE, averaging over £900 per annum, is for disposal. Visiting fees, 2s. 6d. to 13s. including medicine. Midwifery 1 to 5 guineas; 54 cases last year. Expenses light. Good detached modern residence, with nice garden, in the best part of the town, available for partner. Rent £45. Excellent and well-situated house with every convenience. Rent £120 a year. Introduction to meet wishes of purchaser.
