

SEA-SICKNESS PREVENTABLE AND CURABLE BY DR. CHAPMAN'S SPINAL ICE-BAG (PATENT).

Its application is agreeable; it gives immediate comfort and relief; while arresting the sickness, as well as any cramps or spasms which may be experienced, it restores the impaired circulation of the blood to its normal standard; and thus the patient, who may be cold, pallid, apathetic, and completely prostrate, quickly regains the ruddy glow and the mental and physical energy of health.

Dr. CHAPMAN's book on Sea-Sickness (published by Trübner and Co.) explains how the malady is cured by the Spinal Ice-Bag, and contains reports of numerous cases proving its efficacy.

The Bags, together with directions how to select one of suitable size in each case, and how to use it, may be had of Messrs. Maw and Son, 11, Aldersgate Street; Messrs. Mackintosh and Co., 83, Cannon Street; and J. G. Gould, 198, Oxford Street, London; of Thos. Chapman, 56, Buchanan Street, Glasgow; and, by order of all Druggists.

THE LIQUOR SEGALIS (CURTIS),

PREPARED BY THE AUTHORITY OF THE LATE PRESIDENT OF THE OBSTETRICAL SOCIETY,

Still maintains its character as the only reliable preparation of Ergot. Its mode of preparation is different from that of the Ext. Ergotæ Liquidæ of the BRITISH PHARMACOPEIA, and it has been pronounced, upon undoubted authority, to be a far more active and reliable preparation. Each fluid drachm contains an equivalent proportion of all the constituents of Ergot, minus starch.

DR. BLY'S AMERICAN ARTIFICIAL LEG. (PATENTED.)

This beautiful invention has gained a great reputation in America, where, during the recent war, constant opportunities occurred for testing its efficiency.

Unlike the Anglesey Leg used in England, it possesses rotative and lateral action at the ankle-joint, thus permitting the body of the wearer to be sustained in easy equilibrium during walking or standing—a point hitherto entirely overlooked in the construction of Artificial Limbs.

Instead of an ugly wooden structure, it presents a form resembling in colour and action the human limb, and can be readily washed when needed.

Dr. Bly has placed his invention in the hands of Mr. HEATHER BIGG, 56, Wimpole Street, from whom alone it can be obtained. —
