the Breakdown
of Milk Protein
by Benger's Food

Milk, as soon as it comes in contact with the gastric juice, forms heavy curds. Many children and adults cannot properly digest these curds, and they cause pain and discomfort to persons with impaired digestion. For this reason many who most need milk are denied its great benefits.

As soon as hot milk is poured on to Benger's Food the active pancreatic enzymes, held dormant in its wheaten base become active. Within a very short period — less time than it takes the milk and Food to become cool enough to drink — the milk protein is modified so that only very finely divided curds can form upon contact with the gastric juice. At the same time the starch in the wheaten base of Benger's Food has been rendered soluble with the formation of dextrins, dextri-maltoses and maltose. By virtue of these active digestive enzymes Benger's Food, prepared with fresh milk, forms in the stomach finely divided flocculi, which present a huge surface area for digestion.

LUCOZADE

FOR

children

THE great value of glucose medication for many childhood complaints is widely known. It is used with marked benefit in cases of acidosis, biliousness, anorexia, listlessness and over-exhaustion.

Often, however, great difficulty is encountered in persuading children to take glucose regularly. Its sickly sweetness and insipidity are without doubt the chief causes. This dislike of glucose was indeed one of the main reasons for the production of Lucozade. Whenever glucose is indicated, Lucozade can confidently be prescribed. It is a palatable glucose-containing preparation with a clean refreshing taste. Lucozade is perfectly stable and will keep indefinitely, always ready for immediate use.
