

THE WAR-WORKER

Environmental and occupational changes, in many cases, result in menstrual difficulty. The milder forms of primary dysmenorrhoea respond well to treatment with sedatives and analgesics of a salicylate nature.

Of these, 'Anadin,' a finely-balanced compound of aspirin, phenacetin and caffeine, is especially well suited to the alleviation of both uterine pain and cephalalgia.

The knowledge that this product is not habit-forming ensures absolute confidence during prolonged administration, should this be necessary.

Common Problems in the Management of PEPTIC ULCER

How can acid rebound and alkalosis be avoided in the treatment of peptic ulcer?

'Aludrox' controls free HCl safely. When 'Aludrox' is used neither secondary acid rise nor alkalosis is possible for three reasons:

1. A gastric pH compatible with ulcer healing is maintained.
2. 'Aludrox' is not absorbed.
3. 'Aludrox' itself has a pH of approximately 6.7.

For Effective Control of Pain

AMONG the many and diverse analgesics which have been evolved by modern chemical research, acetyl-salicylic acid retains its reputation as one of the safest and most effective. Its tendency to liberate salicylic acid—the irritant properties of which are well known to physicians—has, however, caused many to hesitate to employ it as widely as it deserves. Experience proves that "Alasil" solves the problem of administering acetyl-salicylic acid in an effective form, being free from the risk of irritating the stomach or intestines or of causing general reactions.

In "Alasil" the desirable therapeutic effects of acetyl-salicylic acid are maintained by combining the acid with Calcium Phosphate (Bibasic) and "Alocol" (Colloidal Hydroxide of Aluminium), a powerful gastric sedative and antacid, thereby obviating any tendency to gastric irritation. The advantages of "Alasil" over ordinary salicylate compounds and its freedom from the risk of irritating the stomach have been well proved in practice. "Alasil" can be prescribed with perfect safety to patients of all ages and in larger doses than ordinary salicylate compounds.

IRRIGATION ENVELOPES

and the TREATMENT OF LIMB INJURIES

"It is usually taught that the healing of a wound requires rest, that the prevention of infection is facilitated by rest, yet the restoration of function requires active movements. It must be the endeavour of modern methods to reconcile these two apparently opposing principles. If infection can be adequately controlled and yet movements allowed from the start, then we have achieved a definite advance in the treatment of compound injuries of the limbs, and particularly so in the structures where movement is highly specialized and immobilization, therefore, most detrimental, e.g., in the hands and fingers. The use of an occlusive envelope, as introduced by Bunyan and developed by Stannard, controls infection even when active movements are allowed from the start. It brings an ideal within the bounds of practical possibility and introduces a simple and effective method of dealing with severe injuries. Further, the wound is always ready for inspection without disturbing the dressings, as the silk envelopes are semi-transparent.

"The constantly repeated irrigation of wounds as a method of treatment has appealed to many workers and became established to some extent during the last War, when it was known as the Carrel-Dakin method. The technique demanded frequent attention and the solution employed was often irritating. However, the theory that the wound acted as a culture medium and that repeated irrigation would prevent this, was probably a sound one."

British Journal of Surgery, Vol. xxx, No. 120, p. 328-55.

Irritation is minimised by employing Electrolytic Sodium Hypochlorite in preference to chemical hypochlorites which tend to be caustic, are unstable, and deficient in saline content. "Milton" is recommended because it is standardized in strength of hypochlorite, and stabilized so that it retains its effective strength indefinitely.

The successful employment of irrigation therapy entails:

INITIAL CLEANSING

during which débridement is carried out while a continuous stream of a 20 per cent solution of Milton Antiseptic is played on the wound. It is important for the subsequent treatment that all devitalized and grossly contaminated tissue be removed.

ROUTINE IRRIGATIONS

Here the treatment is continued by thrice daily irrigations using a 5 per cent solution of Milton Antiseptic prepared at 100° Fahrenheit. This solution is isotonic and its strength of available chlorine is adequate for the continued control of infection.

ADVANCES IN THE ARTIFICIAL FEEDING OF INFANTS

● The introduction of dried milk simplified and increased the safety of artificial feeding and has had a notable influence on infant health during the feeding period. Since that day, more than 35 years ago, there have been three notable advances, all embodied in Ostermilk :

- (a) the development of a 'humanised' formula, as that of Ostermilk No. 1,
- (b) the addition of iron and vitamin D, as in both Ostermilk No. 1 and No. 2,
- (c) the reduced cost achieved in 1928 when means were found to halve the price of dried milk food without impairing quality. Even to-day, in wartime, a tin of Ostermilk providing 6 pints of food by simple reconstitution with water costs the mother only 2/6.

Ostermilk is a roller-dried milk food of standardised composition ; it is bacteriologically safe and contains added iron and vitamin D. Ostermilk No. 1 with reduced fat and protein and an increased lactose content is suitable for infants up to three months ; Ostermilk No. 2 is a full cream food for older infants.

When breast-feeding fails, it can be safely supplemented with or replaced by Ostermilk.

The Progress of Chemotherapy

Pharmaceutical Specialities (May & Baker) Limited have been pioneers in the development of the sulphonamides. In the crowded years since 1935 these drugs have revolutionised the treatment and prognosis of acute bacterial infection and have elevated chemotherapy to the position which Ehrlich had forecast for it, but which succeeding generations of clinicians had considered unattainable.

THE PRESENT RANGE OF SULPHONAMIDES MARKETING BY THIS COMPANY INCLUDES,—

- 'M & B 693' brand sulphapyridine for the treatment of pneumococcal, gonococcal and meningococcal infections.

SULPHANILAMIDE for the treatment of haemolytic streptococcal infections.

- 'SOLUSEPTASINE' brand solwin for the treatment of haemolytic streptococcal infections.

- 'THIAZAMIDE' brand sulphathiazole ('M & B 760') for use in patients intolerant of sulphapyridine and for the treatment particularly of staphylococcal infections.

NOVUTOX PROCESS

NOW APPLIED TO THE PRODUCTION OF

SELF-STERILISING MORPHINE SOLUTIONS

The special Novutox cold sterilising process by which statrilized (i.e., stable and self-sterilising) solutions are prepared, offers for Morphine Therapy an advance which is outstanding compared with any other system.

Inconvenient tablet forms of morphine and other important narcotics, often of necessity prepared for injection with water of doubtful character, have been grudgingly tolerated by the Medical Profession for half a century.

The growing volume of emergency work associated with modern life, and especially with A.R.P. arrangements, demanded some improvement, and solutions of morphine in bottles, ampoules and the new cartridge form, ready for immediate use without further process of sterilisation, have at long last made their appearance.

To obviate possible confusion between Novutox Self Sterilising local anaesthetics and solutions of morphine produced by the Novutox Cold Sterilising Process, the description "STATRILIZED" (e.g., Statrilized Morphine $\frac{1}{4}$ gr.) has been applied to drugs other than Novutox Local Anaesthetics prepared by the process.

Solutions prepared by the process are :

● LESS TOXIC ● SELF-STERILISING ● STABLE ● READY FOR USE

● LESSENED TOXICITY : In particular cases, such as those with cardiac manifestations or when shock is accompanied by toxæmia (as in burn-shock) the advantages of lessened toxicity are very real.

● SELF STERILISING : Elimination of the danger of accidental infection renders the solution perfectly safe for use from rubber capped or glass stoppered bottles, even under the adverse conditions of A.R.P. and other emergency work. Moreover, additional to the safety factor this feature of the solution makes for extreme economy in use.

● STABLE : Any fear that the solution "will not keep" either due to the development of micro-organisms or to decomposition, is entirely abolished.

Industrial Fatigue and Vitamin C deficiency

While the General Practitioner does not enjoy the opportunity, so freely available to industrial medical officers, to study the mass effect of vitamin C deficiency, he is frequently faced with the problem in individual cases.

Lassitude and fatigue, aggravated by communal meals from which the vitamin C has been cooked right out, are pointers to a condition of sub-optimal vitamin C which can be effectively countered by prescribing Ribena Blackcurrant Syrup.

Blackcurrant juice contains from 136 to 220 mg. vitamin C per 100 gm. as against 22 to 89 for orange juice. A course of Ribena is beneficial in attaining the optimum which paves the way to more vigorous health and increased output.

VITAMIN B₆ (PYRIDOXINE)

Biological experiments with pure vitamin B₆ have proved useful in various syndromes. Improvement has been recorded in certain cases of idiopathic epilepsy, in amyotrophic lateral sclerosis, and in hypertrophic muscular dystrophy. Decreased stiffness and rigidity have followed its use in non-postencephalitic parkinsonism.

The particular deficiency symptoms which have responded to vitamin B₆ administration are extreme nervousness, insomnia, irritability, cramping abdominal pain, muscular weakness and rigidity with difficulty in walking.

Bemax is probably the richest of all dietary sources of vitamin B₆ and its regular use should therefore be of real benefit to patients showing groups of the above symptoms and signs.

Pure vitamin B₆ (Pyridoxine) is available in 10 mg. Tablets and 50 mg. Ampoules.

READY-STRAINED VEGETABLES in GLASS BOTTLES

VACUUM STEAM-COOKED

THESE ready-strained vegetables — prepared by the old-established firm of Brand & Co., Ltd., makers of Brand's Essence—will be welcomed by young mothers.

Specially grown vegetables are used. These are picked at their prime and steam-cooked in vacuum.

The vegetables are then forced through a fine sieve which breaks up the solid particles completely and gives an absolutely smooth, even texture.

Modern scientific methods are thus able to ensure the preservation of the valuable mineral salts and vitamins, also the fresh natural colour and flavour of the vegetables, far better than home-cooking can.

Most doctors recommend starting with Brand's Bone and Vegetable Broth. Strained Carrots and Strained Spinach can be given at four months. Strained Prunes (limited supply available) after six months.

Carefully washed and screened corn is ground to extreme fineness retaining its natural protein and phosphates but eliminating grit and cellulose by sifting through fine silk screens.

Following the processing of the powder in special ovens and a final blending and refining, the preparation of Jenner's Malted Food is complete.

Its fine texture makes it assimilable by weak and nervous digestions. It is consequently a valuable supplementary food for war workers as well as for nursing mothers, babies, old people and invalids.

There are large numbers of super-scale posts, to which promotion is made on merit and which carry higher salaries. Government quarters, in many cases free of rent, and first-class passages to and from the Colonies, are provided, and an adequate pension scheme is in force. Selected candidates are normally required to attend a course of instruction in Tropical Medicine and Hygiene either before proceeding overseas or during their first period of leave. Further particulars, including the regulations governing admission to the Colonial Medical Service, may be obtained from the Director of Recruitment (Colonial Service), 2, Park Street, London, W.1.

Antedate of seniority may be granted up to a maximum period of 6½ years in respect of resident hospital appointments, higher qualifications, and/or professional experience. The antedate will count for pay and promotion, but, in the case of candidates recruited in this country, higher rank will not be assumed until the date of disembarkation in India. On termination of service, a minimum gratuity is guaranteed to those officers who complete one year of service, viz., Rs. 2,000 to officers whose registrable medical qualification is dated before January 1, 1940, and Rs. 1,000 to those who qualified after that date, plus one month's pay for each further completed year of Army service. Further particulars regarding rates of pay, etc., may be obtained from the Medical Adviser, India Office, London, S.W.1, or from the Secretary, Military Department, India Office, to whom all inquiries should be addressed.

The person appointed will be required to reside in or near the Borough and to devote her whole time to the duties in connexion with the Corporation's maternity and child welfare centres and wartime nurseries, and will also be required to carry out such other duties as the Council may from time to time direct. She will not be permitted to engage in private practice. Candidates should not be under the age of 32 years nor liable for National Service. The salary will be at the rate of £500 by £25 to £700 per annum, plus cost-of-living bonus. The commencing salary will be according to the experience and qualifications of the person appointed. The antiseptic and antipruritic principle in WRIGHT'S COAL TAR SOAP

Isolation of the known antiseptic properties of Coal Tar from the inert residuum of substances lacking therapeutic value was first achieved in 1862 by Wright's Liquor Carbonis Detergens. This preparation has been used and recommended for 80 years by skin specialists and specified repeatedly in authoritative reference works.

WRIGHT'S LIQUOR CARBONIS DETERGENS

Inclusion of Liquor Carbonis Detergens in the basic formula of Wright's Coal Tar Soap gave to the soap a character as individual as its own healthful aroma. Moreover it has been incorporated without the least risk of harshness to the skin. Wright's indeed has been recognised for generations as a supreme toilet and nursery soap.
