Hickory and Steel Carriages.

The Times says:—"Can any one give a good reason for wheels being made on so ponderous a scale, when it is properly understood that wheels light in appearance and weight can be made quite as strong as if ever so heavy? People who have any regard for their horses will soon discard clumsily-built carriages."

Again The Times, April 10th, 1869, in its leading article on the Budget, says:—"A crowd of consequences lurk in Mr. Lowe's recommendations. The change, for instance, in the graduation of the tax on carriages will undoubtedly stimulate the use of American wheels of spider-like lightness."

C. S. WINDOVER, of 33, Long Acre, is prepared to supply carriages or wheels made of this everlasting timber, which he has used uninterruptedly since the Exhibition, 1851. A variety of these light and durable carriages for sale at the only Hickory and Steel Carriage Works,
