THROMBIN (MAW) in Surgery

ITS USES AND TECHNIQUE

The characteristic property of THROMBIN is that when mixed with plasma it produces a true physiological clot. This reaction can take place within a few seconds, needs no other substances, and works well in citrated plasma—whether fresh or reconstituted. As such, THROMBIN has an increasingly large part to play in surgery.

SKIN GRAFTING AND PLASTIC SURGERY

Rapid Adhesion. THROMBIN combines with plasma to form a 'physiological glue', which allows a graft to be fixed securely into position. The following technique has been used: the graft was wetted with THROMBIN and the bed of the wound with plasma; the two surfaces were then placed together. It was found that a few minutes later the graft was so firmly adherent that it wrinkled and flattened when the underlying muscles moved—and that no splints, sutures or retentive dressings were necessary.

This technique can be successfully used under the stress of an emergency, when special skin-grafting skill is not always available.

Quicker Vascularisation. THROMBIN has been found to accelerate vascularisation in skin grafting—thus giving better results in the survival of the grafts. This seems due to the fact that the fibrin threads act as 'scaffolding' for the growth of the capillaries.

HAEMOSTASIS

THROMBIN will often control the oozing type of haemorrhage. The surface should first be swabbed clean of blood, then syringed with a solution of concentrated THROMBIN.

The use of absorbable haemostatic dressings (such as fibrin foam, gelatin foam and alginates) allows THROMBIN to be applied by soaking the dressing in a solution of the enzyme. These dressings, though haemostatic on their own, are more efficient when used with THROMBIN; and—since effective haemostasis depends on speed—this is now the common practice.

THE FILLING OF "DEAD SPACES"

THROMBIN has been successfully used in the filling of 'dead spaces', for it has been found that physiological clots rapidly become organised tissue. The space is filled with plasma in which penicillin is dissolved, and then clotted with a few drops of THROMBIN solution. This technique has been used in tonsillectomy and mastoidectomy, and there are many more surgical conditions which have similar requirements.

NOTE: Thromboplastin—whether applied or produced from the patient's own tissues—is ineffective in the presence of citrated plasma.

MORE FACTS ABOUT THROMBIN

STABILITY: THROMBIN keeps indefinitely in the dry state—and therefore may be kept in stock against an emergency. In solution it is less stable and should be used on the day of preparation.

STERILITY: THROMBIN is sterilised by filtration, and needs no re-sterilisation.

ADSORPTION: THROMBIN is easily adsorbed by solids and therefore must not be applied by using a brush or cotton wool swabs. It should be sprayed or dropped on to the surface where it is wanted.

APPLICATION: THROMBIN is supplied in a dry ampoule, together with an ampoule of diluent. Solution is very rapid and the liquid is immediately available.

QUANTITY: THROMBIN solution generally reacts with several times its own volume of plasma, so that normally there is an excess of fibrin. No exact measurement is possible or necessary, since proportions vary with the nature of the operation and the technique of the surgeon.

We shall be glad to supply any further information. Inquiries about the use or application of THROMBIN should be addressed to: The Medical Research Department, S. Maw Son & Sons Ltd., Barnet, Herts. Phone: BARNET 5555.

It avoids the danger of exercising direct restricting pressure on the abdomen. Besides affording support and restoring displaced organs to their correct position, the Linia Belt exerts a gentle massaging action, at the same time bracing the muscles. It is invaluable too, for post-operation wear, and to prevent strain when older men, unused to violent physical effort, take exercise.

New Peptic Ulcer Treatment Comparable to Drip Therapy

Whole milk and alkaline constituents combine to produce increased buffering action

NULACIN TABLETS have been evolved to meet a very real need in the treatment of gastric and duodenal ulcers.

All the literature on the treatment of peptic ulcers emphasizes the proven value of diminishing the acidity of the gastric juice. Many large and otherwise intractable ulcers can be healed by a continuous, intragastric drip of milk or alkali.

Drip therapy is, however, not always available, nor is it practicable to use it in many instances. Nulacin offers a satisfactory alternative.

Continuous Neutralization

A NULACIN TABLET allowed to dissolve slowly in the mouth has been shown clinically to provide a continuous neutralization comparable with that of drip therapy.

NULACIN TABLETS contain nutrient in a most acceptable form to the peptic ulcer patient. Nulacin tablets obviate the necessity of taking frequent feeds, and so lessen the tendency to obesity which must inevitably occur in those who are following a dietary regime of food at frequent intervals.

During ulcer activity the suggested dosage is 3 tablets to be sucked each hour, and for follow-up treatment 2 tablets should be sucked between meals, beginning half an hour after a meal.

The tablet is of a suitable size; and of a consistency and hardness, so that, when it is sucked, the result is a constant and prolonged neutralization of the gastric juice.

NULACIN TABLETS are extremely palatable, and during extensive clinical tests their taste has proved to be particularly acceptable to patients.

The patient should be instructed to place the tablet between the gum of the upper jaw and the cheek. Here it will be comfortable, and slowly dissolve. The efficacy of the tablet is greatly diminished if it is chewed and swallowed.

NULACIN TABLETS are not advertised to the public. There is no B.P. equivalent to this tablet.

NULACIN TABLETS are prepared from whole milk combined with dextrins and maltose, and incorporate:

Magnesium Trisilicate 3.5 grs. Magnesium Oxide 2.0 grs. Calcium Carbonate 2.0 grs. Magnesium Carbonate 0.5 grs. Ol. Ment. Pip. q. s.

NULACIN TABLETS are at present packed in bottles of 100 and tubes of 12.

Almost every illness calls for extra energy — and this call must be met if recovery is to be smooth and uneventful. That is why GlucoDin is so important in the sickroom. It swiftly restores expended energy; and as rapidly, it provides a glycogen reserve to "take the strain" of illness. Today, GlucoDin features prominently in the convalescent diet—indeed, patients of all ages, in all parts of the world, are drawing strength from GlucoDin.

ALLEN & HANBURYS LTD.

THERE'S STRONG EVIDENCE OF COMBINED ACTION

The answer to many a problem lies in combined action. Witness the higher blood levels and the greater clinical efficacy that have been reported from the oral administration of penicillin and the sulphonamides simultaneously in cases when the oral administration of the antibiotic or chemotherapeutic agent alone has been ineffective. A convenient means of applying this combined antibacterial therapy is Sulpenin. Containing penicillin, sulphadiazine and sulphamerazine in balanced dosage, it provides a valuable treatment for many infections due to susceptible micro-organisms. By utilising the synergistic action between penicillin and the sulphonamides the antibacterial range is increased, the likelihood of kidney damage is lessened and the tendency for the bacteria to develop mutant strains resistant to one or other of the component drugs is reduced.

'DRINAMYL'

is invaluable in everyday practice

'Drinamyl' is available, on prescription only, in bottles of 25 tablets. Each tablet contains 5 mg. dextro - amphetamine sulphate ('Dexedrine') and 32 mg. (gr. $\frac{1}{4}$) amylobarbitone.

With 'Drinamyl' — a balanced combination of 'Dexedrine' and amylobarbitone — the desirable therapeutic effects of each drug are achieved. Together the two components produce a 'pure mood effect' which is essentially one of tranquillity; 'Drinamyl' restores emotional equilibrium and the capacity for physical and mental effort.

'Drinamyl' is widely useful in the treatment of the many patients who suffer from common symptoms of mental and emotional distress.

'Tineafax', a bland non-staining ointment, containing no mercurial compounds, does not irritate or break down the skin. What is all this about spray-drying?

This modern low temperature process of drying milk foods preserves the colloidal condition of the protein on reconstitution and ensures that the fat is in the form of a finely diffused emulsion. Humanised Trufood is spray-dried. When Trufood is reconstituted, the resultant fluid, with the fat in the form of cream, has all the physical characteristics of true milk. This is one of the factors distinguishing Trufood from ordinary milk foods—another reason why Trufood is the most satisfactory alternative to breast milk.

Vitamin B Deficiencies Associated with Gastro-Intestinal Disorders

A deficiency of the B vitamins has, in some cases, been found to occur after gastrectomy and the routine administration of a source of the whole vitamin B complex, such as Marmite, has been suggested as a preventive measure.

Signs of vitamin B deficiency have also been observed in patients whose gastric juice contained no free acid and vitamin B therapy, including Marmite, has been found to improve the condition.

Marmite yeast extract is a useful dietary source of the B₆ vitamins and in addition to riboflavin (1.5 mg. per oz.) and nicotinic acid (16.5 mg. per oz.) it provides folic acid, pantothenic acid, pyridoxin, biotin, choline, inositol and p-aminobenzoic acid.
