SYMPTOMS AND SIGNS IN CLINICAL MEDICINE

By E. NOBLE CHAMBERLAIN

For this new edition a complete revision has been carried out, new illustrations have been added, and a glossary has been included.

"The fourth edition of this well-known book has been thoroughly revised and brought up to date. It is an invaluable book for the student and practitioner. The actual steps of physical examination are clearly and simply set out and often illustrated. The practitioner will find in this book an accurate but rapid means of revision, and a book he can keep on his desk for ready reference. The book in our opinion has no equal." — Medical Press.

THE ROTUNDA TEXT-BOOK OF MIDWIFERY FOR NURSES

Edited by O'DONEL BROWNE

While the text is basically the teaching of the Rotunda Hospital, Dublin, modification has been made where necessary to conform with general teaching in the rest of Great Britain and under the National Health Service. Indispensable for nurse midwives, being clearly and fully illustrated, mostly in line blocks. This text-book includes more detailed information on obstetrics than other publications for nurses and pupil midwives. The essentials are included and the additional information should benefit readers by giving them more insight into the problems of maternity work.

Extinguish the flame of Rheumatic Disease

In the first published clinical reports on Butazolidin, these encouraging comments have been made: —

"... as an anodyne in cases of rheumatoid arthritis, Butazolidin is quite exceptionally effective. . . . The number of patients showing objective improvement. . . seems significantly high. . . . Butazolidin does produce a marked degree of symptomatic relief in acute exacerbations of rheumatoid arthritis. Moreover, the drug seems to have some antirheumatic property, which can reduce periarticular swelling, tenderness and oedema."¹

"The relief of pain and stiffness that followed was almost constant and in some instances dramatic. . . . I am using Butazolidin and strongly recommend other people to try it."²

A highly active preparation in a wide range of rheumatic conditions, Butazolidin is effective in acute phases of rheumatic disease and in chronic cases. Diminution of pain and increased freedom of movement are strikingly noticeable, resulting in a marked improvement in the well-being of the patient. The drug is rapidly absorbed and, being slowly excreted, remains in the blood at a therapeutic level for a considerable period. Butazolidin (3, 5-dioxo-1, 2-diphenyl-4-n-butyl-pyrazolidine) may be administered orally or parenterally. The tablets are formulated to disintegrate in the small intestine, thus obviating any risk of irritating the gastric mucosa. Literature is available on request.

URINARY TRACT INFECTIONS

The value of Terramycin in the general field of infective medicine is due to its very wide anti-bacterial range, its versatility and ease of administration, the rapidity of its action, and its remarkably low toxicity.

In urinary tract infections, the particular value of Terramycin lies both in its ability to reach relatively high concentrations in the urine on low dosage and in a corresponding increase in urine concentration which results from an increase in dose.^{(1) (2)}

INDICATIONS IN URINARY TRACT INFECTIONS

1. Infections due to mixed bacterial flora.
2. Infections resistant to other chemotherapeutic and antibiotic agents.
3. Infections due to Pseudomonas pyocyanea.
4. Infection with anatomical abnormalities or other complicating mechanical factors of the urinary system.
5. For pre-operative and post-operative control of infection in genito-urinary surgery.
6. Infections due to other Terramycin-sensitive organisms.

Terramycin can now be used for all suitable conditions in Hospitals in Great Britain, and the forms at present available include Sugar-Coated Tablets, Elixir, Oral Drops and Intravenous.

Full literature is available and will be supplied on request.

LITERATURE ON REQUEST

Marked decrease of pyogenic infections follows the use of DERL containing HEXACHLOROPHENE

The use of "Derl", containing Hexachlorophene, has proved effective in causing a marked decrease in the incidence of pyogenic infections such as Whitlows, Sycosis, Impetigo, Furuncles, Carbuncles and Cellulitis, and can be prescribed with confidence to patients liable to these conditions.

A wash with Derl lasting from one to three minutes will reduce the bacterial flora of the skin to a level unheard of by the use of ordinary soap, or by the combination of ordinary soap with other chemicals.

The high germicidal activity of this remarkable new soap is known to be due to the absorption of Hexachlorophene by the skin in sufficient quantity to exert a continuous bacteriostatic effect. No cases of sensitization have been reported.

We gladly send testing samples to members of the medical profession.

THE GILLIES MARK III anæsthesia apparatus

After extensive clinical trials, here is the latest Gillies equipment—compact as ever and readily adaptable to all conditions and all types of gas cylinder.

The Gillies III combines three different circuits in one. It provides for circle-type closed circuit anaesthesia, continuous flow, and atmospheric air with the volatile agents. As with the Boyles Apparatus a Waters Absorber (not included) may be used for "to and fro" closed circuit administration. Incorporating a carbon dioxide absorber the Gillies Mark III is in fact the smallest complete apparatus that combines all these functions. In hospitals it is equally convenient on a stand or a table; for Service use it will fit in with emergency arrangements.

Full details will gladly be supplied on request.

Development in Diathermy

Improvements suggested by diathermy experience in scores of hospitals make the new Marconi Surgical Diathermy an instrument of great efficiency and safety. Individual electronic circuits are pre-selected by footswitch for cutting or coagulation, with independent continuously-variable controls giving maximum cutting intensities up to 300 watts.

The Cautery-Light unit, with three quite separate output circuits, gives adequate power for cautery and provides a controlled-voltage supply for surgeons' and other lamps. In the Endoscope circuit, of the 'intrinsically safe' type, limiting resistors minimise risk due to faults in endoscopes or leads. All three circuits are screened and earth-free, ensuring safety and reliability.

In a cream enamelled cabinet on rubber-tyred castors, the new TF 972 Surgical Diathermy is especially compact, versatile and simple to operate.

FERROUS GLUCONATE

"... It was found that 33% of the patients in group A and 40.2% in group C found it difficult or impossible to tolerate ferrous sulphate tablets, and it can be assumed that between 30 and 40% of all antenatal patients will not, in fact, take these tablets if they are routinely prescribed in the antenatal department."

The need for a more suitable form of iron for the treatment of iron deficiency anaemias of pregnancy is evident.

Clinical trials have shown that for tolerance, absorption and utilisation the organic iron of FERROUS GLUCONATE as presented in Elixir Cerevon is more acceptable to the gastric mucosa and haemopoietic system.

Elixir Cerevon also provides adequate doses of the important factor of the Vitamin B complex and the inclusion of 15% blackcurrant juice provides approximately 5.0 mgm. Vitamin C per teaspoonful and makes the preparation highly palatable.

FORMULA: Each teaspoonful contains: Ferrous Gluconate 0.3 gm.; Aneurine Hydrochloride 1 mgm.; Riboflavin 1 mgm.; Nicotinamide 10 mgm. With trace elements of Copper and Manganese.

To lessen the fear of mutilation . . . arrange for Prosthesis before mastectomy

The psychological hazards of mastectomy are generally recognized. A woman's fear of mutilation—of its effect on her appearance—is often as great as her fear of surgery itself. That is why arranging for the correct prosthesis replacement before surgery helps to minimize the psychic trauma—enabling the patient to face the adjustment period with more calm and assurance.

The surgeon can prescribe Spencer Mastectomy Supports with complete confidence that they will meet both the medical and cosmetic indications. The reason: Each Spencer Breast Support and Breast Form is individually designed, cut and made for each patient.

Wherever support is indicated for breasts, back, abdomen—for women, men, children—you will find Spencer Supports demonstrably superior.

Norisodrine
REGD TRADE MARK
(Isoprenaline, Abbott)

Many chronic asthmatics can be restored to activity—and can maintain that condition—by controlling their attacks with quick-acting NORISODRINE powder inhalation. This bronchodilating drug is not only effective in relieving mild and severe forms of asthma, but can control a high percentage of cases of severe asthma as well.

The therapy is as simple as it is effective.

The only equipment needed is the AERO-HALOR. Abbott's easy-to-carry powder inhaler, and a multiple-dose cartridge containing NORISODRINE powder. The patient simply inhales orally three or four times through the device and the bronchospasm usually ends quickly.

This therapy goes where the patient goes. It is always ready for use when the need arises—at home, work or play. Whenever the patient feels an impending attack, the pocket-sized AERO-

HALOR and the NORISODRINE cartridge are available to afford quick relief.

Continued use of the drug apparently raises the threshold of attacks—less NORISODRINE powder subsequently is required to maintain control.

NORISODRINE is a sympathomimetic amine with a marked bronchodilating effect and relatively low toxicity, chemically related to adrenaline and ephedrine. It overcomes bronchospasm more effectively than adrenaline. Increases vital capacity and relieves dyspnoea. Shows little tendency to produce fastness.

Before prescribing NORISODRINE please see a copy of the comprehensive literature available on request. This fully describes uses and limitations of the drug and the precautions to be taken.

release FROM RIGIDITY

'KEMADRIN' offers a greater measure of symptomatic relief to the victims of Parkinson's disease. A new synthetic compound, it produces fewer side effects than do the traditional belladonna and stramonium alkaloids.

Though not significantly affecting tremor, 'Kemadrin' produces a marked reduction of the disabling "cog wheel" rigidity. Muscular co-ordination is improved, and the greater activity which patients are free to enjoy is reflected in improved emotional tone and a more cheerful outlook.

Pleasurable relaxation

In addition to the established use of Myanesin Elixir in the treatment of neurological conditions associated with muscular rigidity and tremor it has now been successfully employed in the relief of psychological states characterised by anxiety and tension.

Amer. J. Med. Sci., 1950, 220, 23 describes a group of patients in which anxiety states and obsessional conditions were present and which following the administration of mephenesin, the active constituent of Myanesin Elixir, obtained complete relaxation.

Best results occurred in anxiety states, however chronic, and 47 out of 50 patients treated for this condition improved.

Dosage of from $\frac{1}{2}$ to 1 tablespoonful, one to six times daily, is suggested.

Which course will your patient's ULCER take?

Properly charted and steered with watchful discipline, the course of treatment of peptic ulcer will, in most cases, run safely and terminate successfully. The important role played by aluminium hydroxide in reducing alike the hazards to the patient and the length of the voyage is no longer in question. Now, with the introduction of Gelusil*, the physician has the means of freeing from certain pitfalls the treatment of his peptic ulcer cases. Gelusil is practically non-constipating, protects against loss of calcium and phosphorus, and produces no alkalosis; the antacid action of Gelusil is both prompt and prolonged and the gels in Gelusil form a mucilaginous protective coating over the ulcer crater. Gelusil assures rapid, prolonged symptomatic relief in the treatment of gastric hyperacidity and peptic ulcer.

Trufood or some other milk food — what's the difference?

Humanised Trufood is different because it is not just "another dried cow's milk". Cow's milk is, of course, our raw material. But the resemblance between Trufood and other dried milk foods ends there. The process of its manufacture makes Trufood a food specifically adapted to the nutritional needs of the infant who must be artificially fed. Because of this we sincerely believe that Trufood is the most satisfactory alternative for the baby who cannot have breast milk.

Elastoplast as a many-tailed bandage

When frequent dressings are necessary, the following method of applying Elastoplast may be used as a substitute for an abdominal many-tailed bandage.

Prescribe Elastoplast Bandages
by name on form E.C.10

SIX PIECES, each about 12 inches in length, are prepared from a 3 inch wide Elastoplast bandage. Tapes are attached and the completed pieces applied to the body from each side (Fig. 1). The tapes are tied over the dressing covering the wound (Fig. 2). The bandage may be applied by one person without disturbing the patient. It is easily made, provides adequate support and will remain firmly in position.

The above method is comfortable in use as the patient does not have to wear perineal stirrups to keep the bandage in place or to lie on a bandage which may become 'rucked-up' — disadvantages associated with the flannelette type of many-tailed bandage.

and the young ★

Of all the means at the disposal of the present-day physician interested in children none is more rewarding than the proper supervision of the child's nutritional needs.

Little was known of these in Shakespeare's time, and "mewling and puking infant" and "whining schoolboy" were appropriate descriptions.

Among dietary supplements now accepted generally as making vital contributions to the child's growth and health, Bemax ranks (with cod liver oil and orange juice) as indispensable. Its many nutritional factors—more particularly the natural concentration in it of the vitamin B complex, with protein—are of great value throughout all the years of growth and development.

It contains Phenobarbitone and Vitamin B-complex as an appetising Elixir, and so provides a quieting relaxation, while at the same time supplying nutritional factors known to be essential for the energy requirements of nervous metabolism.

Lastonet stockings, with their light net construction, stretch equally well in all directions to afford the tissues even support. As the net expands and contracts it gently massages the limb with positive benefit to the vein walls. The dangers of varicosity are thereby reduced or the condition relieved if it has actually occurred.

SCALDS

OPTULLE consists of an open mesh gauze evenly impregnated with a Petroleum jelly compound containing Balsam of Peru.

OPTULLE is an ideal dressing for scalds even if blisters are present.

OPTULLE is sterile being heat treated after packing in its container, is immediately soothing on application and is removable without pain or injury to tender or blistered areas.

These qualities of OPTULLE are of particular advantage in the treatment of children with whom change of dressing is frequently associated with fear of pain, nervous tension and strain.

Serous discharges pass through the open mesh gauze and can be absorbed in an outer dressing. Frequent change of dressing is therefore unnecessary avoiding risk of infection or damage to healing tissues. These factors considerably shorten the time of healing.

SIMPLE SOAP

The definition of "Purity" is:—

"Complete freedom from mixture of any kind". This faithfully describes "Simple" Soap which is of natural colour, and guaranteed to contain no Aniline Dyes, Perfumes, or Fillings such as Titanium—not even animal fat—as these, Dermatologists and scientists have established, are often the causes of bad skins, setting up or aggravating Dermatitis. Many Dermatologists and doctors are recommending "Simple" Soap to patients whose skins are allergic to ordinary soaps, and as a non-medicated cleansing agent for troublesome skin conditions.

"Simple" Soap makes no claims to medication—its purity is its only claim to distinction.

Made by the makers of the World famous Albion Milk & Sulphur Toilet Soap.

For Maternity and Professional use. Price 11d. per tablet.

Where treatment at depth is desired in addition to superficial asepsis, the powerful bactericidal compound PENOTRANE is recognised as an ideal local medicament in many skin infections. Highly active against Gram-positive and Gram-negative organisms and a valuable fungicide it possesses unique powers of penetration through the living epidermis. PENOTRANE also has the dual advantage of retaining its activity in the presence of blood, pus and serum and of promoting healing.

PENOTRANE JELLY

Prepared in a soothing, lubricant medium for ease of application, Penotrane Jelly (a 0.1% concentration) affords the full therapeutic effects of the compound. Colourless, non-staining and pleasant in use, it is indicated in many skin diseases, especially those of fungal origin, including ringworm. An excellent first-aid measure in minor injuries, it is also a reliable antiseptic lubricant in obstetrics.

In 1 oz. tubes

PENOTRANE DUSTING POWDER

Containing a 0.4% concentration of the compound adsorbed on a bland base, Penotrane Dusting Powder affords maximum effective contact to the skin areas treated. It arrests secretions, absorbs excessive exudation, speeds the healing of wounds and is of particular value in the treatment of weeping eczema, otitis externa, irritant skin conditions and athlete's foot.

Are Vaginal Tampons Prejudicial to Health?

An Investigation* concerned with the bacteriology of vaginal flora following the use of internal tampons was undertaken at the request and with the co-operation of the visiting gynaecologists to a London Women's hospital.

This investigation confirms earlier work carried out in America and gives further support to the claim that Tampax can be confidently recommended as a convenient, comfortable and safe form of sanitary protection.

* Tampax tampons were used in this investigation.

EXTRACTS FROM THE REPORT:—

- "Smears and cultures taken before and after each period showed no appreciable change in the bacterial flora of the vagina."
- "None of the volunteers acquired monilia or trichomonal organisms during the period of study or developed erosions or vaginitis as a result of using the internal tampon."
- "In each case the underlying cause responded to treatment, and did not recur, which proves that the internal tampon does not act as an irritating foreign body."
- "The glycogen content was uninfluenced by the use of tampons."
- "Volunteers who had not previously used tampons stated that they did not cause the irritation usually found with the perineal pad."
- "There was no evidence that vaginal tampons are prejudicial to health."
