convalescence*

Invalid Bovril is a highly concentrated form of Bovril for use in the sick-room. Prepared without seasoning, it provides the maximum concentration in the most easily assimilated form. Many doctors recommend it in cases where the patient needs "building-up" after illness. Perhaps there is a patient of yours who would benefit from a course of Invalid Bovril?

THE common head louse, Pediculus humanus capitis, has proved completely vulnerable to SULEO HAIR EMULSION. One treatment with SULEO will clear the most heavily infested head in a matter of minutes. Formulated with D.D.T. plus Pyrethrum SULEO acts instantly and remains toxic for at least fourteen days, thus exceeding incubation period of nits by some days. An outstanding advantage is that the hair may be washed during this period without lessening the lethal effect.

The Bank of Lost Time

We would like to talk, just for a moment, about an Appeal Fund for students with T.B. In this country alone, over 250 students a year have to give up their studies because of this disease. In a sanatorium they cannot work. They worry and their progress is slow. Their work — and the time when they can begin to earn their own living — may be put back by as much as two years. A convalescent Study Centre, however, is being set up for them. Here they will be able to study for exams., and regain their full health at the same time. Many wasted months could thus be saved, and also precious sanatorium space.

*We think you might like to help this Appeal, which needs £50,000.
If you would, please send donations to*

TABNET

DIHYDROXY ALUMINIUM AMINOACETATE

The Medical Management of Gastro-Duodenal Ulceration

presents a positive approach to the medical management of gastro-duodenal ulceration in providing dihydroxy aluminium aminoacetate.

The reaction of this new buffering agent under conditions of gastric hyperacidity is threefold —

It rapidly neutralises excess acid bringing quick relief from pain.

A freshly precipitated colloidal gel is formed which protects the exposed gastric submucosa from the action of the digestive ferments.

By slow hydrolysis the amino acid, glycine, is released, which in addition to the free glycine in the formula assists in the promotion of healing.

ISONIAZID

(ISONICOTINIC ACID HYDRAZIDE)

Clinical trials carried out in Great Britain and the United States confirm experimental evidence that this substance has an anti-tubercular activity of a very high order. Further trials, at present in progress, using isoniazid alone or in combination with other anti-tubercular drugs, are designed to investigate the factors governing the development of resistance to the drug. It seems likely that much of the future clinical work with isoniazid will be concerned with combination therapy.

'PYCAZIDE' is supplied as

The answer to many a problem lies in combined action. Witness the higher blood levels and the greater clinical efficacy that have been reported from the oral administration of penicillin and the sulphonamides simultaneously in cases when the oral administration of the antibiotic or chemotherapeutic agent alone has been ineffective. A convenient means of applying this combined antibacterial therapy is Sulpenin. Containing penicillin, sulphadiazine and sulphamerazine in balanced dosage, it provides a valuable treatment for many infections due to susceptible micro-organisms. By utilising the synergistic action between penicillin and the sulphonamides the antibacterial range is increased, the likelihood of kidney damage is lessened and the tendency for the bacteria to develop mutant strains resistant to one or other of the component drugs is reduced.

'Viules'

Single-dose injections in disposable cartridges

A new and important development in injection technique

A new and improved injection technique has been made possible by 'Viules', medical cartridges which have been introduced after considerable research and experiment by BOOTS PURE DRUG CO. LTD.

'Viules' are single-dose containers of stable sterile solutions and consist essentially of a cylinder of special glass sealed at both ends by rubber diaphragms; when inserted in a special all-metal syringe* one diaphragm acts as a plunger and the solution is expelled by means of a piercer needle through the other diaphragm. The cartridge therefore is a disposable syringe barrel containing the sterile solution ready for injection and offers the following advantages over conventional injection technique at no greater expense :—

1. Ready for immediate use.
2. No syringe breakage.
3. Sterilisation procedures reduced to a minimum.
4. Ease of injection.
5. Ideal in emergency.

The introduction of 'Viules' is a significant advance in the administration of injection solutions. The risk of syringe-transmitted infection is reduced and the cleaning, sterilisation and lubrication of glass syringes is obviated.

The following range of 'Viules' is now available; further additions are to be made shortly :—

Atropine Sulphate gr. $\frac{1}{100}$ (1 c.c.)
Methyl Amphetamine 30 mg. (1.5 c.c.)
Morphine Sulphate gr. $\frac{1}{4}$ (1 c.c.)
Morphine Sulphate gr. $\frac{1}{8}$ (1 c.c.)
Nicotinamide 50 mg. (1 c.c.)
Nikethamide, B.P. (2 c.c.)
Pethidine Hydrochloride 50 mg. (1 c.c.)
Pethidine Hydrochloride 100 mg. (2 c.c.)
Procaine Penicillin
(Oily Injection) 600,000 units (1.5 c.c.)

All available in cartons of 6 and 100 cartridges.

* A suitable all-metal syringe for use with 'Viules', known as the 'Mitrex Syringe', is manufactured by the Medical & Industrial Equipment Co. Ltd. (See separate advertisement page 16).

CARE OF GERIATRIC PATIENTS

A Growing Problem for the General Practitioner

With the increasing number of old people amongst the population the General Practitioner is being faced more and more with the problem of supplying an adequate high-protein diet for his geriatric patients, for protein is the one type of food that older people frequently neglect. They have difficulty in chewing meat, and often hold such strong, if mistaken, notions on the indigestibility of cheese and milk that it is extremely difficult to get them to take enough protein. Yet protein they must have.

The Value of the Sanatogen Method

The use in such cases of a concentrated protein supplement, such as Sanatogen, greatly simplifies the practitioner's problem. Sanatogen contains 95% casein combined with 5% sodium glycerophosphate. By recommending Sanatogen to the geriatric patient you ensure that the diet contains at least 24 grammes a day of first-class protein of high biological value. This is a high proportion of that recommended by authoritative bodies as the recognised daily requirement. In addition, Sanatogen gives your elderly patients the advantage of the tonic action of its glycerophosphate content.

Easily Administered—Easily Absorbed

Sanatogen is bland, easily digested, readily absorbed by those with impaired digestive systems, and simple to administer. It may be mixed as a hot or cold drink, sprinkled on food or mixed in cooked dishes. Practitioners who wish to carry out their own clinical tests with Sanatogen will be given every help. Please write to the Medical Department, Genatosan Limited, Loughborough, Leicestershire, for further information and medical samples.

SANATOGEN for tonic high-protein diets

The word 'Sanatogen' is a registered trade mark of Genatosan Limited, Loughborough, Leics.

'... a germ successfully running the gauntlet of the intricacies of the upper air tract, the mucus spread out for it to adhere to, the phagocytes in readiness to slay it, and the waving armies of ciliated epithelium in constant action to expel it ...'

'Sulfex', administered intranasally in acute upper respiratory-tract infections of bacterial origin, plays an important part in the relief of symptoms and in the control of infection. The vasoconstrictive action of 'Sulfex' relieves nasal obstruction and permits free drainage of secretions from the affected sinuses, and the bacteriostatic action of the 'Mickraform' crystals of free sulphathiazole inhibits the bacteria that interfere with the restoration of the infected nasal mucosa to a normal physiological condition.

OR ABDOMINAL DISCOMFORT,

TABLET SHOWN

ACTUAL SIZE

One 6-grain Tablet of Charadox has the adsorptive capacity of more than a tablespoonful of old type medicinal charcoal

Charcoal has always had a place in the treatment of flatulence and associated conditions. Its disadvantage was the large dose that was necessary with the old type medicinal charcoal.

This disadvantage has now been overcome by CHARDOX, a convenient form of activated charcoal which is effective in comparatively small doses. A 6-grain tablet of Charadox has the adsorptive capacity of more than a tablespoonful of the old type of medicinal charcoal.

Indications & dosage: Charadox is indicated in the treatment of flatulence, epigastric or abdominal discomfort, nausea, anorexia, and related symptoms.

It is particularly valuable in catarrhal and mucous colitis, for which many practitioners have found it to be almost specific.

Charadox tablets may be chewed, or swallowed whole with a little water. Since the action of Charadox is entirely physical, there can be no fixed dosage scheme. As a general guide, it is suggested that children be given 3 tablets at a time and adults 6. This dose may be repeated as often as necessary. Many adults have found that 2 or 3 tablets are sufficient for their particular needs.

'Brevidil' M is 2 to 2½ times more potent, and has a duration of action that is approximately 1 minute longer than 'Brevidil' E. For most purposes these differences would not be important enough to warrant the introduction of both compounds, but in certain procedures, particularly electro-convulsive therapy, we believe that the quicker and briefer action, and the more abrupt termination of paralysis with 'Brevidil' E is a significant advantage to the busy psychiatrist.

The considerable clinical evidence which supports the use of aerosol penicillin in the treatment of pulmonary diseases also serves to illustrate the value of the "Oxycillin" Atomiser. A thorough clean but a safe one MACLEANS Peroxide Tooth Paste prepares the teeth for thorough cleansing and polishing by first removing greasy film. The rest of its work is done by non-abrasive solids, ultimately soluble in saliva, that cannot scratch the enamel or leave any solid residues in the tissues. Macleans Peroxide Tooth Paste has a mildly alkaline reaction that helps to neutralise acid patches formed on or between the teeth by fermenting food particles. Macleans Peroxide Tooth Paste is mildly antiseptic but not injurious to the normal oral flora which destroy pathogenic bacteria. The flavour of Macleans is pleasing and refreshing to the palate.

Laxatives for Children

To aid the Physician in choosing a laxative for children, we give the chief characteristics of Andrews. The dosage is easily adjusted according to age. Andrews is pleasant tasting, and children accept it readily. Its laxative action is mild, and is due to the presence of magnesium sulphate and other salts in balanced proportion which increase the fluid content of the bowel by osmotic action and so lead to easy non-gripping evacuation. Andrews has a soothing effect on the stomach, stimulates the bile-flow and generally aids digestive processes. It is also useful as a gastric sedative in bilious attacks. Andrews has no costive reaction when discontinued.

New Peptic Ulcer Treatment Comparable to Drip Therapy

Whole milk and alkaline constituents combine to produce increased buffering action

NULACIN TABLETS have been evolved to meet a very real need in the treatment of gastric and duodenal ulcers.

All the literature on the treatment of peptic ulcers emphasizes the proven value of diminishing the acidity of the gastric juice. Many large and otherwise intractable ulcers can be healed by a continuous, intragastric drip of milk or alkali.

Drip therapy is, however, not always available, nor is it practicable to use it in many instances. Nulacin offers a satisfactory alternative.

Continuous Neutralization

A NULACIN TABLET allowed to dissolve slowly in the mouth has been shown clinically to provide a continuous neutralization comparable with that of drip therapy.

NULACIN TABLETS contain nutrient in a most acceptable form to the peptic ulcer patient. Nulacin tablets obviate the necessity of taking frequent feeds, and so lessen the tendency to obesity which must inevitably occur in those who are following a dietary regime of food at frequent intervals.

During ulcer activity the suggested dosage is 3 tablets to be sucked each hour, and for follow-up treatment 2 tablets should be sucked between meals, beginning half an hour after a meal.

The tablet is of a suitable size, and of a consistency and hardness, so that, when it is sucked, the result is a constant and prolonged neutralization of the gastric juice.

NULACIN TABLETS are extremely palatable, and during extensive clinical tests their taste has proved to be particularly acceptable to patients.

The patient should be instructed to place the tablet between the gum of the upper jaw and the cheek. Here it will be comfortable, and slowly dissolve. The efficacy of the tablet is greatly diminished if it is chewed and swallowed.

NULACIN TABLETS are not advertised to the public. There is no B.P. equivalent to this tablet.

NULACIN TABLETS are prepared from whole milk combined with dextrins and maltose, and incorporate:

Magnesium Trisilicate 3.5 grs. Magnesium Oxide 2.0 grs. Calcium Carbonate 2.0 grs. Magnesium Carbonate 0.5 grs. Ol. Menth. Pip. q. s.

NULACIN TABLETS are at present packed in bottles of 100 and tubes of 12.

Applicants should state name, address, age, nationality, qualifications, and enclose 3 copies (unless otherwise specified) of recent ★ testimonials with short statement of experience and appointments held.

Applications should be sent at once if no closing date is given.

★ SERVICE MEMBERS may have difficulty in supplying recent testimonials, but this should not deter them from applying.

Deferment of recruitment for "R" practitioners (i.e., practitioners liable for call-up under the National Service Acts) is granted at the discretion of the Central Medical Recruitment Committee and (in Scotland) the Scottish Central Medical Recruitment Committee. The Committees normally allow an "R" practitioner to hold a First House Officer post (N.H.S. salary £350 per annum) provided that it commences within three months of the end of his deferment by the Ministry of Labour as a whole-time medical student; and a Second House Officer post (N.H.S. salary £400 per annum) provided that it is secured before the end of his First House Officer post and commences within one month thereafter.

An "R" practitioner requires the special written permission of the C.M.R.C. or (in Scotland) the Scottish C.M.R.C. to proceed to a Third House Officer post (£450 per annum).

Under present arrangements in England and Wales the C.M.R.C. normally allows an "R" practitioner to proceed directly from a Second House Officer post to a Senior House Officer post (£670 per annum) for one year, but this practice will be discontinued on January 1, 1953.

An "R" practitioner who completes six months in a Second House Officer post on or after January 1, 1953, will require the special written permission of the C.M.R.C. or Scottish C.M.R.C. to proceed to any further post.

The complete answer for macrocytic anæmias

Clinical experience over a decade has established that the administration of Anahæmin constitutes the most effective form of treatment for pernicious anæmia.

Anahæmin produces, with small and comparatively infrequent doses, a prompt and satisfactory erythropoiesis in patients in relapse, it ensures the maintenance of a normal erythrocyte level in patients in remission and is effective in preventing the onset of subacute combined degeneration of the cord. Anahæmin has also been found to be of value in the treatment of herpes zoster and post-herpetic neuralgia. The suggested dosage is 4 ml. on alternate days until relief is obtained.
