

GLUCOSE THERAPY

When the patient's reserves of vitality are low and the need is for immediate energy the answer every time is Lucozade. Lucozade is assimilated at once and does not tax the most delicate system. It is delicious to taste and even the most difficult patient will take it eagerly when other foods have been refused. Moreover, it stimulates the appetite and thus helps to encourage the patient's confidence in himself. There is no better way of taking glucose than in Lucozade — the improved form of glucose therapy.

New Dosage Recommendations

for the new antirheumatic BUTAZOLIDIN

(3, 5-dioxo-1, 2-diphenyl-4-n-butyl-pyrazolidine)

As a result of accumulated evidence during extensive use of Butazolidin since its introduction, the following revised dosage is recommended.

TABLETS.—It is suggested that treatment should commence with one tablet three times daily, taken immediately before or after food. If, however, a satisfactory therapeutic response is not obtained after two or three days the intake may be increased to a maximum of 1000 mg. daily. Once improvement becomes apparent a gradual downward adjustment should be made to the minimal level required for maintenance purposes. This is usually 400 mg. daily, but some patients are adequately maintained on a dosage as low as 200 mg. daily or every second day.

AMPOULES.—5 c.c. (one ampoule) every two or three days. Butazolidin should be injected intramuscularly, the injection being made deeply and very slowly. As with the tablets, it is necessary to adjust the maintenance dose to suit each individual case.

In children and debilitated adults the dosage should be proportionately reduced.

Tablets: 200 mg. containers of 20, 50, 100 and 500.

Ampoules: 1000 mg. in 5 c.c., boxes of 5 and 50.

Prescribable on N.H.S. Form E.C.10

HORLICKS' LIMITED

The Annual General Meeting of Horlicks Limited was held on November 20 at Slough, Mr. O. P. Horlick, the Chairman, presiding.

The following is an extract from his circulated statement:

The Trading Profit of the Group of £659,138 compares with £711,665 for the preceding year, while the Net Profit before Taxation, after Miscellaneous Income and Charges have been brought into account, amounts to £527,222 against £551,642. In considering the decrease of £24,420, it is necessary to point out that it would have been £71,522 had it not been for a non-recurring credit of £47,102 which has been brought into account on this occasion and arose in the main from the disposal of certain redundant buildings and obsolete plant at our American factory.

Provision for all Taxation at Home and Overseas, assessed and assessable, requires £332,265 against £356,273 a year ago, and leaves the Net Profit after Taxation at £194,957 against £195,369 last year.

HOME MARKET

In many respects the period under review has been far from easy. Events during the last quarter of 1951/52 brought home to us the severity of the impact on some industries, including our own, of the policy which the Government has been obliged to follow in its efforts to bridge the gap between imports and exports. The repercussions were felt immediately and will unfortunately continue to be felt until the state of the national finances permits present policies to be eased.

Nevertheless we are still active in the promotion of new products. Some two years ago we launched Air-wick and the acceptance and sales of this product have been up to our best expectations. While the profit margin on this line is not large the continued growth of sales—as the excellence of the product becomes more widely realised—should result in a more worthwhile contribution to our general success.

As opportunities arise, it is our aim and intention to introduce new products which will be of real service to the public and the best in their respective classes. In this connection you will be interested to know that in July of this year we made our entry into the pharmaceutical field with a product—Nulacin—in the form of a tablet which gives a new approach to the treatment of peptic ulcers and the control of gastric acidity. The great advantage of Nulacin is that, when slowly dissolved in the mouth, its effect is similar to that of intra-gastric milk-alkali drip therapy—a recognised form of treatment in many hospitals for intractable peptic ulceration—with this important difference; Nulacin will enable many sufferers from peptic ulceration to obtain relief without prolonged rest in bed at home or in hospital.

The interest of the medical profession in Nulacin both at home and in many other parts of the world has been most striking.

OUR SOMERSET ACTIVITIES

Expansion is also the constant endeavour throughout the activities of our subsidiary companies which operate in the West of England, chiefly in Somerset. For instance, the pig-farming enterprise of Somerwest Farms Limited has enabled the West Somerset Bacon Company Limited to improve both the quality and the quantity of its throughput.

For a long time now the members of our Technical Development staff have been working on various projects for the utilisation of by-products; their success in these endeavours has become more and more evident in the activities of the company last named and of Horlicks Farms and Dairies Limited, whilst the dovetailing of various seasonal manufacturing processes is enabling us to effect economies and to increase productive output. In due course these operations will provide us with still further products to add to our increasing range.

THE common head louse, Pediculus humanus capitis, has proved completely vulnerable to SULEO HAIR EMULSION. One treatment with SULEO will clear the most heavily infested head in a matter of minutes. Formulated with D.D.T. plus Pyrethrum SULEO acts instantly and remains toxic for at least fourteen days, thus exceeding incubation period of nits by some days. An outstanding advantage is that the hair may be washed during this period without lessening the lethal effect.

THROMBIN (MAW) in Tonsillectomy

THROMBIN is now being widely used in tonsillectomy operations for the control of excessive bleeding. It acts efficiently, quickly and is extremely simple to apply. The wound surface should first be swabbed clean of blood, then syringed with a concentrated solution of THROMBIN.

THROMBIN can be successfully used in any operation which involves excessive bleeding, and may often be applied in conjunction with absorbable haemostatic dressings such as fibrin foam, gelatin foam and alginates.

SOME FACTS ABOUT THROMBIN

STABILITY:—THROMBIN keeps indefinitely in the dry state, and therefore may be kept in stock against an emergency.

STERILITY:—THROMBIN is sterilised by filtration, and needs no re-sterilisation.

ADSORPTION:—THROMBIN is easily adsorbed by solids, and should therefore be applied by syringe or spray.

APPLICATION:—THROMBIN is supplied in a dry ampoule, together with an ampoule of diluent. Solution is very rapid.

QUANTITY:—THROMBIN is available for surgical purposes in ampoules of 50, 200 and 5,000 N.I.H. UNITS, and for oral use in packages of 5,000 N.I.H. UNITS.

*Good results for THROMBIN are being reported in many varied surgical applications, and we shall be glad to supply further information. Inquiries should be addressed to:

New peptic ulcer treatment comparable to drip therapy

Whole milk and alkaline constituents combine to produce
increased buffering action

NULACIN TABLETS have been evolved to meet a very real need in the treatment of gastric and duodenal ulcers.

All the literature on the treatment of peptic ulcers emphasizes the proven value of diminishing the acidity of the gastric juice. Many large and otherwise intractable ulcers can be healed by a continuous, intra-gastric drip of milk or alkali.

Drip therapy, is, however, not always available, nor is it practicable to use it in many instances. Nulacin offers a satisfactory alternative.

CONTINUOUS NEUTRALIZATION

NULACIN TABLETS, allowed to dissolve slowly in the mouth, have been shown clinically to provide a continuous neutralization comparable with that of drip therapy. (B.M.J., 1952, 2, 180.)

NULACIN TABLETS contain nutrient in a most acceptable form to the peptic ulcer patient. Nulacin tablets obviate the necessity of taking frequent feeds, and so lessen the tendency to obesity which must occur in those who are following a dietary regime of food at frequent intervals.

During ulcer activity the suggested dosage is 3 tablets to be sucked each hour, and for follow-up treatment 2 tablets should be sucked between meals, beginning half an hour after a meal.

The tablet is of a suitable size, and of a consistency and hardness so that, when it is sucked, the result is a constant and prolonged neutralization of the gastric juice.

NULACIN TABLETS are extremely palatable and during extensive clinical tests their taste has proved to be particularly acceptable to patients.

The patient should be instructed to place the tablet between the gum of the upper jaw and the cheek. Here it will be comfortable, and slowly dissolve. The efficacy of

ELIXIR

Brand of TRIHEXYPHENIDYL
(3(1-piperidyl)-1-phenyl-1-cyclohexyl-1-propanol hydrochloride)

Lederle

ARTANE*, the widely-recognised treatment for Parkinsonism, hitherto available solely in tablet form—is now also presented as a particularly palatable elixir.

ARTANE, a product of Lederle research, is effective in all forms of Parkinsonism—postencephalitic, arteriosclerotic and idiopathic. It is a highly potent antispasmodic which combines a marked degree of clinical effectiveness with unusually low toxicity.

ARTANE response is characterized by improvement in rigidity, and either control or lessening of tremor, drooling and oculogyria.

ARTANE produces a mild cerebral stimulation and increases emotional stability; patients become more cheerful, alert and responsive; reduction of rigidity and tremor leads to increased activity and independence.

ARTANE has benefited even patients with advanced symptoms of 20 years' duration, as evidenced both by their improved physical status and by their ability to assume some care of their persons.

ARTANE has proved almost as beneficial to postencephalitic patients with an illness of more than 10 years' duration as it has to more recent cases.

ARTANE is effective for patients with arteriosclerotic Parkinsonism; hypertension, renal and heart disorders are not contra-indications for its use. The slight mydriatic effect produced, as compared with that produced by the belladonna alkaloids, is not likely to cause glaucoma.

ARTANE has been reported to produce no ill effects on blood pressure, respiration, blood cell count, kidneys, liver, carbohydrate metabolism, growth or reproduction. ARTANE is so relatively free from serious toxic reactions that it can be used by the young and the old, the ambulatory and the infirm, the hypertensive, the cardiac and the nephritic.

there's strength in combined action

The answer to many a problem lies in combined action. Witness the higher blood levels and the greater clinical efficacy that have been reported from oral administration of penicillin and the sulphonamides simultaneously in cases when the oral administration of the antibiotic or chemotherapeutic agent alone has been ineffective. A convenient means of applying this combined antibacterial therapy is Sulpenin. Containing penicillin, sulphadiazine and sulphamerazine in balanced dosage, it provides a valuable treatment for many infections due to susceptible micro-organisms. By utilising the synergistic action between penicillin and the sulphonamides the antibacterial range is increased, the likelihood of kidney damage is lessened and the tendency for the bacteria to develop mutant strains resistant to one or other of the component drugs is reduced.

soluble aspirin with codeine phosphate and phenacetin

Codis presents a familiar grouping of analgesic drugs; aspirin, phenacetin, codeine phosphate; with an important advantage. The "aspirin" in Codis is rendered soluble, as in 'Solprin'.

Placed, uncrushed, in water, a Codis tablet disperses in a matter of seconds to form a solution of calcium aspirin and codeine phosphate with finely suspended phenacetin. The chance of irritation of the gastric mucosa by undissolved particles of aspirin is thus minimised.

Codis is recommended for all those conditions for which Tab. Codein. Co. B.P. would be prescribed. It has the added advantages of greater ease of administration and far less likelihood of aspirin intolerance, while the rapid absorption of the soluble aspirin promotes prompt relief.

CAR'S INSIDE STORY

Woman at the wheel

Women drive differently from men (oh—let's not start that argument again!).

Let's say a woman demands different things of a car. With the Javelin, the suspension that keeps a woman happy by taking the wickedest bumps in its gliding stride is the same all-round torsion bar system that cuts seconds at corners for a man in a hurry.

The quick, light steering and clear visibility are just what a woman wants for parking in the High Street . . . the same qualities that the rally experts praise.

The comfortably, cleverly planned seating, that lets a woman slip gracefully in and out of the car, sees a man through a 400-mile Continental run without fatigue. And there's plenty of room in the back for several children.

What more could a woman ask of a man's car that will do 80 m.p.h. and accelerate from 0 to 50 in 15.4 secs?

There's a lot built into the Javelin that doesn't really show until you have one in your hands — real family comfort — 30 m.p.g. economy — and performance.

The 1953 Javelin has the new Series III engine.

The Javelin Saloon with leather upholstery costs £1,082.12.3 (including purchase tax).

Introducing

DORMUPAX

AN IMPROVED BARBITURIC HYPNOTIC OF GOOD COMPATIBILITY AND WIDE THERAPEUTIC MARGIN

The House of Hommel have now made available for general distribution in this country 'DORMUPAX', a strong hypnotic agent whose high efficacy derives primarily from its inclusion of the calcium salt of n-butyl-allyl-barbiturate, presented for the first time in the new product.

FORMULA	Each Tablet of	{	Calcium n-butyl-allyl-barbiturate	3.75 grains
	'Dormupax' contains		Carbromalum B.P.C.	1.5 grains

PHARMACOLOGY Comparative experimental studies show that the therapeutic index of n-butyl-allyl-barbituric acid is superior to that of the majority of commonly used barbituric acid derivatives, i.e. of butyl, ethyl, isopropyl and phenyl structure. In animal studies the therapeutic index (DE/DL) is as low as 0.27. It has also been shown that the quotient DE/DL is even more favourable for the calcium salt than for the acid.

The molecule of n-butyl-allyl-barbituric acid reaches the sleep centre unchanged. After an average sleep duration of 8 hours, it is completely degraded to an indifferent form. The efficacy of 'Dormupax' is reinforced by carbromalum. The latter is a prompt, safe, medium strength hypnotic which is free from after-effects.

CLINICAL DATA 'Dormupax' has been thoroughly investigated in several mental asylums. Because the dosages are often much above the normal standard in these institutions, which comprise senile, disturbed or schizophrenic persons, the two most important factors for a hypnotic — efficacy and compatibility — could be examined in detail. The results were highly satisfactory. In cases of senile, motor-restless patients the efficacy was very good on dosage of half a tablet in the afternoon and one tablet in the evening. Disagreeable after-effects could not be observed.

Excited insane patients tolerate 4 tablets daily in a course of 2 to 4 days without any deleterious after-effects. For hypertonics the concurrent administration of 'Hypersyn'-Hommel proved to be very effective.

INDICATIONS Insomnia due to psychic causes or pain — Insomnia in cases of various diseases, especially circulatory diseases or arteriosclerosis — Spastic vascular states. In these cases the combination of 'Dormupax' and 'Hypersyn'-Hommel is indicated.

DOSAGE Maximum daily single dose: 2 Tablets; maximum daily dose: 5 Tablets. Further information on dosage supplied in literature on request.

PACKS: Standard Tube of 12 Tablets; bottles of 250 (Dispensing). Samples of 'Dormupax' available on personally signed request of physicians only [Sch. IV] from the Medical Dept.

In the treatment of chronic varicose ulcers and pressure sores CIMLAC GAUZE makes a valuable contribution to healing and, in conjunction with supportive measures, ulcers which have resisted other forms of therapy have healed with remarkable rapidity.

Deferment of recruitment for "R" practitioners (i.e., practitioners liable for call-up under the National Service Acts) is granted at the discretion of the Central Medical Recruitment Committee and (in Scotland) the Scottish Central Medical Recruitment Committee. The Committees normally allow an "R" practitioner to hold a First House Officer post (N.H.S. salary £350 per annum) provided that it commences within three months of the end of his deferment by the Ministry of Labour as a whole-time medical student; and a Second House Officer post (N.H.S. salary £400 per annum) provided that it is secured before the end of his First House Officer post and commences within one month thereafter.

An "R" practitioner requires the special written permission of the C.M.R.C. or (in Scotland) the Scottish C.M.R.C. to proceed to a Third House Officer post (£450 per annum).

Under present arrangements in England and Wales the C.M.R.C. normally allows an "R" practitioner to proceed directly from a Second House Officer post to a Senior House Officer post (£670 per annum) for one year, but this practice will be discontinued on January 1, 1953.

An "R" practitioner who completes six months in a Second House Officer post on or after January 1, 1953, will require the special written permission of the C.M.R.C. or Scottish C.M.R.C. to proceed to any further post.

BRITISH MEDICAL JOURNAL
from all over the world.

The second volume of "Any Questions?" complements the 1st volume, of which 10,000 copies have been sold. Subjects covered lightly in the 1st volume, such as "Marital Problems" and "Immunization," receive more detailed treatment in the new volume.

Please reserve your copy now as the edition is limited. The book is bound in cloth, fully indexed, small enough to fit the pocket, and quite indispensable to the general practitioner in his daily work.

Although the volume is primarily for general practitioners, it will also appeal to specialists who wish to be kept informed of work in fields other than their own.
