Rhodes.

Middleton,

A Codis tablet placed in Water, provides in a few seconds a SOLUTION of calcium aspirin and codeine phosphate, with phenacetin in fine suspension.

For all those conditions for which, hitherto, Tab. Codein. Co. B.P. would have been prescribed, Codis may for preference be recommended. It is easier to administer: there is far less likelihood of aspirin intolerance; the absorption of aspirin, in solution, is accelerated.

The reason for these marked advantages is that in this familiar grouping of analgesic drugs the aspirin has been made soluble as in 'Solprin', which, in a matter of seconds, produces a palatable solution of calcium aspirin. The possibility of irritation of the gastric mucosa is minimised by the absence of undissolved particles of aspirin.

COMPOSITION

Each Codis tablet weighs 11.45 grs. and contains:— Acid. Acetylsalicyl. B.P. 4 grs., Phenacet. B.P. 4 grs., Codein Phosph. B.P. 0.125 grs., Calc. Carb. B.P. 1.2 grs., Acid. Cit. B.P. (Exsic.) 0.4 grs. Codis is not advertised to the public.

DISPENSING PACK (Purchase Tax Free), 300 tablets in distinctive gold foils of 6 tablets each, 16/6 per box.

OTHER SIZES—Packs of 20 tablets, 2/7 each inc. P.T. (in bottles or foil).

FORMULAC is a new and entirely original alkalised dried-milk compound representing a modern approach to peptic-ulcer therapy. It is designed to supplement the various forms of specific treatment with which it does not conflict in any way. It is accepted that the gastric-acid neutralising effect of after-meal alkalis is at the best transient and does not persist from one meal to the next. The use of FORMULAC as a "between-meal" drink bridges this gap and extends the neutralising action so essential in ulcer therapy.

In addition to recognised alkalis, FORMULAC contains:—

Methyl Cellulose — provides a protective film in the stomach and duodenum

Ascorbic Acid — essential for the healing of peptic ulcer

Sodium Lauryl Sulphate — inhibits peptic enzymes which retard ulcer healing

Dried Milk — the ideal buffering agent for gastric hydrochloric acid.

A FORMULAC "in-between" drink is simple to make and pleasant to take. It requires only the addition of hot water—an advantage in occupations where it is difficult to prepare an ordinary milk drink.

FORMULAC can be instituted at the commencement, and continued as may be required, after withdrawal, of specific treatment. It may also be prescribed with benefit in the treatment of milder forms of gastritis and duodenitis, "nervous dyspepsias" and related conditions where hyperchlorhydria is present.

A single injection of Efocaine PRODUCES CONTINUOUS LOCAL ANAESTHESIA AVERAGING 6-12 DAYS IN DURATION but frequently even longer. This important advance in the scientific control of pain is of particular significance in the post-operative period. A long-lasting depot anaesthetic is now available which does not rely on the use of oil, vaso-constrictor agents or gelatin as a retarding vehicle. Efocaine can be injected either deeply subcutaneously or intramuscularly and it does not interfere with wound healing. It is of particular interest in rectal surgery.

EXTRACT OR ACTIVE PRINCIPLE

over liver extract in the treatment of macrocytic anaemia. Recent reports on the use of Cytamen injections—pure crystalline vitamin B_{12} —stress that they have distinct advantages over liver extract in that they are small in bulk, constant in potency, more economical by far, and do not lead to sensitisation. Indeed, in many cases the changeover from extract to active principle has brought a marked improvement in the patient's general condition. And these reports typify the experience of haematologists who have transferred their patients from liver extract to B_{12} .

FERROUS SULPHATE is now recognised as the most efficient form of iron treatment for hypochromic anæmias. The question is therefore not "whether" but "how" it should be administered.

The preparation should not be too bulky, nor cause gastro-intestinal upset, yet it must disintegrate quickly and produce maximum hæmatopoietic response.

In 'PLASTULES' ferrous sulphate is presented in its most attractive form—in a semi-solid base in a capsule which rapidly dissolves in the stomach, thus ensuring maximum absorption. 'PLASTULES' induce a rapid response without gastric upset.

'PLASTULES' are available in four varieties:

Each capsule contains:

Plain: Exsiccated Ferrous Sulphate 5 gr., Dried Yeast $\frac{3}{4}$ gr. With Hog Stomach: Exsiccated Ferrous Sulphate $2\frac{1}{2}$ gr., Dried Yeast $\frac{3}{4}$ gr. Desiccated Hog Stomach 1.47 gr. With Liver Extract: Exsiccated Ferrous Sulphate $2\frac{1}{4}$ gr., Dried Yeast $\frac{3}{4}$ gr. Extract of 52 gr. of fresh liver.

With Folic Acid: Exsiccated Ferrous Sulphate 2½ gr., Dried Yeast ¾ gr., Folic Acid 1 mg., Extract of 26½ gr. of fresh liver.

The complete answer for macrocytic anæmias

Clinical experience over a decade has established that the administration of Anahæmin constitutes the most effective form of treatment for pernicious anæmia.

Anahæmin produces, with small and comparatively infrequent doses, a prompt and satisfactory erythropoiesis in patients in relapse, it ensures the maintenance of a normal erythrocyte level in patients in remission and is effective in preventing the onset of subacute combined degeneration of the cord. Anahæmin has also been found to be of value in the treatment of herpes zoster and post-herpetic neuralgia. The suggested dosage is 4 ml. on alternate days until relief is obtained.

REDUCING THE PRESSURE.

THE SUPERIORITY of papaverine nitrite over the generally used hydrochloride is becoming more and more recognized. The lower toxicity of the nitrite is of obvious importance in such long-term treatment as hypertensive syndromes usually demand.

'HYPERYSIN' Tablets are formularized to provide the anti-hypertensive effects of a superior nitrite together with the sedative influence of papaverine and two other agents of acknowledged synergistic action.

Composition (each Tablet approx.)—

Advantages —

Low toxicity: Papaverine nitrite is less toxic than papaverine.

Synergism: The papaverine nitrite is syner-
