“Yes, canned strained foods really are better than home-made!”

Every day Doctors and Nurses find more and more mothers are accepting the fact that canned strained foods are better for baby than home-prepared strained foods.

And the more one knows about Heinz Strained Foods the easier it is to see why. Take Strained Spinach as an example.

First, Heinz select the most suitable variety of seed. They supervise the growth from sowing to harvesting. As soon as the crop reaches perfection the spinach is hurried to the factory, where it is inspected, carefully washed and cleaned. It is then cooked without delay by Heinz special equipment which minimises nutrient losses. Straight from cooking, it is put through fine sieves, then into enamel-lined cans. And in their laboratories, Heinz check the quality before the food is sterilized — and after too, by testing cans from each batch. The result is a much more nourishing and hygienic food than spinach cooked under normal home conditions.

For full details of the nutrient value of Heinz Strained Foods, please write to Dept. 1G, H. J. Heinz Company Ltd., Harlesden, London, N.W.10.

Poroplast embodies 2 important new developments

1 Poroplast contains no rubber, no solvents, and is entirely free from the irritating resins usually embodied in elastic adhesive bandages . . . therefore obviating many problems of skin irritation and offering greatly increased plaster toleration even on the most sensitive skins.

2 It is porous over its whole surface, even where two layers overlap . . . allowing for ventilation and for natural evaporation.

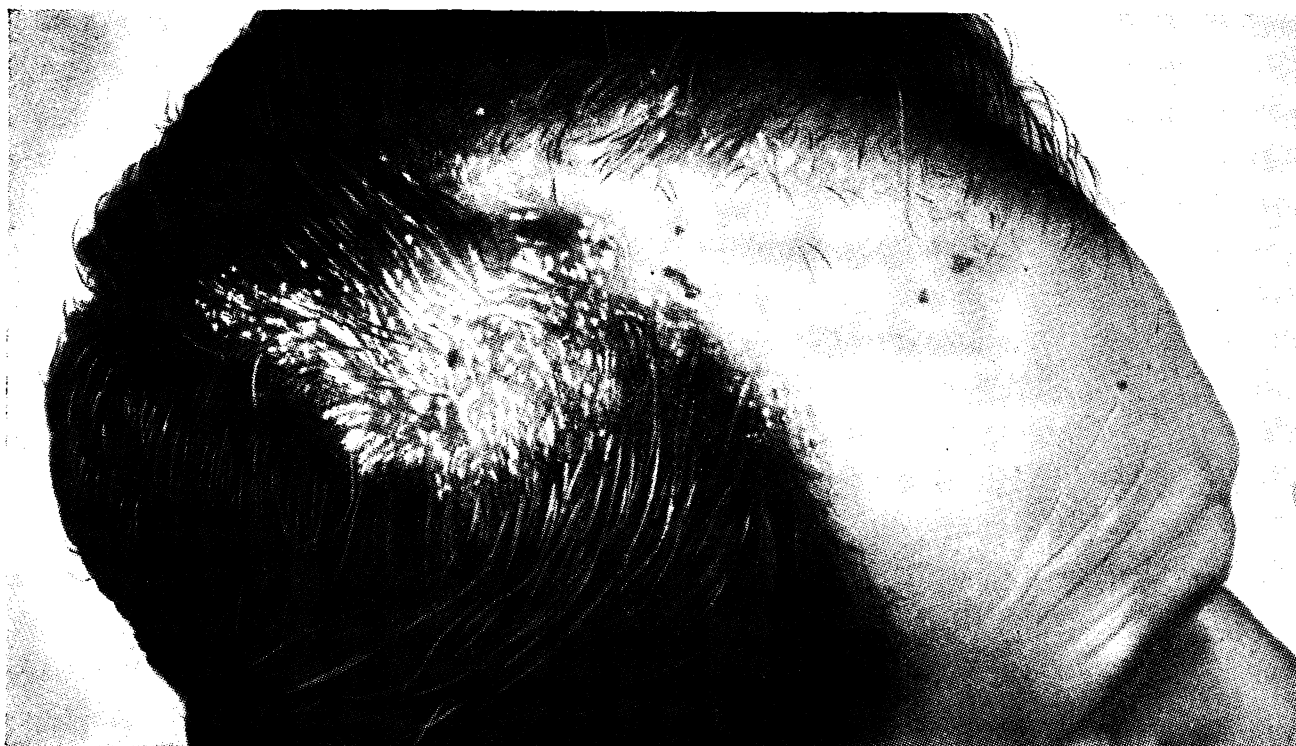

The range of Poroplast's therapeutic use is vastly wider than that of the conventional type of elastic adhesive bandage. Its special advantages, and the improved results it achieves, in the treatment of varicose veins and ulcers especially, receive steadily mounting medical confirmation. In all cases where an elastic adhesive bandage must be used for long periods, the use of Poroplast makes all the difference.

Poroplast conforms to the specification for Flexible Adhesive Bandages Porous, of the Drug Tariff. Standard prices. Cost no more than ordinary elastic adhesive bandages.

1. PROMPT ACTION

"Unexcelled" for the preparation of patients for surgical measures on the bowel, Terramycin has a pronounced effect on the bacterial flora "evident after 36 to 48 hours of therapy".¹

2. PARTICULARLY EFFECTIVE

"In peritonitis due to perforation of the lower part of the bowel treatment with both penicillin and streptomycin has been common practice... It may well be superseded by the use of the newer antibiotics with their wider range of activity: terramycin, given at first intravenously, has been... (sic in the author's opinion) particularly effective".²

3. WELL TOLERATED

Typical of clinical reports is the conclusion that Terramycin "has not exhibited toxicity, and side-effects have not constituted a problem in therapy".³

Terramycin can now be used for all suitable conditions in Hospitals in Great Britain, and a complete range of oral, intravenous and topical dosage forms is available.

The problem of urinary - ammonia dermatitis

The irritant action of ammonia arising from the bacterial decomposition of urine is a long-recognized problem in infant welfare. Treatment of urinary-ammonia dermatitis (nappie rash) has hitherto been mainly palliative, but now curative and prophylactic measures are available in a product of unique composition—ZAC Baby Cream. ZAC contains, in addition to its soothing and healing ingredients—high grade zinc oxide, superfine lanoline and purest castor oil—the powerful bactericides hexachlorophene and amino-acridine which destroy the bacteria and prevent pyogenic skin infections. Application of ZAC quickly soothes inflamed areas and removes the cause of further irritation.

Although primarily designed for infants, ZAC is also suitable for treating abrasions, etc.

Ulceration*

... all duodenal ulcer patients experienced symptomatic relief and of these ten claimed relief after 1 day; four after 2 days; and two after 3 days.

... two patients with a gastric ulcer experienced relief of symptoms 2 to 3 days after starting therapy whilst the patients who did not improve had large eroding ulcers and were later operated upon.

... x-rays were taken 10 and 20 days after the patients' admission. Those receiving TABNET showed evidence of healing 10 days after commencing treatment. After 20 days the radiological appearances showed that the ulcers had healed in all cases except the two referred to above.

... in addition to these control cases twenty ambulatory patients received TABNET therapy and became symptom free within a short period.

Deferment of recruitment for fully registered "R" practitioners (i.e., fully registered practitioners liable for call-up under the National Service Acts) is granted at the discretion of the Central Medical Recruitment Committee and (in Scotland) the Scottish Central Medical Recruitment Committee. The Committees normally allow a fully registered "R" practitioner to hold a First House Officer post (N.H.S. salary £350 per annum) provided that it commences within three months of the end of his deferment by the Ministry of Labour and National Service as a whole-time medical student; and a Second House Officer post (N.H.S. salary £400 per annum) provided that it is secured before the end of his First House Officer post and commences within one month thereafter.

An "R" practitioner requires the special written permission of the C.M.R.C. or (in Scotland) the Scottish C.M.R.C. to proceed to any further post.

The position of provisionally registered "R" practitioners has been made clear in a notice sent to them by the University Joint Recruiting Boards.
