Two weapons against 'Athlete's Foot and other fungal dermatoses

The combined use of Mycil Ointment and Powder has proved to be highly effective in both prophylaxis and treatment of fungal dermatoses.

Mycil Ointment is formulated to ensure penetration of the active constituent, chlorphenesin, to the site of the infection.

Mycil Powder, used alone, prevents reinfection. Because of its absorptive properties it is a valuable agent with which to combat excessive perspiration.

Both preparations are non-mercurial and odourless and may be used over long periods, if necessary, without adverse effects.

Transvasin

Contains skin-penetrating esters of salicylic, nicotinic, and p-aminobenzoic acids. It brings real relief to deep-seated muscular rheumatism by simple inunction.

TRANSVASIN, a new preparation developed by Hamol S.A., our Swiss associates, and now available for prescription in this country, contains esters of salicylic, p-aminobenzoic and nicotinic acids. These esters readily pass the skin barrier in therapeutic quantities and enable an effective concentration of the drugs to be built up where they are needed. Transvasin not only induces vasodilation of the skin with a superficial erythema, but also brings about a deep hyperaemia of the underlying tissues. It is non-irritant, and can be safely used on the skin.

It is now being widely prescribed, with highly successful results. There is evidence, also, that since a very small quantity is sufficient for each application, the cost of treatment is extremely low.

Nicotinic acid ethyl-ester	2%
Nicotinic acid n-hexyl-ester	2%

Transvasin is available in 1 oz. tubes at 3/4½ plus 7½d P.T., which are obtainable on form E.C.10, and is not advertised to the public.

NEW AND ORIGINAL ORGANIC-IRON TABLET
FERROMYN
(Ferrous Succinate)

the latest and most significant advance towards ideal oral iron therapy

FERROMYN is an original and logical approach to the problem of iron absorption and utilisation in the treatment of hypochromic anæmias and brings oral iron therapy a step nearer the ideal.

This new iron preparation presents Ferrous Succinate, a bivalent iron salt prepared from succinic acid, which, together with glycine is essential for the synthesis in the red bone marrow of a porphyrin (haem) containing iron.*

Normal Hb. and serum iron levels were demonstrated over an average period of 24 days treatment with a group of hypochromic anæmia patients with an average initial haemoglobin of 60%.

The controlled clinical trials with Ferromyn show an iron utilisation factor of 42% as compared with 14% Ferrous Sulphate and 28% Ferrous Gluconate.

This response was obtained with the low total average dosage of 2,604 mgm. available iron.

In comparison, the controlled group treated with Ferrous Sulphate required 42 days with an average dosage of 7,568 mgm. available iron to reach the same Hb. and serum-iron value.

AMOUNT OF AVAILABLE IRON ADMINISTERED	PREPARATION	IRON UTILISATION COEFFICIENT
2600 mgm 	FERROMYN	 42%
3180 mgm 	FERROUS GLUCONATE	 28%

Growing Testimony

For many years now, mothers have known and trusted Ostermilk . . . and a generation of sturdy Ostermilk babies has shown that this trust is well deserved. Ostermilk owes its success to its purity, digestibility and nutritional value. Purity . . . because it is rich, clean milk, dried on heated rollers. Digestibility . . . because it is modified to suit young digestions; the curd formed in the baby's stomach is light and flocculent, like that of breast milk. Nutritional value . . . because it contains all the essential constituents of breast milk, plus extra vitamin D and iron to guard against rickets and nutritional anaemia.

Nulacin

FOR CONTROL OF GASTRIC ACIDITY

Superimposed gruel fractional test-meal curves of five cases of duodenal ulcer

Same patients as in Fig. 1, two days later, showing the striking neutralizing effect of sucking Nulacin tablets (3 an hour). Note the return of acidity when Nulacin is discontinued.

NULACIN provides control of gastric acidity comparable with that obtained with intragastric milk-alkali drip therapy. It is the most convenient and effective form of treatment for bed and ambulatory patients.

DOSAGE

A NULACIN tablet, placed in the mouth and allowed to dissolve slowly, releases its contained medicaments at a rate that gives continuous neutralization of the gastric juice.

NULACIN tablets are indicated whenever neutralization of the gastric contents is required: in active and quiescent peptic ulcer, gastritis, gastric hyperacidity.

Beginning half an hour after food, a NULACIN tablet should be placed in the mouth and allowed to dissolve slowly. During the stage of ulcer activity, up to three tablets an hour may be required. For follow-up treatment, the suggested dosage is one or two tablets between meals.

NULACIN tablets are not advertised to the public and have no B.P. equivalent. May be prescribed on E.C.10. The dispensing pack of 25 tablets is free of Purchase Tax. (Price to pharmacists, 2/-.) Also available in tubes of 12.

NULACIN tablets are prepared from whole milk combined with dextrans and maltose, and incorporate Magnesium Trisilicate 3.5 grs.; Magnesium Oxide 2.0 grs.; Calcium Carbonate 2.0 grs.; Magnesium Carbonate 0.5 grs.; Ol. Menth. Pip. q.s.

NOBECUTANE

A NEW PLASTIC WOUND DRESSING

NOBECUTANE consists of an acrylic resin dissolved in a mixture of acetic esters. When applied to the dry skin the solvent evaporates leaving an elastic, transparent, and adhesive film.

NOBECUTANE has many advantages over conventional dressings. It is non-irritating, transparent, tough, pliable and durable and can be applied over joints where some degree of mobility is required.

NOBECUTANE is impervious to bacteria but permeable to air and water vapour and allows normal aqueous exhalation of the skin to escape and no maceration of the skin occurs.

NOBECUTANE is economical in use and results in a saving of at least 20% over the cost of conventional dressings. In addition it is welcomed by nursing staff who find it effects a considerable amount of saving in time.

NOBECUTANE is available to hospitals only in bottles of 250 ml. at a price of 17/6 per bottle. Each bottle contains adequate material for the dressing of approximately sixty to seventy surgical wounds.

ACTIVE Life

There are many good reasons why clinicians find Liver Injection U.S.P.-20 micrograms Lederle so outstandingly successful in the maintenance treatment of pernicious anaemia. The product is made solely from beef liver by a process which provides maximum concentration of the anti-pernicious anaemia factor and removes undesirable substances—resulting in reduction of solids and increased potency.

Injections cause a minimum of pain and allergic reactions yet exert optimum therapeutic effect, permitting the patient to lead an active working life and to enjoy his leisure hours.

Reported as "significantly more potent" than other extracts,* the Lederle preparation has a vitamin B₁₂ content of 20 micrograms per c.c. (assayed microbiologically). Apart from its specific use in pernicious anaemia, the extract is being increasingly adopted as a general hepatic and metabolic stimulant.

EMOTIONS

EMOTIONAL DISTURBANCE...

A close association has been shown to exist between certain emotional disturbances and changes in gastric function. Increased acid secretion has been observed to follow emotional reactions of a combative nature and the importance of controlling gastric acidity in the management of peptic ulcer is widely recognised.

'Aludrox' Amphoteric Gel, buffers gastric acid to a pH of 3.5 to 4.0, at the same time providing a protective gel barrier over the surface of the ulcer. Healing is thus able to proceed whilst the risk of alkalosis is avoided and normal digestion is unimpaired.

'ALUDROX' is available in two forms: as an amphoteric gel (consisting of Aluminium Hydroxide Gel B.P.C. suitably flavoured and preserved) in 6 oz. and 12 oz. bottles and as tablets (each tablet containing dried Aluminium Hydroxide Gel. B.P.C. 13 gr.) in boxes of 60.

In the treatment of chronic constipation, particularly where it is associated with gastric hyperacidity, 'Mil-Par' provides a reliable antacid laxative of unvarying efficacy.

A balanced combination of 'Milk of Magnesia'*, with a selected grade of medicinal paraffin, 'Mil-Par' neutralizes excess gastric acidity and checks the development of acid conditions in the lower alimentary tract. In the intestine, where it readily permeates the faecal mass, 'Mil-Par' softens the bowel content and provides both lubrication and gentle stimulation.

Humanised Trufood is not just a dried milk: it is a modification of cows' milk specifically designed to meet the needs of the normal infant from birth. The fat content compares favourably with that of "Full Cream" dried milk powders.

Moreover, as Trufood is dried by the spray process the fat is kept in a fine, well-diffused emulsion, thus ensuring easier assimilation.

Elastoplast as a many-tailed bandage

When frequent dressings are necessary, the following method of applying Elastoplast may be used as a substitute for an abdominal many-tailed bandage.

Above: Fig. 1

Prescribe Elastoplast Bandages
by name on form E.C.10

SIX PIECES, each about 12 inches in length, are prepared from a 3 inch wide Elastoplast bandage. Tapes are attached and the completed pieces applied to the body from each side (Fig. 1). The tapes are tied over the dressing covering the wound (Fig. 2). The bandage may be applied by one person without disturbing the patient. It is easily made, provides adequate support and will remain firmly in position.

The above method is comfortable in use as the patient does not have to wear perineal stirrups to keep the bandage in place or to lie on a bandage which may become 'rucked-up' — disadvantages associated with the flannelette type of many-tailed bandage.

CONTRAINDICATIONS TO BREAST FEEDING
2½ OZS PER LB BODY WEIGHT
SIGN OF OVERFEEDING
DIET IN COELIAC DISEASE

THE FEEDING OF NORMAL INFANTS FROM BIRTH

BREAST FEEDING

A normal infant should not be put to the breast until 6-12 hours after birth. In the case of a premature, this period should be longer.

He should then be put to the breast every 3 hours for 5 minute periods, gradually working up to 10-15 minutes.

On about the 4th day, the flow of milk should be established.

At the end of a week's feeding, he may take 20 minutes to empty a breast. In such cases, only one breast should be used at each feed.

1-2 ozs. of glucose water in 5% mixture should be given after each feed until the 5th day.

At this stage, a test feed should be given to see how much milk the child is receiving after each feed for 24 hours and the average per feed estimated.

He should receive 2½ ounces of milk in 24 hours for every pound of body weight.

Should the supply of breast milk prove insufficient, the deficit should be made up with Half Cream Cow & Gate until 2 months and then Full Cream.

When breast feeding has been established, the child should gain 4-6 ozs. per week.

Breast feeding may be continued until 9-10 months, but weaning should be started when the child is 4-5 months old or weighs 15 lbs.

ARTIFICIAL FEEDING

It is usual to give Half Cream Cow & Gate until the child is 2 months old, but some are able to take the additional fat in Full Cream almost from birth.

When it is decided to change from Half to Full Cream, an abrupt change should not be made. One measure of Full Cream should be substituted for one of Half Cream at first and gradually stepped up until the child is on Full Cream only. This change over should take about 5 days. Although the average child requires 2½ ozs. per lb. of body weight in 24 hours, this amount should be varied to suit each individual child.

Signs of Underfeeding.

Crying, failure to put on weight, green stools and constipation.

Signs of Overfeeding.

Vomiting, putting on too much weight, constipation.

If the child is below weight, feed up to the expected body-weight, e.g., suppose a child weighs 9½ lbs. and should weigh 10 lbs., then he will require 10 x 2½ ozs. of milk in 24 hours.

Weaning should begin as in breast feeding, using Cow & Gate CEREX.

Notes on Clinical uses of Ribena
No. 2 In Rheumatic Disorders

That ascorbic acid deficiency is present in many cases of acute and chronic rheumatism and rheumatoid arthritis has been shown by various authorities.

Recent work indicating a relationship between the adrenal cortex hormones (cortisone, etc.) and Vitamin C suggests an explanation for the beneficial results obtained from the clinical use of the vitamin in these disorders.

It is physiologically sound, therefore, to prescribe Ribena—a rich source of natural Vitamin C—as an adjunct to the conventional therapy of rheumatism.

Does your DRIVING contribute to your FATIGUE?

The differing proportions of the human body present a baffling problem to the designer of modern mass-produced cars. Clearly the relationship between driver, seat and wheel cannot be correct for every user, and incorrect driving position is now recognized as a prime cause of motoring fatigue.

To remedy the bad posture and muscular strain resulting from this, the Key-Leather Co. Ltd. have introduced a scientific accessory known as the SIT-RITE Back Rest. This device provides the firm support for the spine which is so often lacking, especially in the lumbar curve, and can be adjusted to suit the individual. It also permits air to flow freely between your back and the seat, keeping you comfortably fresh on warm days.

The sturdy lacings can be slackened to adjust curvature, and a plastic covering on the steel frame (not paint) rules out any possibility of damage to the seat upholstery. Well-finished and washable, the back rest is simply and quickly attached to the driving seat, and in appearance is a credit to the finest car.

There are models for bench and bucket seats, both reasonably priced at 45s. Ask to see one at your garage and try it out in your car. You will be struck by the difference in comfort.

SMOOTHER STEERING

Another K-L accessory designed to reduce strain is the EASITURN Steering Device, which enables you to make use of leverage when turning. Easily fitted on either side of the wheel, the EASITURN has a smart "tortoiseshell" head and costs only 10s.
