

DECEMBER

THE PONIES AND THE MICE

When, at Christmas time, the six little Shetland ponies—so glossy, so bedizened, so demure—draw into our view the marvellous and gleaming coach of Cinderella, does anybody think about mice? No. When Hamlet, like a spin bowler fingering the new ball, bends upon the skull in his hand a pregnant, speculative glance, we are acutely aware of Yorick, and beyond the omelette which the clever conjuror produces from his hat we inescapably apprehend the gold watches which were—as far as any of us could see—its principal ingredients. But the little ponies somehow atrophy our sense of the dramatic. We think of them only as ponies. Our imaginations do not even toy with the interesting fact that they are, au fond, mice. It is quite right that this should be so; for although children are stern realists the pantomime is an escapist institution, and once they begin to see through its odd but conventional illusions—to notice that the Principal Boy is a girl and the Ugly Sisters are men, to point out to each other the wires upon which the fairies levitate—it is a sign that they are getting too old for this type of entertainment. Next year we shall have to try and find something rather more grown-up. As far as they are concerned, the ponies (or, if you prefer it, the mice) will go into cold storage until—by a metamorphosis at present even harder to believe in—the children are transformed into parents themselves.

AMPUTATIONS

This text-book is the first comprehensive and authoritative contribution on the subject to be offered in Great Britain. It deals with the surgery of amputations and is profusely illustrated by a wide range of photographs and diagrams. Considerable space has been devoted to civilian conditions which produce ischaemia as a result of vascular diseases, and the management of congenital deformities receives special attention. 423 pages. 342 illustrations. 84s. net.

William Brockbank ANCIENT THERAPEUTIC ARTS

This curious and erudite work on the by-ways of medical thought is divided into four parts, discussing: 1. The story of the enema or clyster from 1500 B.C. to the present day. 2. The art of cupping and leeching from its hey-day to its fall. 3. The methods used for combating inflammation by counter-irritation until modern therapy made them no longer necessary. 4. The story of the intravenous injection of fluids from the time of Sir Christopher Wren, the inventor, until to-day. 160 pages. 93 illustrations. 25s. net.

J. G. Thwaites, MB, BS INTO GENERAL PRACTICE

This is not a clinical book nor is it an exhaustive book of reference on Health Service Regulations. Dr. Thwaites seeks to describe general practice in a way which will encourage and guide the newcomer in strange surroundings. From his own experience he tries to help others with the problems of practice so that they may less painfully gain wisdom from their own experience. 224 pages. 12s. 6d. net.

Elastoplast Porous Adhesive Bandages now in full supply

Heavy demands for Elastoplast Porous Adhesive Bandages have hitherto made it necessary for hospitals to be given priority when allocating supplies. By means of new manufacturing facilities, Elastoplast Porous Adhesive Bandages are now being produced in sufficient quantities to meet the full demand of the Medical Profession, and all E.C.10 prescriptions can now be promptly met.

The Elastoplast Bandage with the porous adhesive permits free evaporation of sweat from the skin. This minimizes the main cause of plaster reaction.

When prescribing Elastoplast add "Porous Adhesive" to your script.

This new iron preparation presents Ferrous Succinate, the bivalent iron salt of succinic acid. Succinic acid, together with glycine is essential for the synthesis in the red bone marrow of a porphyrin (haem) containing iron.

The controlled clinical trials with FERROMYN show a mean utilisation factor of 42% as compared with the mean utilisation factor of 28% with Ferrous Gluconate and 14% with Ferrous Sulphate.

A notable feature of this preparation is that the very favourable response is obtained with the minimum overall dosage of ferrous salt thus ensuring minimum risk of toxic reaction.

The range of FERROMYN preparations has been extended to include ELIXIR FERROMYN and ELIXIR FERROMYN 'B'.

Transvasin

brings the esters of NICOTINIC ACID

to the focal point of soft-tissue rheumatism

Transvasin is available in 1 oz. tubes, basic price 2/6 plus 7½d P.T., and is not advertised to the public. Samples and literature will be gladly sent on application.

The esters in Transvasin, a new preparation developed by Hamol S.A., our Swiss associates, readily pass the skin barrier in therapeutic quantities and enable an effective concentration of the drugs to be built up where they are needed. Transvasin not only induces vaso-dilation of the skin with a superficial erythema, but also brings about a deep hyperaemia of the underlying tissues. It is non-irritant, and can be safely used on delicate skins.

It is now being widely prescribed, with successful clinical results. Since a very small quantity is sufficient for each application, the cost of treatment is extremely low.

controlling oedema

more safely...

ORALLY

The introduction of DIAMOX* Acetazolemide has brought a truly radical advance in the control of cardiac oedema. This remarkably non-toxic diuretic is given by mouth and, in about eighty per cent of cases, entirely eliminates the need for parenteral measures. DIAMOX is not a mercurial or xanthine derivative; it produces diuresis by inhibiting the enzyme carbonic anhydrase. It is well suited for long-term therapy because—if used in the dosage suggested—it can be taken for an indefinite period without cumulative toxic effect. Following a single morning dose of DIAMOX, a copious diuresis of 6 to 12 hours' duration results. It allows the patient to enjoy an undisturbed night. Moreover, DIAMOX permits of steady control of the oedema—patients do not show the fluctuations in fluid and weight which characterise intermittent treatment with mercurials.

EMOTIONS

EMOTIONAL DISTURBANCE...

A close association has been shown to exist between certain emotional disturbances and changes in gastric function. Increased acid secretion has been observed to follow emotional reactions of a combative nature and the importance of controlling gastric acidity in the management of peptic ulcer is widely recognised.

'Aludrox' Amphoteric Gel, buffers gastric acid to a pH of 3.5 to 4.0, at the same time providing a protective gel barrier over the surface of the ulcer. Healing is thus able to proceed whilst the risk of alkalosis is avoided and normal digestion is unimpaired.

'ALUDROX'
Trade Mark

'ALUDROX' is available in two forms: as an amphoteric gel (consisting of Aluminium Hydroxide Gel B.P.C. suitably flavoured and preserved) in 6 oz. and 12 oz. bottles and as tablets (each tablet containing dried Aluminium Hydroxide Gel B.P.C. 13 gr.) in boxes of 60.

‘POLYFAX’ combines ‘Aerosporin’ brand Polymyxin B Sulphate with Bacitracin in a new antibiotic ointment of very wide antibacterial range. ‘Polyfax’ has a prominent place in clinical practice because

- ‘Polymyxin’ is lethal to many gram-negative organisms, particularly *Ps. pyocyanne*a.
- Bacitracin is effective against gram-positive organisms.
- Drug resistance to polymyxin is unknown, to bacitracin very rare.
- Penicillin-resistant strains often succumb to bacitracin.
- Risk of skin sensitisation is minimal.
- Local absorption is insignificant.
- Subsequent systemic use of antibiotics is not prejudiced.
- ‘Polyfax’ is so formulated that its antibiotic components are stable and readily diffusible.

‘POLYFAX’ is non-irritating and may be applied for long periods if necessary. It is available in tubes of 20 gm. for topical application and as ‘Polyfax’ brand Ophthalmic Ointment in tubes of 4 gm. with special nozzle.

The complete answer for macrocytic anæmias

Clinical experience over a decade has established that the administration of Anahæmin constitutes the most effective form of treatment for pernicious anæmia.

Anahæmin produces, with small and comparatively infrequent doses, a prompt and satisfactory erythropoiesis in patients in relapse, it ensures the maintenance of a normal erythrocyte level in patients in remission and is effective in preventing the onset of subacute combined degeneration of the cord. Anahæmin has also been found to be of value in the treatment of herpes zoster and post-herpetic neuralgia. The suggested dosage is 4 ml. on alternate days until relief is obtained.

Ovaltine in antenatal and postnatal care

THE INCREASED nutritional demands arising during the latter half of pregnancy and the ensuing period of lactation, call for a general fortification of the patient's diet.

'Ovaltine' is eminently suitable as an aid in meeting this need because it provides concentrated nourishment in a palatable and easily assimilated form. It is acceptable to the most capricious appetite, such as often occurs in pregnancy.

'Ovaltine' possesses galactogogue properties. It also aids in maintaining the strength and general well-being of the nursing mother.

The high quality of its natural ingredients—malt, milk, cocoa, soya and eggs—its content of added vitamins, and the strictly hygienic conditions of its manufacture combine to provide a first-class nutritional product which has long enjoyed the approval of obstetricians.

Striking a new note in ORAL CHLORAMPHENICOL therapy

A new tasteless derivative of chloramphenicol, which leaves no residual bitterness on the tongue after oral administration, has been combined with atropine to form a palatable suspension which has a wide range of therapeutic activity when given by mouth.

Chloramphenicol cinnamate, this new derivative, is hydrolysed in the alimentary tract releasing the parent substance, chloramphenicol. The small dose of atropine reduces the possibility of gastric intolerance and aids the retention of the antibiotic.

Alficetyl Suspension is pleasant to take, easily administered, well tolerated and rapidly effective.

What can you do for my Rheumatism, Doctor?

What a difficult question this is to answer—particularly when put by an elderly patient. As an immediate resort, however, you can readily relieve the painful symptoms by prescribing Berex.

Being a combination of salicylate and succinate, Berex enables a massive dosage of salicylate to be administered without lowering the prothrombin level, with less gastric disturbance and with the encouragement of tissue respiration.

◆◆◆ SUMMARY OF FINDINGS OF A STUDY ON ◆◆◆ SUCCINATE SALICYLATE THERAPY *

A succinate-salicylate combination has been found superior to acetylsalicylic acid in rheumatic states both on grounds of therapeutic efficacy and lower toxicity. Adequate amounts of the former could be administered with more lasting effect and with fewer and milder side effects. Furthermore, succinate-salicylate affects the disease process itself, as well as relieving painful symptoms and does not abnormally increase prothrombin time even after prolonged dosage.

It depends what you mean by 'Banking'

OF COURSE we safeguard money and cash cheques. But we go further. We maintain specialist departments whose functions, although not 'banking' in the usual sense, can nevertheless be used to very good purpose. These departments will, for example, act as an Executor, help with a customer's Income Tax problems, obtain currency for foreign travel. They will do many more things besides. But the moral of this multiplicity of functions is simply this: if you have any problem of finance or business, the chances are that we can help you deal with it. And that is what we mean by 'banking'
