... a mixture of the male and female hormones was more efficacious than æstrogen alone."

Brit. Med. Journ. 1953 (July 25), 2.214

The association of methyltestosterone and ethinylæstradiol in Mepilin produces a more complete response in the treatment of menopausal disorders than can be obtained by the use of oestrogens alone. An increased feeling of confidence and well-being is produced which is both mental and physical.

The presence of methyltestosterone enables a reduction in oestrogen dosage to be made; thus undesirable side effects such as breast turgidity and pelvic congestion are avoided and the risk of withdrawal bleeding is reduced.

to fight infection

the vitamin supplemented antibiotics

In infection, because normal defence mechanisms increase metabolic demands and because this is frequently accompanied by reduced intake and utilisation of food, nutritional depletion is bound to occur. Formerly such a condition has necessitated separate therapies—antimicrobial and nutritional. Now, for the first time, it is possible to combat infection and fortify the body's defences simultaneously with a single prescription, at a lower cost than if they were treated separately.

In both Terramycin S.F. and Tetracyn S.F. the world's most widely used and newest broad spectrum antibiotics are combined with self-adjusting dosages of specific essential vitamins. Both preparations provide rapid antimicrobial therapy. Both provide potent nutritional factors. And both may be better tolerated than antibiotics alone because of their vitamin content. Moreover, because the nutritional factors are for the first time combined with the antibiotic in a small easy-to-swallow capsule, administration is assured and increased antibiotic therapy is automatically matched by proportionate vitamin intake.

to fortify body defences

TERRAMYCIN S.F. or TETRACYN S.F. is indicated in infections caused by gram-positive and gram-negative bacteria, the rickettsiae, some spirochaetes and viruses, and certain protozoa and helminths. It's the economical combined therapy for Speedier control of infection and Faster convalescence through better tolerance.

NUTRITIONAL DEPLETION. IS DANGEROUS DURING ILLNESS...

- 2 Because resistance is lowered
- a Because antibody production is reduced

CLINICAL ADVANTAGES OF TREATMENT WITH TERRAMYCIN S.F. OR TETRACYN S.F.

- 1 Resistance to infection is increased
- 2 Susceptibility to infection is decreased
- Capacity for antibody production is improved
- 4 Tissue repair is facilitated
- s Recovery is hastened
- 6 Convalescence is shortened and complications are averted

The case of Anthonomus grandis...

With its rounded, armoured body and long snout, the boll weevil under a magnifier looks like a visitor from outer space. Although only about a quarter of an inch in length, it is one of the most widely destructive of all cotton pests, causing losses that run into millions of dollars each year.

In the cotton plantations of Central America boll weevil has long been a particularly difficult problem, for this is its original home, where warm winter temperatures favour its survival and encourage breeding. Cotton growers have spent fortunes on insecticides to control boll weevil, with varying success, but now the arrival of aldrin has given them a very much more powerful weapon. Aldrin, an insecticide recently developed by Shell, is proving outstandingly successful and is rapidly coming into use throughout Central America, wherever cotton is grown.

Just 2 to 4 oz. of aldrin, as dust or spray, gives full control over boll weevil in an acre of cotton, offering a higher degree of protection at lower cost.

Long-lasting, non-tainting aldrin is the most effective of all insecticides for use in the soil. Because of its great stability, it is ideal for compounding with fertilizers. Aldrin's wider range includes many pests previously difficult to 'get at' economically.

Another recently developed Shell insecticide is dieldrin, possessing exceptional persistence. On foliage, dieldrin controls a very wide range of weevils, beetles, flies and other crop-eating pests. It is also extensively used as a residual spray against disease-carrying insects.

rapid relief of pain

The distress caused by the piercing, stabbing pains of neuralgia is quickly relieved by the rapid, smooth, analgesic action of HYPON

TABLETS, enabling the practitioner to prescribe a safe means of meeting the patient's need. Menstrual pain is also effectively alleviated. Where the cause of distress is of a more chronic nature, as in rheums tism and sciatica, the adverse effects of prolonged medication with codeine and salicylic therapy are eliminated by the inclusion in the formula of caffeine and phenolphthalein. HYPON TABLETS are already widely prescribed by members of the profession for their speedy and safe action with the almost complete elimination of gastric upset. Parallel with the relief from pain, febrile states are effectively reduced in conditions such as influenza, coryza and tonsillitis.

Nervous Exhaustion

Practitioners often encounter patients whose ill-health is due mainly to emotional or neurotic disturbance. Frequently there appears to be no physical basis and their principal symptoms are usually undue

For these mildly neurasthenic and exhausted cases 'Beplete' Wyeth is uniquely appropriate. It contains Phenobarbitone and Vitamin B-complex as an appetising

a new intravenous anticoagulant

A clinical investigation carried out under the auspices of the Medical Research Council has shown that a selected molecular fraction of dextran sulphate is suitable for therapeutic use as an anticoagulant (Lancet, 1953, 2, 1004). It is this fraction that is now issued as Dexulate. Dexulate is produced synthetically to a precise specification, and is prepared from dextran by sulphation, a process that confers upon the substance Dexulate is available in boxes of 6 x 5 cc. ampoules containing 5,000 units dextran sulphate in 5 cc. of solution.

More and more, practitioners and specialists are turning to ACHROMYCIN tetracycline—now recognised as a master stroke in the advancement of antibiotic therapy. In every sense, this newest Lederle antibiotic measures up to present-day requirements. In its antibacterial range, it is unsurpassed by any other broad-spectrum antibiotic. It is stable and readily soluble—quickly producing effective blood levels and diffusing rapidly into the body tissues. It is highly successful when taken by mouth, yet can be given safely by the intrannacular or intravenous routes when there is need for ungent control of infection. And to these merits can be added its relatively low frequency and mild degree of side effects.

The development of

Dibenzylethylenediamine Dipenicillin
is one of the important milestones
in antibiotic therapy¹

* This compound was first prepared and made available to the medical profession by WYETH.

Its unique physical properties contributed to the world-wide use of Penidural Oral. This reliable oral penicillin led to the production of Penidural Long-Acting, an outstanding repository penicillin, and from this has now been developed the latest addition, Penidural all-purpose, which is the complete injectable penicillin. (A single injection suffices for the complete treatment of the everyday infections caused by penicillin-sensitive organisms. Only in very severe cases need the dose be repeated.)

On reconstitution with water to a $12\frac{1}{2}\%$ solution it has approximately the same protein, fat, carbohydrate and mineral content—other than calcium—as human milk. One pint of Locasol in the normal $12\frac{1}{2}\%$ solution contains not more than 2.84 mg. calcium per fluid oz. SIX QUESTIONS ON SENOKOT

Q. — What are the particular properties of Senokot?

A. — Senokot, produced by a patented process, is the first preparation of senna which contains the total active principles of the pod. It is standardised for laxative activity (through biological and chemical assays) and, being a dry preparation, remains perfectly stable.

The Granules contain cocoa, malt and sugar and are delicious to take plain or as a drink. The Tablets are unflavoured and provide an alternative means of administration.

Q. — Why is Senokot better than B.P. preparations of senna?

A. — With B.P. preparations, a considerable amount of the activity present in the pods is lost in the extraction. Moreover, the liquid preparations vary greatly in potency and deteriorate on storage.

Q. — How does Senokot work?

A. — The senna glycosides (active ingredients) are absorbed from the small intestine into the bloodstream and are partly excreted into the large intestine. Here they are acted upon by B. Coli enzymes, and the resulting substances stimulate peristalsis through a neuro-muscular action on the lower bowel.

Q. — Why is Senokot referred to as a "natural laxative"?

A. — Because Senokot provides "a good imitation of normal defaecation" (Lancet, 1952, 1,655). Its action is very similar to that of the natural mechanism.

Q. — Why is Senokot preferable to salines and liquid paraffin?

A. — Senokot neither disturbs the digestive processes of the small intestine nor upsets the chemistry or functions of the lower bowel. This is in sharp contrast to the action of salines, which absorb water from the system, and that of liquid paraffin, which encourages faulty habits and washes out fat soluble vitamins. A possible CARCINOGENIC effect of liquid paraffin has recently been described. (Brit. J. Cancer, 1954, 8,231).

Q. — Why is Senokot prescribed for chronic constipation?

A.—Senokot has a re-educative effect. When the dose required for a normal bowel action is taken regularly, a natural rhythm is established. The dose can then be gradually reduced and finally discontinued. That is why Senokot has gained its reputation as a "valuable ally in the treatment of chronic constipation" (Practitioner, 1953, 170,266).

Senokot is reserved exclusively for professional use

Prescribed under the N.H.S.: J.C.P. Category 3; not advertised to the public; inexpensive.

GRANULES: 2 oz., 6 oz. and 2 lb. Children ½-1, adults 1-2 teaspoonfuls.

TABLETS: 50, 200 and 1,000. Children 1-2, adults 2-4.

In the treatment of chronic constipation, particularly where it is associated with gastric hyperacidity, 'Mil-Par' provides a reliable antacid laxative of unvarying efficacy.

A balanced combination of 'Milk of Magnesia'*, with a selected grade of medicinal paraffin, 'Mil-Par' neutralizes excess gastric acidity and checks the development of acid conditions in the lower alimentary tract. In the intestine, where it readily permeates the faecal mass, 'Mil-Par' softens the bowel content and provides both lubrication and gentle stimulation.

'Mil-Par' is specially to be recommended during convalescence after operation or protracted illness; for infants and children, expectant and nursing mothers.

The Complex Nature of

Deficiency Conditions

Nutritional deficiencies in general, and vitamin deficiencies in particular, can rarely be attributed to the absence of a single factor. Treatment with a single synthetic factor alone is therefore not usually recommended.

In the case of the B_a vitamins, which appear to act synergistically, it is especially important to administer a source of the whole group, either alone or in addition to a single factor. As a source of the vitamin B_a complex, Marmite yeast extract has been found exceptionally useful, because it is easily administered and supplies these vitamins in a palatable foodstuff.

The value of Wall's Ice Cream in invalid dietary

A LARGE NUMBER OF HOSPITALS in this country include ice cream in their invalid dietaries. Its palatability is a strong recommendation. The very nature of good ice cream, combining as it does the qualities of a food with the appeal of a treat, makes it acceptable to patients, even where there is little or no appetite for other types of food.

Good ice cream has a high fat and carbo-hydrate content. Its calorific value also is high, and it is assimilated easily and rapidly.

THEIRAPAS, first synthesized in our laboratories in 1951, was introduced into tuberculosis therapy as an alternative to P.A.S. Detailed pharmacological studies have been published in this country (1), and Swiss workers have produced evidence (2) that calcium 4-benzamidosalicylate has a therapeutic action per se.

Therapas delays the emergence of streptomycin resistance. Its value in the treatment of genito-urinary tuberculosis is well established (3), (4), (5). Unlike P.A.S. (to which it is converted in the body) it has a slightly sweet, not unpleasant taste.

Effective though Therapas has been in these respects, it now appears from recent work (6) that it is of still greater importance. Preliminary trials have indicated that:

Therapas, in combination with isoniazid or streptomycin, gives satisfactory clinical and radiological results in the treatment of pulmonary tuberculosis.

Therapas may be effective in delaying the emergence of resistance to either isoniazid or streptomycin.

Therapas can be used wherever P.A.S. is indicated, and is often better tolerated.

In the past, the successful treatment of many cases of peptic ulceration demanded hospital conditions. Now, by means of Nulacin Tablets, it is possible to control gastric hyperacidity without any inconvenience to the patient. By using Nulacin Tablets as directed, an ambulant patient can obtain all the advantages of intragastric milk-alkali drip therapy.

INDICATIONS

NULACIN tablets are indicated whenever neutralization of the gastric contents is required: in active and quiescent peptic ulcer, gastritis, gastric hyperacidity.

Beginning half-an-hour after food, a NULACIN tablet should be placed in the mouth and allowed to dissolve slowly. During the stage of ulcer activity, up to three tablets an hour may be required. For follow-up treatment, the suggested dosage is one or two tablets between meals.
