The case of Iridomyrmex humilis . . .

In the past few years many Australian towns, especially in Western Australia and Victoria, have been increasingly plagued by Argentine ants. No jam pot or sugar bowl has been safe — wherever any sweet substance has been exposed the ants have congregated and made life miserable for everyone. The invaders were first identified in Australia in 1939 and have since become an unmitigated nuisance in some built-up areas.

The private wars waged on them by householders have now been superseded by organised campaigns of eradication. The insecticide finally chosen to wipe out the Argentine ant is dieldrin, recently developed by Shell.

Dieldrin's greater potency and persistence make it ideal for open grid spraying, the method adopted. Infested areas are divided by spray bands into smaller units and the ants, including the foraging queens, must cross these insecticidal barriers sooner or later in their quest for food.

Two applications of 1% dieldrin solution, spaced a few months apart, are the complete answer to infestations of Argentine ant.

Dieldrin is one of the newer Shell insecticides, effective against a very wide range of insect pests which attack crops or spread disease. Its exceptional persistence, surer kill and lower dosages are now in the service of agriculture and public health throughout the world.

Aldrin — another recent Shell development — is fast becoming recognised as the best of all insecticides for the control of pests in the soil.

Is there an urgent pest problem in your area?

New research on Procidets proves their amazing effectiveness in the treatment of streptococcal
and other throat infections

Newly evolved techniques have convincingly established the value of PROCIDETS in practice.

It has been demonstrated that four Procidets sucked in succession destroy most of the bacteria and fungi in the mouth.

PROCIDETS were evolved to obviate the danger of undesirable use of antibiotics, which develops resistant strains of bacteria—a danger now generally recognised.

PROCIDETS are fully effective against bacterial and fungal infections of the throat and mouth and yet contain no antibiotic. They are non-toxic and cannot build up resistant strains.

... the virtues of LUCOZADE

It is realised that the doctor judges Lucozade from two viewpoints. He agrees with its use in the sickroom. He also, personally, finds it a most palatable drink.

This palatability of Lucozade provides a long-sought answer to a long-standing problem . . . acceptability.

The subtle balance between flavour, sparkle and liquid glucose content provides nourishment in a form acceptable even to the feeblest digestion; nourishment retained and assimilated.

Doctors have been kind enough to tell us of many conditions which have responded favourably, quickly, to Lucozade. Bedside lockers bear testimony to the confidence it inspires.

And many doctors have discovered

- for themselves the virtues of a glass of Lucozade when they return after a hard round of work.

soft-tissue rheumatism

The esters in Transvasin, a new preparation developed by Hamol S.A., our Swiss associates, readily pass the skin barrier in therapeutic quantities and enable an effective concentration of the drugs to be built up where they are needed. Transvasin not only induces vasodilation of the skin with a superficial erythema, but also brings about a deep hyperaemia of the underlying tissues. It is non-irritant, and can be safely used on delicate skins. It is now being widely prescribed, with successful clinical results. Since a very small quantity is sufficient for each application, the cost of treatment is extremely low.

THE TREATMENT OF P E P T I C U L C E R WITH "ROTER" TABLETS

Extract from the British Medical Journal, 1st October 1955, p.827

"The immediate clinical results were assessed after the first month's treatment in four main groups: (A) pronounced relief (symptom free); (B) definite relief (minor symptoms with no pain); (C) doubtful relief (symptoms persisting but improved); (D) no relief.

"... 81% of cases became symptom free—70% of them during the first week and 30% during the second week; a further 9% were relieved of the majority of their symptoms. Thus there was a satisfactory response in 90% of cases.

"Four of the nine cases in groups C and D have elected to go to surgery, and one of the remaining cases has a hiatus hernia as well as a duodenal ulcer. Experience of treating these 'failures' over the past six years leads one to believe that no form of medical treatment will be effective and that surgery is the only hope of relieving their symptoms. In 75% of the cases the patients were of the opinion that the tablets were superior to alkaline powders, and they found that they were able to take foods which they had avoided for years.

"The treatment is ideal for general practice, where its simplicity appeals to both patient and doctor, and, although its mode of action remains an unsolved problem, this should not deter its use in a condition the cause of which remains a riddle. Finally, while the possibility of toxic effects does arise, none has been reported or found in this series; but, as a precaution, the tablets should not be administered to young children."

Roter tablets are prescribed on N.H.S. They are not advertised to the public.

The ability of ARTANE to steady the hand and brighten the mind in Parkinsonism has been amply evidenced in hospital and general practice. ARTANE exerts a marked antispasmodic effect which relaxes spastic muscles and, indirectly, aids co-ordination. At the same time, it produces a mild cerebral stimulation and so combats the depression so characteristic of Parkinsonism. It decreases sialorrhoea with little or no accompanying oral dryness. Its low toxicity and relative freedom from side-reactions make ARTANE eminently safe for young and old, the ambulatory and the infirm, the hypertensive, the cardiac and the nephritic.

...and in practice—

—this association of three sulphonamides completely justifies the consideration on which its formulation is based. It is readily absorbed and distributed in the tissues so that the effects of its powerful antibacterial activity are rapidly available. Furthermore this preparation represents the way in which maximum safety in use may be reconciled with the high therapeutic activity of the most powerful members of the sulphonamides series.

Finally, it should be emphasized that the properties of this triple association—its wide range of activity, ease of administration and freedom from side-effects — combined with its low cost, suggests its use in preference to expensive antibiotics in those conditions in which either type of agent may be employed.

This, then, is the sulphonamide of choice.

An easier way of removing EAR WAX

Hitherto, the removal of wax from the external auditory meatus has, commonly, necessitated two attendances by the patient—first for diagnosis and prescription of a suitable loosening agent—the second, two or three days later, for syringing. Now, by the use of Cerumol Ear Drops, wax can be removed, in the majority of cases in one visit. A few drops of Cerumol are instilled into the ear, and, while another patient is being seen to, the soft cerumen dissolves and the harder wax disimpacts. The resultant debris can then be cleared by gentle syringing. Only when the wax plug is abnormally hard, is it necessary for the administration of Cerumol to be prolonged and the patient told to return for syringing at a later date. In many cases, Cerumol can be instilled by patients in their own home and, as the wax has frequently been found to come out of its own accord, further visits are unnecessary. Cerumol is anti-bacterial, efficient, and harmless to the lining of the external auditory meatus or to the tympanic membrane. Accepted for use in a large number of hospitals and general practices, Cerumol is included in Category No. 4 of the M.O.H. classified list of Proprietary Preparations, and may therefore be prescribed on N.H.S. form E.C.10.

IT IS NOW widely agreed that soluble aspirin is to be preferred for general administration both for solubility and for its neutrality. These qualities ensure rapidity of absorption as well as a very greatly diminished risk of gastric irritation.

"Solprin" meets the need for a soluble aspirin of consistently high quality.

Patients find it easier to take than an insoluble tablet, as well as more palatable.

Solprin may now be recommended for all those conditions in which insoluble aspirin was formerly prescribed. Its qualities make it outstandingly valuable whenever heavy or prolonged dosage is called for.

by scanning

With Philips 'Cardanoscopes', the operator can carry out thorough fluoroscopic chest examinations effortlessly without continually moving the screen assembly.

In fact the latter is adjusted only once—for patient height. Thereafter viewing is by scanning—i.e. movement of the X-ray beam.

By manipulation of a control arm the tubehead is moved in any required direction on both horizontal and vertical planes.

For techniques other than scanning the X-ray head and fluorescent screen can be locked together so that they move in unison with the beam automatically centred.

Philips 'Cardanoscopes' is powered by the well-known 'DX1' tubehead.

Any movement of the extension arm, upwards, downwards or sideways, is reproduced by the X-ray beam. Thus it is possible to 'scan' the whole screen with a beam of any area.

Malnutrition and Disease

A lowered intake of food, unbalanced diets and increased metabolic demands still account for some cases of nutritional deficiencies seen in Great Britain. Among surgical patients, diseases of the gastrointestinal tract appear to be the most important cause of severe malnutrition. When you are asked about SKIN HEALTH

It is often very helpful to recommend Cidal soap. For Cidal contains an unusually efficient germicide Hexachlorophene (2,2'-dihydroxy-3,5,6,3',5',6'-hexachlorodiphenylmethane) which has been found to play a useful part in the alleviation of acne, seborrhoea, impetigo and many other minor ailments involving the skin, including prickly heat. Cidal also reduces the risk of infection through minor cuts and grazes.

Many people have been happy to find that Cidal helps to minimize unpleasant body odours at source by attacking the bacteria that ferment perspiration.

Cidal Cream Shampoo also contains Hexachlorophene and helps to keep the scalp healthy and free from dandruff. (1/3d. and 3/9d.)

BARBITURATE AND MORPHINE ANTAGONISTS

TWO new productsMEGIMIDE β -ethyl- β -methylglutarimide

2:4-Diamino-5-phenylthiazole hydrochloride

in Barbiturate Poisoning "MEGIMIDE" is "a barbiturate antagonist of real clinical worth. To omit to use it in the treatment of barbiturate poisoning is to run the risk of the broncho-pneumonia that is so often fatal in these cases." (Lancet, 1955, i, 181.)

"DAPTAZOLE," itself a weak barbiturate antagonist, enhances the action of "Megimide."

"Megimide" and "Daptazole" administered together intravenously ensure safe, quick recovery from barbiturate intoxication without the risk of convulsions and secondary depression which often follow the use of other central analeptics.

in Morphine Administration "DAPTAZOLE," the new morphine antagonist, has recently been shown (Brit. Med. J., 1955, i, 1367) to remove the risk of respiratory depression associated with high morphine dosage and to make tolerance or addiction unlikely.

"Daptazole" relieves respiratory depression by increasing the depth of respiration, while in some cases the vomiting and, in most cases, the constipation associated with morphine are also relieved.

in Barbiturate Anaesthesia "MEGIMIDE" is of value to lighten or terminate the anaesthesia of patients under the influence of barbituric anaesthetics.

"Mictine," the new non-mercurial oral diuretic, is distinctive in showing no contra-indications. Its mode of action is believed to be by inhibiting resorption of sodium ions by the renal tubules, and neither succinic dehydrogenase nor carbonic anhydrase are involved. "Mictine" is useful in maintaining an oedema-free state in any patient requiring diuretic therapy, and in the initial and continuing control of patients in mild congestive failure. "Mictine" may also be used for initial diuresis in more severe congestive states, particularly where mercurials are contra-indicated.

Clinical trials with "Mictine" indicate that it is best administered on an interrupted dosage schedule. It may either be given on alternate days, or for three consecutive days followed by complete omission on the following four days. For either scheme the dosage is one to four tablets in divided doses with meals. Such side-effects as are occasionally experienced are usually relieved by the interrupted dosage schedules. "Mictine" is available in bottles of 25 and 100 tablets each containing 200 mg. 1-allyl-3-ethyl-6-aminotetrahydropyrimidinone.

The key to successful peptic ulcer treatment

NULACIN

Nulacin effectively controls gastric acidity. The value of Nulacin in the treatment of peptic ulcer and the prevention of relapse has been confirmed by clinical studies in Great Britain, Australia, the U.S.A. and India. Nulacin tablets are palatable and convenient.

INDICATIONS

NULACIN tablets are indicated whenever neutralization of the gastric contents is required: in active and quiescent peptic ulcer, gastritis, gastric hyperacidity.

Beginning half-an-hour after food, a NULACIN tablet should be placed in the mouth and allowed to dissolve slowly. During the stage of ulcer activity, up to three tablets an hour may be required. For follow-up treatment, the suggested dosage is one or two tablets between meals.

NULACIN tablets are not advertised to the public, have no B.P. equivalent and may be prescribed on E.C.10. The dispensing pack of 25 tablets is free of Purchase Tax. (Price to pharmacists is 2/-.) Also available in tubes of 12.

NULACIN tablets are prepared from whole milk combined with dextrans and maltose, and incorporate Magnesium Trisilicate 3.5 grs.; Magnesium Oxide 2.0 grs.; Calcium Carbonate 2.0 grs.; Magnesium Carbonate 0.5 grs.; Ol. Menth. Pip. q.s.

LIL-LETS

the new vaginal tampon without applicator

A tampon which has been successfully marketed on the Continent during the last five years has now become widely accepted in this country under the name LIL-LETS.

Following extensive clinical trials, LIL-LETS have won the support of leading gynæcological opinion. Samples will be sent to medical practitioners on request.

LIL-LETS have these main advantages:

LIL-LETS need no applicator. By inserting the tampon with the fingers, the risk of bruising is eliminated.

LIL-LETS assist personal hygiene. At 1/6 for 10 they are so much cheaper than other leading tampons that women will be encouraged to change them often. They are easily carried about and easily disposed of.

LIL-LETS are highly absorbent. They absorb almost ten times their own weight in moisture and swell sideways, not lengthways. They are, therefore, really safe.

LIL-LETS are individually wrapped. Each tampon is sealed in a transparent cover. There is no risk of soiling or infection when it is carried loose.

A Critical Temperature —of 300° F!

The temperature of a piece of rubber when it is being vulcanised is just as important as that of the human body; a few degrees' fluctuation either way, and it is ruined. Unfortunately, even when badly over-vulcanised, it looks all right. It is only when the rubber is put into use that the bad effects of over- (or under) vulcanisation become apparent. Fortunately, on the other hand, there are John Bull tyres. These are never wrongly vulcanised because John Bull have a special electrical system of temperature control which simply cannot go wrong—and which is even more critical than that of the human body!

TWO ORIGINALS—it is a bold claim!
