

CARNEGIES Solutions of

L-Noradrenaline

NOW AVAILABLE IN TWO FORMS IN 'SNAPULES'

INTRAVENOUS SOLUTION for DRIP INFUSION

This preparation is generally indicated for treatment of acute hypotension. It contains 1 mg. L-noradrenaline per ml. of solution and requires substantial dilution before intravenous infusion.

PRESENTATION "Snapules" of 2 mgm. in 2 ml., 4 mgm. in 4 ml., and ampoules of 16 mgm. in 16 ml.

EMERGENCY SOLUTION FOR INJECTION

This preparation is designed for use only in extreme emergencies when the pulse is no longer palpable and immediate resuscitative measures are called for. It contains 100 µg. per ml. and does NOT require dilution before use.

PRESENTATION "Snapules" of 0.2 mgm. in 2 ml.

IN CASES OF SHOCK AND ACUTE HYPOTENSIVE STATES

In the treatment of shock the agent used should simulate the normal compensatory mechanisms as closely as possible. It has been shown that L-NORADRENALINE more closely approaches these ideal requirements than adrenaline, but has a toxicity only one-quarter of that of adrenaline.

Only Nulacin provides intragastric milk-alkali drip therapy for the ambulatory patient

"In view of the ineffectiveness of most of the tableted antacids, the milk alkali tablet (Nulacin) would appear to be the antacid of choice for ambulatory therapy."

(Medical Times 1958, 1, 74)

NULACIN TABLETS have been developed so that when allowed to dissolve slowly in the mouth, they give continuous milk-alkali drip therapy and provide a treatment of peptic ulcer and other conditions associated with hyperacidity. The effectiveness of Nulacin therapy has been established by clinical work in many countries. The following are a few references to the literature:

The esters of NICOTINIC, SALICYLIC and p-AMINOBENZOIC acids bring relief to cases of arthritis and rheumatism

"Thank you, doctor"

IN CASES of soft-tissue rheumatism, and arthritic disorders, many doctors are tending more and more to regard Transvasin as an indispensable adjuvant to treatment.

For Transvasin is composed of the esters of nicotinic, salicylic and p-aminobenzoic acids. These esters readily pass the skin barrier in therapeutic quantities, and so enable an effective concentration of drugs to be built up where they are needed.*

Transvasin not only induces vasodilation of the skin with a superficial erythema, but also brings about a deep hyperaemia of the underlying tissues. It is non-irritant and can be safely used on delicate skins.

It is now being widely prescribed, with successful clinical results. Since a very small quantity is sufficient for each application, the cost of treatment is extremely low.

PATIENTS who are recovering from illness frequently suffer from faulty protein metabolism. They are in negative nitrogen balance. Protein, in effect, is being broken down and lost faster than it is being built up.

Anabolex (Androstanolone) restores the physiological balance. Many clinical trials have shown that, following the administration of Anabolex, there is an immediate return of the body's capacity to build up protein. The patient feels better, eats better and gains weight.

Anabolex can be safely given to patients of all ages and both sexes; in therapeutic doses, its virilizing properties are almost negligible. The only known contra-indication is prostatic carcinoma.

INDICATIONS:

Convalescent patients. Premature infants. Asthenia. Malnutrition. Wasting diseases. Preparation for and recovery from planned surgery.

Rapid adsorption of gastric hydrochloric acid is accepted as the most effective method of obtaining relief in peptic ulcer pain.

Using the well established Droxalin formulation a new and exclusive manufacturing technique has produced in DROXALIN GEL an antacid possessing this significant increase in initial acid adsorption. The advantages of quicker acting DROXALIN GEL in peptic ulcer therapy and hyperacidity will be readily recognised. The palatability of Droxalin Tablets is achieved.

An advance in the therapy of diabetes

Rastinon tablets, developed by Farbwerke Hoechst A.G., of Frankfurt/M., under the research No. D860, have now an established place in the therapy of diabetes mellitus. The large volume of clinical work and the number of papers published, reflect the world-wide interest in Rastinon. This work clearly shows that for the suitable patient Rastinon tablets provide a form of therapy which is Simple, safe, effective and economical

Rastinon is not a "sulphonamide drug," has no anti-bacterial action and does not produce crystalluria. No cases of dyshaemopoiesis or other serious side-effects have been reported among the many thousands of patients satisfactorily controlled for more than two years.

The suitability of a patient for treatment with Rastinon tablets is readily assessed in the diabetic clinic and once stabilised no difficulties have been experienced in controlling the patient. An acute intercurrent infection may necessitate a temporary return to insulin therapy.

DOSAGE

Once stabilised, from one to three tablets a day are normally all that is required to replace the insulin with its concomitant syringe, needles, swabs, and often nursing assistance as well. During the period of stabilisation it has been found that generally from four to eight tablets on the first day, three to six on the second and three to five on the third are sufficient.

The daily amount should be divided into two or three doses and taken during or after meals with a little fluid. Higher doses are not usually more effective and are not recommended as they may occasionally cause hypoglycaemic reactions. The normal regime of urine examination and dietary control remains necessary.

To lessen the possibility of the patient taking a tablet other than Rastinon in error, each tablet is engraved with the name Rastinon and the trade mark of the originators.

PACKS

Bottles of 100 and 500 tablets—each tablet contains 0.5 G. N-Butyl-N'-toluene-p-sulphonylurea (tolbutamide). The basic cost to the N.H.S. of a week's treatment is on average between 3/6d. and 5/3d.

Now children, even young infants, can receive the full benefits of LEDERKYN—Lederle's low-dosage, long-acting sulpha drug. For Lederle research has overcome the characteristic bitter taste of free sulphonamides by the introduction of tasteless acetyl sulphamethoxypyridazine. LEDERKYN ACETYL Pediatric Suspension presents this superior sulphonamide in a pleasantly cherry-flavoured form that is highly acceptable to children. Of all the theophylline derivatives, β -hydroxypropyltheophylline, resulting from original research by the Mellon Institute and usually known as B.H.T., has the widest range of therapeutic activity combined with minimum toxicity. Unlike most other derivatives it causes little or no gastric irritability. It is an excellent bronchodilator and coronary vasodilator and produces a notable diuresis. Many clinical trials have shown its efficacy.

INDICATIONS

- Dyspnoeas associated with heart insufficiency, e.g. cardiac asthma, paroxysmal dyspnoea, Cheyne-Stokes respiration.
- Congestive heart failure, cardiac and pulmonary oedema, pulmonary congestion.
- Coronary insufficiency.

- In some of these disorders, BRONTYL is a useful supplement to other therapies.

DOSAGE The normal dosage, which may be safely increased if desired, is 1-4 tablets, each tablet containing 120 mgm. of β -hydroxypropyltheophylline, 3 or 4 times a day. For emergencies BRONTYL is available in ampoule form each containing 2 mls. of a 15% solution.

Relief of RHEUMATIC PAINS

with diethylamine salicylate

Algesal is the original skin-penetrating cream containing diethylamine salicylate. In 1955 a report of a clinical trial with Algesal appeared in the *British Journal of Physical Medicine*¹. The report concluded:

"This preparation is a valuable addition to our therapeutic resources for the symptomatic relief of rheumatic pains. Clinical trial of 10% diethylamine salicylate cream (Algesal) showed significant relief of soft tissue rheumatic pains as compared with a dummy preparation."

Experimental work² has proved that diethylamine salicylate has a skin penetrative power 3 to 5 times that of other salicylates studied, and is completely non-irritating to the skin.

Over the past 5 years wide medical experience with Algesal has shown that symptomatic relief of common soft-tissue rheumatism can be achieved without counter-irritation, by the percutaneous route.

Algesal Balm contains the single active ingredient — 10% diethylamine salicylate — in a soothing vanishing cream.

It is indicated in all the rheumatic syndromes seen in general practice: fibrositis, lumbago, osteoarthritis, tenosynovitis, pain and stiffness after exercise.

Pads of tear-off leaflets describing special remedial exercises are available for giving to patients with lumbo-sacral strain, osteoarthritis of the knee, frozen shoulder and painful foot strain.

THE PROBLEM

To obtain high blood levels of theophylline easily . . .

For oral aminophylline therapy to be fully effective it is necessary to give a dose sufficient to produce high blood theophylline levels. However, because of gastric irritation vomiting often results. Alternative therapy with enteric coated tablets or suppositories is unreliable, and parenteral aminophylline is inconvenient.

THE SOLUTION

Oral 'Theodrox' . . .

The combination of dried aluminium hydroxide gel and aminophylline in 'Theodrox' ensures full therapeutic response with the minimum of gastric upset. Reproducible blood levels comparable with those obtained from intramuscular injection can be obtained.

VITAMINS LIMITED ANNUAL GENERAL REPORT

"Pharmaceutical Industry responsible for only 1/10½d in the £ of increased N.H.S. costs"

AT THE Annual General Meeting of Vitamins Ltd., held recently in London, Mr. H. C. H. Graves, Chairman, said that net profit for the year, after providing for pension and tax allocations, was up from £90,409 to £146,161. Ordinary dividend was increased from 17½% to 20%.

Mr. Graves said in 1955 he had stated that the Company had shots in the locker with fuses timed to go off in 1957, 1958 and even later. This was still true.

The most important project they had in hand appeared, at the moment, to be assured of a market and the question was the production of "pay" quantities quickly. If this could be done the project could be largely self-financing, but they were often hampered by what seemed to be inordinate time lags in the delivery of machinery.

Competition in their established lines continued severe and while they had the technical resources to meet and to excel all competition on grounds of quality and, he hoped, of price, it would require the most determined efforts of their hard-working and devoted staff, to maintain and improve the striking position gained over the past few years. They hoped to do it and to make further progress.

A month or so ago said Mr. Graves, the Ministry of Health's Annual Report for 1957 had shown an increase of £50 million in N.H.S. costs in one year, or £301 million increase since 1948. What were these increases mainly due to? It was safe to say that if this question were asked as a general knowledge test 99 per cent. of the general public and many leaders of opinion would give the wrong answer.

The correct answer was that £202 millions were due to increases in hospital costs (for salaries, fuel, provisions, bedding, etc.). Only £28 million of the nine-year increase went to drug manufacturers for drugs which—among other things—had saved the lives of several millions of people in this country alone since the N.H.S. started.

To put the matter in another way, of every £ of increased costs, the drug manufacturer had had 1/10½d. In their eagerness to assail him for the 1/10½d. (for which he had given amazing value in life-saving drugs as in many other ways) the critics forgot the other 18/1½d.

The role of the Company's product, Bemax, as the best-known vitamin-mineral-protein food in the world, continued to be appreciated and understood by doctors and dietitians, by nurses and mothers as it had been for the past thirty years. If, like some regimes, Bemax were unpleasant and not easy of acceptance, he could understand there being abstainers from its use. On the contrary, Bemax with milk or fruit juice, in soup or sprinkled on cereal foods was so delicious and added such zest to life that he really found it incredible that anyone who had the opportunity should fail to give it a trial, and still more incredible to think anyone, these days, could be found to deny their children its benefits and the protection which it afforded. The report and accounts were adopted.

Availability of Vitamins in Yeast

Deficiencies of single factors of the Vitamin B Group do not occur. Accordingly, even if a deficiency condition appears to result from the lack of an individual factor of the group and it is considered necessary to give intensive treatment with this factor, the entire Vitamin B Complex should always be administered concurrently.

It is, however, extremely important, in view of suggestions in recent publications, that the vehicle selected as a source of the entire B Complex does not withhold its vitamin content from the patient.

Human experiments show that the rich, natural vitamin potency of Aluzyme is totally available to the human system.
