

EMERGENCIES IN GENERAL PRACTICE

from the British Medical Journal

470 Pages, cloth bound,
with full index

PRICE 25s. net

by post : inland and overseas 26s. 9d.

This book deals with medical emergencies in a wide sense : acute clinical emergencies requiring prompt and skilful treatment ; conditions such as faints and fits and giddy turns, the careful elucidation of which may mean the difference to a patient between a life of activity and one of restriction ; acute psychiatric states ; accidents of treatment, such as dangerous reactions to drugs or collapse during anaesthesia ; and emergency calls when the doctor is isolated, as on a ship.

It comprises 57 specially commissioned articles which appeared originally in the British Medical Journal.

The author of each is an acknowledged authority. This collection, now revised by the authors, will be of value not only to general practitioners but also to senior students, house-physicians, house-surgeons, and to those supervising their work in hospitals.

WILLIAM HARVEY (1578-1657).

Born in Folkestone. By finding how much blood the heart drove out at each beat, and measuring the rate of each beat, Harvey showed that in half an hour it must pump as much blood as there is in the whole body. So, by calculation, verified by careful dissection and experiment, he discovered the circulation of the blood, a fact upon which all modern physiology and medicine are based.

VASCULIT

verified

But for a more recent verification—

"Vascult caused an increase in blood flow in the infused hand which averaged 57% . . . it may be anticipated that Vascult will be capable of producing vasodilatation even in patients in whom therapeutic sympathectomy has been carried out".¹

MINOR DISORDERS AND SYMPTOMS.

The haemokinetic action of Vascult is immediate in this group. Chilblains, cold hands and feet, night cramps, 'restless legs', acrocyanosis.

MAJOR DISORDERS AND SYMPTOMS

Vascult promotes the formation of collateral circulation. Treatment should be continued over a period of weeks in these indications:—

Intermittent claudication, trophic changes (including gangrene), peripheral arteriosclerosis, Buerger's disease, Raynaud's disease.

Even in the major condition of Raynaud's disease, where spasm rather than obstruction plays the more important part, results are immediate, though treatment should be continued.

Contra-indication—recent myocardial infarction.

NOTABLE ABSENCE OF SIDE-EFFECTS.

Vascult produces an immediate increase in peripheral blood flow. There is no change in the heart rate and no significant fall in blood pressure. The pleasant subjective peripheral effects experienced are beneficial to the patient. Vascult produces no undesirable side-effects. Brit. Med. J., 1, 1007 (1959)

In our new Monograph, we have surveyed chronic bronchitis. The aetiology of the disease is discussed. The influence of personal habits and environmental factors is examined. The specific stages of bronchitis from its earliest onset in the apparently healthy youth to its culmination in the middle-aged respiratory cripple are precisely described. In conclusion, the Monograph proposes a practical approach to prevent the depredations of chronic bronchitis, alleviate personal suffering and save doctors' time.

Deep skin penetration in Arthritis and Rheumatism

NICOTINIC, SALICYLIC AND p-AMINOBENZOIC ACIDS in Ester form

In cases of soft-tissue rheumatism, and arthritic disorders, many doctors are tending more and more to regard Transvasin as an indispensable adjuvant to treatment.

For Transvasin is composed of the esters of nicotinic, salicylic and p-aminobenzoic acids. These esters readily pass the skin barrier in therapeutic quantities, and so enable an effective concentration of drugs to be built up where they are needed.*

Transvasin not only induces vasodilation of the skin with a superficial erythema, but also brings about a deep hyperaemia of the underlying tissues. It is non-irritant and can be safely used on delicate skins.

It is now being widely prescribed, with successful clinical results. Since a very small quantity is sufficient for each application, the cost of treatment is extremely low.

LAEVORAL

LAEVULOSE has been reported to have advantages over glucose as a carbohydrate supportive therapy in conditions of metabolic stress. Owing to new and more economical methods of processing, this useful carbohydrate is now available for general clinical use as sterile pyrogen-free solutions for intravenous injections and as a concentrate of 65% for oral administration.

The Fundamentals of Laevulose Therapy

LAEVULOSE enters the energy releasing system more directly than glucose and is metabolized independently of insulin.

The liver synthesizes 35-40% of glycogen from LAEVULOSE, but only 12% from glucose.

In animal experiments the severely damaged liver is still capable of utilizing LAEVULOSE when it can no longer utilize glucose.

LAEVULOSE has a protein-sparing action in cases of traumatic shock or severe infection. High concentrations of LAEVULOSE may be injected with little risk of vein damage.

Do you make full use of 'Largactil'?

Since its introduction some five years ago, 'Largactil' brand chlorpromazine hydrochloride has been used in over ten million patients. Its use has become established in such specialized fields as Psychiatry, Obstetrics, Geriatrics, Paediatrics and Anaesthesia.

The value of 'Largactil', however, is in no way confined to the specialist. Some general practitioners have successfully applied the pharmacological properties of this drug to the treatment of conditions they encounter in their everyday practice. It is as a result of their experience that we invite other practitioners to consider the following applications of 'Largactil'.

- ▶ The treatment of moderate to severe mental and emotional disturbances and many somatic conditions complicated by emotional stress.
- ▶ The prevention and treatment of severe nausea, vomiting and hiccough.
- ▶ The relief of otherwise intractable pain. 'Largactil' enhances the actions of analgesics and hypnotics and thereby allows smaller amounts of these agents to be used.

New approach to PSORIASIS

Hitherto intractable—now good response to alphosyl

THOUGH modern medicaments have brought almost dramatic relief to many forms of skin affection, Psoriasis has so far remained intractable. Its aetiology continues to baffle investigation: many forms of tried therapy have yielded only partial or temporary results.

Now ALPHOSYL—after extensive clinical trials—shows promise of bringing total clearances in many cases of Psoriasis.

In ALPHOSYL, for the first time, are presented in combination two powerful and proved agents: allantoin and a specially refined coal tar extract. The synergistic effects of these medicaments result in rapid clearance of the condition itself and positive stimulation of the healing processes.

ALPHOSYL LOTION combines these two valuable agents in one preparation and has yielded good clinical results where other medications have failed.

Clinical Properties

ALPHOSYL LOTION

relieves the condition and promotes healing by breaking up the horny layer of psoriatic skin, removing non-viable tissue and combating both the scaling and underlying erythema and induration.

has produced successful results in cases of psoriasis when the whole of the body has been affected from scalp to toe, in cases of many years' duration or when tender areas such as the anogenital and sub-mammary regions are affected.

is notably safe to use. The potential hazards of other forms of treatment—arsenic, mercury, corticosteroids, X-rays—are avoided. No irritation has been observed in any case of psoriasis treated with ALPHOSYL, even those involving tender regions.

does not produce tolerance. Patients continue to benefit from prolonged therapeutic or maintenance applications.

is a welcome advance cosmetically, as it is pleasant to use, non-greasy, non-staining, and vanishes on application to the skin. It may be used freely on the scalp, and is ideal for day or night use.

The impressive successes obtained with ALPHOSYL indicate that it deserves a trial in all cases of Psoriasis—no matter how extensive the area of affection, how long the duration of the condition, or whatever the therapy previously used.

An effective pattern of protection . .

The increasing use of inoculation against Poliomyelitis does not dispense with the necessity for using other proved methods of prevention.

On the contrary—such methods should be more widely and more thoroughly applied.

'In Poliomyelitis epidemics, where a large proportion of the virus hosts are symptomless carriers—a vigorous health education programme . . . directed at raising the standards of personal hygiene . . . coupled with measures to raise individual resistance to Poliomyelitis virus infection by strengthening active immunity, offers best hope of success.'¹

For inactivating Poliomyelitis virus, 'Oxidising agents seem to be the most active chemical disinfectants.'²

'An oxidising agent of great potency is Domestos which, when used at concentration of from $\frac{1}{4}$ to 2 ozs. per gallon, provides a level of available chlorine in the range 150 to 1,200 parts per million—sufficient to inactivate the Poliomyelitis virus.'³

A pattern of protection against Polio is assured by using DOMESTOS, which destroys Poliomyelitis virus—

(a) For Lavatories. Overnight contact will destroy heavy soiling and give a free residual chlorine content which will inactivate virus contaminants. The exterior of the bowl and the seat which frequently come into contact with the hands of children, should always be washed with a DOMESTOS solution.

(b) For the disinfection and cleaning of dishes, floors, kitchen surfaces, sinks, etc.

(c) For safeguarding against the infection of food by bluebottles, flies, vermin.

(d) For the disinfection of yards, paths, etc.

(e) For the disinfection and cleaning of clogged drains.

'broad spectrum' alone means little

The belief that breadth of activity is the ultimate criterion of an antibiotic has little validity today. The development of resistance in bacterial strains has rendered much broad-spectrum coverage totally ineffective. ALBAMYCIN T more than wins back the ground lost. Its tetracycline component provides the most all-embracing coverage of any single therapeutic agent... its novobiocin component augments that coverage with bactericidal intensity. Studies¹ show that when combined, as they are in ALBAMYCIN T, tetracycline and novobiocin are not only effective against many strains of organisms resistant to either antibiotic used alone, but do much to delay development of resistant strains. It is this added density, this added intensity, of ALBAMYCIN T coverage that makes the therapy all the more decisive.

Each 5 cc. teaspoonful of the suspension contains 62.5 mg. novobiocin and 62.5 mg. tetracycline. Bottles of 60 cc.

To restore full vigour

Whatever the illness, whether infection, metabolic disorder or a condition requiring surgical intervention, the patient needs full nutritional support for the restoration of health. And this implies more than a good mixed diet. Not only must the appetite be stimulated but the tissues must respond to the extra demands for full physiological activity, and this means supplying them with more than the usual intake of vitamins, especially of the B complex and ascorbic acid.

For these purposes the three preparations BEFORTISS, BECOVITE and OROVITE are designed, the latter being pleasantly flavoured and acceptable to patients of all ages.

For maintenance therapy—

Befortiss: Tablets (100). 1 ml., Ampoules (boxes of 5), Elixir (6 fl. ozs.).

RAUWILOID

simplifies anti-hypertensive therapy.

Alone for mild hypertension.

In combination for severe forms.

'Rauwiloid' was introduced in November 1953—the first Rauwolfia product to be made available in Great Britain. Many reports have since been published reviewing its anti-hypertensive properties and comparing them with those of the barbiturates and single rauwolfia alkaloids, e.g. reserpine.

Where direct comparisons are possible 'Rauwiloid' inevitably emerges as the preferred drug because of its effectiveness, lower incidence of severe side effects such as mental depression and simplicity of dosage which is

Dramatic results in post-menopausal low back pain

Low backache in the post-menopausal woman is, far more often than was formerly realised, due to, or associated with, decalcification arising from reduced osteoblastic activity and matrix formation caused by oestrogen deficiency. Dianabol relieves the pain by correcting decalcification. It is also effective in preventing osteoporosis and produces remarkable improvement when the condition is established.

A TYPICAL CASE HISTORY

I am very impressed by the result of giving the new compound Dianabol. Four weeks ago I had an old woman of seventy years of age who had so much pain from osteoporosis that she was taking the weight of her body on her arms with these resting on her thighs. I prescribed Dianabol and at the end of one month she is completely free from pain and is able to get about with a brace.

...yet never feels tired!

For the busy housewife, on her feet all day, varicose veins or even simple leg fatigue may become a major problem. Her long day's round of shopping, housework and catering for the demands of a growing family leaves her no time to 'put her feet up' and give her veins a rest.

For these patients Tru-Support stockings—combining the firm support of an elastic stocking with the light-weight elegance of nylon crepe—are an ideal aid to treatment. They provide the gentle vascular support that is required and yet retain the slender grace which means so much to fashion-conscious women. Tru-Support stockings, superbly strong yet fashionably fine, cost only 39/6 a pair.
