"This patient had a valvotomy but gradually relapsed into congestive failure. Further operation was impossible but Saluric kept her free from oedema."

"... mitral stenosis. The malar flush is characteristic. . . Two tablets of Saluric on alternate days controlled her oedema."

"Early excessive gain in weight is particularly important [toxaemia of pregnancy] and treatment may prevent the disease progressing. . . Saluric does not harm either mother or child."

"Saluric potentiates the action of hypotensive drugs such as reserpine and Inversine . . . This is most valuable in daily practice, since lower doses of ganglion blocking agents can be used, and their side-effects are reduced."

dermatology

FRAMYGEN CREAM

FRAMYCORT LOTION

NEW FRAMYCORT OINTMENT

Framycetin is highly effective against most of the organisms that commonly cause skin infections—including staphylococci resistant to other antibiotics. For simple infections FRAMYGEN CREAM (Framycetin alone in a cream base) is indicated. When infection and skin reaction are both present, use FRAMYCORT LOTION or NEW FRAMYCORT OINTMENT. Both present Framycetin with hydrocortisone, in a lotion or greasy base.

ophthalmology

FRAMYCORT OPHTHALMIC

FRAMYGEN OPHTHALMIC

Framygen and Framycort are both available in an ointment base specifically prepared for the treatment of superficial eye infections and reactions.

enterology

NEW ENTERFRAM

Framycetin is the ideal antibiotic for use in enterology. Its wide spectrum covers the organisms normally responsible for gut infections, including staphylococci resistant to other antibiotics. Available evidence shows that it is not absorbed from the gut, and patient sensitivity and bacterial resistance are virtually unknown.

THE FRAMYCETIN RANGE

FRAMYGEN CREAM Framycetin sulphate 0.5% in a water-miscible cream base.

FRAMYCORT LOTION Framycetin sulphate 0.5% with hydrocortisone acetate BP 0.5% in a creamy lotion base.

FRAMYCORT OINTMENT Framycetin sulphate 0.5% with hydrocortisone acetate BP 0.5% in a greasy ointment base.

FRAMYGEN OPHTHALMIC Framycetin sulphate 0.5% in a greasy base.

Laxatives for Children

AS A LAXATIVE for children Andrews has characteristics which have commended it to many physicians. A brief restatement of them may be helpful.

The laxative action of Andrews is mild, and is due to the presence of magnesium sulphate and other salts in balanced proportion. Their effect is to increase the fluid in the bowel by osmosis. There is no irritation of the intestine. Evacuation is easy, and without griping.

Andrews has a pleasant taste, and children accept it readily. Dosage is easily adjusted according to age.

It is mildly antacid, stimulates bile flow, and aids digestive processes. It is also useful as a gastric sedative in bilious attacks.

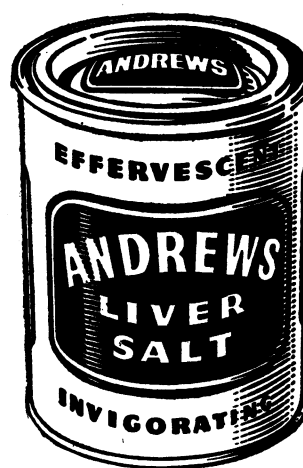

Andrews gives rise to no costive reaction when discontinued.

Rastinon oral diabetes therapy ends out from over a thousand tested for safety and efficacy in the oral treatment of diabetes.

1,000

ousand published articles substantiate the choice of this one substance to be the safest and most reliable.

1,250,000

One million, two-hundred and fiftythousand patients are controlled effectively on Rastinon tablets.

SUBJECTIVE ADVANTAGES OF RASTINON:—

Rastinon therapy removes all the self-administration problems associated with conventional injection treatment. One tablet by mouth once or twice a day is often sufficient for maintenance. In diabetic patients who suffer from physical disability, or psychic problems, the advantages of Rastinon's oral control may be especially relevant.

OBJECTIVE ADVANTAGES OF RASTINON:—

There is virtually no danger of hypoglycaemic reactions as a result of Rastinon therapy, regardless of dosage. Rastinon is a true euglycaemic agent. In patients in whom maintenance dosage has been established, it lowers the blood sugar to normal levels, but almost never beyond that point.

There is no added cost of treatment for the patient previously on insulin.

THE TOWER AND THE BRIDGE—

twin symbols of a great pharmaceutical company

The people, animals, or objects displayed in symbols usually have two "lives"—one as what they are, and one as what they stand for. The lion that stalks the jungle is a real lion, very much alive. The symbolic lion of state stands for a set of national values—strength, courage, nobility—qualities of the lion itself.

Many trade symbols have this same "double life."

At Farbwerke Hoechst, A.G., Frankfurt, there is, indeed, a tower, to which is connected a bridge; they make an attractive pair of buildings, and are well-known to visitors to Hoechst.

But—in the Hoechst trade-mark—the tower and the bridge also stand for things valued by Hoechst. The soaring tower symbolizes the high-aiming endeavour and far-seeing research of the Company's personnel. The sweeping bridge for the far-flung connections, obligations, and trust that exists between Hoechst and the world at large—"the bridge of confidence."

300 graduate scientists—chemists, doctors, pharmacists—are employed by Hoechst in Frankfurt in the pharmaceutical field alone. They work in ultra-modern laboratories with advanced equipment. And they work within a tradition of ambitious endeavour and significant discovery—inspired by such illustrious predecessors as Emil von Behring and Paul Ehrlich, originators respectively of the first diphtheria anti-toxin and Salvarsan.

A soaring tower—and a sweeping bridge . . . these are fitting symbols for a pharmaceutical company that is second to none both in research and in production.

Elastoplast Airstrip

FIRST AID DRESSING

Any place such as a hospital or factory where a large number of people are leading active lives has a fairly high incidence of minor wounds over a period of time.* The most convenient dressing to cope with such injuries is Elastoplast 'Airstrip'. Elastoplast 'Airstrip' is made from a specially developed plastic material, through which sweat and skin exudates evaporate at the same rate as they develop on the skin. The material is a micro-porous extensible filter, and is not perforated. It provides a barrier to water, grease and infective organisms. Even after long applications, Elastoplast 'Airstrip' does not cause maceration. The surface of the wound and the surrounding skin remain dry beneath an 'Airstrip' dressing, which can be left on until the wound heals.

* "... nearly 500,000 skin injuries occur each day which require at least a first-aid dressing." Brit. med. J. 1956, 2, 962.

the HIGH PEAK oral penicillin

BROXIL produces a greater concentration of antibiotic in the blood after oral administration than any other oral penicillin. It produces blood level peaks two to three times as high as those following oral potassium penicillin V, and at least equal to those following intramuscular injections of penicillin G.

BROXIL has an antibiotic spectrum similar to other forms of penicillin.

BROXIL is the first of the new antibiotics prepared from the penicillin "nucleus" — 6-aminopenicillanic acid — isolated in the Beecham Research Laboratories.

British Pharmaceutical Codex 1959

The seventh edition of the British Pharmaceutical Codex, to be published next week, provides the latest available information on the properties, standards, action and uses, contraindications, dosage and formulation of nearly 1000 medicinal substances in current use.

There are 70 new monographs—78 new formulæ—3 new appendices

The Codex has been compiled by the aid of ten committees and sub-committees on which over 100 experts in their particular spheres have served. In addition approximately 50 specialists have prepared and commented on proposed new and amended formulæ.

The Codex provides information for Medical Practitioners, Pharmacists and Analysts on:

Action and Uses of Drugs, Antisera, Vaccines and Blood Products	The authoritative and unbiased views of expert committees	Specifications	For medicaments not in the British Pharmacopœia, with details of assays, tests and methods of identification
Dosage and Administration	Especially valuable for new drugs and for checking unusual doses	Surgical Dressings and Sutures	Descriptions, specifications and standards
Chemical and Physical Properties of Drugs	Their incompatibilities, storage and sterilisation	Isotonic Solutions, Milli-equivalents, Sterilisation, Conversion Tables	In Appendixes which also give much additional information for analysts
Formulæ for Hundreds of Preparations	Most with quantities in both the Imperial and Metric systems

sleep pattern

Nebrinal is a balanced combination of muscle-relaxant mephenesin and intermediate-acting pentobarbitone, presented in the form of specially designed 'timed-release' tablets to provide 'tapered' dosage.

The outer layer of the tablet rapidly releases about two-thirds of the two drugs to induce relaxation and sleep; the balance of the drugs is released from the inner core 3 to 4 hours later to sustain relaxed sleep on a reduced dosage.

The amount of barbiturate to be inactivated at any one time is thus kept low.

FORMULA

Each tablet contains—
Pentobarbitone . . . 50 mg.
Mephenesin B.P. . . . 225 mg.

Linoleic-rich Dietary Fat

While linoleic-rich (vegetable oil) diets are believed by some authorities to have possible value in the treatment or avoidance of ischaemic heart troubles, medical opinion has been and still is, sharply divided about the causes of coronary diseases.

J. Bibby & Sons Ltd. are deeply interested in this subject as manufacturers of their product Twirl, a natural vegetable oil, carefully refined, possessing a high percentage of linoleic acid, and containing no animal fat.

The head of the Research Department of J. Bibby & Sons Ltd. has collaborated with a well-known authority on fats in the production of a short monograph on the facts ascertained up to the present about the chemical composition of dietary fats and of lipids in blood and in atheromatous deposits, with a brief summary of the medical opinions published to date regarding lipids in relation to arterial disease. This report has been published in pamphlet form and, it is hoped, may prove of some interest to doctors.

The pamphlet—'Lipids in relation to Arterial Disease'—may be obtained by writing to:—J. Bibby & Sons Ltd., Department B., King Edward Street, Liverpool 3. If a free sample of Twirl is also required, would you please mention this in your letter.

DROXALIN

ACID ADSORBENT

Palatability—plus remarkable initial speed of action

As a consequence of the wide and successful prescribing of DROXALIN TABLETS in gastric ulcer, hyperacidity and sickness of pregnancy, a demand arose for a liquid version of the DROXALIN formula.

Introduced in 1958 as DROXALIN GEL this liquid formulation already has made a high reputation and is now widely prescribed.

DROXALIN GEL is remarkable in its initial speed of action. Over the first two minutes, it is as much as three times as effective as the most prescribed acid adsorbents—Aluminium-Hydroxide or a well prescribed mixture of Magnesium Trisilicate and Aluminium Hydroxide.

This initial speed of action is a potent factor in the management of gastric pain.

DROXALIN produces no acid rebound or other harmful side effects. The well known palatability of DROXALIN tablets is maintained in the Gel.

CODIS AND SOLUBILITY

THE GREAT ADVANTAGE of Codis is that it provides a codeine compound tablet in which the aspirin content is soluble in water. (The codeine constituent is also soluble, and the phenacetin is in very fine suspension.)

This is achieved by careful compounding and preparation, resulting in tablets which are quickly absorbed and well tolerated—even in cases of proven intolerance to ordinary (insoluble) aspirin.

To ensure stability and easy identification, the tablets are wrapped in moisture-proof distinctive gold foils of 10 tablets each (dispensing size), or boxes containing five foils of 4 tablets each (public size).

This is a problem patient — she is neurotic and she is persistent. Moreover, reassurance, standard sedatives and anti-anxiety agents have failed usually to bring about more than partial relief of her irrational fears and nebulous fancies. Prescribe Prozine for such problem patients, however, and you provide a more comprehensive approach to treatment. Prozine acts by two different mechanisms on different parts of the brain. The result is a better and safer control of overlapping neurotic-psychotic symptoms and a ready return of your patient to a more normal, balanced outlook. PROZINE

“Stop that coughing!”

When steps need to be taken to alleviate a troublesome cough ‘Thorpax’ Syrup can be relied upon to give speedy and lasting relief. At the same time it does not affect, adversely, the cough’s natural protective function.

‘Thorpax’ is particularly suitable for controlling dry, painful coughs associated with colds and other virus infections of the upper respiratory tract and for coughs of allergic and psychogenic origin. It is well tolerated by patients of all ages and does not cause sedation, respiratory depression, gastric disturbance or constipation. Being non-narcotic and non-addictive it is eminently suitable for long-term treatment.

10 unknown diabetics in every GP's care...

The diabetic population of Great Britain numbers almost 500,000—yet only about half of them are known and under treatment. Statistically this means that every general practitioner has more than ten undetected diabetics in his care.

These unknown diabetics are at risk. Many already show retinal changes and other vascular abnormalities at the time of diagnosis. These changes are often irreversible: their prognosis could only be improved by early diagnosis and treatment of diabetes.

CLINISTIX* is the best aid to the diagnosis of diabetes. This simple dip-and-read test is specific for glucose: it takes only a few seconds, and has the correct sensitivity for significant results. Every patient whose urine is positive to CLINISTIX should be regarded as a potential diabetic.

DYSCRAZIA OR ELECTROLYTIC BALANCE? MARE NOSTRUM

BY

ADAM LEGGE-PULLAR, Q.K.

There are certain states of long-term dyspepsia characterized by pan-symptomatology with evidence of multiple quasi-insufficiency. Although there is usually definite evidence of a dyspeptic diathesis, difficulties in differential diagnosis are inevitably encountered in many cases. For these, the combined effects of rest, exercise, change and actino-therapy may not only prove of diagnostic value but be therapeutically indispensable, as shown by the following case.

Symptomatology. Mr. B. S., aet. 38, recently attended my surgery for the fourth time in ten days (on the N.H.S.). He was a stockbroker, well-to-do, of average intelligence and athletic physique, and played a decent game of golf, sometimes with me. He filled in his pools every week, liked gin rather too much and smoked too many cigars. His family history was dull. His father, a Lloyds Underwriter, was healthy and his mother was unrelated to her husband except by marriage. Investigation of the two previous generations showed a similar pattern. Clinically somewhat obese with flaccid musculature, Mr. B. S. had (since a successful business deal which made him £150,000) a six years' history of general malaise, colicky abdominal pains, lumbar aches and irritability. He constantly brought these complaints to my attention (even once on the 16th tee, causing a hypertensive crisis (in myself) followed by rubor, dolor, and calor at being in the rough, and a brief attack of mania a potu at the 19th).

Clinical Examination. Detailed enquiry, physical examination and special investigations were otherwise negative.

Diagnosis. The possibilities ranged between phagocytic asthenia (forme fruste) and progressive type I hypochondriasis with no history of acute attack.

Treatment. Acting on the principles already enunciated, I thought, on his fourth visit, that secundum artem, sunshine and sea air, "q.q.h.", new faces and rest, alternating with plenty of hard work in a gymnasium, should be exhibited.

Results. Mr. B. S. accepted the prescription and booked himself to South Africa via Union-Castle. Three weeks later I got a letter from him (understamped) from Cape Town. The sea had been calm with complete absence of Giant A and inverted T waves. The passenger's agglutination fibre had been satisfactory, with a low colour index, so that the company had been uniformly agreeable. He had been unable to resist all second helpings in the Dining Saloon, but the sunshine had sent him a Congo Red and exercise had restored him almost to a state of corpus callosum. He had enjoyed himself and was enpebric. He dropped in to see me on his return, and insisted on showing me a lot of photographs of a big game expedition (the bag rivalled Champetier de Ribes), golf-courses, the Trochiscus of Cambobwe, a pretty girl called Jane with whom he had teamed up, and Massa Intermedia playing his old banjo. I suggested we might have a game of golf together, but he slapped me on the back and said he'd given up golf now—too slow. Squash was the real man's game. I began to wonder whether the headaches I've been having lately . . .

DISCUSSION

The importance of extricate factors in treatment is an indication for bearing in mind that every Thursday at 4 p.m. a Union-Castle mailship leaves Southampton for Southern sunshine, First Class and Tourist. The journey to Cape Town takes 13½ days. About twice a month Union-Castle ships leave London Docks for the Round Africa trip, calling at more than 18 ports, and taking nine luxury weeks for the journey. Every ship has a doctor on board, who will take care of your patients (or you). The chefs are adept at catering for special diets.

“BARBITURATE DEATHS INCREASING”

Under this warning headline the British Medical Journal, in an editorial of October 17th 1959, draws attention to the increasing number of deaths by poisoning, once again emphasising “that barbiturates are the most prominent group of drugs causing these deaths.” How great the increase has been in recent years can be seen from the latest available figures, which show that 75% of suicidal deaths due to drugs and 80% of all accidental deaths by poisoning are caused by barbiturates. From these facts it is evident, the article concludes, that the barbiturates present a hazard that the existing precautions against overdosing have not overcome and that “the increasing number of these deaths would suggest that something more is needed.”

A SAFE ALTERNATIVE

A letter to the British Medical Journal (October 3rd 1959) from a General Practitioner, suggests that the new non-barbituric drug 'Distaval' seems to be "a satisfactory sedative and hypnotic in many patients" and that its use "might go a long way towards reducing the present annual mortality from overdoses of the central nervous system depressants currently prescribed." In support of this view the writer gives the following case history:

A 70-year-old man, suffering from insomnia associated with mild senile dementia, took twenty-one 100 mg. tablets by mistake. No specific treatment was given, there was no vomiting or evidence of respiratory or cardiac depression. After 12 hours apparently normal sleep the patient woke up, remaining a little drowsy for a further 24 hours.

Since the introduction of 'Distaval' two years ago a number of reports have been received of cases of gross overdosing with similarly harmless results. On the other hand, no severe toxic effects of any kind have been reported.

SAFE and effective

Cerebral Vascular Deficiency in Adults

Published by PROF. DR. J. QUANDT

Approx. 480 pp., with numerous illustrations. 17 × 24 cm., cloth-bound, DM 58.

The growing importance of the subject induced the author of this study to deal with all its clinical aspects, partly on the basis of his own work, and partly by contributions from his collaborators. This publication thus constitutes the first attempt ever undertaken to provide a comprehensive survey of the background and pathology of disturbances of the blood supply to the brain, taking for this purpose a course mid-way between that of a textbook and that of a complete manual for the practitioner.

A short account of the normal anatomy of the blood supply to the brain is followed by a survey of the normal and pathological physiology of the cerebral vascular system. A considerable section of the work is devoted to the measurement of the blood supply to the brain and questions connected with the supply of oxygen to the brain, its energy metabolism, and the reasons for and consequences of oxygen insufficiency. A further lengthy section deals in detail with the technical and general diagnostic aspects of cerebral vascular processes, based on extensive clinical observation. Special attention is paid in this connection to aneurysms, arteriosclerosis and endangiitis obliterans, and to cerebral venous thrombosis. Among the other branches of the subject that figure largely in this work are the present state of knowledge on and the diagnostic possibilities of the electro-encephalogram in connection with cerebral vascular disorders, and the diagnosis of cerebral vascular deficiencies connected with the eye. Other papers contained in the work relate for instance to the specifically medical aspects of the subject and an examination, based on the available statistical material, of the significance of cerebral vascular breakdown as a cause of death.

In the second half of the work there is a long and detailed account of all the clinical and pathogenic aspects of specific cerebral vascular disorders, with special reference to the various types of embolism and deficiency of blood-supply to the brain in migraine, migraine-oedema, atmospheric hypoxidosis and occupational intoxications. An extensive chapter is devoted to the preventive-medical and therapeutic problems involved.

Although this notice is necessarily fragmentary, it will serve to give some idea of the scope and nature of the work, and to make it clear that it is designed to appeal equally to the specialist and to the student.

APPOINTMENTS

Applicants should state name, address, age, nationality, qualifications, and enclose (unless otherwise specified) one copy each of 3 recent* testimonials with short statement of experience and appointments held.

Applications should be sent at once if no closing date is given.

House Officers should submit a separate application for each post for which they apply.

Canvassing of members of the Board or Advisory Appointments Committee will lead to disqualification (Statutory Instrument 1950, No. 1259, N.H.S.).

*SERVICE MEMBERS may have difficulty in supplying recent testimonials, but this should not deter them from applying.

A fully registered medical practitioner who is liable for National Service must obtain deferment of recruitment in writing from the Central Medical Recruitment Committee or (in Scotland) the Scottish Central Medical Recruitment Committee before accepting any civilian appointment.

The position of provisionally registered medical practitioners who are liable for National Service has been made clear in a notice sent to them by the Ministry of Labour and National Service.

Successful candidates may be posted to any station in Uganda to carry out general medical and surgical duties, including varying amount of public health administration, prevention of communicable diseases, maternity and child welfare, school medical work and training of subordinate African medical staff. In most stations, even if remote from larger towns, it is possible to maintain interest in any particular branch of medicine or surgery to which officer is attracted. Work is usually based on a district hospital which may vary in size from comparatively small hospital meeting needs of a backward community to large hospital with modern facilities where specialization in the different branches of medicine, surgery and obstetrics is possible. "R" practitioners, i.e., practitioners liable for call-up under the National Service Acts, may apply to be considered and, if appointed, will be granted indefinite deferment of call-up on completion of a minimum tour of three years.

MEDICAL OFFICERS

(Special grade) for duties in one of the larger hospitals. Candidates must possess approved higher qualifications, e.g., F.R.C.S., M.R.C.P., D.P.H. Selected officers' duties will be primarily in their specialty, but they must be prepared to teach students or junior members of the staff and to accept certain general and administrative duties should circumstances require it. Appointments on contract with gratuity (taxable) of 131% of total salary drawn (not including allowances), payable on satisfactory completion of service. Candidates from National Health Service may retain superannuation rights up to six years and receive gratuity (taxable) of 20% of their salary after engagements. Salary for Medical Officers ranges from £1,284 to £2,115 a year, and Medical Officers (Special grade) from £1,503 to £2,115 a year, starting points in both scales determined by experience. Four increments are granted to officers appointed on contract terms. Quarters usually available at annual rental varying from £21 to £78; hard furniture at a rent of £12 to £24. Free return passages up to four adult tourist class air fares (or three sea passages) in any one tour of 30-36 months. Taxation at local rates. Local leave permissible, generous home leave after each tour. Primary educational facilities available in all the larger stations. Education subsidies are payable to officers, which vary from £90 a year (or half the school fees, whichever is less) for primary education for first child, to £140 a year (or three fifths of school fees, whichever is less) for secondary education for each of second and subsequent children. Application forms obtainable from Director of Recruitment, Colonial Office, London, S.W.1 (quoting BCD 117/9/02). (6952)

OXYGEN THERAPY SETS ON EC 10 PRESCRIPTION

The Normalair Type C890 Domiciliary Oxygen Flow Selector is approved by the Ministry of Health for use at home and is included in the drug tariff.

Fool-proof and easily attached without tools to any standard oxygen cylinder, the Normalair C.890 provides an accurately-controlled and metered oxygen supply at 2 or 4 litres a minute.

The flow rate selected by simply turning a clearly marked knob is automatically maintained from 1980 p.s.i. to 30 p.s.i. and no re-adjustment is needed as cylinder pressure falls during use.

Full details are available in Leaflet C.890.

Weight	2½ lb.
Overall Height	5½ ins.

Ferroids

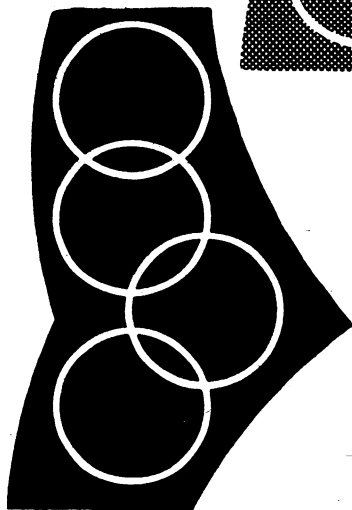

FOR THE TREATMENT OF IRON DEFICIENCY ANAEMIA

With 'Ferroids' tablets haemoglobin levels may be restored to normal without gastric irritation.

This new and well-tolerated iron compound should be tried in ALL TYPES OF IRON DEFICIENCY ANAEMIA.

One 'Ferroids' tablet, three times daily, may help to solve the problem of depleted iron reserves.

Unusually high utilisation of absorbed iron during treatment with 'Ferroids' is thought to be due to the presence of amino acids with which the iron in 'Ferroids' is partly chelated.

'Ferroids' tablets contain:

Iron aminoates 350 mg.*

● Vitamin B₁ 1 mg.

*Equivalent to 35 mg. elemental iron.

'FERROIDS' tablets are available in bottles of 100 6/8

and 1,000 54/8

Prices quoted are basic N.H.S. costs
