

A sunscreen for both short and long U/V

Uvistat Cream in Photodermatoses

The longer wavelengths (above 320 m μ) of the ultraviolet spectrum are important in the initiation of light reactions in photosensitive patients.

Paraaminobenzoate sunscreen creams absorb only in the narrow normal sunburn region of the spectrum (290-310 m μ).

UVISTAT CREAM absorbs over a wide range (250-350 m μ) when applied to the skin in a cosmetically acceptable vanishing cream.

UVISTAT CREAM affords protection in acute solar eczema, chronic polymorphic light eruptions and prurigo aestivale. It is also indicated in lupus erythematosus, herpes labialis, rosacea and other dermatoses aggravated by light. It causes neither irritation nor sensitisation.

UVISTAT CREAM containing 10% 2-hydroxy-4-methoxy-4'-methylbenzophenone in a vanishing cream base, is available in 50 gm. tubes.

... but for doctors who want to prescribe the most active tetracycline so far introduced into medicine, it's simpler to write LEDERMYCIN.

LEDERMYCIN demethylchlortetracycline surpasses other tetracyclines in so many ways-lower dosage, greater stability, higher therapeutic blood levels, fewer side effects. Ledermycin maintains effective antibacterial action for as long as 48 hours after stopping dosage—giving added protection for the patient. These are virtues proved in clinical trials and supported by continually increasing prescription in both hospital and general practice.

Allergic conditions

A more potent antihistaminic—rapid, strong, and prolonged in its action... with no serious side-effects

Of the many antihistamine compounds available today, Daneral is exceptional for its strong, rapid, and prolonged action. Even small doses are sufficient to counteract the histamine effects that occur in antigenantibody reaction. Daneral also has a strong antispasmodic action; it also reduces capillary permeability.

It is exceptionally free of toxic side-reactions and has no pronounced action on blood-pressure or vascular resistance.

Indications: Extensive clinical trials have established the effectiveness of Daneral in most allergic conditions. It also has value in many conditions that have no clear allergic origin or tissue reaction.

In hay fever and vaso-motor rhinitis Daneral is especially effective. In dermatology it is used in urticaria and angioneurotic oedema; serum reactions; drug allergy; pruritus. In general medicine bronchial asthma and cardiac asthma are helped by Daneral.

Rezenta (Infective)

Acute Infective Eczema before treatment

After 5 days' treatment (Cambison 0.5% twice a day)

Steroid ointments are frequently successful in varieties of eczema that have resisted other therapy

They have the advantage of being anti-allergic, anti-inflammatory and anti-pruritic. Even severe itching is usually relieved in a few hours, and hyperaemia, swelling, and exudation reduced during the first day of treatment.

Cambison ointment combines the steroid prednisolone with a two-fold protection against infection. Not only does it include the antibiotic neomycin, which is highly effective against staphylococci and streptococci, but also a quinolylurea compound with chemotherapeutic action particularly directed against gram-positive organisms. This combination widens the antimicrobial spectrum and enhances the antibacterial effect.

Cambison is indicated in cases of acute and chronic eczema and dermatitis, particularly where infection is present or threatened.

Packs: Tubes of 5G and 20G. Available with prednisolone 0.25% or 0.5%

Eczema

Chronic exudative eczema on back of the left hand. Severe itching and weeping.

Result after 2 days of treatment.

New ointment combines advantages of the corticosteroids with traditional ichthammol type therapy

In chronic dermatoses, steroid ointments alone do not always effect radical cures.

Tumeson (Tumenol Prednisolone Ointment) combines the advantages of the corticosteroids with more traditional therapy.

It has two components:-

 $\it Prednisolone\,0.25\%$, with its well-known anti-inflammatory and anti-allergic properties.

Tumenol Ammonium, a bituminous shale tar-oil similar to ichthammol, which is widely used in sub-acute and chronic skin conditions. As well as having an anti-inflammatory and antipruritic effect, it is a vasoconstricting agent with fungicidal and bacteriocidal properties.

Where a rapid, pronounced and sustained antipruritic and anti-eczematous action is called for, Tumeson is especially useful.

Athlete's Root

After 7 days' treatment with Jadit

An effective new treatment that is odourless and colourless

Fungus infections of the skin—and particularly 'athlete's foot'—still remain a prevalent cause of distress and morbidity. The need for a reliable and cosmetically acceptable local treatment is greater than ever before.

The advantage of Jadit (chlorhydroxybenzoic acid butylamide) is that it provides a potent fungicidal action that is practically unimpaired in the presence of tissue protein. It is elegant, simple and safe.

For inflammatory and allergic mycotic reactions, hydrocortisone is added

Jadit 'H' contains 0.5% of hydrocortisone, which has a reliable anti-inflammatory, anti-allergic and antipruritic action. In combination with Jadit's antimycotic action, hydrocortisone suppresses inflammatory reactions.

THE HEIDELBERG PROBE

ENDORADIO SONDE FOR THE DETERMINATION OF PH VALUE IN GASTRIC EXAMINATIONS

The significance of the Heidelberg Probe in Telemetering Technique

The method of taking samples of gastric juice from a patient by passing a tube down his throat and pumping up the contents of his stomach is not pleasant either from the patient's or from the doctor's point of view. Apart from the physical discomfort, the psychological effect is sometimes not inconsiderable, and in many cases when analysis of the gastric juice might have been helpful (but not absolutely necessary) for diagnostic purposes, doctors have refrained from carrying it out because of these "side" effects.

The Heidelberg Endoradio Probe has been designed and developed to supersede this method. It is a sub-miniature radio transmitter, stabilized and temperature compensated, potted in inert plastic (15 mm. long by 7 mm. dia.), no larger than many of the plastic capsules containing drugs taken for medicinal purposes. The Heidelberg Probe is swallowed by the patient like any capsule and the pH value of the gastric juice is transmitted to a special Receiver.

The Heidelberg Probe radio transmitter is designed to convert the acidity of liquids or gases into frequencies which vary with the pH value. These varying frequencies are picked up by an aerial connected to the Heidelberg Receiver which recon-verts them to indicate—directly—pH values. The aerial is constructed in such a way that any variation in the position of the Probe in the patient's stomach will in no way influence reception. Accurate signals are received during the whole time of the examination $(1\frac{1}{2}-2 \text{ hours})$. The Heidelberg Receiver provides sockets for the connection of a suitable graph writer which enables the variations in the pH value, due to various test drinks or meals which the patient is given (also possibly injections), to be recorded continuously over the whole period of the examination.

As the Heidelberg Probe will show by the continuous recorded graph any changes in the acidity as and when they occur over the whole period of examination, it will provide a continuous reading of the varying acid condition and thus enable the determination of the total quantity of gastric juice, buffering capacity of the stomach, and the rate of secretion of acid. From these data specific clinical conditions can be diagnosed by characteristic graphs indicating, for instance, hyperacidic gastritis, duodenal ulcer, stomach ulcer, stomach carcinoma, pernicious anaemia; hypermotility of the stomach is also clearly shown.
