It would appear that antibiotics have now been accepted as a treatment for bronchitis. However, antibiotics alone may not be enough. Franol eases the patient's breathing by dilating the bronchioles and reducing mucous congestion. It encourages patient co-operation by freeing him from distressing symptoms and helping him to get unbroken rest at night.

"BRITAIN'S DRUG BILL NOT EXCESSIVE" SAYS LORD BOOTHBY

PRICE OF MEDICAL CARE CONSTANT FOR FIFTY YEARS

Opening Winthrop House, the new Surbiton offices of Winthrop Group, Ltd., the Rt. Hon. Lord Boothby, K.B.E., LL.D., spoke trenchantly on the subject of British expenditure on pharmaceutical benefits. He pointed out that the proportion of income per head of population spent on pharmaceutical services in the majority of countries which do not have a free health service is higher than in Britain. "This is true," said Lord Boothby, "not only of the total expenditure on pharmaceutical benefits, but, in addition, the expenditure by the State or private insurance in these countries is also a higher percentage of per capita income than in Britain."

A MOST REMARKABLE FACT

Lord Boothby went on to discuss the question of drug costs. "We are told that it is necessary to curb the rising cost of drugs, yet in fact expenditure on drugs has always represented the same proportion of total National Health Service expenditure. This is true in spite of the enormous benefits from new, more complex, and therefore more costly drugs. At the present time about 3.7% of the national income is spent on the National Health Service. Going back over 50 years, to before the First World War, published figures show that this proportion has remained almost constant. This is a most remarkable fact when one considers the social and economic revolution which has occurred in the last half century."

LORD BOOTHBY LAUNCHES VIRUGON

At the end of the opening ceremony, Lord Boothby pressed a remote control button which set into motion machinery at the Winthrop Newcastle factory for the manufacture of Virugon.

A new preparation of the Bayer Products Division, Virugon is the first anti-viral synthetic. It will be available in Britain from November 1st, 1960.

Winthrop Chairman on "Obligation to Make Profits"

In welcoming Lord Boothby, the Chairman of Winthrop Group Ltd., Mr. L. M. Spalton, B.Pharm., M.P.S., said: "The pharmaceutical industry is a free enterprise institution which to survive has an obligation to make profits, and whose members compete strenuously one with another. They compete to find the next advance in therapeutics, and their fine record is so well known to you that I will not repeat it here. They compete to assist the medical profession in any and every way it is within their power or ingenuity to do. They compete to sell and to earn foreign currency for Britain. They compete continuously against themselves and obsolescence. For so dynamic is this industrial quest for knowledge that few drugs can anticipate widespread use for more than about five years."

Mr. Spalton went on to point out that it was time that the contributions of the pharmaceutical industry were more generally recognised and that the competitive circumstances with which it had to grapple—and incidentally the advantages that competition brought—were seen in proper perspective.

QUOTES

Answering the Prime Minister's call

"Four years ago we built in Newcastle-upon-Tyne the most highly mechanized pharmaceutical factory to be completed in post-war Britain. Today nearly 50% of the output of that factory goes overseas. Our pharmaceutical business in Britain is the fourth largest. The Prime Minister recently called for a great band of merchant adventurers to sell British goods overseas. I believe that we in Winthrop have already begun to act in the spirit and the letter of that call."

TRANSCENDING NATIONAL BARRIERS

"Why do our international company of people find co-operation possible, where elsewhere it is so difficult to obtain? I believe this happy state is due to their possession of a common purpose which transcends national barriers, and the job satisfaction that comes from rendering a service of immense value to their fellow men."

Plaquenil breaks through the Iron Curtain

"Winthrop people know no barrier of nationality, race, creed, or colour, save the Iron Curtain. And whilst that barrier at present resists Winthrop people, it is not impervious to Winthrop products. Today Plaquenil, our latest contribution to the treatment of rheumatoid arthritis, is being exported to treat patients in Czechoslovakia and Poland, and is under clinical evaluation in Moscow."

THE WINTHROP GROUP

In this country the Group includes Bayer Products and Winthrop Laboratories. Winthrop House is the new British headquarters.

Anabolex

the protein anabolizing, non-virilizing steroid promotes —a return to appetite—an increase in weight—a sense of well-being

PATIENTS who are run down or who are recovering from illness frequently suffer from faulty protein metabolism. They are in negative nitrogen balance. Protein, in effect, is being broken down and lost faster than it is being built up.

Anabolex (androstanolone) restores the physiological balance. Many clinical trials have shown that, following the administration of Anabolex, there is an immediate return of the body's capacity to build up protein. The patient feels better, eats better and gains weight.

Here, then, is a physiological "tonic" with a wide therapeutic range. The weakness, lassitude, lack of energy and interest associated with many pathological states may be rapidly overcome by the administration of Anabolex.

Anabolex can be safely given to patients of all ages and both sexes; in therapeutic doses, its virilizing properties are almost negligible. The only known contra-indication is prostatic carcinoma.

INDICATIONS Middle-aged or elderly people who are debilitated or "run down." Preparation for and recovery from planned surgery. Convalescent patients. Premature infants. The child or adolescent who is under weight. Anorexia, Asthenia, Malnutrition, Wasting diseases.

Modern Trends in Industrial Disease "EXECUTIVITIS"

MARE NOSTRUM

BY

ADAM LEGGE-PULLAR, Q.K.

Experience has taught us to recognize that an overwrought, dystonic patient, normally splenetic and even dictatorial, may, as part of his stress disorder, be looking to his doctor to make for him a simple decision that he realizes would solve many of his problems. The raising of the threshold for anxiety is likely to be therapeutically rewarding. The point may be illustrated as follows.

Fig. 1 (above). Mr. M. P. before his trip to South Africa.

Fig. 2 (below). Mr. M. P. on his return.

Mr. M. P., a large, balding man of 52, was earning about £7,000 p.a. Self-made and proud of it. Work was his hobby. His time, he said, was money. Everything about him was festinant, except his gait. But he was worried about his health.

Symptomatology. He was a stone overweight, probably due to expense-account lunching. He lost his temper often. He was having dizzy headaches. He was taking business problems to bed, with resultant insomnia and night starts. He couldn't get the messenger service at his office to run properly, and his wife kept forgetting to order more coke. He had developed acute loathing for anyone who stood in his way (Fig. 1). This tendency was severing him from his co-directors, his family and his friends, who complained of his opening snap and increasing Tabby-cat striation.

Examination was negative except for a degree of rhinophyma with incipient varicose veins in the cheeks and itching palms.

Treatment. He was advised to cut down alcohol and tobacco, to avoid those lunches, and to order the coke himself. He was also recommended to go on a cruise. This was what he had been hoping for, but he quickly raised opposition and talked about seasickness. This symbolic raising of his diminished ego-strength was countered by the use of an 1819 Travel Brochure which read: "The sickness and vomiting, which often accompany sailing, is in the highest degree wholesome. It cleanses the first passages from bad humors which, if retained, might irritate the chyle, and render the blood impure and disordered. It also restores the tone of the stomach and its appendages, and is a sure remedy in many diseases which have their seat in, and depend on, the distempered state of the alimentary tube." But it was pointed out that if he went to South Africa, and by Union-Castle, he wouldn't be bothered by bad weather, bad seamanship, sea-sickness or anything at all.

Course. The patient had a thoroughly relaxing trip without intestinal or other hurry. The splendid weather enabled him to dispense with even a penicillin umbrella. The sea was entirely smooth, and he met some beautiful women. He fixed up a big deal with a man who had a large concern in Johannesburg. A keen traveller, he made a tour of the Caves of Meckel and Retzius, spent a day on the Island of Reil, and, interested in big game always, visited the Prognostic Reserves. He looked forward to the Decussation of the Pyramids on a future Round Africa trip. The patient returned tanned, fitter, even somewhat straighter. He told me in his big, booming voice of the fantastic merger he was about to bring off in the City—nothing could stop him now. His office messenger service had sorted itself out, and he had decided to get oil central-heating installed at home. He advised me to try a Union-Castle trip myself.

DISCUSSION

The increase of stress disorders under the pressures of present-day life should draw our attention to the fact that every Thursday at 4 p.m. a Union-Castle mail ship leaves Southampton for Cape Town and Southern sunshine, First and Tourist Class. About twice a month Union-Castle ships leave London for the Round Africa trip, calling at up to 18 ports, a nine weeks' journey. Every ship has a doctor on board, who will take care of your patients (or you). The chefs are adept at catering for special diets.

NULACIN "has revolutionized the treatment of duodenal ulcer"

"This new method of the administration of antacids (Nulacin) has revolutionized the treatment of duodenal ulcer... milk drip is no longer part of our therapeutic stock in trade."

PROC. ROY. SOC. MED., December, 1958, 51, 1063

NULACIN tablets, when allowed to dissolve slowly in the mouth, provide intragastric milk-alkali drip therapy safely and effectively for both the bed-ridden and ambulant patient. They may be relied on to provide a treatment for peptic ulcer as well as other conditions associated with gastric hyperacidity.

The safety and effectiveness of Nulacin therapy has been proven by "in vivo" clinical work carried out in many countries. References to this work include:—

Good news from Africa

the big leap forward

MUCH OF THE NEWS from Africa nowadays is bad news, but there is good news too. Let facts have a hearing. The health of seven million Africans was a major responsibility taken over by the Federal Government when the three countries of Southern Rhodesia, Northern Rhodesia and Nyasaland joined together in 1953. They had to fight disease in many forms—and over a vast area. But they had two massive advantages. They had a real determination to give the African the best possible chance of a healthy life. And Federation provided the means to bring this about. For the first time Central Africa had a unified health plan. For the first time people could think big in health matters—and get big results. Here is the story of seven momentous years.

Health expenditure doubled

Much more money was needed and the success of the Federal Government in providing it is shown by these figures. In 1953 expenditure on health for the three territories was about 4½ million pounds—by 1960 this had been increased to over 9 million pounds. The greatest increase was in Nyasaland, where health expenditure has trebled in the last seven years. The most modern hospitals, the most advanced equipment for all types of treatment, the whole network of state aid to the sick and injured—they are all at the disposal of the African. And this policy has produced results. In seven years there has been a sharp rise in the African expectation of life. Many more Africans are enjoying a useful and healthy old age. Further great improvements are expected as the new health policy gathers momentum

NEW HOSPITALS FOR AFRICANS The Llewellyn Hospital at Kitwe, Northern Rhodesia, is one of the ultra-modern central hospitals built for all races during the 1950's.

Partnership against disease

European skill and resources behind the African desire to learn: these are the forces that are making the health service work. It is partnership in progress. The big task for the Federal Government is to train Africans as doctors, nurses and medical orderlies to take their place in the fight against disease. Medical workers of all races are being trained in the Federation's hospitals. Plans are now well advanced to establish a medical school at the multi-racial University College of Rhodesia and Nyasaland at Salisbury. Associated with it will be a new multi-racial teaching hospital to be built shortly by the Federal Government.

Battle against disease in the bush

There remains the greatest problem—to fight disease in the undeveloped districts. The attack is many-sided: the mobile hygiene units that go deep into the rural areas to fight disease at its source, the rural dispensaries, the clinics and subsidised medical missions, and an ever-growing network of hospitals.

"THE PATIENT IS DOING WELL" The health of African children is the trust of African and European doctors and nurses working side by side

Health is only one of many fields in which tremendous progress has been made since Federation. African wages and salaries have been raised. 50% more African children are now at school. A non-racial franchise has been introduced. The Federation has already achieved much in Central Africa. It appreciates—perhaps more than anyone—how much remains to be done

brings faster, more effective relief to pain centres

Using a new technique of lamp manufacture, Philips have now produced a new 'Infraphil' lamp that provides an improved method of heat treatment. Moulded instead of blown, the new lamp is made with greater precision than was previously possible. It has an accurately positioned filament, an integral reflector that even covers the area behind the filament, and a lens with concentric prismatic rings. This new optical combination focuses the maximum amount of infra-red radiation into a concentrated beam. Thus the new 'Infraphil' is suitable both for pin-point treatment of small areas and for general treatment of larger areas. It is, too, extremely convenient to use. So, for all cases where heat treatment is indicated, Philips new 'Infraphil' is indispensable.
