MENTAL HEALTH RESEARCH

A Completely New Antidepressant Agent

The Merck Sharp & Dohme Research Laboratories have discovered and developed an important, new, single chemical agent for the treatment of depression, whether or not accompanied by anxiety. This new agent is amitriptyline hydrochloride, which will be known as 'TRYPTIZOL'.

'TRYPTIZOL' is chemically different from all other antidepressant agents and has the outstanding clinical advantage of both antidepressant and anti-anxiety actions.

Other major advantages are:

- ▶ incidence of postural hypotension much less marked than with other agents.
- ▶ early and dramatic improvement in sleep patterns may be expected.
- ▶ neither parkinsonism, jaundice, nor blood dyscrasias reported during widespread clinical trials.

transid

transid

A unique antacid

polyaminostyrene

insoluble, non-alkaline ion-exchange resin

Of the antacids at present available for the treatment of peptic ulcer, 'Transid' most nearly approaches the ideal, defined ("The Pharmacological Basis of Therapeutics", 1955) as

"that which does not cause systemic alkalosis, does not cause 'rebound' stimulation of the secretion of acid, interferes least with digestive processes, does not cause diarrhoea or constipation, is not irritative to the stomach, does not release carbon dioxide upon reacting with hydrochloric acid and, lastly, is efficient in neutralising gastric juices."

'Transid' is active only against excess acid; it also reduces pepsin activity. Otherwise, 'Transid' is completely inert; it does not interfere with digestion or absorption and cannot cause alkalosis, constipation or diarrhoea. Clinical experience suggests that 'Transid' may succeed in cases of peptic ulcer in which medical treatment with orthodox antacids has failed.

INDICATIONS:

Peptic ulcer; gastric hyperacidity from whatever cause; dyspepsia of pregnancy.

No ill-effect can come from too much polyaminostyrene and the correct dose is that required to control the symptoms (initially, usually two to four tablets every two or three hours).

PACK AND PRICE:

100 tablets in foil pack, basic NHS cost, 10s.

May we send you a copy of our Standard Publication on 'Transid'? It contains much more information than can be included in a journal advertisement.

DIABETIC NEUROPATHY

Neuropathy complicates diabetes to a variable extent, estimated at about 14% of cases. The commonest symptom is pain in the limbs. Reflexes may be absent.

Recently, treatment by the whole B complex in the form of Parentrovite has been employed with encouraging results. 10 ml. given twice weekly for four to six weeks produced impressive effects both in respect of relief of pain and rate of recovery.

It is now acknowledged that there is seldom if every a need for large doses of a single vitamin of the B complex, since these factors interact in enzyme symptoms. Inadequacy of vitamin reserves, i.e. "Vitamin insufficiency" may occur apart from nutritional deficiency, and may manifest as symptoms and signs of peripheral neuropathy.

PARENTROVITE

is a high potency injectable preparation of the Vitamin B complex with Vitamin C. Packs: in boxes of 3 and 12 pairs. Hospital packs also available.

OROVITE

Treatment may be continued with OROVITE—high dosage Vitamin B complex for oral use—for rapid restoration of intracellular metabolism.

Anabolex

the protein anabolizing, non-virilizing steroid promotes

—a return to appetite—an increase in weight—a sense of well-being

PATIENTS who are run down or who are recovering from illness frequently suffer from faulty protein metabolism. They are in negative nitrogen balance. Protein, in effect, is being broken down and lost faster than it is being built up.

Anabolex (androstanolone) restores the physiological balance. Many clinical trials have shown that, following the administration of Anabolex, there is an immediate return of the body's capacity to build up protein. The patient feels better, eats better and gains weight.

Here, then, is a physiological "tonic" with a wide therapeutic range. The weakness, lassitude, lack of energy and interest associated with many pathological states may be rapidly overcome by the administration of Anabolex.

Anabolex can be safely given to patients of all ages and both sexes; in therapeutic doses, its virilizing properties are almost negligible. The only known contra-indication is prostatic carcinoma.

Anabolex is a registered trade mark

PRESENTATION: In vials of 25 and 100 tablets, each tablet containing 25 mg. Androstanolone. Basic N.H.S. cost 20/- and 70/-. Anabolex is exempt from purchase tax. Samples and literature will be gladly sent on application.

INDICATIONS Middle-aged or elderly people who are debilitated or "run down." Preparation for and recovery from planned surgery. Convalescent patients. Premature infants. The child or adolescent who is under weight. Anorexia, Asthenia, Malnutrition, Wasting diseases.

Dr. Kiloh and Mr. Osselton have produced a book mainly for the clinician. It is brief, modest but lucid, cogent and surprisingly comprehensive as a survey of existing knowledge. Doubtless it will encourage more clinicians to seek to acquire expertise in this field, and its qualities are such as to commend it to neurophysiologists and to encourage them to become more familiar with and to enquire into the problems of the neuropsychiatric clinic and the EEG laboratory.

MODERN TRENDS IN UROLOGY

Second Series

price 70s.

This Second Series of MODERN TRENDS IN UROLOGY spans the intervening years since the first (1953) progress volume. Urology is a progressive science, and in these years great advances in both diagnosis and treatment have been made reflecting the close collaboration which exists between surgeon, physician and laboratory worker. The advances in pathology and biochemistry and a knowledge of the influence of hormones and of nuclear sexing are all subjects with which the modern urologist must be familiar; he must seek the aid of an experimental surgeon in the search for the solution of the immunological problems which limit the full development of renal transplantation.
