approved and supplied under Ministry of Health Contract

These Johnson's single use hypodermic syringes, of Monsanto's Lustrex Polystyrene, are now in general use in over 400 hospitals in this country.

Safe. One of the most important reasons they have gained such wide acceptance is their safety factor. Every syringe, manufactured to British and International Standards, is sterilised by Gamma Irradiation. Cross-infection problems are completely eliminated by the fact that there is a new needle and a new syringe for every injection.

Economical. These polystyrene syringes have been proved after months of experience to be more economical than conventional methods. No ancillary washing and sterilising equipment is needed.

Complete Range—Ready for use. 2, 5, 10, 20, ml. sizes are available and ready for instant use.

Soluble tablets of prednisolone are available under the name PREDNESOL

Betnesol is a tablet of soluble betamethasone phosphate. It dissolves spontaneously in water to form a palatable, tinted, particle-free solution for oral administration.

Greater consistency of therapeutic effect

By reducing particle size of corticosteroids, efficiency of their absorption is increased. The ultimate attainable is a true solution, the form in which Betnesol is taken. This ensures maximum absorption, the most consistent therapeutic effect, and allows reduction of dosage in certain cases.

Less dyspepsia

Because no solid steroid reaches the stomach, the incidence of gastric disturbance is even less with Betnesol than it already is with betamethasone alcohol (Betnelan).

Betnesol Tablets give further good reasons for making betamethasone your standard corticosteroid for treating such conditions as asthma, allergies and dermatoses. This compound has enhanced anti-inflammatory activity, and negligible effect on sodium and potassium balance. It offers renewed benefit to patients on long-term steroid treatment.

TRICLORYL

TABLETS

TRICLORYL (triclofos) is a new pharmaceutically flexible compound developed by Glaxo research.

Presented as a tablet, Tricloryl offers all the outstanding advantages of chloral hydrate without the latter's objectionable taste or gastric irritant properties.

Safe alternative to barbiturates

Despite their well recognised hazards, and mainly because of lack of suitable alternatives, the barbiturates are still widely prescribed. Although it does not entirely replace the barbiturates, Tricloryl is of much greater benefit and safer to use in the great majority of patients.

Relationship to chloral hydrate

After oral administration chloral hydrate is converted to trichlorethanol, its active sleep-promoting principle. Tricloryl is a chemically stable phosphoric ester of this substance which in the body is rapidly hydrolysed back into trichlorethanol. It shows all the characteristic and well known properties of the parent compound without any unpleasant after-effects.

Sound sleep without daytime drowsiness

Tricloryl produces a sound sleep which is of the same degree and duration as that induced by chloral hydrate. The patient is easily aroused, if need be. He wakes refreshed in body and mind and there is no drowsy daytime aftermath.

Tricloryl not only has a much higher safety factor than the barbiturates—there is also much less fear of habituation.

The tablets are small and easily taken with water. Dosage is from 1 to 4 tablets daily.

Erythrocin<sup>Regd.</sup>

offers unsurpassed safety

ERYTHROCIN Stearate is, and has been, considered one of the safest antibiotics in practice. After millions of prescriptions, there has not been a single report implicating it with damage to the Kidneys . . . the Liver . . . or the blood-forming organs.

But Erythrocin has more than just an outstanding record of safety. It is also a potent agent with bactericidal activity against many of the everyday infections encountered in general practice. Whenever a coccal infection is involved, and this includes many staphylococci that have developed resistance to penicillin and the tetracyclines, Erythrocin should be considered.

When it comes to patient-sensitivity to penicillin, many physicians consider this point alone an important reason for prescribing Erythrocin. Allergic reactions may occur but sensitivity to Erythrocin is so rarely encountered that it is seldom an obstacle to treating patients.

thrombolytic therapy

Urokinase, a development of LEO PHARMACEUTICAL PRODUCTS DENMARK, is a potent plasminogen activator of human origin, and has shown marked freedom from antigenic, pyrogenic and other untoward reactions in clinical trials so far carried out.

One of the many important clinical fields in which fibrinolytic activity may be applied with advantage is that of acute thrombolytic states, particularly those occurring in the larger blood vessels.

In a recent Leading Article in the British Medical Journal, (1962, vol i : p. 1399), the role of plasminogen activators in thrombolytic therapy is discussed, and the following comment made:

'The balance of evidence suggests that activator is the best thrombolytic agent. Of the two possible activators urokinase holds more promise . . .'

A modest advance in cancer chemotherapy (CYCLOPHOSPHAMIDE)

A step towards tumour-specificity for a cytotoxic alkylating agent.

A nitrogen mustard derivative which has potent anti-tumour effect with significantly less severe, more predictable and more generally reversible depression of bone marrow.

An agent tolerated by the veins (without intimal irritation or thrombosis), by the subcutaneous tissue (if an injection should go astray), by the serous membranes (pleura and peritoneum), by the gastrointestinal tract (less nausea and vomiting), and by healing wound tissue (when given as an adjunct to surgical removal of cancer).

INDICATIONS

1. Malignant reticuloses, including Hodgkin's disease and multiple myeloma (except where the disease is strictly localised and suitable for radiotherapy).
2. Operable solid cancer, especially of lung, breast or ovary. Here Endoxana is used as an adjunct to surgery.

Wherever the prognosis is poor, both in operable and inoperable malignant disease, continuous maintenance treatment by mouth with Endoxana is recommended.

NOTE: Endoxana causes alopecia of varying degree in a proportion of patients, though this is a temporary effect.

Available in ampoules of 100 mg., 200 mg., 500 mg., and 1,000 mg. for intravenous and intracavitary injection, and in tablets of 50 mg. for oral maintenance treatment.

The problem of the dirty mouth

Even in 1962 the dangers, and the unpleasantness, of the dirty mouth are still present in the post-operative period, as well as in many fevers; the geriatric patient being especially prone to them. Careful attention to oral hygiene will usually, of course, keep the patient comfortable and prevent complications. Such attention, however, is very time-consuming to the nurse; and it is not often realised that for most patients it can be replaced or supplemented by the use of chewing gum.

The regular use of chewing gum, by stimulating salivary flow, keeps the mouth clean in the most natural way possible. The patient is in a sense providing his own nursing care with the minimum of energy expenditure by himself.

Child patients, of course, need no encouragement to chew gum. The older patient may need encouraging—but not once he has appreciated the very obvious cleansing and refreshing effect that chewing gum has upon the mouth. Chewing gum is also of value to patients who are forbidden to smoke.

ANTIBIOTIC-INDUCED DIARRHOEA*

There is good evidence in continental literature, for which further confirmation is being sought in this country, that this troublesome complication of broad-spectrum antibiotic treatment can be relieved or prevented by administering living antibiotic-resistant Lactobacillus acidophilus in the form of ENPAC.

The lactobacilli can be shown to establish themselves and multiply in the bowel, and their presence is inimical to that of pathogens, including, according to some reports, Salmonella species, and to Candida and staphylococci.

"Patients in hospital who have had an operation, and a course of 'broad-spectrum' antibiotics, sometimes develop diarrhoea which may be severe and even fatal."—Lancet Annotations, 25th February, 1961.
