PANCREATIN GRANULES

Triple Strength Enteric-coated
(CLAY AND ABRAHAM)

There are several substances which are used alone or in combination for the enteric coating of pharmaceutical preparations. In 1948, when these granules were originally prepared, a formula was chosen which clinical results have proved to be eminently successful. (Recent Advances in Paediatrics, Churchill, 1954, page 256.) Furthermore, a process was evolved by which not merely each granule but each particle of triple strength pancreatin receives its coating to prevent the destructive action of the gastric acid secretion while allowing the enzymes to become active in the duodenum.

ANOTHER PENBRITIN^{regd.} PRICE REDUCTION

Beecham Research Laboratories are pleased to announce the fourth price reduction of Penbritin since its introduction to the medical profession three years ago.

This has been made possible by further advances in manufacturing techniques and the wide acceptance of Penbritin by the medical profession.

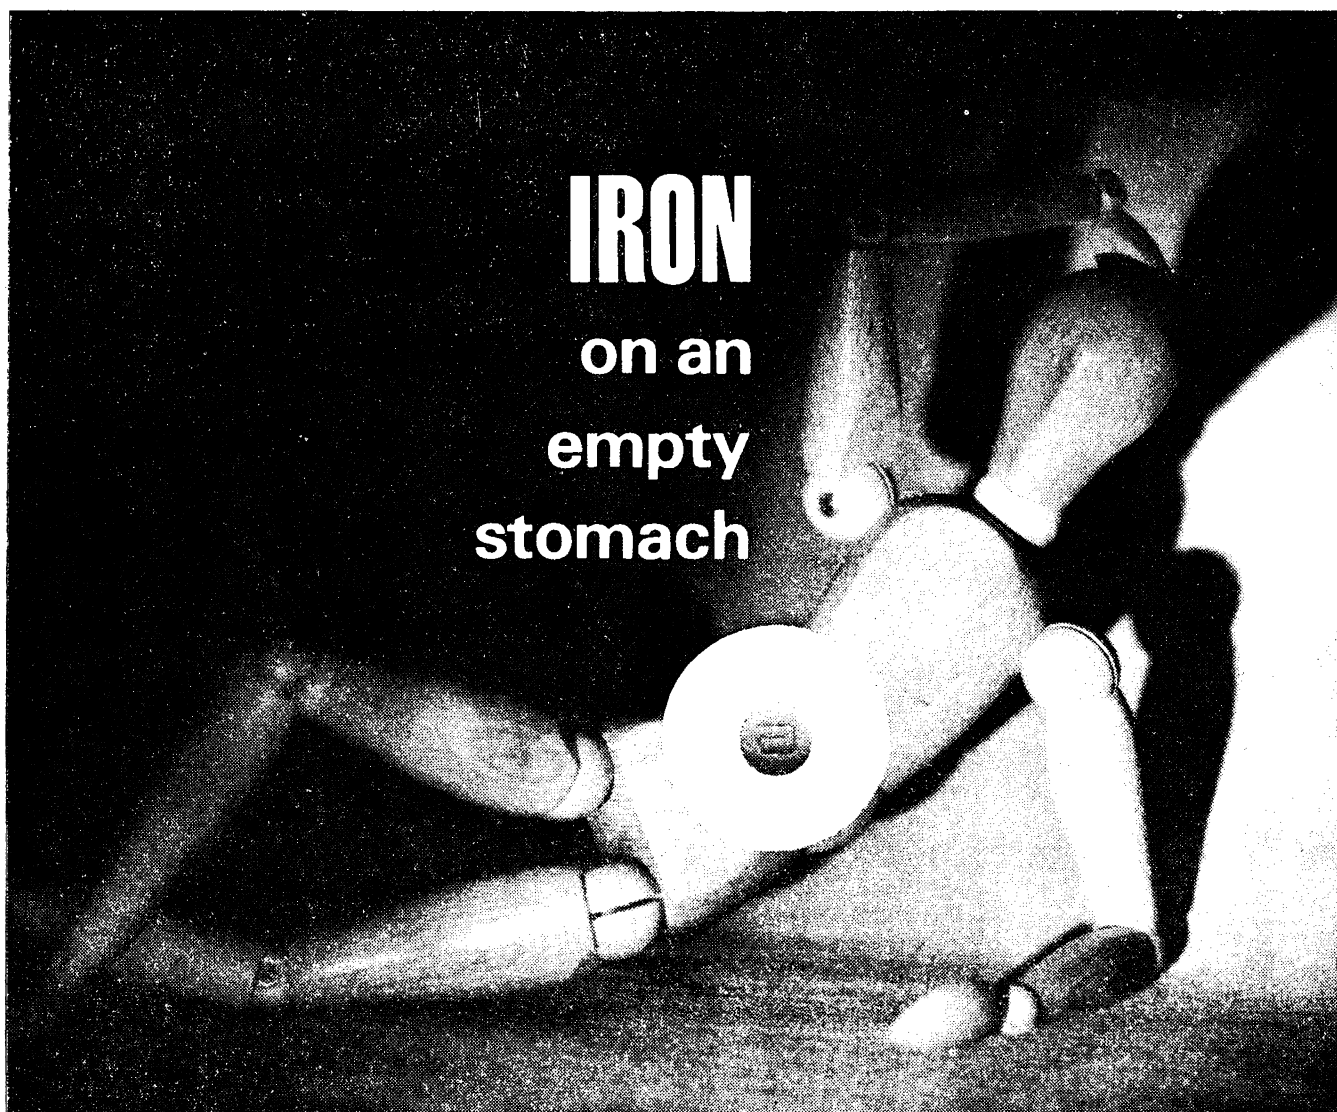

As from Friday, 9th October, 1964, all Penbritin preparations have been reduced by 10%, the cumulative price reductions now amounting to 42% of the price at which Penbritin was introduced.

IRON on an empty stomach

To prescribe iron before breakfast would be asking for trouble with ordinary ferrous sulphate tablets. Even taken after meals and in divided doses, such tablets cause irritation and unpleasant side effects in many patients, often leading to the abandonment of therapy.

But "One FERRO-GRADUMET® tablet before breakfast" is right. This once-daily haematinic is made to be taken on an empty stomach, for the Ferro-Gradumet is a unique approach to the treatment of iron-deficiency anaemia. Just one tablet daily, before breakfast, gives steady, trouble-free assimilation of ample amounts of iron. Instead of releasing a corrosively large dose of ferrous sulphate in the stomach, the Gradumet slowly leaches out its contents over a period of hours throughout the gastro-intestinal tract until, finally, the empty matrix is excreted.

The secret of the Gradumet lies in this inert sponge-like matrix, the pores of which are permeated with ferrous sulphate and a soluble "channelling agent". The pre-determined release pattern, which is independent of body chemistry, retains the greater part of the ferrous sulphate until the tablet has passed out of the stomach into the small intestine, where it is better absorbed with less irritation.

Each Ferro-Gradumet tablet contains the exsiccated equivalent of 525 mg ferrous sulphate, providing 105 mg elemental iron—a sufficient daily dose in all cases of iron-deficiency anaemia.

PRESENTATION Each red Filmtab® (film-coated tablet, Abbott) contains 525 mg ferrous sulphate (in exsiccated form), equivalent to 105 mg elemental iron.

Aldactone-A

brand of spironolactone

for the water-logged patient

Many patients with oedema and ascites fail to get a complete response to diuretic treatment. An important cause of this resistance is excessive secretion of aldosterone, a sodium-retaining adrenal steroid.

In these water-logged patients the early addition of Aldactone-A (a selective aldosterone antagonist) to the diuretic programme is a compelling therapeutic necessity.

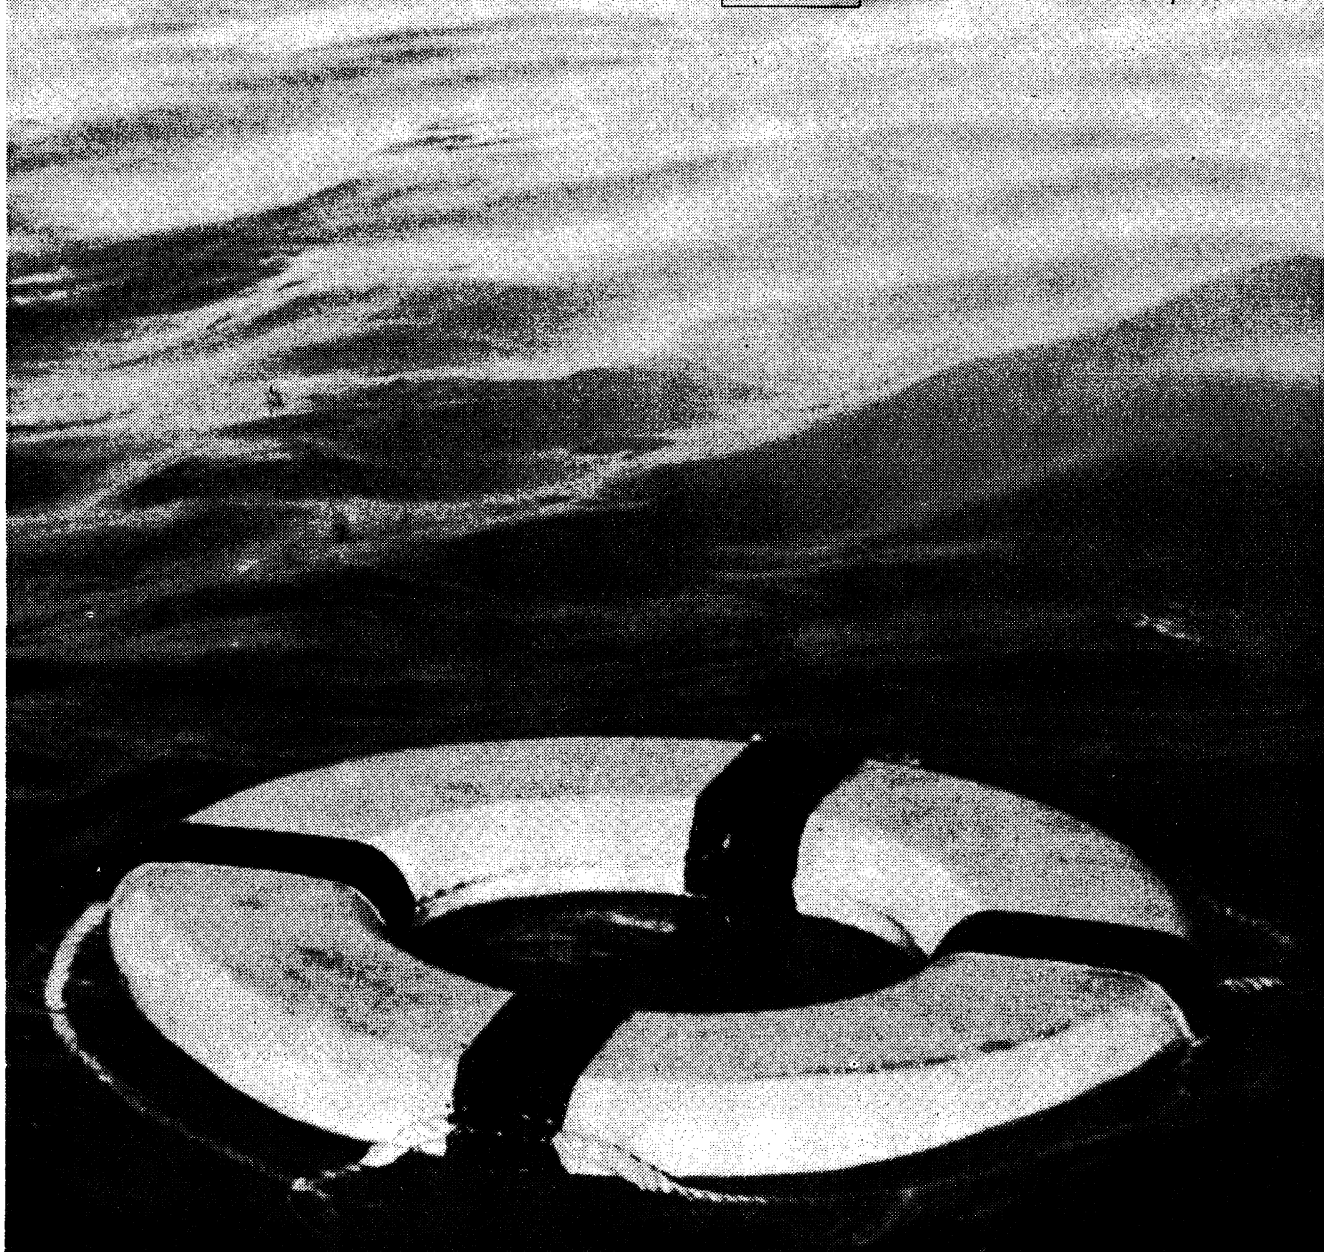

Aldactone-A acts as a booster to conventional diuretics, maintaining and enhancing their effect and enabling more complete diuresis to be achieved until 'dry weight' is regained. Aldactone-A also increases the safety of long-term diuretic therapy by minimizing potassium depletion. Finally, patients on Aldactone-A often feel better, function better, and may be permitted a more liberal diet.

Available as 25 mg. tablets in bottles of 30, 100 and 500.

Nulacin and only Nulacin provides intragastric milk-alkali drip therapy for the ambulatory patient

“In view of the ineffectiveness of most of the tableted antacids, the milk-alkali tablet (Nulacin) would appear to be the antacid of choice for ambulatory therapy.”
(Medical Times 1958, 1: 74)

NULACIN TABLETS have been developed so that when allowed to dissolve slowly in the mouth, they give continuous milk-alkali drip therapy and provide a treatment of peptic ulcer and other conditions associated with hyperacidity. The effectiveness of Nulacin therapy has been established by clinical work in many countries. The following are a few references to the literature:

Heinz Baby Foods provide an unequalled variety for baby's daily diet

An obvious advantage of Heinz Baby Foods—quite apart from their high nutritive value—is the extremely varied diet they offer.

Broths and soups, meat, fish, chicken, and cheese dishes; breakfast dishes; vegetables; fruits and puddings—69 varieties in all. It would be impossible for most mothers to provide such a varied diet.

Moreover, many fruits and vegetables are out of season for months at a time. Heinz have the added advantage that their fruit and vegetable dishes are available all the year round.

Thus that essential ingredient, variety, (often sketchy with home-prepared meals) is well provided for with Heinz.

In addition, Heinz high standards of cooking, quality, and hygiene are constant.

So in prescribing these infant foods, you are advising the mother a course of action which not only makes life easier for her, but is more nutritionally satisfactory for her child.

The Baby Foods come in two categories: Strained and Junior.

Strained, the first solids, are forced through a fine mesh sieve to remove any harsh fibres and to ensure easy digestibility.

The more advanced Junior Foods, finely chopped or minced, prepare the child for the coarser texture of adult foods.

If you would like further information about Heinz Strained and Junior Foods please write to: Foods Science, Advisory Service, H. J. Heinz Co. Ltd., Harlesden, London N.W.10.

Lasix—the new

4-chloro-N-(2-furylmethyl)-5-sulphamoylanthranilic acid

Less potassium loss

produces only half the potassium loss of the thiazides for the same volume of water excreted; conversely, doubles water and sodium excretion for the same potassium loss as the thiazides

Starts to act where thiazides stop effective where thiazides fail: when thiazides give no further response Lasix gives an immediate increase in diuresis

Precise control of response

diuresis lasts about four hours, can be adjusted to suit patient's convenience—taken at teatime diuresis is over by bedtime: response is directly proportional to dosage

Clinical findings

“the Na/K ratio for [Lasix] (2.53) was considerably better than that for hydrochlorothiazide (1.64). The same difference was apparent in urinary potassium concentration, which was 34.8 milliequivalents/litre when [Lasix] was given, as opposed to 67.7 milliequivalents/litre during hydrochlorothiazide therapy.”

Lasix “is distinctly superior in diuretic action, fluid output being 200% greater and sodium excretion 167% greater than the levels achieved by hydrochlorothiazide.”

“The danger of hypokalaemia appears to be less during [Lasix] treatment than during treatment with other diuretics at present in use. No other significant side-effects have so far been observed.”

Experimental Investigations and Clinical Trials of Lasix

Dtsch. med. Wschr., 1963, 88, 1695

Some facts about Lasix

Lasix belongs to a new group of compounds with diuretic activity that is valuable whenever the risk of hypokalaemia has to be minimized, and it obviates the concurrent administration of potassium salts. It has a powerful effect on sodium and water excretion, and works even in severe sodium retention when thiazides have failed Lasix has a superior action to other diuretics and it has an exceptionally high therapeutic reserve in comparison with them, so that it is possible to increase the dosage with safety up to 500 mg. daily until the desired therapeutic effect is obtained. The usual dosage range is 40-120 mg.

Lasix is also one of the very few diuretics that can be administered intravenously. Onset is immediate and lasts for up to two hours. This makes Lasix particularly valuable in emergency treatment.

Lasix acts by inhibiting tubular re-absorption of sodium. It is indicated in cardiac, hepatic and renal oedema. Lasix is very well tolerated: few side-effects have been reported, none serious Lasix is one of the safest and most potent diuretics to be introduced to the medical profession this decade.

Presentation and Price: Lasix is presented as tablets of 40 mg. in containers of 50 at a basic NHS price of 32/6d; and in ampoules containing 20 mg. in 2 ml. in packages of 5 at 17/9d. These prices are subject to P.T.

SIDROS—FOR THE PATIENT DEFICIENT IN IRON well tolerated iron compound plus reducing agent to aid absorption

In the treatment of iron-deficiency anaemia many iron salts can produce the desired increase in haemoglobin level. Some also have a tendency to produce side-effects, and there can be a great deal of wastage through non-absorption.

SIDROS is designed to overcome these disadvantages, and provides a reliable treatment for iron-deficiency anaemia.

Ferrous gluconate Each Sidros tablet contains 300 mg of ferrous gluconate which produces a highly satisfactory clinical response and is very well tolerated.

Ascorbic acid Sidros also contains stabilized ascorbic acid (30 mg per tablet) which is known to aid absorption by maintaining iron in the reduced state.

The basic NHS price of 100 Sidros tablets is 2/8 as dispensed from 1000 tablet bottle. Samples of Sidros are available on request.

Why so many patients need the complete nourishment of Complan®

Invalids and old people who need to supplement their diet, should take Complan. Patients who cannot eat normal meals, who are under-nourished or who need "building-up", should take Complan. This complete, planned food contains all the nutrients which are essential to full health.

Complan is suitable for use in hospitals or in the home; it can be tube-fed or drunk straight from a cup. Easy to make, easy to prepare, Complan comes from Glaxo Laboratories.

Hospital patients who cannot eat are often nourished for months on end on Complan alone. It is widely used in more extreme medical cases such as these: Peptic ulceration. Inflammatory conditions of the colon. Coeliac disease (Complan is gluten-free). Hypoproteinaemia. Hepatitis or cirrhosis of the liver.

'Esbatal'

an effective and adaptable hypotensive agent

'Esbatal' brand Bethanidine Sulphate is a hypotensive agent with the advantages of selective adrenergic neurone blockade without some of the disadvantages. For example, patients taking 'Esbatal' are free from the uncontrollable and sometimes explosive diarrhoea that may occur with such treatment.

The rapid onset of action of 'Esbatal' enables speedy control of blood pressure to be achieved. This is coupled with a short duration of activity (about 12 hours) that allows greater flexibility in stabilisation and control. 'Esbatal' therapy is indicated for those patients suffering from severe and malignant hypertension, as well as for those who are inadequately controlled with other therapy.

Further information will be supplied upon request.

a matter of judgment

To construct a good mortice and tenon joint requires the fine judgment of a craftsman. The hardness and grain of the wood and the size of the joint to be made must all be taken into account in selecting the right tool. Not merely one that would do, but the right one. Comparable situations occur every day in every field—including the doctor's problem of selecting an antibiotic from the array offered him.

After rejecting those of the antibiotics unlikely to be effective, and those which should be used only in special circumstances, Erythrocin (erythromycin, Abbott) will be chosen as the ideal antibiotic for initial therapy in a wide variety of common infections. The tetracyclines and chloramphenicol have narrower clinical indications than their broad bacterial spectra might suggest—unexcelled in certain infections, but often better replaced by less toxic agents. Erythrocin is probably the least toxic of all antibiotics, yet it has similar clinical effectiveness in the more common infections.

Penicillin G and V are cheap and often effective, had not so many strains of staphylococci become resistant. Even the synthetic penicillins have not entirely overcome the problem of allergic reactions. Erythrocin is perhaps the least allergenic antibiotic available.

Erythrocin is very active against the cocci and several of the more commonly pathogenic Gram-negative organisms, without upsetting the balance of the commensals. Though it has been in use for more than ten years, relatively few staphylococci have developed resistance. Whereas it was once an expensive antibiotic, with continued increasing use it is now an extremely economical one. Most important, the Erythrocin preparations are perhaps the safest forms of the safest of all antibiotics, for none has been shown to cause liver damage.

THE INTERNATIONAL STANDARD OF MASS...

... is this platinum-iridium cylinder kept at the International Bureau of Weights and Measures, Sèvres, near Paris. It was established in 1889, and is known as the International Prototype Kilogramme. Its height is equal to its diameter and it is composed of 90% platinum and 10% iridium. Replicas have been distributed, as national reference copies, to other countries.

If the reference weights have a different composition from the standard, the different buoyances in air must be taken into account. This emphasizes the high degree of accuracy involved.

TRANSVASIN is the standard therapy ... for the relief of rheumatic symptoms

Patients suffering from rheumatic lesions obtain rapid relief with Transvasin, the well-proven and economical therapy. The esters of nicotinic, salicylic and p-aminobenzoic acids penetrate the skin and are concentrated at the point of injury, producing superficial erythema and deep hyperaemia. Transvasin is a valuable adjuvant in the treatment of osteo and rheumatoid arthritis.

“Doctor,
I feel awful”

Once he might have been diagnosed as “anxiety state”. Today, you know he might be a depressive, but it doesn’t seem as simple as all that. The truth of the matter is that patients don’t always fit neatly into diagnostic categories. They may suffer from such diverse symptoms as depression, agitation, loss of appetite and tension-fatigue at the same time.

The great strength of ‘Aventyl’ is that its beneficial actions range widely over the symptoms which plague these problem patients. ‘Aventyl’ is not merely an anti-depressant, nor is it a combination of drugs. It is a single substance which relieves a constellation of mental and emotional symptoms embracing depression, anxiety and their effects on awareness and mood.

‘Aventyl’ is not a monoamine oxidase inhibitor, and no serious side-effects have been reported at the recommended dosage.

An accurately metered dose of Nomaze-AH gives immediate and prolonged relief from nasal congestion. Nomaze-AH is a unique presentation delivering, in dry micro-aerosol form, a precisely metered dose of 0.5 mg. ephedrine hydrochloride, 0.05 mg. naphazoline nitrate and 0.5 mg. antazoline hydrochloride from a handy pressurized container. The accurately metered dose is delivered precisely to the site of the trouble. The result: immediate and prolonged nasal decongestion, even in cases of acute allergic rhinitis. This precision dosage, possible only with the micro-aerosol presentation of Nomaze-AH, overcomes the danger of stimulating the central nervous system—a common disadvantage with decongestant drugs given in indeterminate dosage by drops and sprays. Easy to carry and convenient to use, Nomaze-AH is a complete unit in itself, independent of nasal droppers and refills. Basic NHS price 9/4d. One unit delivers 180 metered doses—and brings relief the summer through.

STANDARDIZED SENNA

"It is clear that the efficient treatment of constipation requires the limitation of laxatives to preferably one aperient of general efficacy; the laxative must be inexpensive, easy to administer, and physiological in its action, so that a rational treatment of bowel re-education (in contrast to the symptomatic and temporary relief by purging) can be initiated. Of all the laxatives available, the claims of standardized senna [Senokot] for general use appeared outstanding." Gut (1962) 3, 85

of a NAVAL MEDICAL OFFICER

This is a life of unbounded opportunity. Anywhere in the world, you practise medicine with complete medical freedom. Among 100,000 Naval men and women you gain extensive medical experience of the most varied nature. Civilian patients, too, of both sexes and all ages, are treated in Naval hospitals. You have excellent opportunities for specialising in the normal clinical subjects, and in the less usual, such as Nuclear, Underwater, and Aviation medicine. You are actively encouraged and financially assisted to acquire higher degrees. You can gain consultant status.

As a Medical Officer, your pay, allowances, and gratuity—or permanent commission pension—are very good: for example, your initial pay is considerably higher than that of a civilian hospital registrar. You can enter in one of three ways:

as a registered Medical Practitioner—your civilian experience back-dating seniority—or as a qualified doctor doing your pre-registration year, or as a student with a 2nd M.B. For qualified women doctors, there is a special short service commission. For fullest details of your Royal Navy life as a Medical Officer, write, mentioning your own qualifications and age to: The Medical Director-General of the Navy, Medical Dept. IS THIS YOUR PRE-REGISTRATION YEAR?

Before you commit yourself to a practice work 3 or 5 years in the R.A.F.

When is the right time for you to make the big, once-and-for-always decisions about the way it's best for you to work and live your life? Straight away, now, at once? Or when you have had the chance to do a little out-of-hospital doctoring 'on your own', seen some common ailments and got a bit of capital together? Many people feel that it is only prudent not to be in too much of a hurry. If you are one of them, here is a thought for you:

You don't, now, have to choose either an R.A.F. career or a civilian one. You can have both. And there are good reasons why you should—not only for your own sake and your family's, but in the interests of the profession and the public generally.

Interesting, out-of-the-rut medicine

Your first job in the R.A.F. (which you'll get three months after you join) will probably be Junior M.O. at a Station—rather like being an "Assistant with a view". In a typical case, you'd be one of two doctors, with, between you, 1500 to 2500 people to take care of. These would be the officers and men serving with you on the Station, and their families, plus any civilians who might be working there.

You'd have a much shorter list than you would as a civilian G.P., and to this extent you would live a less strenuous life. To compensate, you would give much more comprehensive care. It is this—and the variety of your work—that makes practice in the R.A.F. so interesting.

In the R.A.F., you combine several functions. You are in medical care not only of people, but of the environment they live in, and of the work they do. In proportion, you do less curative work, and more preventive work than most civilian doctors.

A lot of people hold the view that this is the way all medicine should be practised: with the closest possible intermingling of the doctor and his patients.

You see a bit of the world

Think of two doctors, both aged 40. One went to his practice straight from his teaching hospital, and has been there ever since. The other went from hospital into the R.A.F. on a 5-year commission. He lived—and lived well—in the tropics with his family for 2½ years, and visited 7 countries on leave or duty, two European, three Asian, and two Australasian. All this, of course, was some time ago—he's been in civilian practice 10 years now; he's as well established as the other doctor. But which of the two has got more out of life, and has the richer memories to look back upon?

In many ways, the transition from hospital into the R.A.F. seems much more 'natural' than the movement to civilian practice. The two communities have much more in common: both are young, cheerful, energetic, rather self-contained—and at the same time very professional, with a marked sense of purpose about what they do. If you can feel, now, that you are going to miss Medical School when you leave it, think about going into the R.A.F.: Service life would probably be 'right' for you.

'Retire' with up to £3,000, tax-free

Next year, if you were in the R.A.F. as a married officer, your pay and allowances could be over £2,000. You would get regular 'rises' and regular promotion. In hard cash terms you would be literally hundreds of pounds better off than your civilian opposite-numbers. Besides which, your cost-of-living would be lower: if you were single, living in the Mess, you would get the equivalent of first-class hotel accommodation for, perhaps, 2/- a day out of your pay; if you were married, and the R.A.F. provided you with a house furnished right down to the last coffee cup, and they probably would—the rent would be £192 p.a.

Leave the Service after 3 years, and you get a gratuity of £1,500, tax-free; stay on for 5, and you get £3,000. With this, you could put down a deposit on a house and furnish it very well indeed, attic to cellar.

Five years from now. You'd probably still be the right side of thirty. What a start to a career!

In all your life, when will you have a chance like this again?

Today, because you are young and at the beginning of your career, you can take a short time out from the main stream of civilian practice just by deciding to do it.

Now, you are free to go. In a few years time, you probably won't be.

At this stage in life, you have none of the commitments that might make an older man hold back; things like a practice that has your name on it; obligations to a community that you have become a part of; the ownership of property . . . and suchlike hostages to fortune.

All these things will, quite properly, come along in due time.

Meanwhile, you have this chance and now is the time to find out about it. If you can't write off straight away, take this advertisement out and put it in your pocket to remind you.

Do not let this chance go by default

For full information, please write giving your age and qualifications to Wing Commander D. G. M. HILLS, M.B., B.S., D.P.H., R.A.F., Ministry of Defence (MAI/HN 171A), 1-6 Tavistock Square, London WC1.
