ANTIBIOTICS AND THE INTESTINAL FLORA

Treatment with broad spectrum antibiotics suppresses the normal flora, which may be replaced by abnormal resistant organisms causing diarrhoea.

This change can be prevented or reversed by the implantation of Lactobacillus acidophilus which has been rendered antibiotic-resistant, and is thus able to multiply freely under these abnormal conditions. This organism itself forms an antibiotic which may contribute to its rapid preponderance over other species.^{1, 2}

Oral treatment with antibiotic-resistant L. acidophilus in the form of ENPAC has been shown to eliminate Candida from the faeces of infants with antibiotic-induced diarrhoea, with relief of symptoms succeeded by rapid gain in weight^{3, 4} and greatly to reduce the numbers of staphylococci in the faeces of patients treated with tetracyclines.⁵

The corticosteroid with one starting dose for all three Uniform initial dosage schedule for LEDERCORT triamcinolone facilitates management of most commonly encountered corticosteroid responsive disorders—often provides higher, more uniform potency and efficacy than other analogues. ONCE-A-DAY DOSAGE, for arthritis—asthma—dermatoses provides 24-hour suppressive effect, minimises "missed dose" problems, further facilitates administration and management.

the corticosteroid more patients can start on and stay on LEDERCORT triamcinolone shows a remarkable ability to obtain and maintain desirable results with, in many cases, fewer collateral limitations than hydrocortisone, dexamethasone, betamethasone or other corticosteroids. Patients unresponsive or unable to tolerate other corticosteroids frequently do well on LEDERCORT triamcinolone. Cardiac disease, hypertension, emotional disturbance and obesity are not considered contraindications for LEDERCORT. Patients have stayed on this modern corticosteroid for many years... with notable freedom from side effects.

cracks under 'DOLOXENE'TM

Three qualities highlight 'Doloxene' as an outstanding analgesic.

Potent 'Doloxene' is comparable with the more effective analgesics in use today. Its action is maintained over long courses of treatment—it will often delay the use of opiates.

Safe 'Doloxene' is free from the side-effects that have limited the value of classic analgesics such as morphine, codeine and the salicylates.

Purely analgesic 'Doloxene' has one significant pharmacological action—analgesia. It is not antipyretic, neither does it suppress the cough reflex.

'Doloxene' brand Dextropropoxyphene Hydrochloride is available as 'Pulvules' of 65 mg.

SIDROS—FOR THE PATIENT DEFICIENT IN IRON

well tolerated iron compound plus reducing agent to aid absorption

In the treatment of iron-deficiency anaemia many iron salts can produce the desired increase in haemoglobin level. Some also have a tendency to produce side-effects, and there can be a great deal of wastage through non-absorption.

SIDROS is designed to overcome these disadvantages, and provides a reliable treatment for iron-deficiency anaemia.

Ferrous gluconate Each Sidros tablet contains 300 mg of ferrous gluconate which produces a highly satisfactory clinical response and is very well tolerated.

Ascorbic acid Sidros also contains stabilized ascorbic acid (30 mg per tablet) which is known to aid absorption by maintaining iron in the reduced state.

The basic NHS price of 100 Sidros tablets is 2/8 as dispensed from 1000 tablet bottle. Samples of Sidros are available on request.

Once she might have been diagnosed as “anxiety state”. Today, you know she might be a depressive, but it doesn’t seem as simple as all that. The truth of the matter is that patients don’t always fit neatly into diagnostic categories. They may suffer from such diverse symptoms as depression, agitation, loss of appetite and tension-fatigue at the same time.

The great strength of ‘Aventyl’ is that its beneficial actions range widely over the symptoms which plague these problem patients. ‘Aventyl’ is not merely an anti-depressant, nor is it a combination of drugs. It is a single substance which relieves a constellation of mental and emotional symptoms embracing depression, anxiety and their effects on awareness and mood.

In the treatment of inflammatory dermatoses, Remiderm, which combines a highly effective antiseptic, halquinol, with the well-established topical corticosteroid, triamcinolone acetonide, rapidly relieves the inflammatory, pruritic or allergic symptoms, and at the same time, protects the lesion from secondary infection. Where infection is already present Remiderm hastens recovery by controlling the causative organisms, but, unlike the antibiotic-corticosteroid combinations, Remiderm has not been found to cause skin sensitization and cannot induce the development of antibiotic-resistant bacteria.

Introducing

D-VAC Pollens

The new

3-injection

course for protection against hay fever

Hay Fever sufferers can look forward with relief to next summer, by receiving a short course of desensitisation with D-Vac Pollens.

D-Vac Pollens is a 'depot' pollen vaccine formulated by the Bencard Allergy Unit. The new 3-dose course is the outcome of three years' experience with D-Vac Pollens in allergy clinics, showing it to be safe and at least as effective as aqueous vaccine.

D-Vac Pollens is available as two alternative courses:

Primary Course: For patients who have not previously been desensitised or who are known to be excessively sensitive to grass pollens; and for children (aged 6-12 years).

Advanced Course: For patients aged over 12 who have had previous pollen treatment and whose symptoms are not excessively severe.

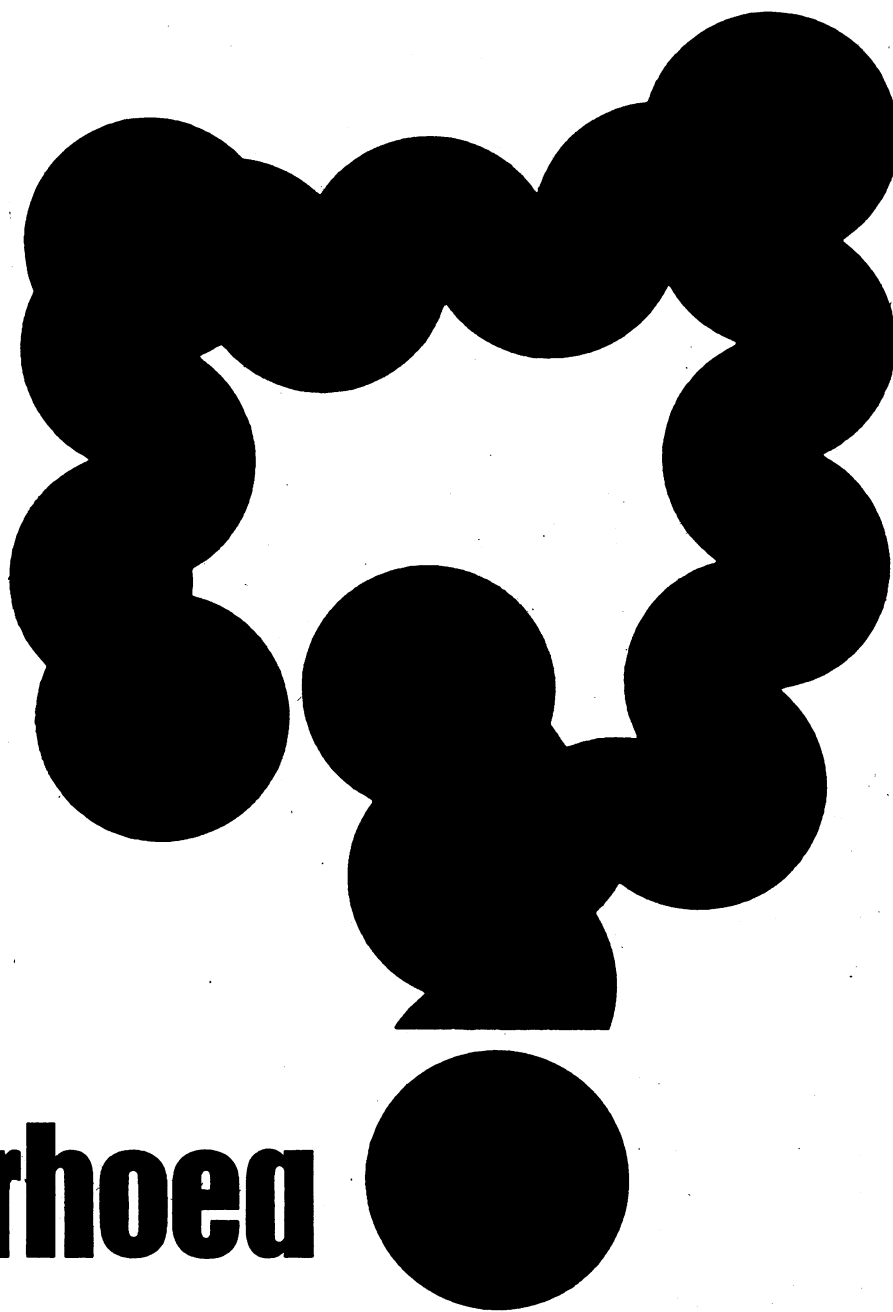

Action now against hay fever will bring its reward next summer

The 3 injections are administered at 4-week intervals starting between 1st and 20th February. Because D-Vac Pollens is prepared specially to order, prescriptions (marked 'Primary' or 'Advanced' Course) should be made out and orders placed before 31st December, and should indicate the date in February on which the first dose is required.

Nulacin and only Nulacin provides intragastric milk-alkali drip therapy for the ambulatory patient

“In view of the ineffectiveness of most of the tableted antacids, the milk-alkali tablet (Nulacin) would appear to be the antacid of choice for ambulatory therapy.”
(Medical Times 1958, 1: 74)

NULACIN TABLETS have been developed so that when allowed to dissolve slowly in the mouth, they give continuous milk-alkali drip therapy and provide a treatment of peptic ulcer and other conditions associated with hyperacidity. The effectiveness of Nulacin therapy has been established by clinical work in many countries. The following are a few references to the literature:

continuous drip control of ulcer by tablet

PRODEXIN tablets give all the benefits of continuous intragastric drip therapy¹ without any of its disadvantages.

The slow suck down tablets are specially formulated to give prolonged antacid buffer effect, unaffected by stomach emptying rate.²

Immediate relief of pain is achieved by rapidly raising pH to 2 neutralising excess acid and controlling the acid secretion by slowly building up the pH to a desirable level of pH3.5 and pH4.5

DOSAGE:

For continuous therapeutic effect one tablet at a time should be sucked slowly.
For peptic ulcer one or more tablets an hour.

Four tablespoons of corn oil and the reduction of high serum cholesterol levels

A recent article in the medical press¹ published the results of a study in the use of corn oil with a low animal fat diet in the reduction of high serum cholesterol levels.

The article ended: 'It is concluded that corn oil, together with a diet low in animal fat, is feasible as a long-term measure for the lowering of serum cholesterol, being safe, acceptable to the great majority of patients, and having virtually no clinical contraindications.'

The oil used in the study, corn oil, linoleic acid content 56%—was added to diets of 1,630 and 2,080 calories, and comprised 41.5% of the total fat in the former, 40.0% in the latter. The quantity of oil added to each diet was 57 grams; just four tablespoons of corn oil a day.

Mazola Pure Corn Oil has a fatty-acid composition (56.2% linoleic) identical to that of the oil used in this experiment. In addition, Mazola is palatable; it is widely used as a cooking oil. Thus Mazola, available from grocers throughout the country, is probably the most accessible and appetising source of supplementary dietary oil.

AMENDED ADVERTISEMENT ABSTRACTS OF WORLD MEDICINE

ASSISTANT EDITOR

The Council of the British Medical Association invites applications from registered practitioners for the appointment of Medical Assistant Editor of Abstracts of World Medicine at a salary of £2,365 a year, rising by annual increments of £142 to £3,648 a year. In exceptional circumstances the initial salary may be above the minimum of the scale. The appointment will be for a probationary period of six months in the first place. The Association's Superannuation Scheme will apply on substantive appointment.

Preference will be given to candidates under 45 years of age with a wide knowledge of medicine (up to M.D. or M.R.C.P. standard) who can present evidence of literary ability and/or journalistic experience. A knowledge of one or more foreign languages is highly desirable and an interest in the proper use of the English language essential.

Applications, giving details of qualifications and experience and accompanied by the names of three persons to whom reference may be made, should be addressed to the Editor of Abstracts of World Medicine, B.M.A. House, Tavistock Square, London W.C.1, and must be received before January 31, 1965.

AUSTRALIAN MEDICAL ASSOCIATION

ASSISTANT GENERAL SECRETARY

The Australian Medical Association invites applications from registered Medical Practitioners for appointment as Assistant General Secretary.

The position is a whole-time one and private practice is not permitted. The salary for the post will be at the commencing rate of £3,750 per annum, plus superannuation rights on the basis of 10% of the salary, paid annually by the Australian Medical Association and 5% contributed by the appointee. Surgery—contd. on p. xxxiv

IS THIS YOUR PRE-REGISTRATION YEAR?

Before you commit yourself to a practice work 3 or 5 years in the R.A.F.

When is the right time for you to make the big, once-and-for-always decisions about the way it's best for you to work and live your life? Straight away, now, at once? Or when you have had the chance to do a little out-of-hospital doctoring 'on your own', seen some common ailments and got a bit of capital together? Many people feel that it is only prudent not to be in too much of a hurry. If you are one of them, here is a thought for you:

You don't, now, have to choose either an R.A.F. career or a civilian one. You can have both. And there are good reasons why you should—not only for your own sake and your family's, but in the interests of the profession and the public generally.

Interesting, out-of-the-rut medicine

Your first job in the R.A.F. (which you'll get three months after you join) will probably be Junior M.O. at a Station—rather like being an "Assistant with a view". In a typical case, you'd be one of two doctors, with, between you, 1500 to 2500 people to take care of. These would be the officers and men serving with you on the Station, and their families, plus any civilians who might be working there.

You'd have a much shorter list than you would as a civilian G.P., and to this extent you would live a less strenuous life. To compensate, you would give much more comprehensive care. It is this—and the variety of your work—that makes practice in the R.A.F. so interesting.

In the R.A.F., you combine several functions. You are in medical care not only of people, but of the environment they live in, and of the work they do. In proportion, you do less curative work, and more preventive work than most civilian doctors.

A lot of people hold the view that this is the way all medicine should be practised: with the closest possible intermingling of the doctor and his patients.

You see a bit of the world

Think of two doctors, both aged 40. One went to his practice straight from his teaching hospital, and has been there ever since. The other went from hospital into the R.A.F. on a 5-year commission. He lived—and lived well—in the tropics with his family for 2½ years, and visited 7 countries on leave or duty, two European, three Asian, and two Australasian. All this, of course, was some time ago—he's been in civilian practice 10 years now; he's as well established as the other doctor. But which of the two has got more out of life, and has the richer memories to look back upon?

In many ways, the transition from hospital into the R.A.F. seems much more 'natural' than the movement to civilian practice. The two communities have much more in common: both are young, cheerful, energetic, rather self-contained—and at the same time very professional, with a marked sense of purpose about what they do. If you can feel, now, that you are going to miss Medical School when you leave it, think about going into the R.A.F.: Service life would probably be 'right' for you.

'Retire' with up to £3,000, tax-free

Next year, if you were in the R.A.F. as a married officer, your pay and allowances could be over £2,000. You would get regular 'rises' and regular promotion. In hard cash terms you would be literally hundreds of pounds better off than your civilian opposite-numbers. Besides which, your cost-of-living would be lower: if you were single, living in the Mess, you would get the equivalent of first-class hotel accommodation for, perhaps, 2/- a day out of your pay; if you were married, and the R.A.F. provided you with a house furnished right down to the last coffee cup, and they probably would—the rent would be £192 p.a.

Leave the Service after 3 years, and you get a gratuity of £1,500, tax-free; stay on for 5, and you get £3,000. With this, you could put down a deposit on a house and furnish it very well indeed, attic to cellar.

Five years from now. You'd probably still be the right side of thirty. What a start to a career!

In all your life, when will you have a chance like this again?

Today, because you are young and at the beginning of your career, you can take a short time out from the main stream of civilian practice just by deciding to do it.

Now, you are free to go. In a few years time, you probably won't be.

At this stage in life, you have none of the commitments that might make an older man hold back; things like a practice that has your name on it; obligations to a community that you have become a part of; the ownership of property . . . and suchlike hostages to fortune.

All these things will, quite properly, come along in due time.

Meanwhile, you have this chance and now is the time to find out about it. If you can't write off straight away, tear this advertisement out and put it in your pocket to remind you.

Do not let this chance go by default

For full information, please write giving your age and qualifications to Wing Commander D. G. M. HILLS, M.B., B.S., D.P.H., R.A.F., Ministry of Defence (MAL/HN 171E), 1-6 Tavistock Square, London WC1.
