Obstetrics in General Practice

Published July 1966

This book is made up of a series of articles printed in the "Current Practice" section of the BRITISH MEDICAL JOURNAL. It is designed to give a lucid and practical account of obstetrics as it is carried out in the patient's home or in a maternity unit, with special emphasis on the role of the general practitioner and his relationship to the consultant obstetrician and the hospital. The principal authors are consultant obstetricians, but to ensure that the general practitioner's own view and special experience should be represented the consultant contributors were asked to prepare their articles in collaboration with general practitioners. The book as a whole is a product of such co-operative effort. It will prove a useful guide to this important branch of medical practice.

The fact that Gynovlar 21 was the first 21 tablet
oral contraceptive is a matter of some company pride

when all facts are considered the choice must be but what matters clinically is the added security this idea provided for millions of women

The simple idea of an extra tablet put Gynovlar 21 ahead of the field in oral contraceptive administration. Now the 21-tablet dosage scheme is becoming standard practice as a method of virtually eliminating patient error in oral contraception.

GYNOVLAR 21 PROVIDES:

First, four-fold security by ovulation control, by protective changes in the endometrium and cervical mucus and also by the 21-tablet dosage scheme which virtually eliminates patient error.

Secondly, Gynovlar 21 is extremely well tolerated. Tolerance depends not only on the choice of progestogen, but especially on the type of dosage of oestrogen. Gynovlar 21 tablets contain 3 mg. norethisterone acetate – a progestogen used throughout the world in gynaecological medication and renowned for its excellent tolerance – and 0.05 mg. ethinylœstradiol B.P., which is the lowest dose to be employed for oral contraception. No other presentation contains less oestrogen, many contain more.

Thirdly, the substances used in Gynovlar 21 produce normal menstrual cycles, which have been described as being of 'almost clockwork precision'. Thus Gynovlar 21 is ideally suited to the 21-tablet dosage scheme, which this product pioneered and the advantages of which have, meanwhile, been generally recognized.

In Gout and other hyperuricaemic conditions 'Zyloric' Allopurinol has a radically new mode of action

'Zyloric' lowers serum and urinary uric acid levels by inhibition of xanthine oxidase, an enzyme important in uric acid formation.

'Zyloric' prevents the deposition of urates in the tissues, relieves chronic joint pain, increases joint mobility and has the great advantage that it also inhibits urinary urate stone formation.

'Zyloric' is therefore indicated especially in gouty nephropathy, in patients who form urate stones, and in those with unusually severe disease.

Do you recommend an external wedge? Those outside wedges soon wear away, and very often the child is made to feel self-conscious because his shoes look different from other children's. They also disturb the plane of forepart and heel. Surely it's more logical to have a wedge built in between the inner and outer sole where it remains invisible and completely unaffected by wear or repair of the shoe. That is how Start-rite INNERAZE shoes are made—on remedial lasts specially adapted to accommodate the internal wedge. That is why they are the only practical and thoroughly effective solution to this problem. Information from Mr. C. James, Fitting Consultant, Start-rite Shoes Ltd., Crome Road, Norwich, NOR 60A.

B₁₂ levels between injections

Recently, the merits of hydroxocobalamin and cyanocobalamin in the treatment of pernicious anaemia were compared by the administration of monthly injections of either cobalamin in doses of either 250 micrograms, 500 micrograms or 1000 micrograms. It was observed that irrespective of the dosage higher serum — B₁₂ levels were attained with slower rates of fall in patients to whom hydroxocobalamin was given. These higher levels were also observed in patients receiving hydroxocobalamin every two months.

"From both biological and therapeutic aspect, hydroxocobalamin is preferable to cyanocobalamin and should therefore become the standard preparation for the treatment of vitamin B₁₂ deficiency."

Pregamal throughout pregnancy . . .

Pregamal has been carefully formulated, as a compound tablet, to follow the widely accepted principle that supplementary iron and physiological doses of folic acid are essential throughout pregnancy, to prevent iron-deficiency anaemia and megaloblastic anaemia. It has been estimated that during a normal pregnancy there is an average iron loss of 700 mg as well as a progressive depletion of folic acid, and that dietary intake is often insufficient to replenish this loss. It has also been shown that folic-acid deficiency is usually difficult to detect and it may become severe before megaloblastic change in the marrow occurs. The folic-acid content in Pregelmal (100 micrograms) is considered to give adequate protection without obscuring the blood picture of the occasional case of Addisonian pernicious anaemia. The iron as ferrous fumarate (ferrous iron 65 mg per tablet) is well tolerated, well absorbed and utilised. Pregelmal (1 to 3 tablets a day) all through pregnancy provides, very economically, combined protection against iron-deficiency anaemia and megaloblastic anaemia.

Discontinuation of Grisovin—250 mg (Coarse Particle)

Grisovin-FP—125 mg now the accepted griseofulvin

Grisovin 250 mg (griseofulvin coarse particle), the original Glaxo griseofulvin, will be discontinued when present stocks run out, probably in October 1966. All future prescriptions for Grisovin, the orally administered antifungal antibiotic, will then be met with Grisovin-FP 125 mg which is the standard tablet that complies with the British Pharmacopoeia and contains the fine particle substance. The decision to discontinue Grisovin Coarse Particle has been influenced by two factors. First, Grisovin-FP has been fully accepted by doctors everywhere as a superior griseofulvin; the fine particle form gives substantially better absorption and achieves the same blood levels at half the dosage. The second factor is that Grisovin-FP is more economical; its cost is half that of Grisovin Coarse Particle. From now on prescriptions for Glaxo griseofulvin will be met with the best there is, Grisovin-FP 125 mg.

in millions of patients who needed penicillin . . .

. . . over the last 20 years a penicillin preparation called Crystapen answered that need well. Today's Crystapen, the Glaxo sodium penicillin, is still the first choice in penicillin therapy. No other penicillin preparations—injections, tablets, syrups or suspensions—are better proved, more reliable, more economical or more acceptable to patient and doctor. Yet, the price of Crystapen, since it was introduced in 1947, has come down again and again, and at present the basic NHS cost is at its lowest. Crystapen G or Crystapen V oral preparations can be used as the logical follow-up to injection and as primary treatment for less severe penicillin-susceptible infections. Crystapen is the penicillin for today.

Fersamal

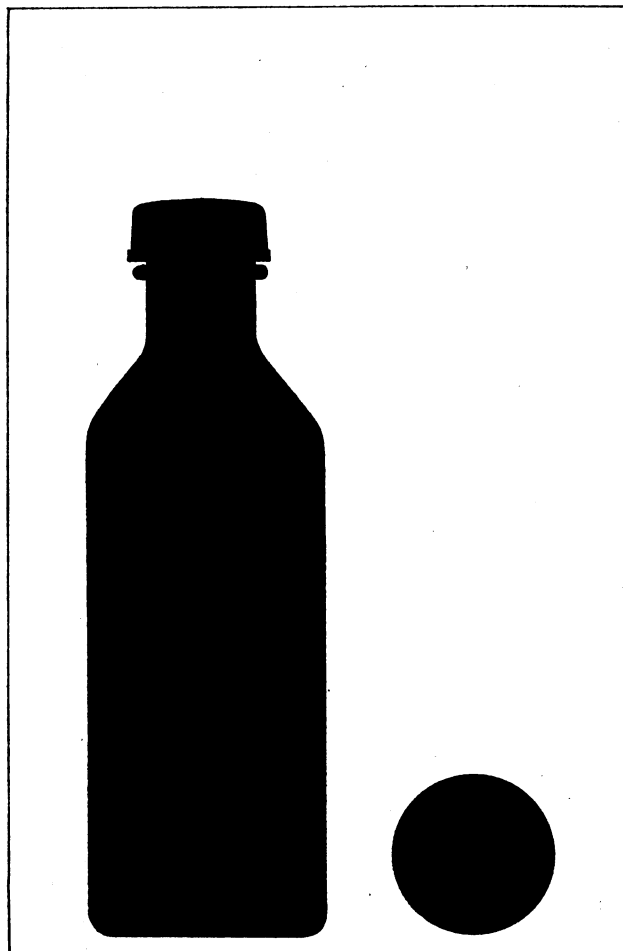

Fersamal fulfils the need for an inexpensive, effective, well-tolerated oral iron. Fersamal (Tablets and Syrup) contains ferrous fumarate, an extremely well-tolerated iron salt with a very low incidence of gastric or intestinal disturbance, even amongst patients normally intolerant to other iron salts. The tablets are very small, easy to swallow and are palatable enough to be chewed, if preferred. The syrup has a delightful fruit flavour which appeals to children. In practice these advantages secure the co-operation of the patients and thus ensure effective therapy. Each Fersamal Tablet provides 65 mg and each 5 ml teaspoonful of Fersamal Syrup 45 mg ferrous iron. The normal daily dose is 1 tablet or 2 teaspoonfuls of syrup, 3 times daily produces satisfactory haemoglobin response. For children a suitable dose is $\frac{1}{2}$ to 1 teaspoonful of syrup, 3 times daily. Fersamal is well absorbed and utilised and provides an effective iron therapy . . . very economically.

Surgery—contd. on p. xxxviii

Before you commit yourself to a practice, work 3 or 5 years in the R.A.F.

You'll do some interesting, out-of-the-rut medicine, see a bit of the world, live well, and 'retire' with up to £3,000, tax free.

Your first job in the R.A.F. would probably be junior M.O. at a Station: rather like being an 'Assistant with a view'. In a typical case you could be one of two doctors with, between you, 1500 to 2500 people to take care of, and your own 'cottage hospital' with wards, theatre and laboratory, and secretarial as well as nursing staff.

You'd have a shorter list than a civilian G.P., and to this extent you would live a less strenuous life. To compensate, you would give much more comprehensive care. It is this—and the variety of your work—that makes practice in the R.A.F. so interesting.

In the R.A.F. you combine several functions. You are in medical care not only of people, but of the environment they live in, and of the work they do. In proportion you do less curative work and more preventive work than is even possible for most civilian doctors.

A lot of people hold the view that this is the way all medicine should be practised—with the closest possible integration of the doctor and the community.

This is the choice you face

Think of two doctors, both aged 40. One went to his practice straight from his teaching hospital, and has been there ever since. The other went into the R.A.F. on a 5-year commission. He lived —and lived well—in the tropics with his family for 2½ years and, on leave or on duty, visited 7 countries: two European, three Asiatic, and two Australasian. By now he's been in civilian practice for 10 years; he's as well established as the other doctor. But which of the two has got more out of life, and has the richer memories to look back upon?

In many ways, the transition from hospital into the R.A.F. seems more 'natural' than the movement to civilian practice. You go from one community to another—and they have much in common: both are young, cheerful, energetic, rather self-contained—and at the same time very professional, with a marked sense of purpose. If you can feel, now, that you are going to miss Medical School—think about the R.A.F. Service life would probably be 'right' for you.

The time for bold decisions is when you are young and free

Today, because you are at the beginning of your career, you can take a short time out from the main stream of civilian practice just by deciding to do it.

Now, you are free to go. In a few years time, you probably won't be.

You'll have a practice 'with your name on it'; children who want a permanent home to strike root in; and soon. It will be time for you to settle down.

Meanwhile, at the parting of the ways, you have this chance. Now is the time to find out about it.

The address to write to is: Wing Commander D. G. M. Hills, O.B.E., M.B., B.S., D.P.H., R.A.F., Ministry of Defence(M.A.I./724EE9), I-6 Tavistock Square, London, W.C.1. Please give your age and qualifications

Medical cadetships. Commissions as a cadet are available to students who have passed second M.B. (or equivalent). Initially your basic pay would be £630 p.a. Appropriate R.A.F. allowances, examination and tuition fees are paid in addition. You would continue to live and work as a medical student and when fully registered you would start work in the R.A.F. as a doctor in the rank of Flight Lieutenant on a five year short service commission. Further information may be obtained from the above address.

increases blood supply to the brain

1 Male H.L. Before (4.5 seconds)

Male, 51, (H.L.). First seen after the sudden development of an unsteady gait and sensations of numbness in the right arm and leg and around the mouth. Right facial palsy was present. Some ataxia of right arm and hand. The patient was placed on Cyclospasmol 400 mg q.d.s. At the next neurological examination, six weeks later, he was virtually normal.

2 H.L. After (4.5 seconds)

The angiogram after treatment shows a striking change. Notice the rather heavy concentration of vessels along the midline with a fairly pronounced accumulation of vessels just above the middle cerebral territory. The vessels are of much wider calibre, generally, than those seen in the control film.

Cyclospasmol significantly improved cerebral circulation in a trial using retrograde brachial cerebral angiography. Kuhn, 1966.
