A Doctor's Guide to Court—Second edition

By Keith Simpson, MA, MD(path), FRCP, FCPATH, DMJ

"Medicine and the law have long been somewhat uneasy professional partners," says Prof. Simpson in his introduction to this book, which aims to improve the relationship. It will fully prepare the doctor to give evidence in court on such subjects as abortion, drunkenness and divorce.

206 pages, illustrated, 45s.

Modern Trends in Endocrinology—3

Edited by H. Gardiner-Hill, MBE, MD, FRCP

The third in the series of Modern Trends in Endocrinology, this volume highlights some of the recent advances in this rapidly changing field.

345 pages, illustrated, 88s.

The Medical Assessment of Injuries for Legal Purposes

By Arnold Mann, FRCS, FRACS

This is a compact work suitable for medical practitioners called upon to give evidence as expert witnesses in civil cases.

288 pages, illustrated, 70s.

The Nature of Childhood Autism

By Gerald O'Gorman, MRCP, DPM

A lucid and sympathetic enquiry into the essential nature of childhood autism, which, although without doubt a condition of considerable importance medically, educationally and sociologically, is still surrounded by much misunderstanding and controversy. The book includes many case histories.

HEALTH CENTRES & GROUP PRACTICES

Lord Cohen of Birkenhead writes the introduction to a booklet on Health Centres and Group Practices based on recent articles in the B.M.J.

"... a series of excellent articles. . . Any practitioner who is considering how he can improve his service to his patients and his own working conditions will find this a very useful book."

Lancet (1966), 1, 380.

"... a 'must' for any group contemplating new practice premises . . . should be equally valuable to the M.O.H. planning a new health centre."

Brit. med. J. (1966), 1, 221.

"These reports . . . provide an admirable summary of the position today. . . ."

Equipose is not a barbiturate, neither is it a hypnotic. It is a psycho-relaxant with a calming action which is precise and localized. Equipose acts almost exclusively on the hypothalamus where the basic emotions of fear, anger and agitation are mediated. There is little or no 'drug trespass' into the cerebral or spinal cord areas.

This explains why treatment with Equipose is free from euphoria and habituation,^{1, 2} withdrawal reactions,² and drug-induced depression³

CERVICAL SPONDYLOSIS

Edited by

LORD BRAIN, D.M.(Oxon.), F.R.C.P., F.F.R., and MARCIA WILKINSON, D.M.(Oxon.),
F.R.C.P.

This book is the first comprehensive study covering all aspects of this disorder. Under the editorship of the late Lord Brain and Marcia Wilkinson a number of leading authorities have contributed chapters dealing with every facet of the disease and it is hoped that the book will lead to a fuller understanding of a disorder which afflicts a large proportion of the older age group. Although dealing mainly with the problems of cervical spondylosis this book inevitably includes other disorders of the cervical spine and discusses fully the problems of diagnosis, treatment and prognosis.

THE NEW LOOK AT MEDICINE SERIES

In a period of rapid social change the practice and profession of medicine is also changing. Changing so fast that those most deeply involved have little time to think where, why and how some changes should be encouraged and others diverted or arrested. The authors of this series from Pitman Medical have the experience to discuss their work authoritatively but are all young enough to be impatient of habitual attitudes which stand in the way of progress. Their contributions to the series have been under the guidance of Dr. F. N. L. Poynter, Director of the Wellcome Historical Medical Museum and Library, and Professor W. J. Butterfield, Professor of Medicine at Guy's Hospital.

British Journal of Medical Education

Journal of the Association for the Study of Medical Education

Medical education today is presenting major problems in every country. Great changes are taking place and efforts are being made to discover in what directions still further changes are needed. There is a real need for better communications in medical education between Britain and other countries. These needs are met by a new journal, the British Journal of Medical Education. The Journal acts as a medium for interchange of information on medical education—Undergraduate, Postgraduate and Continuing—in the United Kingdom and Overseas. It is the official journal of the Association for the Study of Medical Education (A.S.M.E.). The first issue appeared in December 1966, and the second issue March 1967 has just been published. Subsequent issues will appear quarterly in June and September.

The contents of the second issue, March 1967, are as follows :

The British Journal of Medical Education sets out to fulfil A.S.M.E.'s aim of making more widely known what the British medical schools and postgraduate bodies are doing. Besides printing reports on medical education overseas, the Journal encourages the practical study of medical education, and takes particular interest in the evaluation of methods. It will thus form a useful link between medicine and development in education in other fields.

...Medihaler-iso Forte gives relief in seconds

Fast profound relief of bronchospasm is within reach of the patient with Medihaler-iso Forte—in bronchitis as in asthma. Two recent reports have confirmed its exceptional speed and degree of relief. In one trial¹, Medihaler-iso Forte gave faster and greater relief than the two other pocket aerosols with which it was compared: at 3 to 5 minutes after inhalation Medihaler-iso Forte produced an average improvement in peak expiratory flow rate of 47 per cent, 18 per cent higher than the next best preparation. In the second trial² it was the fastest-acting of six pocket aerosols. In yet another trial³ a single inhalation from Medihaler-iso Forte had greater effect than 5 mg. of isoprenaline inhaled over three minutes from an oxygen-powered nebuliser.

These reports confirm that fast profound relief of bronchospasm is within reach of the patient with Medihaler-iso Forte. In the acute attack it is a most effective and convenient treatment. For the less severe case, relief can often be obtained from the smaller dose delivered by Medihaler-iso.

In Urinary Tract Infections PENBRITIN

treats the acute and prevents the chronic

'In children, the combination of recurrent urinary infection and vesico-ureteric reflux commonly produces the pyelonephritic kidney . . . so the girl pregnant for the first time in her teens or early 20's and found to have chronic pyelonephritis has almost certainly developed it during early childhood.'

Proc. Roy. soc. Med., (1965), 58, 1035.

'If the high incidence of chronic renal disease resulting from urinary tract infection is to be reduced, effective treatment of the primary attack is required . . .'

Postgrad. med. J., (1964), supp. 40, 55.

Penbritin is effective in urinary tract infection whether it is acute or results from vesico-ureteric reflux. Penbritin may be prescribed with safety even where renal damage or abnormalities are present. Higher dosages give increased blood and tissue levels.

PENBRITIN IS:

- Bactericidal, and gives high tissue and urine levels.
- Highly active against E. coli, proteus mirabilis, and strep. faecalis.

DOSAGE:

Adults: 500mg. every 8 hours.

Children: Under 2 years 125mg. 6 hourly. 2-10 years 250mg. 6 hourly.

In severe infections these dosages should be doubled.

With the introduction of HAVAPEN* (penamecillin) Wyeth research in Britain has now made t.d.s. penicillin therapy a reality. HAVAPEN is resistant to inactivation by gastric acid and just one tablet every eight hours ensures reliably effective blood levels of penicillin G—still the most effective antibiotic against the majority of infections you see in General Practice. Thus HAVAPEN ensures real overnight protection for your patients and minimises the risks of missed or forgotten doses. Each HAVAPEN tablet contains 350 mg. penamecillin equivalent to 510,000 units penicillin G. In bottles of 100.

Psoriasis... rapid response to Alphosyl

... even in previously intractable cases. A patient of 48 who had a generalised psoriasis for 20 years was essentially clear in six weeks.² A girl of 10 with a strong familial history of psoriasis, cleared almost completely after three weeks' application of Alphosyl Cream.² These are just two typical cases from the extensive clinical records underlining Alphosyl's outstanding effectiveness in bringing psoriasis under control.

New Alphosyl lubricating cream. A new water-in-oil dosage form, Alphosyl Lubricating Cream is particularly significant in the treatment of the dry, extremely scaly psoriatic lesion confined to the small site and the intertriginous area. Alphosyl cream is especially helpful in clearing psoriatic plaques exposed to constant friction. By enhancing lubrication of the skin folds, it serves to lessen irritation and facilitate healing. Clearing is prompt, even in previously resistant cases. The effectiveness of Alphosyl in this form is attributable in large measure to its unique cream base. This consists of a combination of saturated and unsaturated free fatty acids, naturally occurring triglycerides and esters that resemble the lipid constituents of normal healthy skin. The vehicle also contains hydrophobic-lipophilic bipolar substances which enhance the moisture uptake and retention of the amphoteric proteins of the stratum corneum. Significantly, it has been shown that squalane, one of the components of the base, is most effective in dissolving a cement substance in psoriatic scales.

Formula: Allantoin 2%+90% alcoholic extract of coal-tar (5-1) 5% in a vanishing type cream base or a smooth, non-greasy lotion base.

R_x Alphosyl

The bloodless revolution in hypovolaemic shock therapy

It would appear on first sight that shock, following blood loss, is best remedied by equivalent blood replacement. Of course, we now know that this concept is by no means true. Blood transfusions always carry risks—disease transmission, infection, incompatibility. The use of blood in nearly every minor haemorrhage is unnecessary and wasteful. Even with gross blood loss and shock, the need for immediate, adequate volume replacement cannot await blood grouping and crossmatching. 'The routine use of blood during anaesthetic and surgical procedures cannot be justified'.¹

But how satisfactory are the alternatives, plasma, crystalloids or colloids?

Plasma requires to be mixed and is even more liable to transmit disease especially hepatitis ('The quantity of infected plasma that can transmit hepatitis may be as little as one millionth of a millilitre'²). Its volume effect is often lacking. Crystalloids have virtually no value as volume expanders. A macromolecular colloid for volume replacement, dextran, is preferable—if it is of the correct molecular weight; neither so small that it is below the renal threshold and excreted too swiftly, nor so large that it may cause unwanted side effects, e.g. bleeding complications, interference with blood typing and crossmatching.

MACRODEX is the macromolecular colloid of choice. It has the correct molecular weight. Its specific and meticulously checked average molecular weight of 70,000 corresponds closely to that of albumin, the protein responsible for 80% of the colloid osmotic pressure of the human plasma. MACRODEX allows immediate therapy by providing adequate and lasting volume replacement.

'The infusion of macromolecular solutions does not involve as many hazards as blood transfusion. They should be selected for volume replacement when there is no clear indication that the oxygen transport of the blood is being compromised by lack of red cells'.¹ Naturally, where there is a need for an increase in red cells, the patient will be given a blood transfusion. However, MACRODEX will support the circulation and maintain the blood volume until the blood arrives. In most cases of hypovolaemic shock, the volume deficit is not so severe. MACRODEX provides the swiftest and often the only therapy necessary—sparing precious blood for patients whose lives may be at stake for the want of it and also as the initial replacement reducing the hazards and costs of blood transfusion to the lowest level possible.

Even the wrapper typifies the convenience of Tampax tampons

Women dislike fumbling with cumbersome menstrual protection devices. At a time when nerves are already on edge, difficulties seem to magnify with the pin-pad-belt routine. The Tampax tampon, on the other hand, is immediately available for instant use—merely pull the handy tear-thread in the linen-paper wrapper and there it is, ready for simple, efficient insertion into the vagina.

This wrapper has hygienic importance, too. Not only does it assure complete cleanliness, but it enables the user to carry spares in her handbag, or special Tampax purse container, with assurance that they will remain hygienic right up to the moment of need.

Your patients will welcome the tidy convenience of this product and will soon recognize, as have millions of other women around the world, its many other advantages. With Tampax tampons, the problem of menstrual odour is virtually eliminated. They are disposable by flushing away, as are the container-applicator tubes, so necessary for correct and easy insertion. Bathing and showering are made aesthetically possible. Even sitting and walking are more comfortable.

If you have patients who are having psychological or emotional difficulties over menstruation, perhaps you can ease their problems by recommending the Tampax tampon. Its use, comfortable and practical as it is, can improve a woman's or girl's whole attitude toward the complex of menstruation.

Available in Regular and Super absorbencies to meet the varying needs during the menstrual period.

Women at risk

'... The highest infection rate was in women of childbearing age, particularly between twenty and twenty-nine.'

Lancet, (1962), ii, 1246

In young adult women, urinary tract infections such as 'honeymoon cystitis' or 'pyelitis of pregnancy' may often be acute episodes in an infection which has smouldered sub-clinically since childhood, perhaps following inadequate symptomatic treatment. Whether the infection is new or old, and however apparently mild, eradication of the infecting organisms is essential to reduce the risk of chronic renal disease in later life.

FURADANTIN

THE NORTH-EAST METROPOLITAN REGIONAL HOSPITAL BOARD

CAREER IN MEDICAL ADMINISTRATION

An Assistant Senior Medical Officer is required to assist the Board's Senior Administrative Medical Officer in the medical administration of the hospital and specialist services of the region. The work is largely concerned with aspects of the organization and planning of the hospital services in the region, which with the expansion in the building programme are in process of redevelopment. For direct appointment to this grade previous administrative experience, preferably in the hospital or public health service, is desirable.

Alternatively, the Board is prepared to make a trainee appointment in the Medical Officer grade for a probationary period of one year, during which suitability for promotion to the Assistant Senior Medical Officer grade will be assessed.

Candidates for the trainee appointment need not have had any previous experience in medical administration. This affords an excellent opportunity for a young doctor to test his/her aptitude in the field of medical administration where there are good career prospects.

Salary scales:
Medical Officer: £2,105 at age 29 or less, rising to £2,335 at age 33 × £70 (3) × £75 (3) — £2,770 per annum.
Assistant Senior Medical Officer: £2,770 × £110 (6) — £3,430 per annum.

Application forms and further particulars obtainable from: Secretary, North-East Metropolitan Regional Hospital Board, 40 Eastbourne Terrace, London W.2. Closing date for receipt of applications: April 14, 1967. (Please quote reference 620.) (14560)

Medical AdviserEthical pharmaceuticals

A fast growing French company manufacturing ethical pharmaceuticals has been marketing in the U.K. a small, very specialised range of products for the past few years. They are intending to launch in 1967 in the U.K. new products already developed in France and to widen their range progressively. They wish to appoint a medical adviser who is seeking to grow with a growth company. In this new appointment he will initiate and supervise clinical trials and product registration, assist in product promotion and undertake the professional contact work required. It is anticipated that he will eventually assist in the group's projected expansion in English speaking countries world wide.
 Candidates, aged 35 to 40, must be British registered medical practitioners with a variety of experience. Appropriate experience in the pharmaceutical industry would be an advantage. A high standard of French is essential, with ability to translate technical medical documents. Appointment salary negotiable in the range £3,250 to £4,000; pension, car, re-location allowance. Please write to L. V. Taylor quoting AM.42010, and stating how each requirement is met.

THE ROYAL BRISBANE HOSPITAL
QUEENSLAND—AUSTRALIADEPARTMENT OF PATHOLOGY
DIRECTOR

Applications are invited from suitably qualified medical practitioners for appointment to the position of Director of Pathology, the Royal Brisbane Hospital, rendered vacant by the appointment of the Director to the Chair of Pathology, the University of Queensland.

The Department of Pathology serves the Royal Brisbane Hospital, the Brisbane Women's Hospital, and the Brisbane Children's Hospital, all located in the same area with a total of 1,400 beds. These three hospitals are the major teaching hospitals in the University of Queensland and house the university clinical teaching departments.

Construction of new modern laboratories for the Department of Pathology at the Royal Brisbane Hospital will commence before June 30, 1967. The estimated period of construction is from two to two and a half years.

The department has four major divisions—biochemistry, microbiology, haematology, and morbid anatomy—each with a medical head.

Applicants should have some experience in clinical medicine, hold a higher qualification in pathology, have had some years' experience in some branch of pathology in a teaching hospital, and should have had considerable experience in developmental work in some branch of clinical pathology other than morbid anatomy. Administrative experience would be an advantage.

The successful applicant will be required to co-ordinate the work of the various divisions of the department, to pursue work in his own field, and to be generally responsible for the administration of the department. He will be required to co-operate with the Department of Pathology of the University of Queensland, and may be asked to undertake undergraduate and postgraduate teaching in clinical pathology. Suitably qualified applicants may be offered appropriate academic status in the University of Queensland.

Full details of the position may be obtained from Professor A. W. Pound, Department of Pathology, Royal Brisbane Hospital. Salary for the position is $A11,780 per annum, and the successful applicant will be required to contribute to the Public Service Superannuation Fund.

Applications, stating full personal particulars, qualifications and experience, with references to published work, and stating the names of three referees who have agreed to give confidential reports, should be lodged with the Acting Manager, the North Brisbane Hospitals Board, Herston Road, Brisbane, by June 10, 1967. (H.5028)

These three hospitals are the major teaching hospitals in the University of Queensland and house the university clinical teaching departments.

Construction of new modern laboratories for the Department of Pathology at the Royal Brisbane Hospital will commence before June 30, 1967. The estimated period of construction is from two to two and a half years.

Applicants should hold a higher qualification in pathology specializing in morbid anatomy and histology, and should have some years of practice as a specialist in these fields.

The successful applicant will be required to organize the autopsy service and the surgical diagnostic services of the Royal Brisbane Hospital respectively, although some interchange of work is envisaged. He will also be required to co-operate with the Department of Pathology of the University of Queensland and may be asked to undertake some undergraduate and postgraduate teaching duties. Suitably qualified applicant may be offered appropriate academic status in the University of Queensland.

Full details may be obtained from Professor A. W. Pound, Department of Pathology, Royal Brisbane Hospital.

Salary for the position is $A10,350 per annum, and the successful applicant will be required to contribute to the Public Service Superannuation Fund.

Nulacin and only Nulacin provides intragastric milk-alkali drip therapy for the ambulant patient

“In view of the ineffectiveness of most of the tableted antacids, the milk-alkali tablet (Nulacin) would appear to be the antacid of choice for ambulatory therapy.”

Safe, Simple, Effective

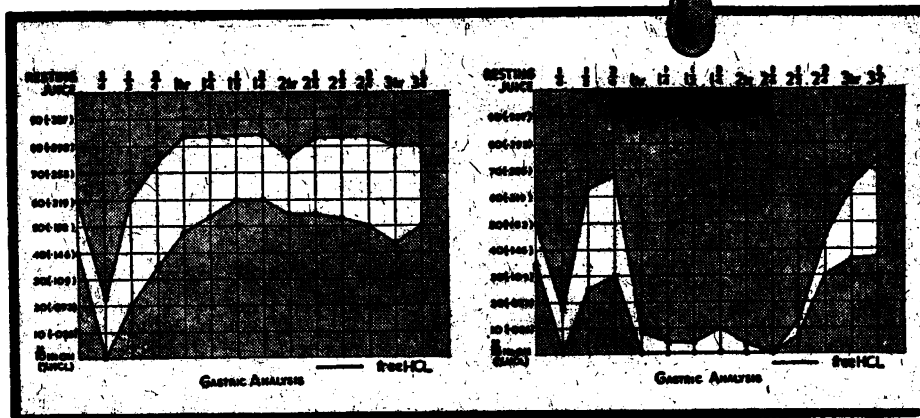

NULACIN TABLETS provide a safe, simple and effective treatment of peptic ulcer.

In treating peptic ulcer a Ryle's tube may be passed through the nose and into the oesophagus and a mixture of milk and antacid allowed to flow continuously over the affected area. This form of therapy can only be employed in those patients who are in bed and for the ambulant patient Nulacin tablets are preferable. Nulacin tablets are prepared from whole milk combined with dextrans and maltose, together with the trisilicate, oxide and carbonate of magnesium and calcium carbonate. Nulacin tablets when allowed to dissolve slowly in the mouth provide milk-alkali drip therapy. In fact, Nulacin tablets have revolutionized the treatment of peptic ulcer.
