British Journal of Medical Education

The Journal of the Association for the Study of Medical Education

The aim of the British Journal of Medical Education will be to act as a medium for interchange of information on medical education—Undergraduate, Postgraduate, and Continuing—in the United Kingdom and Overseas. It hopes to encourage the objective study of medical education both in the United Kingdom and throughout the world. The journal will give preference to the reporting of fact rather than opinion. The first issue of this new quarterly journal appeared in December, 1966. The second issue was published in March and subsequent issues will appear in June and September.

ACTHAR GEL

ACTH GEL Inj BP

Prompt relief of pain Increased mobility More normal life

For the rheumatoid patient, ACTHAR GEL is still the most effective treatment and the most reliable long-acting corticotrophin available. It stimulates the adrenal cortex to release the full range of natural steroids—the hazards of adrenal suppression associated with synthetic corticosteroid therapy are avoided.

Intermittent Dosage

Recently published research* has shown that it is quite possible to stabilise rheumatoid patients on 40 IU ACTHAR GEL two or three times weekly—or even once weekly in some cases. This obviously gives even greater security—and extends the clinical usefulness of ACTHAR GEL. *Lancet, (1966) 2: 78

For Self-Administration

Once the maintenance dose of ACTHAR GEL has been determined, the patient can easily be taught self-administration. This means that previously crippled patients return to, and remain at, their occupations. For fuller details please write for the book "The Place of ACTHAR GEL in the Treatment of Rheumatoid Arthritis".

'Indocid' in soft tissue lesions

—bursitis, synovitis, tendinitis, tenosynovitis, capsulitis of the shoulder

'75 mg daily of indomethacin
for one week is shown to be better than placebo in the treatment of the painful
stiff shoulder.'

Since its introduction in 1964, 'Indocid' has enjoyed a very high reputation for efficacy in the treatment of various forms of joint disease. Many authors in all parts of the world have reported favourable trials and thousands of arthritic patients have gained relief. Little emphasis has been given, however, to the relief afforded by 'Indocid' to patients with soft tissue disorders. The acute musculoskeletal diseases are common conditions—it is estimated that nearly one million cases of synovitis and bursitis occur each year in the United Kingdom alone. They are frequently resistant to treatment and at times progress to prolonged and severe disability before resolution eventually occurs.

A recent British paper read in Turin* reports the results of a double-blind trial on 60 patients with "the painful stiff shoulder syndrome". The author uses this term, as he says, "purposely in preference to any other of the numerous synonyms such as tendinitis, rotator cuff syndrome, capsulitis, sub deltoid bursitis etc., as the exact location of the lesions is variable and at times debatable."

Following a one-week course of 'Indocid' or placebo, each patient was assessed according to the following criteria:

- 1 Subjective improvement of pain.
- 2 Subjective restriction of shoulder movement.
- 3 Objective measurement of internal rotation.
- 4 Abduction of shoulder.

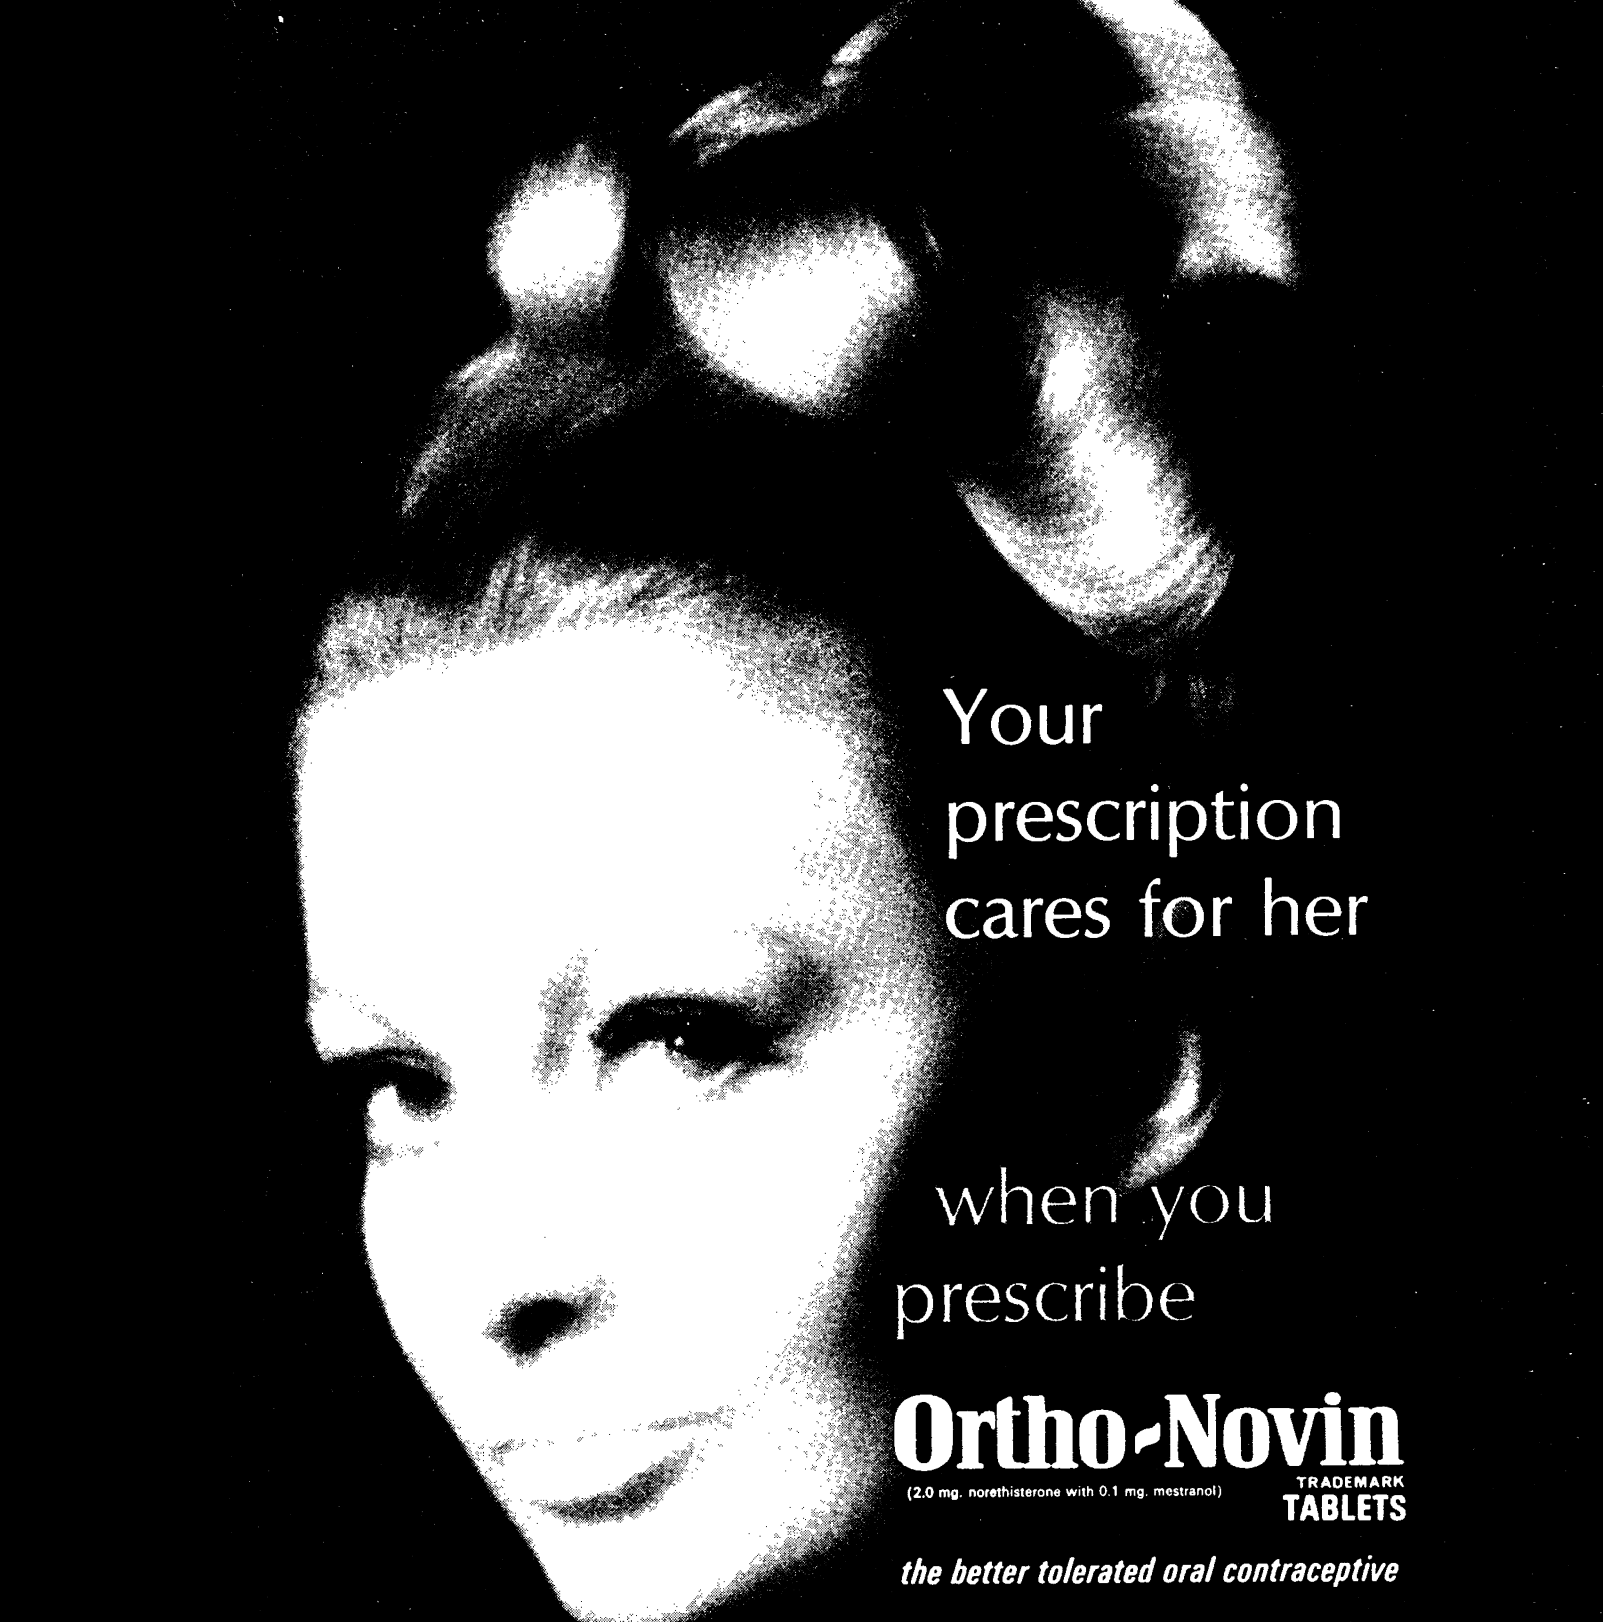

Results with 'Indocid' were found to be significantly better than with the placebo in all four of the criteria.

The trial reflects the value of 'Indocid' in acute musculoskeletal disorders, particularly since significant relief was noted after the short space of one week.

*International Symposium on Recent Developments in Non-steroidal Anti-rheumatic Therapy, Turin, 8-9 June, 1965, Ed. Minerva Medica, p.73.

'Indocid' is supplied as 25 mg capsules and 100 mg suppositories.

this is the tablet that started a revolution

'Largactil'* was introduced in 1954. And the "psychiatric revolution" began. Every so often a group of substances is discovered which changes the whole face of medicine. As with the sulphonamides and the antibiotics, so with the phenothiazine derivatives. 'Largactil', the first of these major tranquillizers, is still the basic therapeutic agent in many psychotic disorders and the standard with which others are compared.

The care in formulation, the skill in manufacture and the broad background of research that led to its introduction is still behind you every time you prescribe.

New First-aid and transit dressing for Burns

—even unskilled helpers
can apply it in seconds

The Roehampton burns dressing, made from Pritex polyurethane foam, reduces risk to the patient during the critical pre-hospital period. It also provides a logical preliminary to the modern exposure treatment.

It is so simple and effective to apply that even unskilled helpers can attend to a casualty—quickly and safely.

It can be applied in seconds without causing unnecessary pain and with a minimal risk of adherence. It provides good protection against trauma and reduces the risk of infection.

This Roehampton dressing can be removed in seconds. It will often save the patient having to be given large doses of drugs, or even a general anaesthetic.

In the event of multiple casualties, such as might be caused by large scale explosions or fires, the Roehampton burns dressing has many advantages.

☐ It makes a light, compact package that is easy to transport. ☐ No special care is needed to keep it in perfect condition. ☐ It remains sterile until the package is broken open. ☐ In all circumstances, it gives the patient the best possible means of protection from further damage while on the way to hospital.

The problem of the dirty mouth

Even in 1967 the dangers, and the unpleasantness, of the dirty mouth are still present in the post-operative period, as well as in many fevers; the geriatric patient being especially prone to them. Careful attention to oral hygiene will usually, of course, keep the patient comfortable and prevent complications. Such attention, however, is very time-consuming to the nurse; and it is not often realised that for most patients it can be replaced or supplemented by the use of chewing gum.

The regular use of chewing gum, by stimulating salivary flow, keeps the mouth clean in the most natural way possible. The patient is in a sense providing his own nursing care with the minimum of energy expenditure by himself.

Child patients, of course, need no encouragement to chew gum. The older patient may need encouraging—but not once he has appreciated the very obvious cleansing and refreshing effect that chewing gum has upon the mouth. Chewing gum is also of value to patients who are forbidden to smoke.

'Ilosone' excels as a first-line treatment for acute upper respiratory tract and broncho-pulmonary infections of bacterial origin.

'Ilosone' is effective against a wide range of infections, but it is much more active than the tetracyclines against Gram-positive cocci – by far the commonest pathogens of the respiratory tract. Unlike the tetracyclines, however, 'Ilosone' has extremely low toxicity, virtually no sensitising potential – and it has negligible effect on the normal bacteria of the gut.

By selecting 'Ilosone' as your first-line treatment you ensure a rapid response in most cases – with much less risk of complications.

is only marginally better than other oral contraceptives...

The physician, trained to make rational choices, faces a problem when he comes to The Pill, for he knows that as far as the combined oral contraceptives are concerned all are virtually 100% effective.

He looks then for other significant differences. First of these is the incidence of side-effects. (The latest data from the F.P.A. show that Lyndiol 2.5 is substantially free from side-effects).

Price is another factor, especially as the acceptability of the oral contraceptive idea spreads down the socio-economic scale to those families who perhaps need contraception most and can afford it least. (Lyndiol 2.5 offers the most reasonable price-to-patient).

And he considers patient reliability – which dosage scheme will be easiest to follow? (Lyndiol 2.5's 'fixed day' routine means simply that if a patient starts on, say, a Friday, she finishes three weeks later on a Friday and begins her new course on the following Friday).

...Medihaler-iso Forte gives relief in seconds

Fast profound relief of bronchospasm is within reach of the patient with Medihaler-iso Forte—in bronchitis as in asthma. Two recent reports have confirmed its exceptional speed and degree of relief. In one trial¹, Medihaler-iso Forte gave faster and greater relief than the two other pocket aerosols with which it was compared: at 3 to 5 minutes after inhalation Medihaler-iso Forte produced an average improvement in peak expiratory flow rate of 47 per cent, 18 per cent higher than the next best preparation. In the second trial² it was the fastest-acting of six pocket aerosols. In yet another trial³ a single inhalation from Medihaler-iso Forte had greater effect than 5 mg. of isoprenaline inhaled over three minutes from an oxygen-powered nebuliser.

These reports confirm that fast profound relief of bronchospasm is within reach of the patient with Medihaler-iso Forte. In the acute attack it is a most effective and convenient treatment. For the less severe case, relief can often be obtained from the smaller dose delivered by Medihaler-iso.

Prodexin puts acidity firmly in its place—right in the middle of the safe zone of pH 3-5. And keeps it there. Prodexin tablets give continuous and prolonged relief from pain caused by hyperacidity, dyspepsia and peptic ulcer.

Prodexin contains aluminium glycinate, a fast acting buffer antacid. Left to disperse slowly in the mouth, the tablet releases a steady trickle of antacid into the stomach: it simulates an intragastric drip in a simple and most convenient way. Prodexin tablets are conveniently small. They can be carried about and taken wherever and whenever necessary. This is particularly useful to the ambulant patient.

Dosage: One or more tablets an hour when necessary. For continuous therapeutic effect, the tablet should be sucked slowly or left to disperse in the mouth. For rapid relief of pain, the tablet may be chewed and then swallowed.

To lessen the fear of mutilation . . . arrange for Prosthesis before mastectomy

The psychological hazards of mastectomy are generally recognized. A woman's fear of mutilation—of its effect on her appearance—is often as great as her fear of surgery itself. That is why arranging for the correct prosthesis replacement before surgery helps to minimize the psychic trauma—enabling the patient to face the adjustment period with more calm and assurance.

The surgeon can prescribe Spencer Mastectomy Supports with complete confidence that they will meet both the medical and cosmetic indications. The reason: Each Spencer Breast Support and Breast Form is individually designed, cut and made for each patient.

Wherever support is indicated for breasts, back, abdomen—for women, men, children—you will find Spencer Supports demonstrably superior.

ANTIBIOTICS AND THE INTESTINAL FLORA

Treatment with broad spectrum antibiotics suppresses the normal flora, which may be replaced by abnormal resistant organisms causing diarrhoea.

This change can be prevented or reversed by the implantation of Lactobacillus acidophilus which has been rendered antibiotic-resistant, and is thus able to multiply freely under these abnormal conditions. The products of growth of the organism are inimical to that of many other bacteria^{1,2} and thus contribute to its rapid preponderance over other species.

Oral treatment with antibiotic-resistant L. acidophilus in the form of ENPAC has been shown to eliminate Candida from the faeces of infants with antibiotic-induced diarrhoea, with relief of symptoms succeeded by rapid gain in weight^{3,4} and greatly to reduce the numbers of staphylococci in the faeces of patients treated with tetracyclines.⁵

Few bronchitic patients can afford a day off. Give them effective relief with new

Galaton and Delexin

These two new Wander products provide effective relief of cough in many acute and chronic respiratory disorders.

GALATON combines a time-proved cough suppressant (codeine phosphate) with phenylpropanolamine which is chemically related to ephedrine but causes less central stimulation. It relieves dry, unproductive cough and wheezing in many respiratory disorders—including acute bronchitis, chronic bronchitis and emphysema, bronchial asthma and pertussis. Galaton is particularly helpful in relieving the distressing night-time cough that disturbs sleep.

DELEXIN combines a powerful expectorant (guaiphenesin) — which liquefies tenacious, viscous sputum—with phenylpropanolamine. Indications include acute tracheitis, acute bronchitis, chronic bronchitis and emphysema, and the respiratory complications of infectious diseases.

	Formulae per 5 ml.	Packs and Basic N.H.S. price
Galaton	Codeine phosphate B.P. 10mg. Phenylpropanolamine hydrochloride 12.5mg. Blackcurrant flavoured syrup	6 fl. oz. bottle 3/6d.

Nulacin and only Nulacin provides Intragastric milk-alkali drip therapy for the ambulant patient 66 In view of the ineffectiveness of most of the tableted antacids, the milk-alkali tablet (Nulacin) would appear to be the antacid of choice for ambulatory therapy.??

Safe, Simple, Effective

NULACIN TABLETS provide a safe, simple and effective treatment of peptic ulcer.

In treating peptic ulcer a Ryle's tube may be passed through the nose and into the oesophagus and a mixture of milk and antacid allowed to flow continuously over the affected area. This form of therapy can only be employed in those patients who are in bed and for the ambulant patient Nulacin tablets are preferable. Nulacin tablets are prepared from whole milk combined with dextrins and maltose, together with the trisilicate, oxide and carbonate of magnesium and calcium carbonate. Nulacin tablets when allowed to dissolve slowly in the mouth provide milk-alkali drip therapy. In fact, Nulacin tablets have revolutionized the treatment of peptic ulcer.
