medihaler

With Medihaler-duo, Riker makes a further notable contribution to bronchodilator therapy. Medihaler-duo enables the physician to make a more positive approach to reversal of airway obstruction in bronchial asthma and chronic bronchitis.

Medihaler-duo takes advantage of the finding that the bronchodilator effect of isoprenaline can be significantly enhanced by the action of phenylephrine. As a result, it is possible to obtain a greater response to treatment than would be experienced from comparable doses of isoprenaline administered alone. Moreover, this enhanced bronchodilator effect is achieved without significant change in pulse rate or blood pressure at recommended dosage. These results have been confirmed in clinical trials 1,2,3,4,5,6,7. With Medihalerduo, relief is immediate in onset and often prolonged for three or more hours. Effect on the cardiovascular system has been found to be insignificant even in patients with uncomplicated hypertension.

in bronchial asthma and chronic bronchitis

Composition Medihaler-duo contains a suspension of isoprenaline hydrochloride 8 mg./ml., phenylephrine bitartrate 12 mg./ml. and delivers to the patient a measured dose containing 0.16 mg. isoprenaline hydrochloride and 0.24 mg. phenylephrine bitartrate.

Contra-indications There are no absolute contra-indications, but Medihaler-duo should be used with caution in the presence of cardiac disease, hypertension or hyperthyroidism.

Side-effects Overdosage may cause dry mouth, palpitations, or nervousness.

Dosage Each puff from Medihaler-duo delivers a measured dose. One to three puffs should be sufficient to provide relief in most cases. It should not be necessary for the patient to take further treatment for at least thirty minutes, or more than eight treatments a day.

Children Medihaler-duo should be administered to children only under the supervision of a responsible adult.

The decision to make Lincocin your antibiotic of first choice in upper respiratory infections assures you the advantage of prompt and sustained antibacterial action against Gram-positive invaders – the pathogens most frequently involved in tonsillitis, pharyngitis, otitis media and sinusitis. Thorough penetration into soft tissue and bone means effective antibiotic action at the site of infection. Lincocin is not affected by penicillinase; it may also be given to patients allergic to penicillin. For these reasons Lincocin is more likely to produce permanent resolution of the condition.

Numerous clinical reports have shown that Lincocin controls the majority of commonly encountered upper respiratory infections: 94% success in sinusitis;⁸ 85% success in tonsillitis, pharyngitis and scarlet fever;^{3,4-9} 85% success in otitis media.^{1,2,10} Upper Respiratory Infections call for a decisive antibiotic – decide on Lincocin.

Lincocin Capsules: Each capsule contains 500 mg. lincomycin (as lincomycin hydrochloride monohydrate), in bottles of 12 and 100.

Haelan certainly is effective—it contains flurandrenolone, one of the most powerful steroids for topical use. Haelan has the right concentration of flurandrenolone (0.0125%) to resolve most steroidresponsive skin conditions without undue risk of systemic side effects. But there's more to Haelan than that.

Because flurandrenolone is so active, Haelan provides an ample quantity of base for easy application, and the big 60G (2 oz) tube is large enough to treat the average patient without the need for repeat prescriptions. Last, but by no means least, Haelan, at less than $2\frac{1}{2}$ d per gramme is clearly economical.

Release the arthritic patient with BRUFEN

The arthritic patient is imprisoned by the pain and disability of his condition — as well as by limitations of the drugs used in its treatment. Brufen is an antirheumatic agent designed to bring the arthritic patient a new measure of freedom from these constraints. Pain and stiffness are relieved, joint size reduced, pressure tolerance increased, grip strength improved and the range of pain-free movement extended. In achieving these benefits Brufen appears to be singularly free from serious side-effects. Brufen (ibuprofen) is a non-steroidal compound which exhibits the high level of anti-inflammatory, analgesic and antipyretic activity necessary for effective treatment of rheumatoid arthritis, osteo-arthritis and allied conditions. At the same time Brufen is so well tolerated that it may be taken on waking to relieve morning stiffness. Brufen is an achievement of British research. Supplied as tablets of 200 mg. ibuprofen.

How do General Practitioners spend their time?

Do Appointment Systems Work—and How do Patients use them?

What Type of Work Can a General Practice Nurse do?

The New General Practice answers these and many other questions. The book contains 22 articles published in the B.M.J. in the last two years, many of them describing pioneering work in the field of general practice. In his Introduction to the book Lord Platt says "Those who have already reorganized and reformed their practices will read this book with interest as they will be able to compare their own ideas with those of others, sometimes learning, sometimes having the satisfaction of knowing better."

THE NEW GENERAL PRACTICE

"... this book will be widely read by general practitioners and will, no doubt, be passed from partner to partner and principal to staff in many practices.... What is more important, however, is that the book should be read by others outside general practice, particularly those who teach."

Brit. med. J. (1968), 4, 173.

- "Many of these articles are important and aspirants to membership of the College might be expected to be aware of them..." "... most useful to those who wish to know more about how best a general practice may be organized."

 J. roy. Coll. gen. Practit. (1968), 16, 406.
- "It is well to restate at this moment, as this paperback does, what we should, and could, and have aimed for in the past as in the present, in order to achieve proper general practice doctoring as applicable in the second half of the twentieth century."

 Update (1968), 1, 63.
- "Provides a valuable account of the experiences of methods by which another country tackles its problems of organization of health services. It is recommended to everyone interested in the problems of medical care available to all."

 Swedish Medical Journal (1968), 65, 3661.

Pathologist – Diagnostic Aids

This new appointment offers a challenging career to a pathologist with general training, and a special interest in clinical biochemistry or immunohaematology. He will join our Department of Biological Reagents which has a team of graduates researching into a range of diagnostic aids covering all fields of human and animal medicine, and backed by unusually extensive facilities. With his broad knowledge of the area of study he would rapidly help channel this research effort into the areas of greatest need. Responsible to the Department's Head of Research and Development, also a medical graduate, he will be able to undertake research for a higher degree while becoming familiar with the Department's aims and organisation. In a few years he would take over responsibility for the research and development function. Applicants should be about thirty years old, probably senior registrars or equivalent, and temperamentally suited to an environment where a research headache cannot be cured by a few weeks clinical routine. It is desirable that they should be members of the College of Pathologists, or be about to take the final examination.

The starting salary will relate to NHS initially and will directly reflect responsibility and performance in later years. Conditions of service are excellent, with almost unlimited academic freedom. Assistance with moving expenses is available.

Applications giving brief details of age, qualifications and experience, and quoting reference AM.118, should be addressed in the first instance to the Senior Personnel Officer,

WELLCOME RESEARCH LABORATORIES,

Langley Court, Beckenham, Kent.

HEAD OF PHARMACOLOGICAL RESEARCH c. £6,000

One of the world's leading ethical pharmaceutical manufacturers with a fine record of research during more than 40 years, wishes to appoint an outstanding young pharmacologist as Head of Pharmacological Research at its international research headquarters in Europe.

The reputation of the company has been built on worldwide acceptance of its range of ethical products, originated by its research teams who now total some 500 scientists.

Five departments, situated in various countries, are concerned with animal studies, including general pharmacology, toxicology and endocrinology. The man appointed will be responsible for the largest of these departments, a group whose senior members include M.D.s with extensive pharmacological experience as well as other competent specialists. The staff of this Department, including supporting assistants, totals more than 30. The Head of the Department reports directly to the Research Director.

The research environment of the company is very favourable for the professional and personal development of its team members. The emphasis is on flexibility, and responsibility and opportunity at an early age. Promotion prospects are very good.

The successful candidate is likely to be in his 30's and will have a good degree in pharmacology followed by postgraduate experience, preferably in the field of animal pharmacology, which has led to the award of a Ph.D. His experience should be broad and related to the development and screening of both existing and new

This appointment is of major importance and calls for an exceptional blend of professional skills. It will appeal to a young but mature pharmacologist, whose career shows that he has the professional capability, plus the energy and enthusiasm to lead a research department in a company which has an outstanding record of grewth.

Total initial remuneration is likely to be around £6,000, the actual figure depending on the man appointed. The company's salary policy allows for ample recognition of merit and conditions of service and fringe benefits are excellent.

The location of the appointment provides a pleasant country town environment with good housing and schools.

IPSWICH VOCATIONAL TRAINING SCHEME

IPSWICH VOCATIONAL TRAINING SCHEME

An entirely new vocational training programme for general practice will shortly be offered at Ipswich. There will be eight posts in the scheme beginning on August 1, 1969.

Two years of rotating appointments in the Ipswich Hospitals will be followed by one year attached to local training general practices.

During the hospital period, each doctor will hold six month appointments in General Medicine and in Obstetrics, and three month appointments in Paediatrics. Geriatrics, and Casualty. All appointments will provide extensive clinical experience and organised teaching. A one month ciective period will be held.

The teaching of psychological skills required of the family physician will be a particular feature of the scheme. Weekly seminars will ofter training in psychiatry including its psychodynamic and psychosomatic aspects, and in the relevant areas of sociology and psychology.

Personal contact with the family physicians involved in the teaching programme will be maintained throughout the hospital period and experience with general practice will be included during this time.

The hospital posts will be at S.H.O. level and the normal salary scale will apply. A proportional increase in salary can be expected during the year in general practice. It offers an exceptional opportunity to doctors who wish to prepare themselves for the general practice of the future, and who may wish to play an active role in bringing it about.

Further inquiries are invited from potential candidates, who must have completed their preregistration appointment by August 1. They should have a firm intention of entering general practice and must be prepared to complete the three-year course.

A detailed description of the scheme is available on request. Those seeking further information should contact Dr. Clive Jolly, The Clinical Tutor, Ipswich and East Suffolk Hospital, Anglesea Road Wing, Ipswich, (H.7989)

A different class of bronchodilator

MORE SELECTIVE · LONGER ACTING · MORE EFFECTIVE

A NEW STANDARD IN BRONCHODILATOR THERAPY

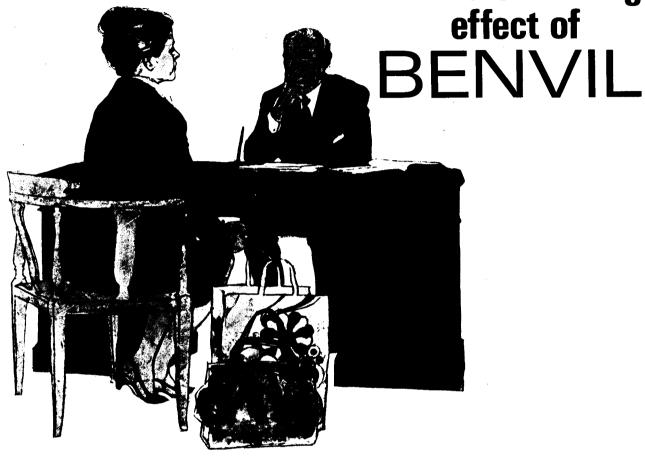

Previously available β -adrenergic stimulants such as isoprenaline and orciprenaline act on the β_1 receptors of heart muscle as well as on the β_2 receptors of bronchial muscle. Consequently, undesirable increases in heart rate and pulse pressure sometimes occur when these drugs are used to produce bronchodilatation. Ventolin is different: first because it is highly selective in its action, affecting primarily β_2 receptors: second, because it is more effective than existing bronchodilators: and third, because it is longer-acting.

EFFECTIVE, because Nulacin achieves continuous neutralisation of hyperacidity. As peptic ulcers arise and recur only in the presence of free acid, Nulacin not only relieves symptoms but is the ideal long-term medical treatment.

SIMPLE, because Nulacin is specially designed to dissolve slowly in the mouth and produce a continuous intragastric milk-alkali drip in the ambulant patient. One tablet provides up to 30 minutes' relief from excess acid.

SAFE, because clinical experience has shown that Nulacin produces no electrolyte disturbances and can be used in all patients with peptic ulcers.

NULACIN is a unique combination of whole milk protein and fats with dextrins, maltose and suitable antacids and provides economical, long-term medical treatment for peptic ulcer.
