Septrin – an advance on the antibiotics

When it comes to safety, only one inhaler has been shown to improve the natural function of gas exchange in most patients.
Medihaler-duo.

The safety of a pressurised aerosol is of greatest significance in the seriously ill asthmatic patient. This is the patient who is most likely to abuse his inhaler.

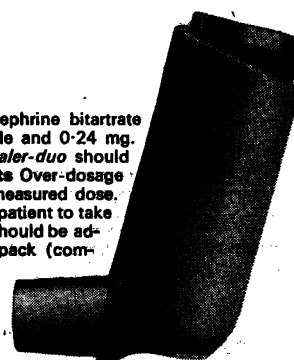

Often the severity of his condition is not clinically evident<sup>1, 2, 3, 4</sup>. Moreover, recent discoveries suggest that apparent absence of cardiac effect at normal dosage is no longer an adequate measure of relative aerosol safety. Indeed, long-acting bronchodilators, in spite of claims for their selective action, are in gross overdose most unlikely to be safer than isoprenaline<sup>5, 6</sup>.

All tend to cause a fall in arterial oxygen tension.

However, Medihaler-duo raises arterial blood oxygen and lowers arterial blood carbon dioxide tensions. Clinical reports<sup>7, 8</sup> have confirmed the improvement in the blood gas picture which may be so vital for the seriously ill patient. No other aerosol investigated gave this protection.

Composition Medihaler-duo contains a suspension of isoprenaline hydrochloride 8 mg./ml., phenylephrine bitartrate 12 mg./ml., and delivers to the patient a measured dose containing 0.16 mg. isoprenaline hydrochloride and 0.24 mg. phenylephrine bitartrate. Contra-indications There are no absolute contra-indications, but Medihaler-duo should be used with caution in the presence of cardiac disease, hypertension or hyperthyroidism. Side-effects Over-dosage may cause dry mouth, palpitations or nervousness. Dosage Each puff from Medihaler-duo delivers a measured dose. One to three puffs should be sufficient to provide relief in most cases. It should not be necessary for the patient to take further treatment for at least thirty minutes, or more than eight treatments a day. Children Medihaler-duo should be administered to children only under the supervision of a responsible adult. Basic NHS price Standard pack (complete 400-dose unit) 17/- plus Purchase Tax. # Four factors in a diagnosis can point to one word

Take a case of tonsillitis. First, you gauge its severity. Second, you are aware of possible sequelae, so the treatment must be effective. This leads you to opt for a penicillin rather than a bacteriostatic agent. Finally, you choose one that is easy and pleasant to take. It all points to Broxil Syrup.

Broxil works. In practice, patients do seem to get better quicker with Broxil. Broxil has an excellent safety record. All you ever need do is take the normal penicillin precautions. For ENT, upper respiratory tract, skin and soft tissue infections, Broxil has an outstanding record for effectiveness over ten years of practice.

Inderal-80

Prescribing information

Dosage

Most patients can be maintained in normotension with 80 mg. or less, four times daily.

The starting dose is 20 mg. four times daily, taken before food. Increments of 20 mg. four times daily can be made at each visit—usually weekly or fortnightly during the stabilisation period—until a satisfactory reduction in blood pressure has been achieved. One of the pharmacological effects of 'Inderal' is to reduce the pulse rate. Dosage can be increased incrementally until either the blood pressure falls to the desired level or the heart rate falls to 55-60 beats per minute.

The anti-hypertensive effect of 'Inderal'-80 develops gradually and if control still seems inadequate at a dose of 80 mg. four times daily, further increments should be withheld for one month in case response is delayed. Thereafter further increases may still be necessary. Slightly subnormal blood pressure, with dizziness and weakness, is an indication that the optimum dose has been exceeded. Whilst small excesses should be corrected, they are not likely to cause acute hypotensive episodes.

Concomitant therapy

The addition of a thiazide diuretic (plus potassium) to the regimen may be advantageous, since this enhances the effect of 'Inderal' and may permit some reduction in dosage.

When a patient is being transferred from a sympatholytic drug to 'Inderal', dosage of the former is cautiously reduced whilst that of 'Inderal' is gradually increased as already described.

Contraindications

'Inderal' is contraindicated in heart block and in patients with a history of bronchospasm. It is also contraindicated after prolonged fasting and in diabetic ketoacidosis or metabolic acidosis.

Precautions

Patients with overt or incipient cardiac failure depend on uninhibited sympathetic drive for the maintenance of cardiac contractility. These patients should not be given 'Inderal' unless cardiac contractility is maintained with digitalis and/or diuretics and symptoms fully controlled.

Pregnancy

There is no evidence of teratogenicity with 'Inderal', but like all other drugs it should be avoided in pregnancy unless its use is essential.

Adverse reactions

'Inderal' is usually well tolerated. Minor side effects such as nausea, insomnia, lassitude and diarrhoea are transient or may be avoided by gradual introduction of treatment. Isolated cases of purpura, erythematous rash and paraesthesia of the hands have been reported. In the rare event of idiosyncratic hypersensitivity to 'Inderal', with bradycardia and hypotension, the drug should be withdrawn.

Overdosage

Excessive bradycardia can be countered with atropine 1-2 mg. intravenously followed, if necessary, by a  $\beta$ -receptor stimulant such as isoprenaline 25  $\mu$ g. intravenously or orciprenaline 0.5 mg. intravenously.

Presentation

A week ago
his problem was his skin

He first noticed the itching at work. Then his hands started to redden. The skin cracked and became scaly. He soon found difficulty in operating his lathe and the irritation affected his sleep. He realised that something must be done; and done quickly. His doctor told him it was contact dermatitis and prescribed Propaderm Cream.

Propaderm relieves skin problems

Propaderm can be used for all conditions responsive to topical steroid therapy. Propaderm is beclomethasone dipropionate—a powerful topical steroid. So powerful that in a recent trial 94% of 252 patients with eczema or psoriasis showed good results when treated with Propaderm (cream, ointment and ointment with 3% aureomycin BP). Propaderm is fast acting. In the same trial the majority of patients who responded to Propaderm did so in the first week of treatment. "All three preparations of the drug which were tested were found to be superior to previous treatments. No side effects were reported."

Practitioner, (1968) 201, 362.

PROPADERM OINTMENT AND CREAM, PROPADERM-A OINTMENT with 3% aureomycin BP. Also available: Propaderm Lotion, Propaderm-C Ointment and Cream (with 3% clioquinol), Propaderm-N Ointment and Cream (with 0.5% neomycin sulphate BP), Propaderm-L Rectal Ointment and Suppositories (with lignocaine), Propaderm-Forte Cream.

All Propaderm preparations contain beclomethasone dipropionate 0.025% except Propaderm-Forte Cream which contains 0.5%.

A broad spectrum for UTI

Clinical reports show that a satisfactory clinical response is obtained in 93% of patients with acute infections and 80% of patients with chronic infections due to frequently encountered urinary pathogens such as E. coli, Proteus mirabilis, and Klebsiella.

K Dosage

The usual adult dose is 250 mg every six hours. For more severe infections or those caused by less susceptible organisms, 500 mg every six hours may be needed. In appropriate cases up to 4G per day may be given.

Precautions Any patient who has demonstrated some form of allergy, particularly to drugs, should receive antibiotics, including cephalixin, cautiously and then only when necessary. If severe reaction, individual idiosyncrasy, or allergy should occur, treatment should be discontinued.

The safety of cephalixin for use in pregnancy has not been established.

In patients being treated with cephalixin, a false positive reaction for reducing sugars may occur with Benedict's or Fehling's solution or with copper sulphate test tablets.

Adverse Reactions have been infrequent and mild. The most frequent was mild diarrhoea reported in slightly over 1 per cent of 1230 patients studied. Nausea occurred in about 1 per cent. Skin reactions, including erythema and dermatitis were observed in about 1 per cent of patients. Less frequently reported more rarely were vaginal moniliasis, vaginal vaginitis, dizziness, headache, and abdominal pain.

Contra-indication 'Keflex' is contra-indicated in persons who have shown hypersensitivity to cephalosporins.

'Keflex' is available in green and white capsules containing 250 mg cephalixin (as cephalixin monohydrate). Further information is available on request.

Fucidin — parenterally

as well as orally

Clinicians often require a parenteral antibiotic in the treatment of severe staphylococcal infections. To meet this need LEO research over a three-year period has led to the development of Fucidin for intravenous infusion. This preparation widens the scope of Fucidin (sodium fusidate B.P.) which over the last seven years has been increasingly used as a potent ora/ antistaphylococcal agent.

Fucidin for intravenous infusion.

Presented in packs of 2 ampoules one of which contains 580 mg diethanolamine fusidate B.P.C. as a dry powder (equivalent to 500 mg sodium fusidate B.P.) and the other 50 ml sterile phosphate-citrate buffer.

Detailed information on dosage, administration, applications and case-histories appears in the packing leaflet and also is available on request from
