GYNAECOLOGY IN GENERAL PRACTICE

from the British Medical Journal

As in other branches of medicine, the pattern of gynaecological problems likely to be encountered by the general practitioner will probably change in the future. Moreover, many doctors now in practice were taught little about some of the topics which are important today and are likely to become even more so.

In 1971 the B.M.J. published a series of articles in the "Medical Practice" section discussing the management of various gynaecological disorders in a domiciliary setting. These have now been collected together as a booklet entitled Gynaecology in General Practice and provides a useful and up-to-date account of gynaecology in general practice.

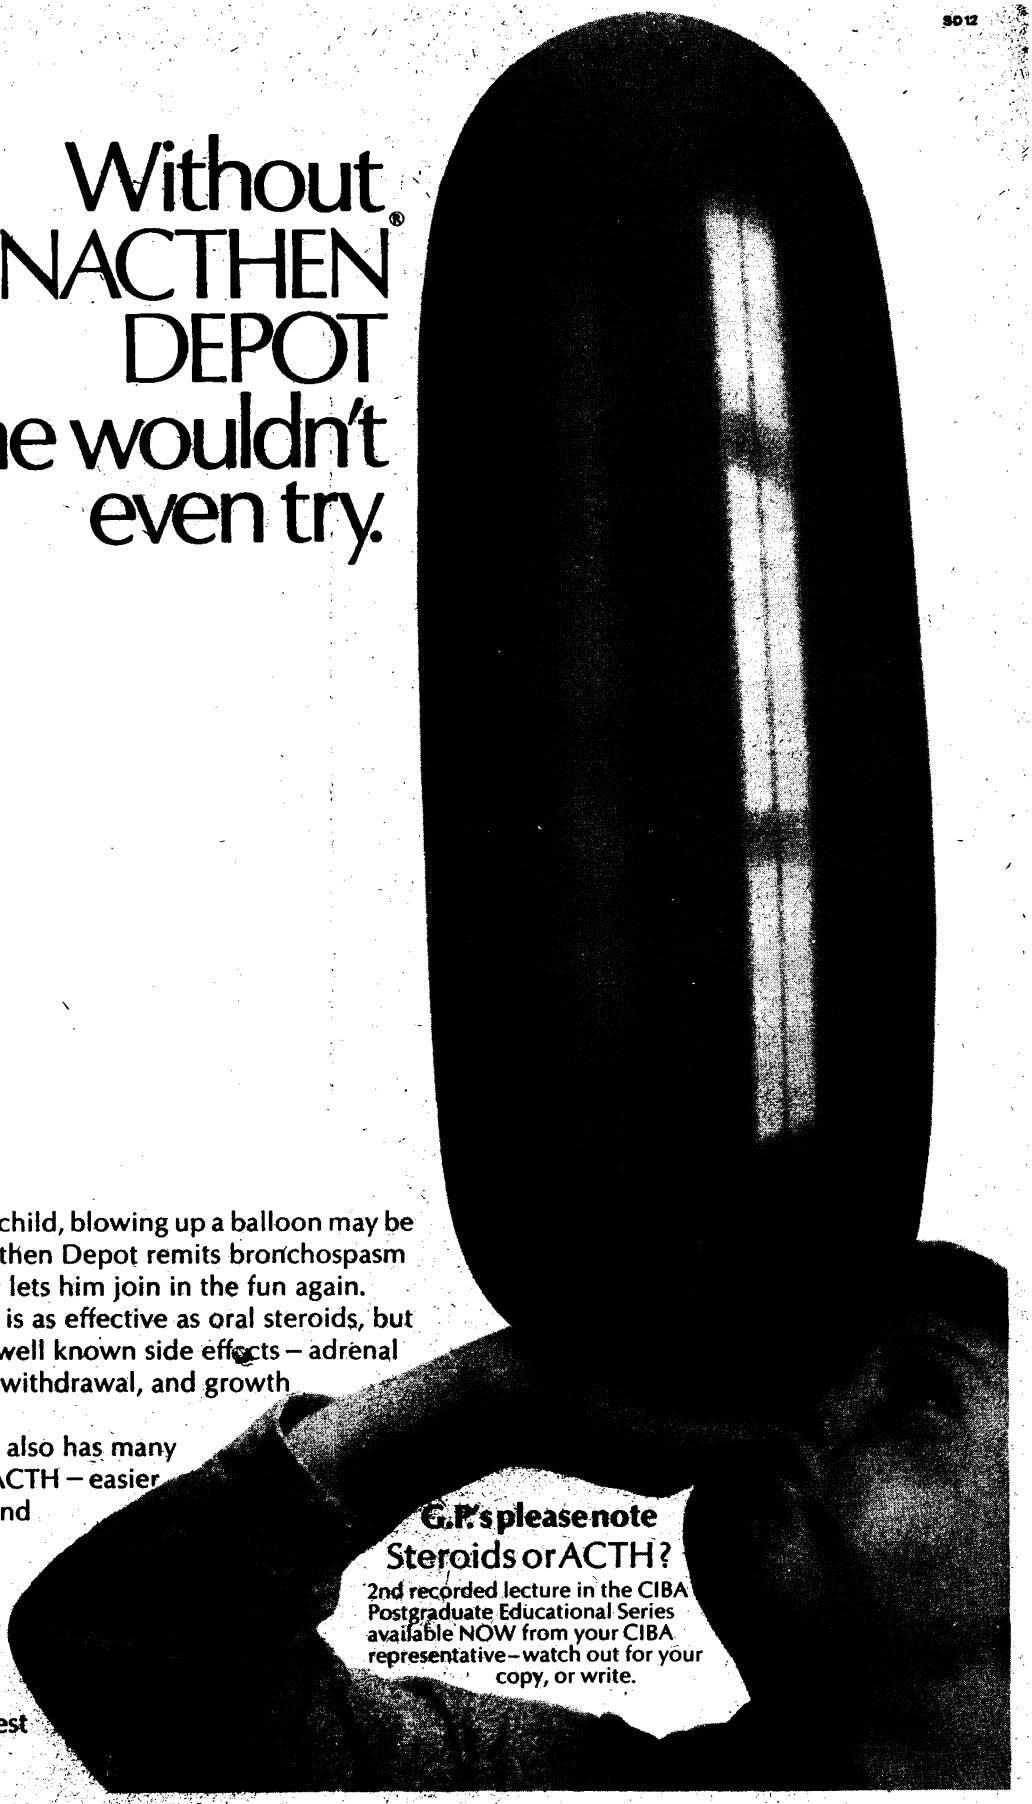
Without® SYNACTHEN DEPOT he wouldn't even try.



For the asthmatic child, blowing up a balloon may be an impossible task. Synacthen Depot remits bronchospasm and improves respiration; lets him join in the fun again.

Synacthen Depot is as effective as oral steroids, but it doesn't have the same well known side effects – adrenal suppression, difficulty of withdrawal, and growth retardation in children.

Synacthen Depot also has many advantages over animal ACTH – easier injection, longer action and constant composition.

THE FAT PATIENT

What makes some people fat? Weight stability depends upon a balance between calorie intake and metabolic expenditure. As knowledge has grown it has become necessary to review the problem of the great majority of people whose overweight was ascribed to overeating. It has been shown that they may have basic defects in their peripheral carbohydrate and fat metabolism.

Ponderax (fenfluramine), introduced in 1963, has been shown to be effective in producing weight loss in patients who had not responded or found dietary control of body weight difficult. In recommended dosage it is without signs of central stimulation, addiction or tolerance. Its principal actions are on glucose uptake and lipid turnover. It increases utilisation of carbohydrate.

in the treatment of diverticular disease of the colon

Diverticular disease of the colon is widely believed to be caused by a reduction of the amount of cellulose fibre in the diet due to the refining of carbohydrates (B.M.J. April 15, 1972).

Ideally a high-residue, low-sugar diet is required to combat diverticular disease. This should include plenty of fresh fruit, vegetables and, of prime importance, wholemeal bread and flour. But, diets depend on the price of food people can afford. The cheapest way to add cellulose fibre to the diet is by eating unprocessed bran.

Allinson Bran-Plus is unprocessed bran including the wheatgerm naturally present. It can be added to the diet by sprinkling it on cereals, adding it to soup, or washing it down with a drink.

Bran-Plus resists digestion by absorbing water and thereby keeps the faeces soft. Its laxative effect exceeds that of fibre derived from fruit and vegetables.

Bran-Plus is widely distributed but should you or your patients have difficulty in finding a local stockist, please contact us and we will try to arrange for supplies to be made available in your district.

the 'inside secret' of treating in-rolling feet

Prescribe an external shoe wedge, and you only do part of the job. The wedge wears away to become largely ineffective—and in any case it disturbs the proper balance of the shoe. On top of that you run the risk of introducing a psychological problem too—what child wants to wear shoes that make him look and feel abnormal?

The answer can be found in Start-rite INNERAZE, the shoes that are orthopaedically designed to correct in-rolling with an invisible built-in wedge that can't wear or change shape.

For further information about the shoes with an 'inside secret' or details of the explanatory 12-minute INNERAZE 16mm colour film available on loan, write to: C. James, Fitting Consultant, Start-rite Shoes Ltd., Crome Road, Norwich, NOR 60A.

CALCIUM METABOLISM AND BONE DISEASE

Scientific advances have completely changed the theoretical framework of many clinical concepts about bone disease. BACKACHE? SCIATICA?

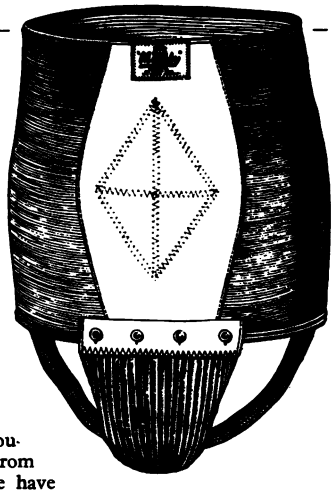
"If exercises do not work, try a corset"

(The Practitioner. Vol. 208. "The Management of Low Back Pain and Sciatica").



Relief from lumbar pain can be obtained by exercises or wearing a corset.

However, many sufferers need not go to these extremes. This is where the "MANLY" belt has proved so helpful.

The "Manly" is the modern approach. Comfortable, convenient . . . no bones, laces or buckles . . . and invisible when worn.

Over two decades, thousands of male sufferers from various forms of backache have gained relief by wearing the "Manly." (Also imparts invaluable abdominal support).

It was the year Dr. Ludwig Roselius discovered how to remove caffeine from coffee without altering its flavour.

The Cephalosporins*

*Extracts from The British Journal of Hospital Medicine (Dec) 1971, 795-804.

Cephalexin

The value of parenteral cephaloridine is so universally established that it highlights the need for a form that is active by mouth. This is now available as a semisynthetic derivative of cephalosporin C. It is broad spectrum, bactericidal, well absorbed after oral administration and not significantly bound to serum protein. Following a single dose, peak blood levels are noted at one hour in fasting subjects. Food causes a delay in onset, a lower peak and prolongation of the blood levels but does not decrease total absorption. Most of it is excreted unchanged by glomerular filtration and tubular secretion in the urine during the first 8 hours after absorption. Probenecid causes retention and delay in excretion (Braun et al, 1968) and raises peak serum levels by between 50 and 100 per cent. Serum protein-binding is of the low order of 25 per cent.

Antimicrobial spectrum

The cephalosporins are broad spectrum (Table 2) and bactericidal, acting, like penicillin, on bacterial cell walls and interfering with cell wall synthesis by preventing cross-linkage of the linear peptidoglycan strands of the cell wall (Benner, 1971). Whereas the cephalosporins are stable to staphylococcal penicillinase, they may be susceptible to the ß-lactamases produced by Proteus vulgaris, Proteus morganii, Proteus rettgeri and Aerobacter aerogenes. Resistance in organisms may be due to these ß-lactamases as well as to native intrinsic resistance (in the same fashion as methicillin-resistant staphylococci).

Gram-positive pathogens

The Gram-positive bacteria are susceptible to the cephalosporins (Table 2). Staphylococcus aureus, whether sensitive or resistant to penicillin, is sensitive to cephaloridine. Commonly

"Estimates of the frequency of allergic reactions to penicillin vary from 1-10 per cent..."[1]

With allergic reactions to the penicillins apparently on the increase, Ceporex deserves an increasingly important place as first line antibiotic therapy.

It can safely be prescribed where the penicillins are considered unsuitable and rarely produces side effects. "No cross sensitivity was seen with cephalexin in the eight patients with a history of penicillin hypersensitivity."[2]

"When side effects had occurred they usually had been mild, many disappearing during treatment."[2]

It all adds up the simple fact that when the penicillins aren't suitable, you can trust Ceporex to reduce the risks and improve the results.

Ceporex

encountered Gram-positive bacteria, chiefly pneumococci, group A streptococci, and staphylococci (whether penicillinase producers or not) are uniformly susceptible to low concentrations of these antibiotics.

Gram-negative pathogens

A variety of Gram-negative organisms respond to the cephalosporins (Table 2). Escherichia coli, behaving in somewhat the same fashion as Staph. aureus, is often resistant to ampicillin in hospital practice but still sensitive to ampicillin in domiciliary practice. This organism is sensitive to all the cephalosporins, and oral cephalexin has become established as a major advance in the management of urinary tract infections.

Guttman (1970) has made a careful survey of the antibiotic sensitivities of urinary pathogens by the disc diffusion method, comparing ampicillin with cephaloridine and cephalexin, against E. coli, Proteus and Klebsiella. The percentage sensitive to ampicillin was 75, compared with 86 per cent sensitive to cephaloridine and 96 per cent sensitive to cephalexin.

Cephalosporins versus penicillins

In clinical practice the choice of antibiotic in the first instance has resolved itself into the decision of whether to use ampicillin or a cephalosporin (Table 3). Inhibitory concentrations of these antibiotics for Gram-positive bacteria are comparable, but as a group the Gram-negative bacteria show considerable variability in their susceptibility to them. Other antibiotics including the tetracyclines, sulphonamides, erythromycin, chloramphenicol, and the polymyxins all have a special and sometimes unique role to play in the management of infections, but a penicillin or a cephalosporin is nowadays a central issue.

The penicillins are usually chosen unless the patient is allergic to this antibiotic. Hence the problem of whether or not an individual is allergic to penicillin is pertinent. There may be a previous history of adverse reactions to penicillin itself or to other drugs. Estimates of the frequency of allergic reactions to penicillin vary from 1–10 per cent ranging from immediate histamine-type acute fatal anaphylaxis to mild delayed-type contact dermatitis. Particular care should be taken of the fair-headed blue-eyed diathesis, or of patients with a history of eczema, asthma or hayfever.

Ceporex the logical alternative to the penicillins

When you prescribe Ceporex (cephalexin) you are prescribing the logical oral alternative to the penicillins. Ceporex has a broad spectrum of activity and recent clinical evidence[2] shows that cephalexin has achieved 94% success rate in acute bronchitis, 87% in chronic bronchitis/bronchiectasis and 91% in pneumonia and bronchopneumonia.
These results were based on 805 case histories.

Ceporex gives peak blood levels one hour after administration and is not significantly protein-bound, leaving most of the antibiotic free to fight infection.
Ceporex is available as 500mg and 250mg tablets, capsules and syrups.

The case for treating chronic urinary tract infection with new Hiprex

Hiprex can eliminate urinary infection in eight out of ten patients

Hiprex is effective against the organisms which most commonly cause urinary tract infection. Success rates of more than 80 per cent have been reported in clinical trials.

Hiprex can end the frustration of treatment failure

Unlike other agents, notably antibiotics, sulphonamides and nalidixic acid, Hiprex is unlikely to produce bacterial resistance – a major cause of treatment failure. Hiprex has proved effective even when other treatment has failed.

Hiprex is especially suitable when long-term treatment is indicated

Hiprex does not lose its effect during prolonged use and for this reason is of particular value in persistent and recurrent urinary infections. Minor side-effects have been reported in fewer than four per cent of patients, and no serious adverse reactions have been reported. Treatment costs are kept low – as little as 4p a day.

Hiprex improves the prospects of co-operation in long-term use

Published reports stress that Hiprex can overcome the major difficulty of ensuring uninterrupted therapy. All but refractory cases respond to a simple twice-daily dosage, normally without need for special measures to acidify the urine.

Composition Each tablet contains hexamine hippurate 1 g. Indications The treatment of urinary tract infections, such as pyelitis, cystitis and urethritis, but excluding acute pyelonephritis. The treatment of chronic pyelonephritis, and as maintenance therapy after successful antibiotic treatment of acute pyelonephritis. The treatment of asymptomatic bacteriuria, including that occurring during pregnancy. Prophylaxis before and after urological surgery. Dosage Adults: 1 tablet twice daily. Children: 6-12 years: ½ tablet twice daily. In refractory cases, the dosage may be increased to: 1 tablet three or four times daily in adults. ½ tablet three or four times daily in children aged 6-12 years. Doses in excess of those recommended may cause severe bladder irritation, haematuria, albuminuria or painful micturition. Alkalinuria Some patients may have an alkaline urine as a result of a predominantly vegetarian diet or occasionally due to Proteus or Pseudomonas infection. In these cases, additional acidification may be necessary to lower the urinary pH to the level required to degrade the hexamine moiety. Administration of ascorbic acid 1 g. four times daily is recommended in these cases. Side-effects Occasionally, rashes, gastric irritation, or irritation of the bladder may occur. With prolonged administration at high dosage, the latter may lead to haematuria. All side-effects are reversible on withdrawal of the drug. Treatment of side-effects Patients experiencing painful micturition or bladder irritation should be instructed to discontinue the medication. Prompt relief of these symptoms can be obtained by the consumption of copious quantities of water and 2-3 teaspoonfuls of bicarbonate of soda. Contra-indications Renal insufficiency, hepatic insufficiency or severe dehydration. Hiprex is also contra-indicated as the principal therapeutic agent in acute parenchymal infections of the kidney. Basic N.H.S. prices 100 tablets £2·00.

In urinary tract infections

Do bacteria like liquorice ?

They won't when it is accompanied by the nitrofurantoin in CEDURAN tablets. Deglycyrrhizinated liquorice is included in CEDURAN tablets to effectively combat the gastric side-effects, so often a cause of unsuccessful treatment with nitrofurantoin. In 82 patients* in whom treatment had to be abandoned because of side-effects. There was an almost complete absence of untoward reactions from CEDURAN. Furthermore, in a recent survey† of the sensitivities of urinary pathogens, nitrofurantoin was one of the only three preparations recommended as primary oral treatment.

ASTHMA

A lifetime of freedom begins with Intal

Before INTAL, a diagnosis of asthma often meant a life sentence of constantly aborting attacks with bronchodilators, antihistamines or steroids. Patients were constantly at risk from the relentless progress of lung damage and lived in perpetual fear of an asthmatic episode.

The discovery of INTAL (Sodium Cromoglycate BP) represents a turning point in the management of this distressing complaint. Newly diagnosed patients, as well as those of long standing, benefit from this entirely new approach to therapy. INTAL actually prevents the onset of asthmatic attacks, and is notably free from serious side effects.

By preventing asthma attacks the possibility of consequent lung damage may be avoided enabling the patients to lead a fuller, happier life. If they remember their daily INTAL – they can forget their asthma.

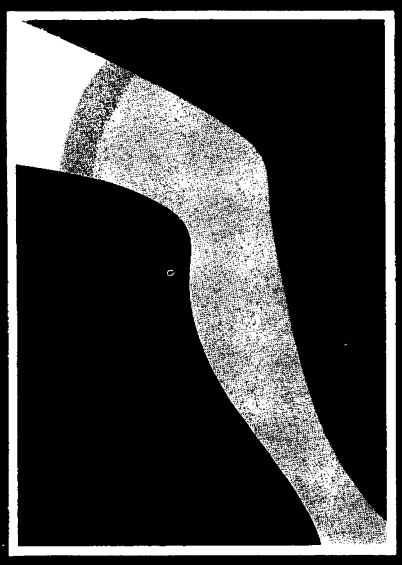
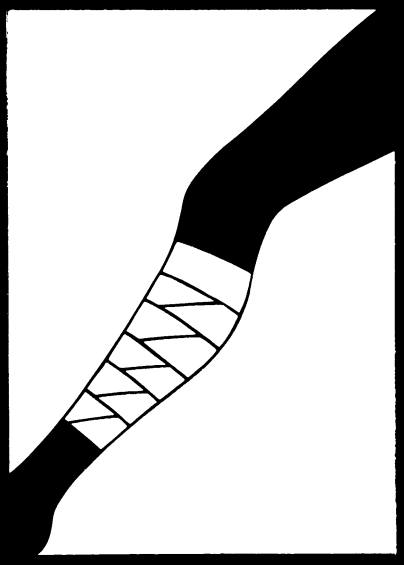
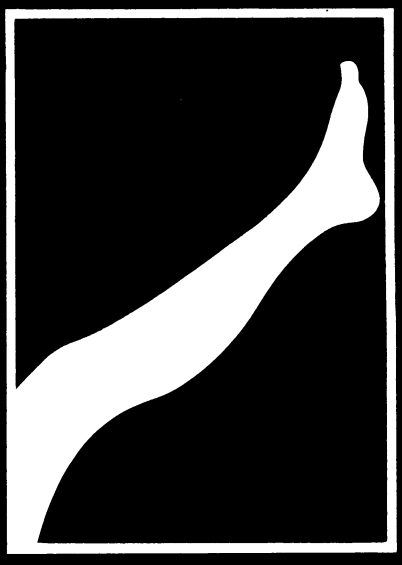
Treatment with Paroven significantly altered the PO_2, oxygen saturation, and the oxygen content of varicose vein blood and the oxygen extraction in tissues of varicose vein legs towards normal values. The improved venous blood oxygenation and the reduced tissue oxygen extraction indicated better tissue perfusion with less blood oxygen having been taken from the increased capillary blood flow.

improves capillary flow relieves varicose disorders







"The most obvious effect of treatment with HR (Paroven) is the very constant relief of night cramps, with an improvement exceeding 90 per cent".

(Brit J Clin Pract (1970) 23, 161)

"The degree of relief in chronic aching pain in the legs was not so marked (compared with 90% improvement in night cramps and 70% improvement in heaviness of the legs), but still amounted to 54 per cent".

(Brit J Clin Pract (1970) 23, 161)

"Symptoms of heavy legs are improved in 70 per cent, and it was generally agreed that not only did legs feel lighter but the patients were more agile".

Anything less than full support for topical hydrocortisone is undesirable

In addition to the production of contact dermatitis, the dangers of the selective action of topical antibiotics in the treatment of infected dermatoses are now well-recognised.[1]

Experimental studies[1] have shown, that even in healthy subjects, pyodermas developed following occlusive treatment with neomycin. It was concluded that these experiments "do emphasize the dangers which can follow the alteration of the normal flora of the skin." In view of the variety of hazards associated with topical antibiotics, it was also stated: "...serious doubt must now be cast on their routine use."

In Betadine® H/C Cream, povidone-iodine provides ideal support for hydrocortisone because it kills all pathogenic and potentially pathogenic organisms within 15 seconds of contact. "It does not allow the emergence of antibiotic resistant strains as it kills pathogenic organisms in an unselective manner."[2]

Betadine Ointment, which has no hydrocortisone acetate content, is also available when purely antimicrobial therapy is required.

MODURETIC® DIURETIC

'Moduretic' provides a smooth and highly effective diuresis and, at the same time, helps the body to conserve its natural potassium. These features are of additional benefit when, perhaps unknown to the physician, an oedematous patient is also living on a diet which is low in potassium.

'Moduretic' offers a most acceptable alternative to the numerous and often unpalatable potassium supplements required during prolonged diuretic therapy. Oral potassium should not be given with 'Moduretic'.

By conserving the body's natural potassium, 'Moduretic' helps the patient whose symptoms of weakness and lethargy are not 'just old age', but are in fact caused by potassium depletion.

'Moduretic' should always be considered for oedematous patients who also require digitalis. The potassium-conserving effect of 'Moduretic' can play an important part in reducing the risk of digitalis intoxication.

a highly effective diuretic that entirely obviates the need for potassium supplements

'Moduretic' is available as peach-coloured, diamond-shaped tablets containing 5 mg amiloride hydrochloride and 50 mg hydrochlorothiazide. Detailed information is available to physicians on request. ® denotes registered trademark.

"...chronic psoriasis is indeed a grave social and medical problem..."

In this review* of advances in the treatment of disease of the skin, the author pointed out that many dermatologists are becoming alarmed at the increasing amount of permanent cutaneous damage following the long-term use of topical steroids. After discussing the merits of coal tar preparations, the author concluded: "It is clear that such . . . therapy is extremely effective in the control of psoriasis, . . ."

Alphosyl cream and lotion contain 5% extract of coal tar and allantoin 2% for removal of cutaneous debris. Alphosyl Application P.C. is a combination of coal tar extract (5%) and hexachlorophane (1%) in a special foaming detergent base (shampoo). *The Practitioner (1970) 205, 452-458.

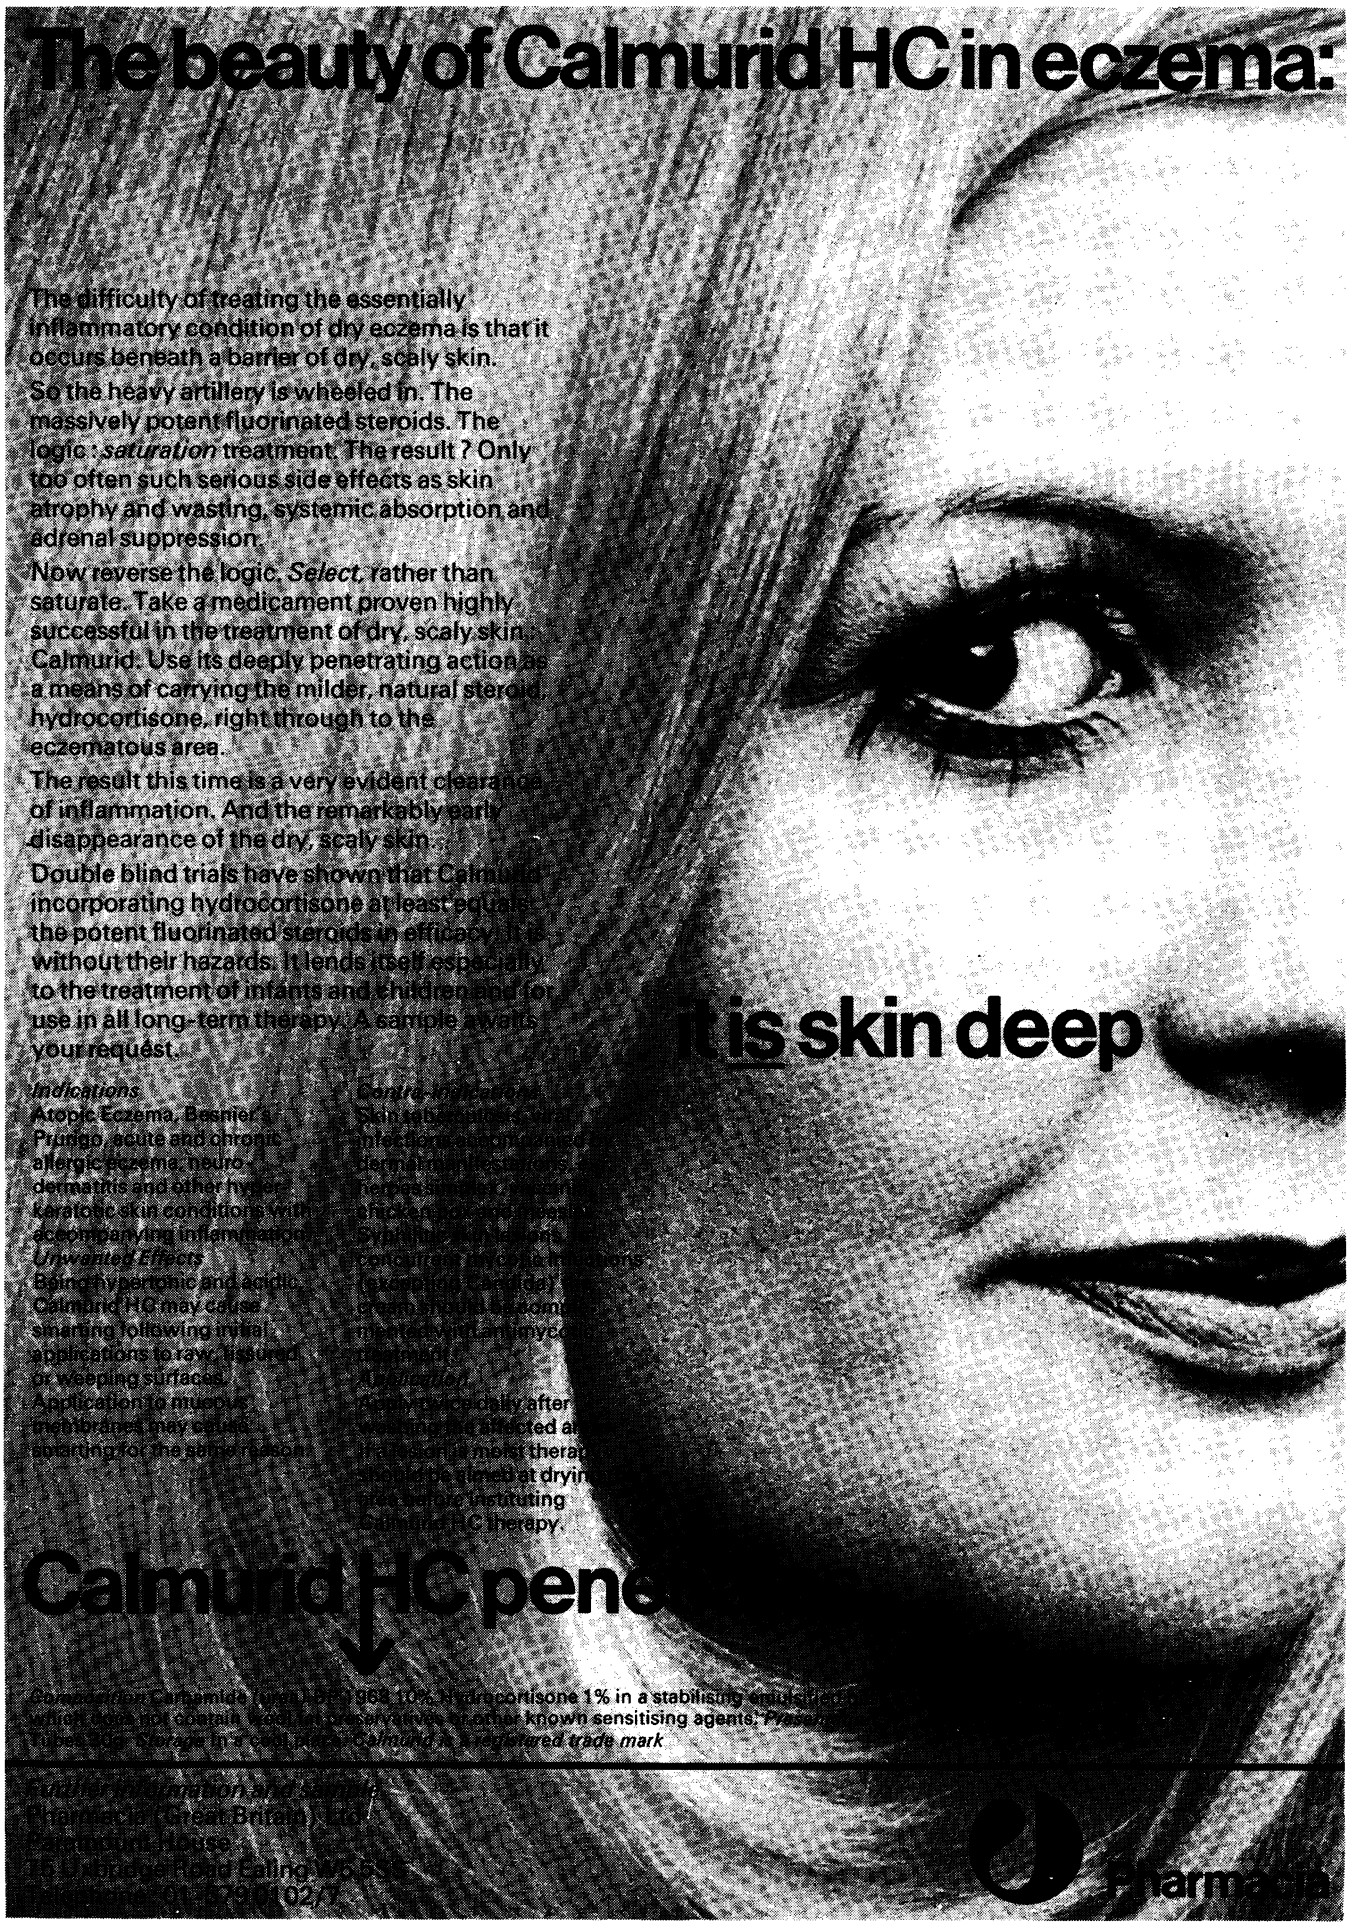
The beauty of Calmurid HC in eczema:



The difficulty of treating the essentially inflammatory condition of dry eczema is that it occurs beneath a barrier of dry, scaly skin.

So the heavy artillery is wheeled in. The massively potent fluorinated steroids. The logic: saturation treatment. The result? Only too often such serious side effects as skin atrophy and wasting, systemic absorption and adrenal suppression.

Now reverse the logic. Select, rather than saturate. Take a medicament proven highly successful in the treatment of dry, scaly skin. Calmurid. Use its deeply penetrating action as a means of carrying the milder, natural steroid hydrocortisone, right through to the eczematous area.

The result this time is a very evident clearance of inflammation. And the remarkably early disappearance of the dry, scaly skin.

Double blind trials have shown that Calmurid incorporating hydrocortisone at least equals the potent fluorinated steroids in efficacy. It is without their hazards. It lends itself especially to the treatment of infants and children and for use in all long-term therapy. A sample awaits your request.

Indications
Atopic Eczema, Besnier's Prurigo, acute and chronic allergic eczema, neuro-dermatitis and other hyperkeratotic skin conditions with accompanying inflammation.

Unwanted Effects
Being hypertonic and acidic, Calmurid HC may cause smarting following initial applications to raw, fissured or weeping surfaces. Application to mucous membranes may cause stinging for the period of action.

Contra-indications
Skin tuberculosis, viral infections including herpes simplex and vaccinia, fungal infections, parasitic infestations, acne vulgaris, rosacea, perioral dermatitis, pre-existing skin ulcers, primary skin cancers, contact hypersensitivity reactions (eczema herpeticum, chronic leg ulcers, napkin eczema) unless treated with antimycotic or antibacterial therapy.

Application
Apply twice daily after washing the affected area. If the skin is moist therapy should be aimed at drying the area before instituting Calmurid HC therapy.

Calmurid HC penetrates

Composition Carbamide (urea) 10% w/w, 10% Hydrocortisone 1% in a stabilising emulsion which does not contain lead or preservatives or other known sensitising agents. Presentation Tubes 30g. Storage In a cool place. Calmurid is a registered trade mark

The United Oxford Hospitals
Oxford Regional Hospital Board

SENIOR REGISTRAR
TrainingPosts in Medical Administration
The 2 Hospital Boards together with the University have created a programme of training spanning four years designed for candidates with good clinical backgrounds who have an interest in medical administration. Although previous administrative experience is not essential, candidates should be able to demonstrate their ability to organise effectively and work closely with professional and other colleagues. The first year of the programme is intended to create a link between clinical work and administration, the candidate spending this year as Admissions Officer for the United Oxford Hospitals and as a Trainee Epidemiologist in the Department of the Regius Professor of Medicine.

This attachment would continue in the second year when the candidate would be working with the Oxford Regional Hospital Board instead of the United Oxford Hospitals. The third year of the programme would be spent on the full time course at the London School of Hygiene and Tropical Medicine leading to the M.Sc. degree in medical administration. During the fourth year, the candidate would be engaged on research leading to the thesis required for the M.Sc. The posts will be paid on the Senior Registrar grade.

Further details may be obtained from the Group Assistant Secretary, Radcliffe Infirmary, Oxford. Application forms should be returned to him by 3rd June, 1972. (32937) 111

Opportunities for experienced doctors to specialise in Psychiatry

As a Medical Officer in the Prison Medical Service you are responsible for the general medical care of the inmates of the establishment — borstal, prison or remand centre — to which you are attached.

Psychiatric treatment is a major part of the work. Indeed, if you do not already hold a postgraduate qualification in Psychological Medicine you will be encouraged to work for one, and the Service will grant leave of absence for courses, secondment for training, etc.

Your initial experience — on the staff of a Senior Medical Officer in a large establishment — can extend for three years or more, depending on your needs. The experience you'll gain could be of considerable value to you in any subsequent career, as these posts provide a unique opportunity to research into mental and physical disorders. A good proportion of the work lies in assessing the psychiatric state of individuals for the Courts and Parole Boards, and giving advice on treatment to be associated with after-care and rehabilitation.

There are vacancies in establishments in many parts of the country.

You need to be a fully registered medical practitioner in the U.K., and to possess good all-round medical and surgical experience. A knowledge of psychological medicine is desirable, and a Dip. P.M. an advantage.

Starting salary within scale £4,031-£5,490 (plus an extra allowance up to £175 for a London post) according to your qualifications and experience. You can normally expect promotion to Senior Medical Officer (£6,300) and there are posts beyond this. Superannuation is interchangeable with the N.H.S. For full details and an application form (to be returned by 26th May, 1972) write to the Civil Service Commission, Alencon Link, Basingstoke, Hants., or telephone Basingstoke 29222, Ext. 500 or London 01-839 1696 (24 hour 'Ansafone' service). SERVICES

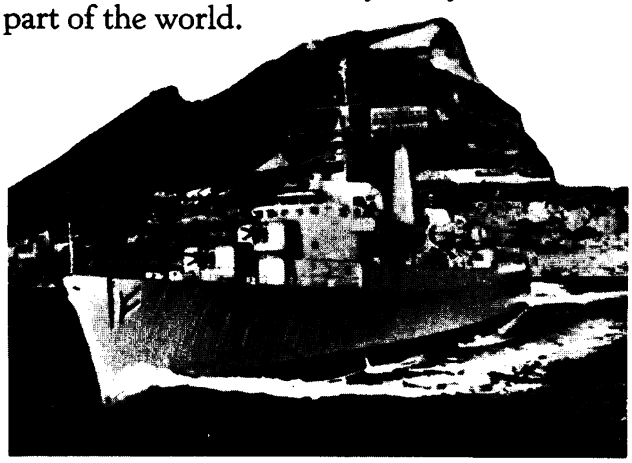
AS A NAVAL DOCTOR, YOU'D GET A WHOLE LOT MORE OUT OF LIFE.

(AND SO WOULD YOUR FAMILY)

Right from the start, you'd have a complete change of scene.

Serving either with the Navy at sea or among service personnel and their families at a naval establishment. Very likely in another part of the world.



Either way, you'd never find yourself short of assistance. (Every naval doctor is fully supported by medical staff).

Equally important, you'd never find yourself getting into a rut – for in two years or so you'd receive a new appointment.

In a new place. Doing a different job. Perhaps with the chance to learn something of the special problems of diving, aviation, or tropical medicine for example.

It's a stimulating life. Not only for yourself but for your family too.

For in most cases they'd accompany you. And wherever you go there are usually married quarters – fully furnished houses or flats, equipped with everything you need. And at very reasonable rents.

What's more, a generous education allowance is made for your children if they are at boarding school. £330 p.a. for a first child, £393 p.a. for a second, £471 p.a. for a third. On top of this, removal and other allowances are also provided.

Add this to the salary and you'll see how well a naval doctor's pay compares with a civilian doctor's.

For instance, with five years' post registration experience you would join us as a Surgeon Lieutenant-Commander on £4,424 a year.

And any specialist qualifications/experience you have could increase your salary even more.

There are opportunities, too, to keep up with the latest developments in medicine. For the Navy fully recognises the need for such opportunities both in the interests of naval medicine and a doctor's professional advancement.

That's not all. You can join on a 3-year or 5-year commission (each carrying a tax-free terminal gratuity of £1,500 and £3,000 respectively) and you can transfer to a full 16-year pensionable commission if you wish.

Provided you're resident in the U.K. or Eire, you can find out more by writing to Surgeon Cdr. F. M. Kinsman, O.B.E., R.N. (724AB4) Dept. of the Medical Director-General (Navy), Empress State Building, London S.W.6.

He'll give you all the facts.

In the best tradition of British

an excellent new antibiotic for routine treatment

URTI Chest infections UTI Skin and soft tissue infections

Amoxil is a new antibiotic with distinct advantages in routine treatment.

Amoxil has a broad spectrum of activity against the common bacterial pathogens encountered in practice and its bactericidal action means further confidence in its everyday use.

The most practical advantage of Amoxil is that its oral absorption is outstanding, giving extremely high serum and tissue levels, irrespective of the presence of food. This ensures rapid and decisive activity at all sites of infection, even the more inaccessible.

Extensive British clinical trials have demonstrated its efficacy and penicillin safety in the treatment of Upper Respiratory Tract Infections, Otitis Media, Bronchitis, Urinary Tract Infections, and Skin and Soft Tissue Infections.

Add to this a convenient t.d.s. dosage—ensuring undisturbed sleep—a wide range of highly acceptable presentations, treatment costing as little as 16p per day and it is easy to see why Amoxil is practical antibiotic therapy at its best.

AMOXIL

Bencard

Further information on Amoxil is available on request, no stamp required from: Bencard, Freepost, Great West Road, Brentford, Middlesex.

PRESCRIBING INFORMATION

Dosage: Adults 250 mg three times a day. Children—up to 10 years: 125 mg three times a day. In the case of severe infections the dosage should be doubled.

Presentation: Amoxil capsules 250 mg. Amoxil syrup 250 mg /5 ml, 100 ml bottle. Amoxil syrup 125 mg /5ml, 100 ml bottle. Amoxil Paediatric Suspension 125 mg /5 ml 20 ml bottle with pipette. Amoxil presentations contain amoxycillin as the trihydrate.

Contra-indication: Amoxil is a penicillin and should not be given to penicillin hypersensitive patients.

Side effects: In clinical trials involving more than 1,500 patients no serious side effects were reported. Those side effects which were encountered were of a mild transitory nature.

British evidence confirms value of serc®

betahistine

in Meniere's syndrome

Serc is the first drug to offer comprehensive action against all the manifestations of Meniere's syndrome. A British trial* now confirms its clinical value. Objective tests of hearing and vestibular function in 11 patients before and after treatment with Serc showed a dramatic improvement in many cases. 'There was an overall average gain in hearing over the whole group in both ears.' Studies of nystagmus suggested an improvement in vestibular function. 'Subjectively, 9 out of 11 patients claimed an improvement in the symptom of vertigo and all 11 claimed reduction in tinnitus.'

*Journal of Laryngology, and Otology, 1971, 85:369.

Serc is supplied as tablets each containing 8 mg. betahistine dihydrochloride.
Further information available on request.
