Pecuniary Gephyrophobia

Symptoms: Excessive reluctance to take the right steps to safeguard the future with insurance.

The Treatment

"I can't afford it... Don't trouble me, I'm too busy... I'm fit enough... I can't be bothered... There's probably a familiar ring to all the excuses for not making sure that your family's future — and yours — is financially protected against your death or lengthy disability. Yet you must cross the bridge sometime and the sooner the better.

If there is any doubt in your mind about the insurance protection you need, now is the time to act. As you get older, premiums become more expensive — and you may be getting considerably less healthy.

Carefully arranged life assurance from the Medical Sickness Society can cushion your family against hardship if you die early, either by providing a capital sum or a tax free income for a specified time. And what about that nest egg you will need later on — our safe, secure endowment policies will help you here. Non-cancellable sickness and accident insurance can keep your income healthy if you were disabled for a long time. After all, who would pay the bills if you were ill and had no money coming in?

The Medical Sickness Society exists to provide doctors and dentists — and no one else — with the protection they need. This specialisation gives the Society a unique ability to deal with a doctor's insurance problems in the best possible way. The Society is a mutual society, which means that its profits go to policyholders, and it has a nationwide team of advisers who offer free, expert help.

You owe it to yourself and your family to think hard about the future and what you are doing to safeguard it. Contact the Medical Sickness Society now and see how they can help.

THE LIQUORICE STORY

Part II

The liquorice plant is a leguminous shrub which grows to a height of several feet. It sends down a tap root, and develops a veritable thicket of runners, which may be 25 ft. long, so when the root is dug it is not eradicated, and enough runners remain to carry on propagation and produce another crop several years later.

In its normal habitation the foliage on the stems resemble that of an ash twig, and in colour and texture they more closely resemble small labernum leaves and are mauve in colour.

However, in Pontefract the plant rarely flowered and only once in the present century were seed pods produced, which showed signs that it was growing beyond its natural limits.

After the root has been lifted, the extract of the liquorice is obtained by shredding or grinding the root in hot water, followed by evaporation of the solution, and both the spent liquorice and the extract are used for several purposes.

The by product of liquorice has been used as the main ingredient in foam fire extinguishers. Another use is in the cultivation of mushrooms, as well as in the making of insulation board.

There are 3 main uses for the liquorice extract. The first is in the Tobacco Industry, especially in America, where it is used in the production of chewing tobacco as well as in ordinary tobacco.

The second and most commonly known use is in the Confectionery Industry, and the third and most important is in pharmaceuticals.

Liquorice has been widely used as a flavouring agent for other drugs. However, over recent years it has been realised that liquorice has a powerful antispasmodic effect on the muscles of the stomach and intestine. There was however, a serious disadvantage which was the constituent glycyrrhizinic acid. This can cause side effects such as oedema (salt and water retention and potassium depletion) as well as other harmful side effects. Cedona Pharmaceuticals in Holland investigated the problem, and developed an exclusive method of extracting the harmful glycyrrhizinic acid, but retaining its ulcer healing properties together with its natural antispasmodic effect. When glycyrrhizinic acid is removed by other methods the spasmolytic effect and healing properties are lost. The main constituent of Caved-(S) is the liquorice, which is processed by the exclusive Cedona method. Therefore, Caved-(S) tablets retain the ulcer healing properties, without the side effects normally associated with liquorice.

In the next instalment we will give details of new scientific work carried out on Caved-(S) liquorice, and also details of an exciting project with regard to liquorice in England.

From the Information Department, Tillotts Laboratories, U.K. Distributors for Caved-(S) Tablets.

A word in your ear!

Too often the elderly accept deafness as part of growing old – too often their deafness is simply excessive ear wax. Ear wax is still the commonest cause of deafness.¹

A course of Cerumol will quickly loosen the wax, allowing it to be syringed away, if necessary, easily and safely.²

After 25 years of use in general practice, Cerumol is still the most widely prescribed ear wax preparation in the UK.

APPOINTMENTS

Applicants for medical appointments are advised to check whether the post advertised is included in the Important Notice and to scrutinize carefully the remuneration and terms of service offered. Any member who is in doubt about these terms in relation to B.M.A. agreements should consult the Secretary of the Association.

Advertisers are reminded that the Race Relations Board insists that no descriptive term implying racial, national, or ethnic characteristics may be used in any advertisement. Further, readers are advised not to apply for any appointment which discriminates between applicants on grounds of creed or sex.

HOSPITAL APPOINTMENTS

Applicants should state names, address, age, nationality, and qualifications, and enclose (unless otherwise specified) one copy of each of three recent testimonials, with a short statement of experience and appointments held. Applications should be sent at once if no closing date is given: Canvassing disqualifies (Statutory Instrument, 1974, No. 361).

All National Health Service hospital appointments are in accordance with the Terms and Conditions of Service of Hospital Medical Staff.

Further details concerning standards of residential accommodation, telephone charges, removal allowances, study leave and other matters should be obtained from the Hospital Secretary; or by B.M.A. members from the Secretary, British Medical Association.

In particular, they will find full details of facilities provided in most hospitals in the United Kingdom in the current edition of the Hospital Gazetteer. If such details are not included members are advised to consult the Secretary of the B.M.A.

Applicants requiring hospital married accommodation are strongly advised to obtain, prior to interview, clarification in writing from the employing authority as to whether such accommodation will be available on appointment.

In all advertisements grade should be clearly indicated. Normally a consultant vacancy must be advertised as (a) part-time with the number of sessions clearly stated, or (b) whole-time with the option of maximum part-time.

Some patients stay on barbiturates until the day they die

Every day in Britain three patients die after deliberately taking overdoses of barbiturates – a total of over 1,000 every year¹

Virtually all of these patients could have been transferred to Mogadon, which is much safer² but just as effective against insomnia³

The patients may still have tried to kill themselves. But with Mogadon few, if any, would have succeeded
