A doctor can gain a lot from 5 years in the Royal Navy.

As a qualified doctor, you can join the Royal Navy for 3 or 5 years on a Short Service Commission.

In that time, you'll spend up to a year practising medicine in a Naval ship.

You could have the chance of working and living overseas for a time.

And you'll be able to do your General Professional Training in one of the clinical and medical scientific disciplines at a Naval hospital or an RN establishment.

At sea.

After a short Officers course at the Royal Naval College, Dartmouth, and a basic course in maritime medicine at the Institute of Naval Medicine, Alverstoke, you'll normally go to sea for about 12 months.

You'll be responsible for the medical care of some 250 to 500 men in your ship (and advise the Captain on health and environmental problems).

You won't lose touch with modern medicine, as you can visit local hospitals in ports of call and use the teaching aids provided by your Naval tutor.

Postgraduate training and specialisation.

After your sea time, career counselling will determine your postgraduate training programme.

There are opportunities for General Professional Training in preparation for a clinical career in general practice, the hospital specialities, or the medical scientific disciplines such as Aviation, Underwater, Submarine and Nuclear Medicine; or in Occupational and Community Medicine.

If you decide to transfer to a 16-year pensionable Commission, or a permanent Commission, you could move on to recognised higher training programmes which include research training and higher training posts in civilian units.

At Alverstoke, the Dean of Naval Medicine co-ordinates postgraduate medical training and research.

Naval hospitals.

The two largest are at Haslar (near Portsmouth) and Plymouth.

They undertake the care of Naval personnel, their families and NHS civilians, providing a broad spectrum of clinical material. Both hospitals are recognised for higher training in the major specialities.

There is a full range of modern, technical equipment, and the nursing and paramedical staff are highly skilled.

There are smaller hospitals in Malta and Gibraltar.

Salary.

If you join us immediately after registration, your salary will be £5,997 as a Surgeon Lieutenant.

You can, however, join at any age up to 39. In that case, your postgraduate experience is taken into account, and you could join as a Surgeon Lieutenant Commander earning £8,015 a year.

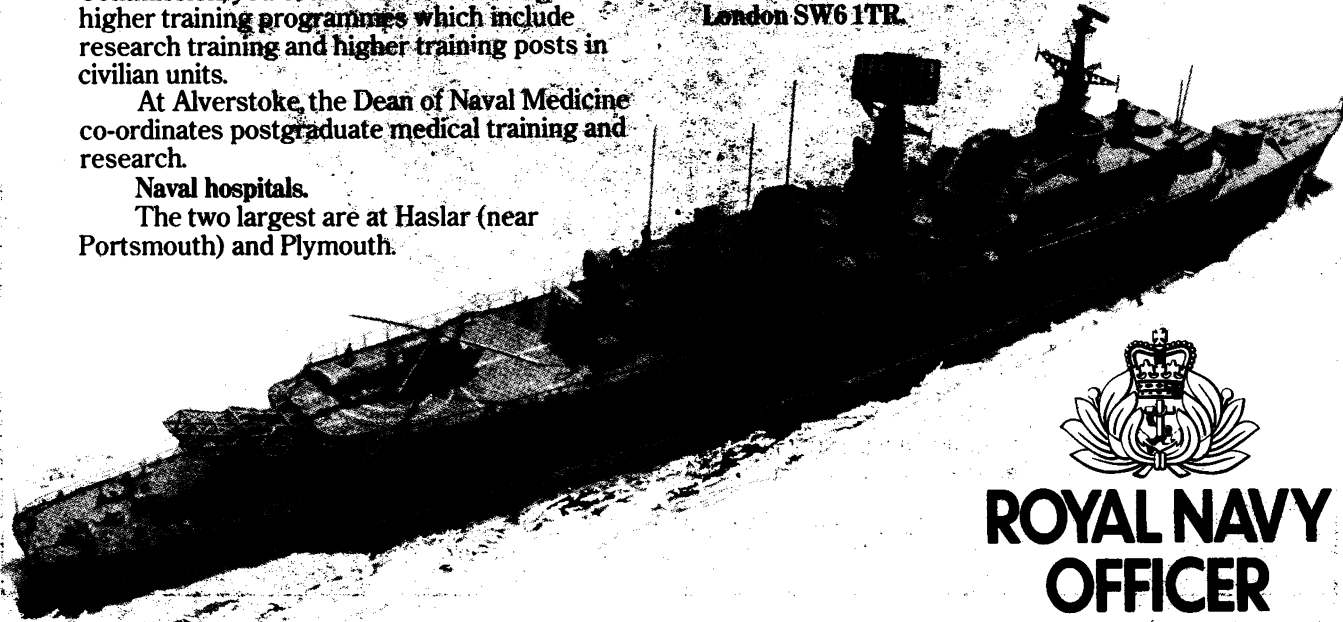

If you leave at the end of your 3 year Commission, you'll receive a tax-free gratuity of £1,500, or, after 5 years, £3,000.

If you decide to stay on, you can apply for a 16-year pensionable Commission or a permanent Commission.

The salary structure is based on an analogue computed from the average earnings of general practitioners in the NHS, with an additional X factor. There is extra pay for recognised postgraduate qualifications and Senior Specialist or Consultant status.

If you're posted overseas, you can, of course, take your family with you. There are, too, generous boarding school allowances for your children, starting at £807 for your first child.

For more information, write to Surgeon Commander H.B. Blackstone, MRCS, LRCP, MRCGP, RN, (724 FM13), Medical Directorate General (Navy), Ministry of Defence Empress State Building, London SW6 1TR.

CEDO CEDOCARD CARD

ISOSORBIDE
DINITRATE

CEDOCARD is indicated for the prophylaxis and treatment of acute attacks of angina pectoris, and for the long-term management of coronary insufficiency.

Because of its method of manufacture, CEDOCARD has many important advantages over nitroglycerin and other preparations of isosorbide dinitrate.

* CEDOCARD, unlike nitroglycerin, is highly stable and does not lose its activity, even over extended periods.

* CEDOCARD is highly soluble with a correspondingly rapid onset of action which is both consistent and reliable.

* CEDOCARD has a prolonged duration of activity because it is only slowly metabolised by the liver.

In patients with congestive heart failure, there is evidence<sup>1 2 3</sup> that the vasodilation achieved by CEDOCARD effectively reduces the left ventricular filling pressure (L.V.F.P.), permitting a more effective contraction of the heart in patients who have had an infarct.

For example, isosorbide dinitrate was given orally, at a dosage of 30mg, to 21 patients with myocardial infarction and with an L.V.F.P. of approximately 20mm Hg. A significant decrease of L.V.F.P. was recorded, lasting for 4 to 5 hours.<sup>4</sup>

CEDOCARD can be taken either orally or sublingually.

ORALLY For prophylaxis, CEDOCARD tablets may be taken orally, when a more prolonged protection is achieved.

The dosage should be 1 or 2 tablets (5-10mg), 3 to 4 times daily.

Activity commences after 15 to 20 minutes and lasts 4 to 6 hours.

SUBLINGUALLY For the treatment of acute attacks of angina pectoris, or before exercise likely to promote an anginal attack, CEDOCARD should be taken sublingually.

CEDOCARD tablets dissolve within 20 seconds to give immediate relief which lasts for up to 2 hours (unlike nitroglycerin which is only active for 20 to 30 minutes). Together, the advantages of CEDOCARD permit a dramatic reduction in number, duration and severity of anginal attacks.

Pocket Pack Each pack of CEDOCARD comes with its own pull-off pocket pack for maximum patient convenience. The pocket pack slips conveniently into pocket or handbag, allowing patients to carry CEDOCARD tablets at all times, for day-long control of angina.

SIDE-EFFECTS As with nitroglycerin and other nitrates, temporary vascular headache (typical nitrate headache) may occur during the first few days of therapy with CEDOCARD, especially when doses of 40mg or more are given. These headaches usually disappear by temporary reduction of the dose.

APPOINTMENTS

Applicants for medical appointments are advised to check whether the post advertised is included in the Important Notice and to scrutinize carefully the remuneration and terms of service offered. Any member who is in doubt about these terms in relation to B.M.A. agreements should consult the Secretary of the Association.

Advertisers are reminded that the Race Relations Board insists that no descriptive term implying racial, national, or ethnic characteristics may be used in any advertisement. Further, readers are advised not to apply for any appointment which discriminates between applicants on grounds of creed or unreasonably on grounds of sex.

HOSPITAL APPOINTMENTS

Applicants should state names, address, age, nationality, and qualifications, and enclose (unless otherwise specified) one copy of each of three recent testimonials, with a short statement of experience and appointments held. Applications should be sent at once if no closing date is given: Canvassing disqualifies (Statutory Instrument, 1974, No. 361).

All National Health Service hospital appointments are in accordance with the Terms and Conditions of Service of Hospital Medical Staff.

Further details concerning standards of residential accommodation, telephone charges, removal allowances, study leave and other matters should be obtained from the Hospital Secretary; or by B.M.A. members from the Secretary, British Medical Association.

In particular, they will find full details of facilities provided in most hospitals in the United Kingdom in the current edition of the Hospital Gazetteer. If such details are not included members are advised to consult the Secretary of the B.M.A.

Applicants requiring hospital married accommodation are strongly advised to obtain, prior to interview, clarification in writing from the employing authority as to whether such accommodation will be available on appointment.

No advertisement may stipulate that a non-resident must live less than 10 miles from a hospital. Advertisements for post-registration house officers, senior house officers and registrars should state clearly whether the post is resident, i.e. compulsorily resident.

In all advertisements grade should be clearly indicated. Normally a consultant vacancy must be advertised as (a) part-time with the number of sessions clearly stated, or (b) whole-time with the option of maximum part-time.

In the view of the B.M.A. an advertiser should not insist on possession of English higher qualifications in preference to Scottish or Irish qualifications (or vice versa).
