A doctor can gain a lot from 5 years in the Royal Navy.

As a qualified doctor, you can join the Royal Navy for 3 or 5 years on a Short Service Commission.

In that time, you'll spend up to a year practising medicine in a Naval ship.

You could have the chance of working and living overseas for a time.

And you'll be able to do your General Professional Training in one of the clinical and medical scientific disciplines at a Naval hospital or an RN establishment.

At sea.

After a short Officers course at the Royal Naval College, Dartmouth, and a basic course in maritime medicine at the Institute of Naval Medicine, Alverstoke, you'll normally go to sea for about 12 months.

You'll be responsible for the medical care of some 250 to 500 men in your ship (and advise the Captain on health and environmental problems).

You won't lose touch with modern medicine, as you can visit local hospitals in ports of call and use the teaching aids provided by your Naval tutor.

Postgraduate training and specialisation.

After your sea-time, career counselling will determine your postgraduate training programme.

There are opportunities for General Professional Training in preparation for a clinical career in general practice, the hospital specialities, or the medical scientific disciplines such as Aviation, Underwater, Submarine and Nuclear Medicine; or in Occupational and Community Medicine.

If you decide to transfer to a 16-year pensionable Commission, or a permanent Commission, you could move on to recognised higher training programmes which include research training and higher training posts in civilian units.

At Alverstoke, the Dean of Naval Medicine co-ordinates postgraduate medical training and research.

Naval hospitals.

The two largest Naval hospitals are at Haslar (near Portsmouth) and Plymouth.

They undertake the care of Naval personnel, their families and NHS civilians, providing a broad spectrum of clinical material. Both hospitals are recognised for higher training in the major specialities.

There is a full range of modern technical equipment, and the nursing and paramedical staff are highly skilled.

There are smaller hospitals in Malta and Gibraltar.

Salary.

If you join us immediately after registration, your salary will be £5,997 as a Surgeon Lieutenant.

You can, however, join at any age up to 39. In that case, your postgraduate experience is taken into account, and you could join as a Surgeon Lieutenant Commander earning £8,015 a year.

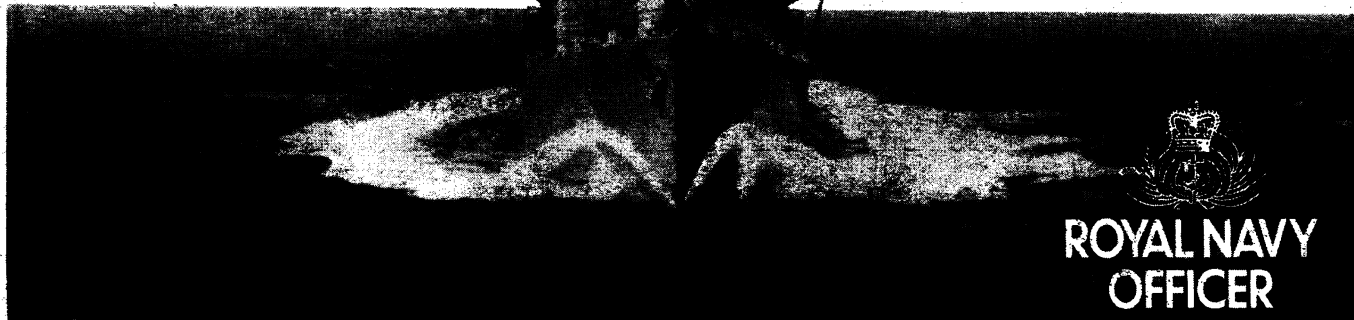

If you leave at the end of your 3 year Commission, you'll receive a tax-free gratuity of £1,500, or, after 5 years, £3,000.

If you decide to stay on, you can apply for a 16-year pensionable Commission or a permanent Commission.

The salary structure is based on an analogue computed from the average earnings of general practitioners in the NHS, with an additional X-factor. There is extra pay for recognised postgraduate qualifications and Senior Specialist or Consultant status.

If you're posted overseas, you can, of course, take your family with you. There are, too, generous boarding school allowances for your children.

For more information, write to Surgeon Commander H.B. Blackstone, MRCS, LRCP, MRCP, RN, (7246P1), Medical Directorate General (Navy), Ministry of Defence, Empress State Building, London SW6 1TR.

Are you using your loaf?

Consider a few simple facts

Bread is a valuable source of protein, calcium, iron, the B Vitamins (Niacin and Thiamin) and energy.

Bread supplies, in the average daily diet in Great Britain, 15.8% of the protein, 13.4% of the calcium, 18.8% of the iron, 13.5% of the niacin, 22.3% of the thiamin and 14.5% of the energy according to the government's latest published National Food Survey (1974).

All this from a food which, in the past, has largely been thought of as a 'filler'.

100 grams of white bread (28oz loaf) provides 7.8g protein, 92mg calcium, 1.8mg iron, 0.18mg thiamin, 1.7mg niacin and 243 calories.

Compared with cheese, milk, eggs, meat, fish, potatoes and butter, bread is the housewife's bargain protein.

In Great Britain a 28oz standard loaf provides 61.6 grams of protein and costs about 20p. The same amount of money will buy (October 1976) 6.5oz cheddar cheese (46.8g protein), 5.4 standard eggs (36.7g), 2.1 pints of milk (37.8g), 4.6oz stewing beef (25.3g), 4oz fresh cod (20.4g), 2lb new potatoes (19.2g), 7.3oz butter (0.7g).

This, from a food which, all too often, the housewife thinks of as a mere accompaniment to a more 'important' food.

Prices based on Department of Prices and Consumer Protection information, and local enquiries. Source of nutritional value: 'The Composition of Foods' by R. A. McCance and E. M. Widdowson - H.M.S.O. 1967.

The protein in bread is a valuable part of your diet.

A common belief is that the protein in bread is not really valuable, especially in contrast to animal protein.

Most people in the U.K. derive their protein from a mixture of animal and vegetable sources, and seldom eat one type of protein on its own. And, says modern nutritional knowledge, this is just as it should be because any relative shortage of individual essential amino acids in bread's protein is more than made good by an abundance in the animal protein. If you get a reasonable proportion of your protein from bread and a reasonable proportion from animal sources (as for instance, when you eat a ploughman's lunch of bread and cheese, or an egg on toast or a meat sandwich), you get a combination which is just as good and effective as most animal proteins alone.

Bread is an important part of any weight-watchers diet

Usually the first thing a slimmer 'elbows' from his or her diet is bread. The popular belief is that bread provides little real value in the diet and that it is highly fattening. Its nutritional value has already been made clear above. In calories 1oz of bread provides 69 calories compared with 226 calories from 1oz of butter, 120 calories from 1oz of cheddar cheese and 40 calories from 1oz of fried cod. Bread comes out reasonably well in the scorecard, being neither high nor low, and much the same as lean beef (64 calories per ounce). Yet lean beef is usually put high on a slimmer's list of priorities.

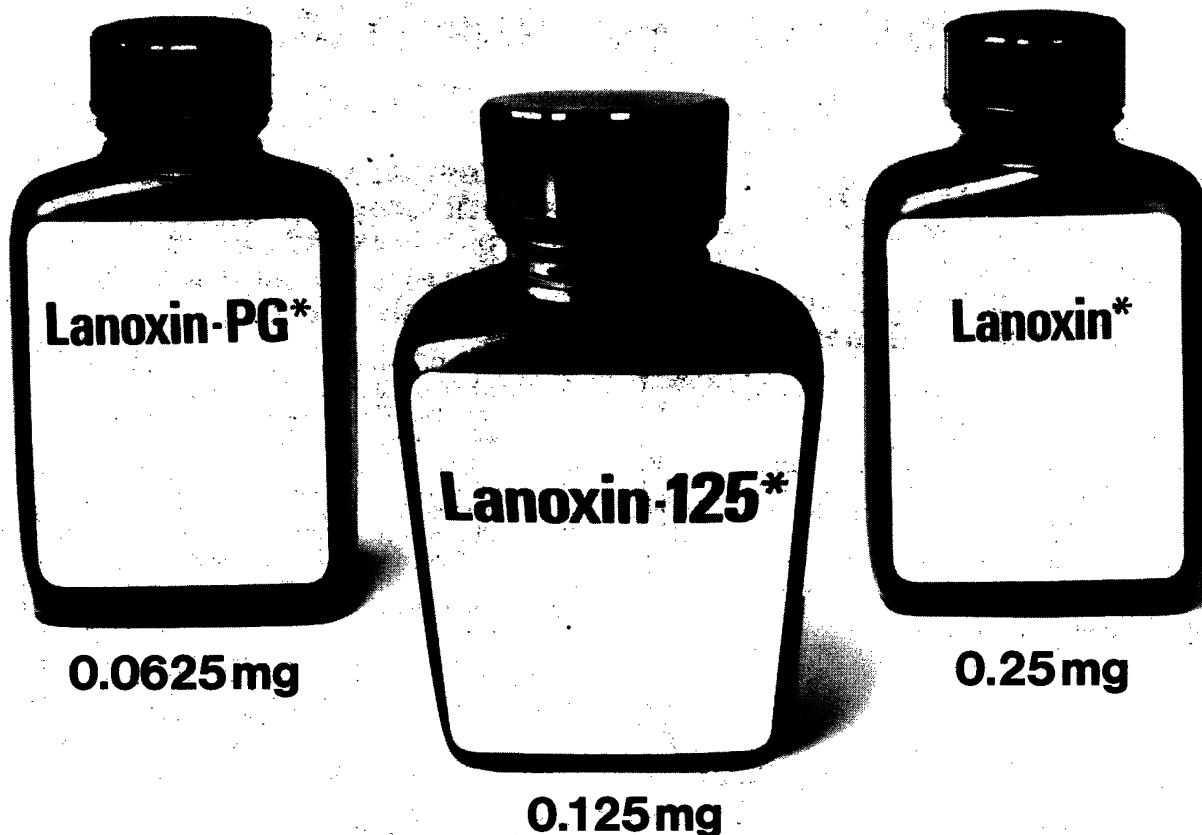

This is just another example of how the real facts about bread differ from the commonly-held beliefs.

Bread, more than most other foods, suffers from old concepts which do not stand up to new facts.

Shouldn't you use your loaf – and help guide other people to use theirs?

Bread is still the best food value in Britain

What on earth's a tub of margarine doing in this Medical Journal?

We know that there's a significant link between saturated fats, serum cholesterol levels and coronary heart disease in man.^{1,2}

There are a number of guidelines for reducing the risk of coronary heart disease. One of the most important is the recommendation to reduce the amount of saturated fat intake in the diet.³

The American Heart Association,⁴ the combined Medical Boards of Norway, Sweden and Finland,⁵ and the National Heart Foundations of Australia and New Zealand,^{6,7} all recommend the reduction of saturated fat intake and an increase in the level of polyunsaturated fatty acids.

Many doctors are recommending a modified fat diet for patients at risk from a heart attack. The change is made easier with Flora.

Flora is an accepted component of a lipid lowering diet.^{8,9} The value of such a diet is indicated by the findings from three first generation clinical trials of primary prevention, which suggested that dietary modifications would reduce the incidence of coronary heart disease.^{10,11,12}

Flora is higher in polyunsaturated fats than any other leading margarine, and is low in saturated fats*. In addition, Flora is a highly acceptable food and so patients will use it if recommended to do so.

Give good advice - recommend Flora.

At least 50% of Flora's fat content is linoleic essential fatty acid. Flora has a fat content of not less than 80% of the total product and is sold in half pound tubs.*

True human oestrogen replacement therapy in the menopause

Hormonin®

(Oestriol, Oestradiol, Oestrone)

The physical and mental distress of so many women during the menopause is generally attributed to the steep decline in oestrogen production by the ovaries. Nocturnal sweating, nervousness, insomnia, depression, headaches, and 'hot flushes' can, in most cases, be alleviated by replacing these depleted oestrogen levels with natural oestrogen content of HORMONIN®.

Because HORMONIN® provides a balanced intake of natural oestrogen hormone - not the substitute animal oestrogens or non-hormonal synthetic oestrogens of less sophisticated therapies - patient response is more predictable while side-effects are confined to the minimal.

HORMONIN's® simple dosage scheme - normally one daily tablet - can be adjusted to the patient's individual needs, thus providing relief of symptoms for the majority of patients.

HORMONIN® is a registered trade mark.

Each pink tablet contains oestriol 0.27mg; oestradiol 0.6mg; oestrone 1.4mg.

High rate tax relief and increased pension?

The 1976 Finance Act enables most Medical Practitioners to make an increase in pension provision in respect of that part of their earnings that is not superannuated. It is not just those doctors with private practice to whom the scheme applies. There may be all sorts of earnings which are not superannuated. The scheme could also be of particular interest to General Practitioners who, because of their peculiar method of tax treatment, can often take advantage of these facilities and enhance their total pension at attractive terms.

This provision creates a very attractive investment in that contributions made towards the additional pension rank for the relief of tax at both basic and higher rates where appropriate.

Also, the pension produced, although taxable, is not subject to investment income surcharge. For anyone who has such income, the attractions are obvious. Furthermore, it is vital that every doctor should try and make pension provision in respect of any non-superannuable earnings, otherwise at retirement his total pension could be considerably less than he might of anticipated.

May we suggest that you allow us to explore the situation for you? It is in the interests of all doctors to enquire. Far better to make such enquiry and find you are not able to benefit than to leave matters and discover subsequently that you have lost the opportunity in respect of several years' earnings.

Be more specific!

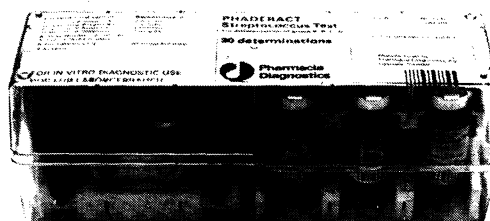

PHADEBACT STREPTOCOCCUS TEST. The new, rapid, slide technique to identify Lancefield groups A, B, C or G.

It is no longer adequate to classify a streptococcal strain as either "group A" or "not group A". Instead a more specific identification is required. Groups A, B, C and G are the ones which have most often been associated with human streptococcal infections. Therefore the ability to identify these groups in clinical microbiology is highly desirable.

Until recently the methods available for group identification were inconvenient, laborious, time-consuming or complex. These disadvantages were deterrents to group identification.

Phadebact streptococcus test has changed all that. Now you can accurately identify the important streptococcal groups A, B, C and G with a simple, rapid, and convenient method.

Simply add one drop of the broth culture to one drop of each of the Phadebact Streptococcal reagents on a glass slide. Rock the slide and watch for any co-agglutination appearing as a heavy white precipitate within two minutes.

The complete kit is sufficient for at least 30 patient samples and has a shelf life of a minimum of one month after reconstitution.

It's so easy, just try it.

APPOINTMENTS

Applicants for medical appointments are advised to check whether the post advertised is included in the Important Notice and to scrutinize carefully the remuneration and terms of service offered. Any member who is in doubt about these terms in relation to B.M.A. agreements should consult the Secretary of the Association.

Advertisers are reminded that the Race Relations Board insists that no descriptive term implying racial, national, or ethnic characteristics may be used in any advertisement. Further, readers are advised not to apply for any appointment which discriminates between applicants on grounds of creed or unreasonably on grounds of sex.

HOSPITAL APPOINTMENTS

Applicants should state names, address, age, nationality, and qualifications, and enclose (unless otherwise specified) one copy of each of three recent testimonials, with a short statement of experience and appointments held. Applications should be sent at once if no closing date is given: Canvassing disqualifies (Statutory Instrument, 1974, No. 361).

All National Health Service hospital appointments are in accordance with the Terms and Conditions of Service of Hospital Medical Staff.

Further details concerning standards of residential accommodation, telephone charges, removal allowances, study leave and other matters should be obtained from the Hospital Secretary; or by B.M.A. members from the Secretary, British Medical Association.

In particular, they will find full details of facilities provided in most hospitals in the United Kingdom in the current edition of the Hospital Gazetteer. If such details are not included members are advised to consult the Secretary of the B.M.A.

Applicants requiring hospital married accommodation are strongly advised to obtain, prior to interview, clarification in writing from the employing authority as to whether such accommodation will be available on appointment.

Advertisements for post-registration house officers, senior house officers and registrars should state clearly whether the post is resident, i.e. compulsorily resident.

In all advertisements grade should be clearly indicated. Normally a consultant vacancy must be advertised as (a) part-time with the number of sessions clearly stated, or (b) whole-time with the option of maximum part-time.

In the view of the B.M.A. an advertiser should not insist on possession of English higher qualifications in preference to Scottish or Irish qualifications (or vice versa).

Daily Tenormin

ONE DAILY FOR HYPERTENSION

The chances are they'll take it.

TENORMIN, a major new antihypertensive, is receiving an exceptionally favourable response from trialists throughout the UK. (writes our Medical Correspondent).

The enthusiasm of trialists is based largely on the product's simple dose without complications. Thus, Tenormin provides a simple, effective programme to encourage long-term compliance in the treatment of hypertension.

One daily

One tablet a day is seen as a singular advance in antihypertensive therapy. The effect of the drug is to lower blood pressure within 48 hours in most patients without producing postural effects.

Well tolerated

Tenormin's side effects, say the trialists, are at a new low level. Or, as one trialist puts it "...atenolol [Tenormin] is almost as well tolerated as placebo. . ."¹ coupled with a single daily dose means that patient acceptance is likely to be high.

Cardioselective

Tenormin is highly cardioselective and thus preserves the asthmatic patients beneficial response to bronchodilators.²

Well-being

Many patients on Tenormin have reported a "...feeling of well being..."³ and, in fact, are happy to continue a normal life-style.

And that, of course, combined with Tenormin's other benefits, means fewer problems for the overworked practitioner.

Nationwide trials confirms TENORMIN'S simple effectiveness.
