SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN

Large or small we've got the perfect prescription for a successful conference.

From medical congresses to gas turbines, hair dressing shows to car launches, fashion parades to marketing seminars – the range we handle is endless. And every event receives the full co-ordination of our specialist team, according to requirements.

Up to 2,500 delegates at a time, from some 51 countries, have enjoyed the luxurious surroundings of the main auditorium, the Wembley Grand Hall. Such facilities as satellite and closed circuit relays on a 16-foot TV screen, multi-screen projection and eight languages in simultaneous translation, make it the focal point of many an international meeting.

But we're far from only being interested in large numbers! In our specially designed multi-purpose complex, the Avon and Severn Suites are adaptable for functions for 130 to 500 people, and offer projection equipment, closed circuit TV and simultaneous translation facilities. Smaller rooms for up to 60 are an ideal setting for board meetings, lunches, sales reviews and recruitment interviews.

While for conferences incorporating exhibitions, the Thames Suite provides a versatile display area of 3,000 square metres on two levels.

Our flexibility extends to the catering field too, with an exciting range of bars, and a choice of anything from a finger buffet for 20 to a four-course meal for up to 2,000 at the Centre.

The proven potential of Wembley Conference Centre is vast, and it's only 10 minutes by rail or 20 minutes by road from Central London. So next time you are planning an event, give Bernard Owen a ring on 01-902 8833. Let us help you realise the full potential of your conference from the start.

All over Europe, they're taking a healthy view of polyunsaturates.

Six European expert committees have now reported on diet and CHD.

Five recommend partial substitution of saturated fats by polyunsaturated fats.

The most recent report* advises that "the intake of excess dietary energy, saturated fat and cholesterol should be reduced" and "the intake of polyunsaturated fatty acids should be increased, preferably to the same level as the intake of saturated fatty acids."

Flora margarine is made with pure sunflower oil. It is higher in polyunsaturates than any other nationally available spread and the lowest in saturated fat.

Two side effects of Multiple Sclerosis you can cure.

Loneliness and isolation.

As you know too well, they're two very real problems that often confront the newly-diagnosed MS patient. On top of his physical difficulties.

But your patient doesn't have to cope with them on his own.

One of the main aims of the MS Society is to create a point of contact for the MS sufferer, somewhere he can talk to others who are also fighting MS and take comfort from shared experiences.

The MS Society also looks after the welfare of the MS patient and his family, providing help with the kind of practical difficulties the disease can bring.

And it campaigns ceaselessly for money for research. Over £1 million is needed to meet the Society's existing commitment to research.

There's a branch of the Society in your area. If you ring or write to us we'll let you know the address.

It can take someone with MS a long, lonely time to find us by himself. But with your help in referring him, we can make him feel the world is not quite such a lonely place.

Monographs for Students of Medicine

Control of Human Reproduction

R. L. Holmes and C. A. Fox

October/November 1979, viii + 150 pp., £5.40
0.12.353450.X

Control of Human Reproduction aims to bridge the gap between the basic sciences and clinical knowledge of the endocrinology of reproduction. The authors present a general survey of the role of hormones in reproductive processes with particular reference to the human system, giving the anatomical, physiological and chemical facts and their clinical applications. The book gives a clear exposition of the reproductive hormones and the tissues which produce and control them.

Kidney Transplantation

Principles and Practice

edited by P. J. Morris

May 1979, xviii + 310 pp., £17.50

0.12.507450.6 (Academic Press)
0.8089.1142.2 (Grune & Stratton)

This book presents the current position of kidney transplantation from the point of view of the practising physician, (be he transplant surgeon, nephrologist, tissue typer, virologist, pathologist or bacteriologist). The book is comprehensive in the sense that a person involved with kidney transplantation for the first time could get an overall grasp of the principles and practice of kidney transplantation, ranging from the surgical techniques in adults and children to the diagnosis, immunological changes and pathology of rejection. Thus the book should be of value to all who are involved in the many different aspects of kidney transplant programmes, be they doctors, scientists or nurses.

Health and the Family

edited by Clive Wood

July 1979, xiv + 240 pp., £11.60

0.12.794913.5 (Academic Press)
0.8089.1180.5 (Grune & Stratton)

This volume deals in an unusually comprehensive way with one of the major human problems of this century, the changing status of the family. A wide range of experts from the United States and Britain consider this problem, its causes and its effect. This book brings together issues and problems relating health care and medical education with the sociology of the family, and illustrates the importance and unique relationship between them.

Arthroscopy of the Knee

Robert W. Jackson and David J. Dandy

1979, 28 pp., £10.65 0.8089.0947.9
Published by Grune & Stratton

The authors have dedicated many years to the study and development of arthroscopy to a clinical art. Recorded here is their extensive experience, and its implications for further research into the physiology and pathology of joints. Richly illustrated and concisely written, the text is intended for the practicing arthroscopist in his day-to-day work. The history and technique of the examination is given in minute detail along with descriptions of normal and pathological conditions. The authors describe the many problems they have encountered, and how to avoid them.

Cunningham's Manual of Practical Anatomy

Volume 3: Head and Neck and Brain
G. J. Romanes

The text of this well-established textbook has been entirely rewritten, with new material and illustrations, so that this edition is adequate in itself as a textbook of gross anatomy and can still be used as a dissecting manual. Fourteenth edition paper covers £3.75

Epidemiology in Health Care Planning

Edited by George Knox

'Overall . . . the book is of a remarkably high standard, and it seems certain to become a widely used and widely cited text. It deserves to be standard reading for all students and practitioners of community medicine and health-care administration.' The Lancet. Paper covers £4

Essentials of Ophthalmic Optics

Edward W. Allen

This concise and readable introduction to ophthalmic optics is divided into three sections: Pure Optics, Physiological Optics, and Allied Principles. It will be useful to members of the ophthalmological profession and allied professions such as nursing, orthoptics, ophthalmic and dispensing optics, as well as to medical students and practitioners. Paper covers £1.95

Introduction to the Psychotherapies

Edited by Sidney Bloch

'It consists of contributions by seven authors, all of them doctors, all of them of the highest standing in the profession . . . Each author writes well, and what is refreshing is the absence of dogma and the modesty of the claims made for the particular variety of psychotherapy that each one advocates.' British Medical Journal. £8.50 paper covers £3.95

Cope's Early Diagnosis of the Acute Abdomen

Revised by William Silen

'No student or young general practitioner should be without this paperback volume' wrote The Practitioner of the last edition of this classic textbook. It has now been revised by a leading gastrointestinal surgeon. Fifteenth edition illustrated paper covers £3.50

Sexually Transmitted Diseases: The Facts

David Barlow

This book explains the signs, symptoms, and course of the various venereal infections, with chapters on the history of the conditions, control measures, and the clinics in which they are treated. It contains practical advice on what to do if infection is suspected and describes the measures that can be taken to minimize the risk of passing on or acquiring the disease. Illustrated £4.50

Tuberculous Meningitis

A Handbook for Clinicians

Malcolm Parsons

This handbook covers the pathology and presentation, diagnosis, and treatment of tuberculous meningitis. This disease, which is often manageable, is easily misdiagnosed and a delay in correct diagnosis can often be fatal. The book will be invaluable to physicians and general practitioners, and in particular to neurologists and specialists in infectious diseases. £4.50

The Facial Nerve

Charles Diamond and Ivor Frew

Many physicians have to deal with diseases and trauma of the facial nerve, and this book provides the first concise reference text on this nerve and its disorders. It will interest neurologists and surgeons concerned with the area of the facial nerve. Illustrated £12.50

Drug Disposition in Humans

The Basis of Clinical Pharmacology

William A. Creasey

This textbook gives a readable and well-illustrated account of the factors that govern the fate of drugs in the human body. Emphasis is placed on the major determinants of drug action – pharmacokinetics and drug metabolism – where wide variation between species is often seen. Illustrated paper covers £5.50

A Companion to Clinical Medicine in the Tropics and Subtropics

E. B. Adams

This book is intended as an adjunct to the standard Western textbooks of medicine, for those working in the tropics and subtropics. It concentrates on diseases which are either particularly common throughout the developing world, or those which are of particular critical significance. Illustrated £8

Oxford University Press

Scott - Brown's

Diseases of the Ear, Nose and Throat

Fourth Edition

John Ballantyne, FRCS, Hon FRCA(I) and John Groves, MB, BS, FRCS

In a review of the third edition, the Lancet described 'Scott-Brown' as the standard textbook of Ear, Nose and Throat in the English language. In the new edition, which is approximately one-third greater in extent than its predecessor most of the new material is concentrated in Volume 1 (Basic Sciences) and Volume 2 (Ear), though Volume 3 (The Nose and Sinuses) and Volume 4 (The Pharynx and Larynx) have been rigorously revised with the aid of many new contributors.

Basic Sciences has nine new chapters covering aerospace and deep water diving, bacteriology, allergy and various aspects of head and neck cancer, including immunology.

The Ear is also greatly enlarged, because advances in academic research have made it almost impossible to classify neatly a plethora of theories and facts for clinical applications.

New light on an old problem

The clinical significance of prostaglandins

Prostaglandins are synthesised in arthritic joints; they augment pain and inflammation.

Nonsteroidal anti-inflammatory drugs reduce pain and inflammation mainly by inhibiting prostaglandin synthesis. The level of this antiprostaglandin activity exhibited by a drug correlates with its analgesic and anti-inflammatory activity.

The clinical application of a potent antiprostaglandin

Since antiprostaglandin activity indicates effectiveness in reducing pain and inflammation, a potent antiprostaglandin must be considered as first-line treatment for arthritis.

Froben is a potent antiprostaglandin—one of the most potent of the available anti-inflammatory drugs.

The clinical importance of Froben potent antiprostaglandin

Through its potent antiprostaglandin action, Froben provides the powerful analgesic and anti-inflammatory activity needed to relieve the pain, stiffness and swelling of rheumatoid arthritis and osteoarthritis and so progressively improve the mobility of your arthritic patient.

Froben

flurbiprofen
potent antiprostaglandin
potent anti-arthritic

PRESCRIBING INFORMATION

Presentation: Sugar-coated tablets, each containing either 50 or 100mg of flurbiprofen.

Uses: Froben is indicated in the treatment of rheumatoid disease, osteoarthritis and ankylosing spondylitis.

Dosage: 150 to 200mg daily in 3 or 4 divided doses. In patients with severe symptoms or disease of recent origin, or during acute exacerbations, the total daily dose may be increased to 300mg in divided doses.

Contra-Indications, Warnings, etc: Froben should not be given to patients with peptic ulceration. Care should be taken when administering the drug to patients with asthma or who have experienced bronchospasm with other anti-inflammatory or analgesic agents. The safety of Froben during pregnancy or lactation has not been established. In animal experiments, no teratogenic effects were demonstrated but parturition was delayed and prolonged. Side-effects: Dyspepsia, heartburn and headache are the commonest encountered. Occasional skin reactions have been reported. Treatment of Overdosage: Gastric lavage and, if necessary, correction of serum electrolytes. There is no specific antidote.
