

The BMJ's new series of books of general interest by medical writers

This enterprising new series could have no better beginning.

ROY PORTER

The MEMOIR Club

In Doctors in Science and Society Christopher Booth examines the lives and times of some eighteenth century medical scientists, among them Sir Samuel Garth, FRS, physician to the Duke of Marlborough and friend and fellow poet of Alexander Pope; and Dr John Dawson, a country practitioner and largely self taught mathematical genius, twelve of whose pupils went on to become senior wranglers at the University of Cambridge.

Not concerned only with history, Doctors in Science and Society also considers the role of modern medical science and its relationship with technology, and the development and function of two major medical institutions, the Medical Research Council and the Royal Postgraduate Medical School. Written with elegance and authority, this fascinating collection is a must for anyone interested in the past and future of medical science.

"... a delight to read and a pleasure to handle... At the price of a meal out it is superb value. 'Buy good books', wrote Lord Chesterfield to his son, 'and read them'. I can give no better advice about this book."

The Lancet: October 10 1987

"... a well written and well researched series of contributions that will give pleasure and instruction to what should be a wide readership."

Journal of the Royal College of Physicians: January 1988
