for Sacro-iliac strain

a narrow belt alone is not enough . . .

That is why Spencer Designers incorporate an easily adjustable pelvic binder (see inset below) inside each Spencer created for Sacro-iliac strain.

A narrow belt alone will not provide adequate continuous immobilization of the sacro-iliac joints, because such a belt will not stay in place. With ordinary body movements, any narrow belt alone will ride up and dig in at the back, thus causing faulty posture that increases the disability. That is why every Spencer Sacro-iliac Support is a "belt within a support" designed to the necessary heights and lengths to bridge the lumbar curve and correlate abdominal and back support. Thus improvement in posture—essential to relief in sacro-iliac strain—is attained and maintained.

Every Spencer—for abdomen, back, breasts—is individually designed, cut and made for each patient.

antidepressant and tranquilliser

“...Triptafen-DA gave significantly better results than amitriptyline.”¹

“After three weeks' treatment, 79 per cent of patients receiving Triptafen-DA were improved or greatly improved as compared with 30 per cent receiving placebo.”²

“...the success rate with “Triptafen-DA” in the present study compares favourably with that reported for imipramine in the M.R.C. trial.”³

“Despite the substantial placebo response discussed, Triptafen-DA brought about an additional improvement which was significantly greater than that obtained in the control group.”⁴

These quotations are taken from four recently published papers which confirm the value of Triptafen-DA in the treatment of depression.

1 This paper (Brit. J. Psychiat., 1967, 113, 201) is a retrospective study of depressed patients treated with Triptafen-DA or with amitriptyline alone. The response rate for amitriptyline alone, 63.4 per cent, is in agreement with reports from other investigators; the rate for Triptafen-DA, 95.2 per cent, is by any standards exceptionally high.

2 This paper (Brit. J. Psychiat., 1967, 113, 195) describes a double-blind controlled trial of Triptafen-DA against placebo in the treatment of 129 patients suffering from depressive illness. After 3 weeks' treatment 79 per cent of patients treated with Triptafen-DA showed moderate to marked improvement, compared with 30 per cent of patients treated with placebo.

3 This is a report (J. Irish med. Ass., 1966, 59, 129) of a preliminary trial, in various types of depressive illness, of Triptafen-DA. Many of the patients needed treatment for only two weeks, and the results reported are those obtained at that time. Moderate improvement, marked improvement and clinical remission are grouped and show that 17 of 26 patients with endogenous depression, 12 of 15 patients with endogenous depression and agitation, and 5 of 8 patients with neurotic depression were improved or cured.

4 The final paper (Medical Digest, 1967, 12, 71), by the G.P. Field Research Unit, describes a double-blind investigation of Triptafen-DA in 70 patients with depressive illness accompanied by anxiety. The results were assessed on improvement observed in 5 main symptoms: depression, anxiety, lack of energy, difficulty in concentration and insomnia. Improvement took place with both preparations but was significantly greater in patients receiving Triptafen-DA, particularly when this was given after a course of placebo treatment.

Indications

DEPRESSION

PSYCHONEUROSIS
PSYCHOSOMATIC ILLNESS

A combined antidepressant-tranquillising action, such as that provided by Triptafen-DA, is established as the treatment of first choice in depressive illness and in psychoneurotic conditions such as anxiety states and menopausal disorders associated with anxiety and depression; also for the relief of the withdrawal syndrome in chronic alcoholism. Most psychoneurotic patients encountered in general practice exhibit symptoms of both depression and anxiety or agitation. The same is usually true of patients suffering from depressive illness regarded as endogenous in origin. In the treatment of such patients it has been stated that “if either the tranquilliser or the antidepressant is used alone, the possibility that the opposite symptom will be exacerbated is a definite risk of treatment” (Curr. ther. Res., 1963, 5, 310).

Contraindications

Glaucoma; urinary retention; severely-impaired liver function; the concurrent administration of other antidepressant drugs, particularly MAO inhibitors.

Precautions

Triptafen-DA should not be used in conjunction with MAO inhibitors and because of the persistent action of the latter at least 7 days should intervene between their withdrawal and the introduction of Triptafen-DA. Although Triptafen-DA has been shown to be free from teratogenic effects in laboratory animals, it should be used in pregnancy only after consideration of the risks involved in giving any drug to the pregnant patient.

Side effects

Side effects with Triptafen-DA are mild and of the type to be expected of the atropine-like action of amitriptyline (e.g. drowsiness, dizziness or blurred vision, tachycardia and insomnia) or characteristic of the safest of the phenothiazine derivatives (e.g. slight fall in blood pressure, mild tremor or in elevated dosage, Parkinsonian symptoms). In most cases these side effects disappear on continued therapy or reduction of the dosage. Idiosyncratic side effects (e.g. pruritus, nausea, diarrhoea and indigestion) have also been reported on rare occasions.

Dosage

In most cases a dose of one Triptafen-DA Tablet or two teaspoonsfuls (10 ml) of Triptafen-DA Suspension 3 times a day is recommended. If necessary a fourth similar dose may be prescribed at night.

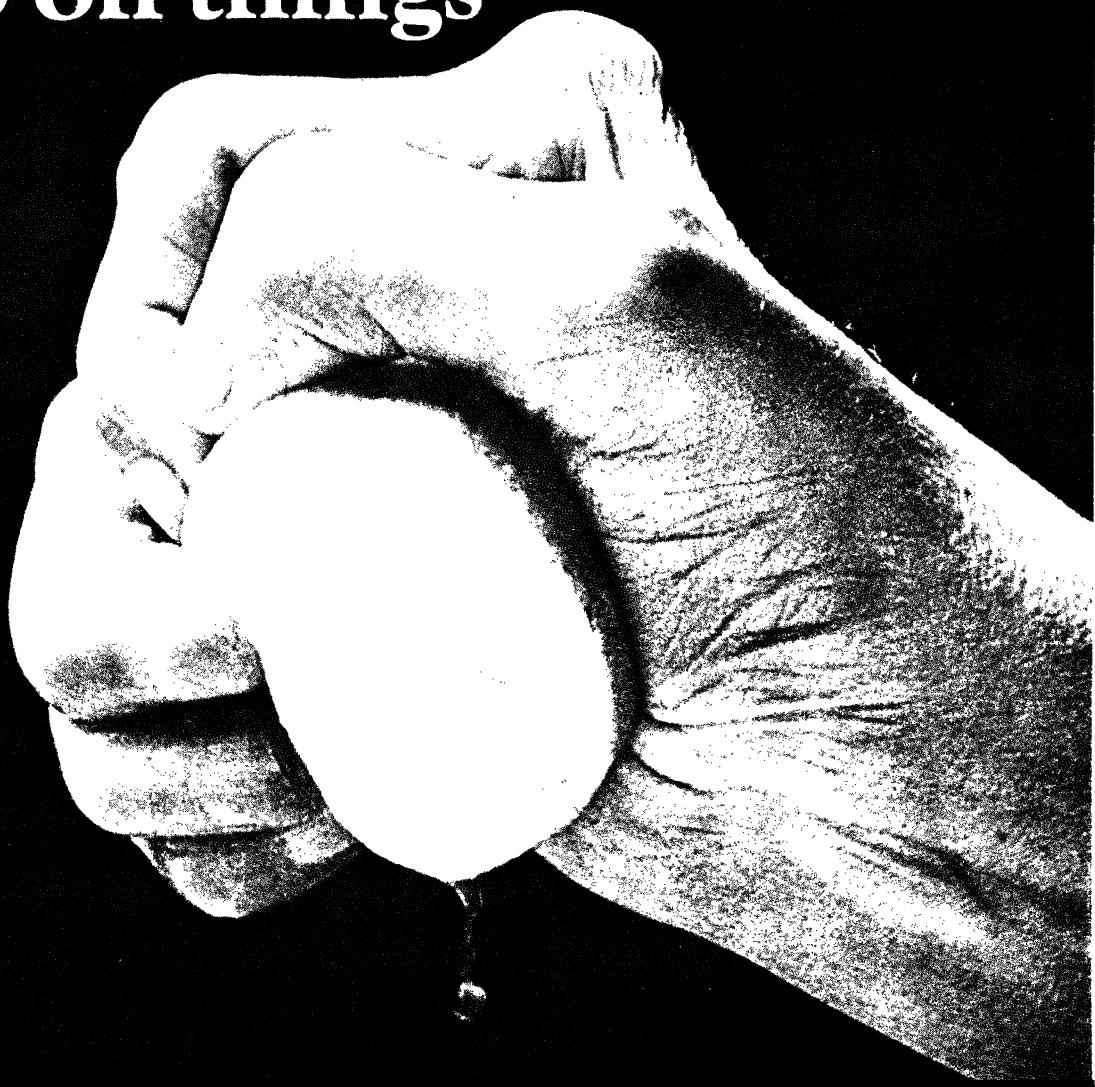

Presentation

Triptafen-DA Tablets each contain amitriptyline hydrochloride BP 25 mg and perphenazine BP 2 mg; they are available in bottles of 50 and 500. The basic NHS cost of treatment with Triptafen-DA is 4/8d. per week. Triptafen-DA Suspension contains 37.5 mg amitriptyline embonate (equivalent to 25 mg amitriptyline hydrochloride BP) and 2 mg perphenazine BP in each 10 ml. It is available in bottles of 142 ml (5 fl oz) and 500 ml. Basic NHS cost for a bottle of 142 ml suspension is 7/6d.

For efficient conception control with minimum physiological disturbance

The low dosage regimen of Feminor Sequential closely parallels the body's normal pattern of hormone production. To inhibit ovulation it employs an oestrogen alone for the first fifteen days - with the addition of a progestogen for the last five days to establish a normal secretory endometrium. The total amount of hormone taken is limited to that necessary for effective inhibition of ovulation. Thus there is minimum physiological disturbance and a marked reduction in side effects such as breakthrough bleeding, breast discomfort and weight gain.

Feminor Sequential is presented in wallets containing one month's supply of 20 foiled tablets: 15 pink tablets containing mestranol 0.1 mg, 5 white tablets containing mestranol 0.075 mg, norethynodrel 5.0 mg.

Single-dose Pripsen breaks the threadworm life cycle

Threadworms often infect families, one child can infect the others.

A single dose of Pripsen, taken by each member of the family, can eradicate threadworm infection. Pripsen treats the affected child and protects others against infection. As a precaution against possible re-infection a second dose of Pripsen should be repeated after two weeks.

Pripsen (piperazine phosphate and standardized senna) is also effective against roundworms.

It's not that I'm worried doctor...

••• but I feel a bit giddy and I wonder if I have blood pressure.

You find only a mild hypertension but a deal of anxiety.

She'll do well on Capla—the central nervous system depressant designed for the anxious patient with mild hypertension.

Recent pharmacological work on the hypotensive action of mebutamate, using cross-circulation experiments in dogs, concluded that the hypotensive effect could be attributed both to a direct vasodilator effect and to inhibition of the sympathetic vasomotor outflow. The former is believed to be responsible for the initial transient fall in the blood pressure and the latter for the sustained vasomotor depression, essentially at the spinal and ganglionic levels.

Capla is not cumulative and tolerance does not develop. The body's ability to detoxify Capla readily accounts for its unusually low toxicity both in humans and animals. Drowsiness can occur on high dosage.

Capla is available in bottles of 100 tablets. Each tablet contains 300 mg. mebutamate.

The recommended dosage is 1 tablet 3 times daily before meals.

There are no known contra-indications to Capla and it can be used concurrently with hypotensive agents and diuretics. It is suitable for elderly and debilitated patients.

'Ilosone' excels as a first-line treatment for acute upper respiratory tract and bronchopulmonary infections of bacterial origin.

'Ilosone' is effective against a wide range of infections, but it is much more active than the tetracyclines against Gram-positive cocci - by far the commonest pathogens of the respiratory tract. Unlike the tetracyclines, however, 'Ilosone' has extremely low toxicity, virtually no sensitising potential - and it has negligible effect on the normal bacteria of the gut.

By selecting 'Ilosone' as your first-line treatment you ensure a rapid response in most cases - with much less risk of complications.

The efficiency of betamethasone in breaking the vicious cycle of asthma and giving the patient 'breathing time' is well known. A short (usually six day) course produces a rapid and often prolonged remission of symptoms without causing salt and water retention or affecting potassium balance. Studies have shown that such a course can safely be repeated as often as fifteen times a year*. There can't be many of your patients who would require steroids so frequently.

the chance is, they will be neither logical nor beneficial. For instance, Ferrograd-Folic will hardly be one of them, despite the fact that she may vitally need the iron and folic acid it contains.

Today, the place of effective oral iron in the management of pregnancy is unquestioned. Not so widely appreciated is the fact that folic acid is also vital. One in three women have been shown to have disturbance of folate metabolism during pregnancy.¹⁻³ At worst, this may lead to megaloblastic anaemia,^{1,4} which is associated with obstetric abnormalities, among the more important of which are premature labour, prematurity and consequent higher neonatal death rate.^{5,6}

Throughout the second and third trimesters of pregnancy one Ferrograd-Folic tablet a day, taken on an empty stomach for best effect, will provide all the iron and folic acid needed to prevent the development of iron- and folate-deficiency states and thus avoid the inherent risks to the health and well-being of mother and child.

Ferrograd-Folic—each two-layered tablet contains: in the first layer—the exsiccated equivalent of 525 mg. ferrous sulphate BP in a Gradumet® for controlled-release, optimal absorption and minimal side effects⁷ (providing 105 mg. elemental iron) second layer—a 'physiological' quantity (350 µg.) of folic acid^{8,9}.

NEW

For the patient
with cardiac oedema

Aldactide

a new diuretic formulation with two-fold action for enhanced sodium output with minimal K⁺ loss

Acts at both the proximal and the distal renal tubule

Aldactide combines a thiazide diuretic, hydroflumethiazide, and spironolactone (Aldactone-A), an aldosterone antagonist. The modes of action of these two agents are different but complementary. Diuretic induced sodium loss results in increased aldosterone production. Spironolactone combats this and any pre-existing aldosteronism. The combination of a thiazide and spironolactone in Aldactide produces enhanced sodium and water excretion with a reduction in potassium loss.

Improved patient well-being

The potassium sparing effect of spironolactone reduces the risk of potassium depletion associated with thiazides and other diuretics when they are used alone. Because of this the patient is spared from the 'washed out' feeling often produced by such agents.

Convenient dosage

Aldactide contains two well-proven diuretic agents in a single, convenient presentation. The burden of daily tablet-taking may accordingly be eased for the patient. Average dosage with Aldactide is four tablets daily, taken in two divided doses.

Aldactide is available in bottles of 40 and 100 tablets, each tablet containing hydroflumethiazide, 25 mg. and spironolactone, 25 mg.

Lyndiol 2·5

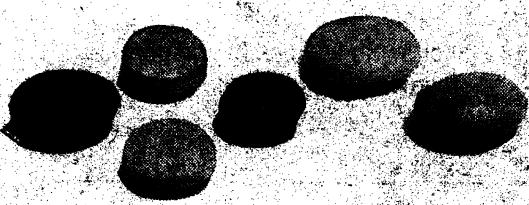

is only marginally better than other oral contraceptives...

The physician, trained to make rational choices, faces a problem when he comes to The Pill, for he knows that as far as the combined oral contraceptives are concerned all are virtually 100% effective.

He looks then for other significant differences. First of these is the incidence of side-effects. (The latest data from the F.P.A. show that Lyndiol 2.5 is substantially free from side-effects).

Price is another factor, especially as the acceptability of the oral contraceptive idea spreads down the socio-economic scale to those families who perhaps need contraception most and can afford it least. (Lyndiol 2.5 offers the most reasonable price-to-patient).

And he considers patient reliability – which dosage scheme will be easiest to follow ? (Lyndiol 2.5's 'fixed day' routine means simply that if a patient starts on, say, a Friday, she finishes three weeks later on a Friday and begins her new course on the following Friday).

Plus Alphosyl psoriasis curiae praescribitur quam quidquid aliud medicamentum.

It's the truth. Alphosyl is the most widely prescribed product used specifically for the treatment of psoriasis. Alphosyl Lubricating Cream is the newer form of Alphosyl, clinically proven for psoriasis — especially in the intertriginous areas.

In these areas where dry, scaly lesions cause constant friction and continuous irritation, Alphosyl Lubricating Cream not only removes scales and crusts, but enhances lubrication of the skin folds to lessen irritation. It has proved effective even in resistant cases.

Alphosyl therapy (either Lotion or Cream) can now be adjusted to fit the patient's individual needs... or preference.

When acid turns peptic ulcer into peptic agony NACTON* stems it at source Halves Gastric Acid Secretion and Controls Pain. Recently published results of trials over periods of up to 7 years have shown that Nacton (poldine tablets B.P.) is remarkably effective in the treatment of patients suffering from peptic ulcer. It is of considerable help whenever hyperacidity is causing pain.

Specific · Certain · Continuous. Nacton consistently reduces acid secretion by half, alleviates ulcer pain and gives the ulcer a chance to heal. It is easy to take, causes no side-effects in therapeutic doses, does not lead to tolerance.

The patient may eat as he chooses, will rely less and less on antacids—and is released, through the continuing action of Nacton, from the fear of being woken by pain. Above all, he will be restored to a full working life: in one stringent trial, absenteeism fell from an average of 28 days a year to 2.

Full details of product information, dosage instructions and references will be sent promptly on request.

Women at risk

'... The highest infection rate was in women of childbearing age, particularly between twenty and twenty-nine.'

Lancet, (1962), ii, 1246

In young adult women, urinary tract infections such as 'honeymoon cystitis' or 'pyelitis of pregnancy' may often be acute episodes in an infection which has smouldered subclinically since childhood, perhaps following inadequate symptomatic treatment. Whether the infection is new or old, and however apparently mild, eradication of the infecting organisms is essential to reduce the risk of chronic renal disease in later life.

a first-class prescription for a sick Doctor

It is commonly said that good doctors are bad patients. And more than three-quarters of a century's experience with the medical and dental professions has convinced us that the statement is very often true. A sick doctor is nearly always a worried doctor. Not because of the nature of his illness, but because of the loss of income it may entail.

But we have a specific for this kind of thing. By taking a Sickness and Accident Insurance with us, a doctor can be certain of receiving a substantial part of his normal income whenever he is incapacitated by illness or accident. Further, there is absolutely no limit to the number of claims he may make up to the age of 65.

This is just one example of the many policies we have designed specially for doctors and dentists. And since the Society is wholly owned by the policy holders all the profits belong to them and are distributed by bonus declaration every three years.

If you are eligible to join the Society you should be sharing these profits. So why not write to us for further details? There are separate brochures for Sickness and Accident; Educational; Life; Personal Pension; Family Income; Provision for Estate Duty; Car Hire Purchase.

We shall be pleased to send one or more of these at your request. When writing quote ref: No. 001.

Now you can end the intolerable irritation of monilial vaginitis—
swiftly... decisively

CANDEPTIN specific therapy for vaginitis caused by Candida albicans.

Swift symptomatic relief¹ and decisive resolution of infection²—these are proven benefits of Candeptin in the treatment of monilial vaginitis. Candida albicans—the usual cause of infection—is particularly sensitive to this new fungicidal antibiotic.

Laboratory studies³ have shown that Candeptin inhibits Candida albicans—even after two days incubation—at the remarkably low concentration of 0.05 mcg/ml. Under the same circumstances nystatin had to be used at 5 mcg/ml to achieve inhibition.

Equally remarkable results have been achieved in clinical practice.^{1,2,3} Of 190 women, both pregnant and non-pregnant, 173 were cured after a single course of treatment. A further 14 responded to a second course.

ANTIBIOTICS AND THE INTESTINAL FLORA

Treatment with broad spectrum antibiotics suppresses the normal flora, which may be replaced by abnormal resistant organisms causing diarrhoea.

This change can be prevented or reversed by the implantation of Lactobacillus acidophilus which has been rendered antibiotic-resistant, and is thus able to multiply freely under these abnormal conditions. The products of growth of the organism are inimical to that of many other bacteria^{1,2} and thus contribute to its rapid preponderance over other species.

Oral treatment with antibiotic-resistant L. acidophilus in the form of ENPAC has been shown to eliminate Candida from the faeces of infants with antibiotic-induced diarrhoea, with relief of symptoms succeeded by rapid gain in weight^{3,4} and greatly to reduce the numbers of staphylococci in the faeces of patients treated with tetracyclines.⁵

Treatment of common skin diseases

Published July 1967

This is the first book in the Current Practice series to be published in paperback. Like Child Care and Obstetrics in General Practice it is made up of articles originally published in the Current Practice section of the B.M.J.

The scope of the book is intentionally restricted. All doctors in hospital and general practice learn to recognize the common disorders of the skin, but in the last few years antibiotics, specific fungicides, and topical corticosteroid preparations have revolutionized treatment. The authors of the articles are all practising dermatologists, and they were asked to give critical assessments of newer remedies while not omitting traditional treatments where they are still of value. Diagnosis is touched on lightly, only where—as with fungal infections—it is an essential part of management. Rare disorders are not discussed. Skin diseases take up a large part of every general practitioner's time. It is hoped that this book will be useful as a source of up-to-date practical advice for busy doctors.

Neither previous experience in the pharmaceutical industry nor the possession of a higher qualification are prerequisites, although the latter would be desirable.

The successful candidate should have a genuine interest in pharmacology and associated clinical problems which arise in the evaluation of new therapeutic compounds originating from the research laboratories.

A substantial salary is envisaged and will be by negotiation. The company operates excellent non-contributory superannuation and B.U.P.A. schemes, and a car will be provided.

Opportunities also arise in the parent company, Farwerke Hoechst A.G., one of the largest international pharmaceutical organisations with a current research budget running at over £24 million per annum, for

to join an existing international team of consultants engaged in world-wide clinical evaluation studies.

It is proposed that the successful candidates will spend an initial orientation period in Frankfurt prior to their taking over responsibility for the evaluation of new drugs in specific areas of the world.

Candidates should have several years' experience of general medicine, at least to senior registrar level, and be aged between 30 and 35.

This presents an exceptional opportunity for academically bright medical graduates to embark on a stimulating career in a scientifically orientated organisation with world-wide research facilities.

Preliminary interviews will be held in London.
