

More to overweight than meets the eye?

How many cases of obesity have emotional stress as a major underlying factor? In most cases, overeating is rooted in anxiety and similar emotional tensions^{1, 2, 3, 4, 5} – so that treatment must not merely curb the appetite but must also compensate for the solace formerly obtained from overeating^{1, 2, 3}. Durophet-M does just that. It contains a calmative, methaqualone, to counter underlying tensions, and laevo- and dextro-amphetamine, ratio 1:3. Durophet-M provides better treatment for the compulsive overeater than simple appetite depressants because it both controls the appetite and combats the emotional factors present in nearly all cases of obesity^{1, 2}.

DUROPHET-M 12½ mg. capsules contain: amphetamine 6.25 mg., dexamphetamine 6.25 mg., methaqualone 40 mg., as ion-exchange resin complexes.

DUROPHET-M 20 mg. capsules contain: amphetamine 10 mg., dexamphetamine 10 mg., methaqualone 40 mg., as ion-exchange resin complexes.

Dosage: one capsule daily at breakfast. Side-effects are infrequent, mild and transient. Dryness of the mouth, hyperactivity and other signs of mild central nervous stimulation may occur in some patients.

DUROPHET-M is contra-indicated in patients under treatment with monoamine-oxidase (MAO) inhibitors. It should be used with caution in severe hypertension and cardiovascular disease, and in patients hypersensitive to sympathomimetic agents.

you need 'Ilosone' in the forward line

'Ilosone' excels as a first-line treatment for acute upper respiratory tract and bronchopulmonary infections of bacterial origin.

'Ilosone' is effective against a wide range of infections, but it is much more active than the tetracyclines against Gram-positive cocci - by far the commonest pathogens of the respiratory tract. Unlike the tetracyclines, however, 'Ilosone' has extremely low toxicity, virtually no sensitising potential - and it has negligible effect on the normal bacteria of the gut.

By selecting 'Ilosone' as your first-line treatment you ensure a rapid response in most cases - with much less risk of complications.

Optimising the environment for general practice

CONTRIBUTION OF HERWOOD DOUBLE GLAZING

The trend towards group practice is an important (but by no means the only) factor predisposing practitioners to take a new and critical look at their working environment.

Does the waiting room maintain an equable 60° F? Is the examination room a comfortable 70° to 75° F? And are both free from draughts, noise and condensation?

Herwood double glazing can help materially in bringing about these conditions. It shuts out cold, draughts and noise without structural alterations, without interference to existing decor. Custom-built, metal-framed units are quickly fitted by experts, leave windows openable, give much better sound insulation than most other systems.

Herwood also improve the financial environment—for fuel savings start immediately and are most substantial. Personal loan plan permits payment for installation out of fuel economies. Herwood double glazing can, in certain circumstances, qualify for an improvement grant (see Ministry of Health leaflet ECN 529) and in all cases we offer a 10% special discount to the medical profession.

MEDICAL PRIORITY SERVICE

Herwood will gladly give priority to medical installations, without extra charge. This service operates all the year round; but it is clearly better to install Herwood double glazing now for extra prompt attention and complete readiness for the first of the cold weather when it comes.

Please send for full details to Herwood Insulation Company Limited, Department BMJ 1, Grove Mills, Wide Lane, Morley, Yorkshire. Tel.: Morley 4353.

ANTIBIOTICS AND THE INTESTINAL FLORA

Treatment with broad spectrum antibiotics suppresses the normal flora, which may be replaced by abnormal resistant organisms causing diarrhoea.

This change can be prevented or reversed by the implantation of Lactobacillus acidophilus which has been rendered antibiotic-resistant, and is thus able to multiply freely under these abnormal conditions. The products of growth of the organism are inimical to that of many other bacteria^{1,2} and thus contribute to its rapid preponderance over other species.

Oral treatment with antibiotic-resistant L. acidophilus in the form of ENPAC has been shown to eliminate Candida from the faeces of infants with antibiotic-induced diarrhoea, with relief of symptoms succeeded by rapid gain in weight^{3,4} and greatly to reduce the numbers of staphylococci in the faeces of patients treated with tetracyclines.⁵

When the presence of slough delays healing...

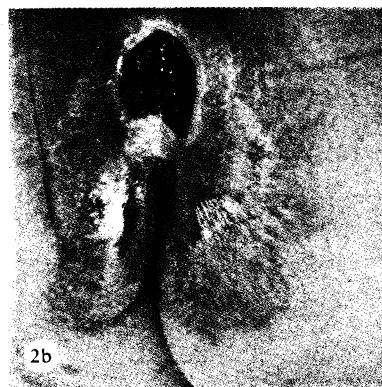

1a. This burn was treated by immediate suture. After twenty-four hours there was partial sphacelus of the flaps and suppuration.

1b. This picture, taken three weeks later, shows the complete healing resulting from treatment with Aserbine. No systemic antibiotics were used.

2a. A sacral ulcer in a paraplegic patient. Grafting and other treatment has failed. Aserbine produced complete desloughing and cleansing within fifteen days.

2b. Three months later. This picture shows almost complete epithelialization. No treatment other than Aserbine was used.

... in burns, pressure sores, varicose ulcers, trophic ulcers, etc.
... experience has shown that ASERBINE is a true desloughing agent which does not affect living tissue.

Presentation

Aserbine is available as a cream (100 G. jars) and as a solution (500 ml. bottles).

Method of Application

Aserbine Cream should be applied once or twice daily. Aserbine Solution should be applied as a wet dressing and it is important to keep the dressing moist.

Why is Penbritin such an important antibiotic Lower Respiratory Tract Infections

Last time, doctor, we talked about the use of Penbritin in upper respiratory tract infections. Because it's so effective there, we might naturally expect its use to extend . . .

. . . to the lower respiratory tract—particularly for bronchitis and pneumonia?

Right. Here we need an antibiotic that penetrates deep into the lung tissue, and then destroys the bacteria. That's exactly how Penbritin works. First, deep penetration of lung tissue, then, effective bactericidal action against most of the likely pathogens.

What about H. influenzae? Isn't that supposed to be one of the most troublesome organisms, difficult to eradicate because of low sensitivity to most antibiotics?

It's less of a problem now, because Penbritin has been shown to have the highest activity of any antibiotic against H. influenzae.¹ Couple that with Penbritin's very high activity against pneumococci, streptococci and sensitive staphylococci, and you'll see just why it's so important—especially in the Paediatric field.

125 mg. q.d.s. as Paediatric tablets or syrup is usually effective, but you may give larger initial doses to the more severely ill child.

You say larger doses—can blood and tissue levels be increased with safety?

Yes. That's another advantage of Penbritin. It has the safety of a penicillin. Blood levels rise proportionally with dosage, in fact concentrations can be increased considerably without increasing risk of side-effects. Also, because Penbritin is bactericidal in action, the organism cannot become active again after treatment ends, as is a possibility with the bacteriostatic antibiotics.

How does Penbritin compare with penicillin G/streptomycin in the treatment of pneumonia?

Well, last year there was a hospital trial comparing oral Penbritin in 250 mg. dosages with injected penicillin G/streptomycin. The conclusion was that Penbritin . . . appears to be at least as effective as penicillin and streptomycin . . .² Of course you'll see the immediate advantages to the G.P. of results like these from an oral antibiotic.

PERPHENAZINE BP

Trade Mark

the ideal tranquilliser in general practice

There is sometimes a tendency to regard Fentazin and related phenothiazine derivatives as powerful drugs, indicated principally for the treatment of frank psychosis. In general practice it has been more usual to treat patients suffering from anxiety or tension states with drugs thought to be less potent, the so-called minor tranquillisers or the barbiturates. Among their other actions, these drugs depress cortical function and may produce impairment of judgment and of ability to think. The effect of these drugs is apparently attractive to certain types of patients, for addiction to them is by no means uncommon. On the other hand, Fentazin and the group of potent phenothiazine tranquillisers to which it belongs are virtually without sedative effect and appear to reduce anxiety, agitation and restlessness in a much more specific way than do the general cortical depressants. These advantages indicate Fentazin as the preparation of first choice in the day-to-day management of many forms of functional psychiatric disturbances in preference to drugs that may impair judgment and co-ordination in such tasks as motor-driving and have a known tendency to cause addiction or dependence.¹

The low doses of Fentazin needed for the relief of non-psychotic anxiety and tension rarely give rise to side effects, or to potentiation of other drugs, including alcohol. With a low-dosage, potent phenothiazine derivative, such as Fentazin, there is a striking absence of drowsiness. "Side effects with perphenazine are remarkably infrequent . . . Perphenazine produced rapid improvement in many patients."²

A few years ago a psychiatrist³ reviewed his own experience and that of others with perphenazine (Fentazin), after 8 years clinical usage and he formed the opinion that Fentazin is most effective against tension, anxiety, agitation and psychomotor excitement. He concludes this review as follows:

"This re-appraisal of perphenazine after 8 years of extensive clinical experience, by thousands of physicians among an estimated 25 million patients, demonstrates that this drug belongs to the small group of pharmaceuticals that have passed the test of time. Perphenazine has proved to be an effective and safe drug which seldom causes serious side effects."⁴

More recently it has been said of perphenazine that it "is useful for relieving anxiety, tension and distress in psychosomatic disorders and in physical illness and disabilities."⁴

FENTAZIN controls all degrees of anxiety, psychomotor over-activity and agitation without depriving the patient of his mental acuity. FENTAZIN calms and tranquillises without drowsiness or interference with the ability to think.

Side effects. Fentazin administered in the recommended doses rarely gives rise to side effects. Any that occur may be regarded as due to individual sensitivity to phenothiazine tranquillisers and are quickly reversible by withdrawal of the drug.

Cautions. FENTAZIN is contra-indicated in patients known to be suffering from leucopenia or being treated with drugs liable to cause bone marrow depression. While FENTAZIN is effective in the treatment of hyperemesis gravidarum, morning sickness and anxiety states associated with early pregnancy, it should not be administered during the period without full consideration of recent suggestions that drug therapy during the first trimester is undesirable.

Dosage. Average adult dosage is 12 mg a day in divided doses. In severe cases the dosage may be increased but should not exceed 24 mg a day.

Presentation. DUOLETS contain 3 mg perphenazine in an outer layer for prompt action—an inner core contains a further 3 mg enclosed in a special barrier for timed release. One FENTAZIN Duolet thus maintains therapy for 8–12 hours. Available in packs of 50 and 250 Duolets.

TABLETS contain 2 mg, 4 mg and 8 mg. Available in packs of 50 and 500 tablets.

SYRUP contains 3 mg in each 5 ml teaspoonful. Available in bottles of 142 ml (5 fluid ozs) and 2 litres.

INJECTION SOLUTION contains 5 mg in each ml. Available in boxes of 5 and 100 ampoules.

It's the truth. Alphosyl is the most widely prescribed product used specifically for the treatment of psoriasis. Alphosyl Lubricating Cream is the newer form of Alphosyl, clinically proven for psoriasis—especially in the intertriginous areas.

In these areas where dry, scaly lesions cause constant friction and continuous irritation, Alphosyl Lubricating Cream not only removes scales and crusts, but enhances lubrication of the skin folds to lessen irritation. It has proved effective even in resistant cases.

Alphosyl therapy (either Lotion or Cream) can now be adjusted to fit the patient's individual needs... or preference.

Why do Heinz pack baby foods in cans and jars?

It is entirely a question of mother's convenience. Some mothers prefer jars because they allow the contents to be seen and are easier to open.

Jars also have the advantage that lids can be replaced when only a portion of the food has been used, though this does not mean that the contents will keep any longer than in an opened can.

Most mothers prefer the cans because they are more economical and there is no risk of breakage, nor of the contents deteriorating through exposure to light.

Choice in packs, choice in sizes and choice of 75 varieties—these are just some of the ways Heinz answer mothers' varied needs.

For details of the nutritive value of Heinz Baby Foods, and a specimen copy of the booklet 'From Milk to Mixed Diet', please write to: Food Science Advisory Service, H. J. Heinz Co. Ltd., Hayes Park, Hayes, Middlesex.

Glaxo

Have you seen how quickly Tinaderm clears athlete's foot?

The success story of Tinaderm (1% tolnaftate) is due entirely to the advantages inherent in this remarkable new topical fungicide. Patients appreciate the soothing effect, prompt relief of symptoms (often within 48 hours) and rapid clearance of lesions. Tolnaftate is not a keratolytic agent; it does not cause desquamation but penetrates the lesion to kill the offending fungus. Tinaderm may safely be applied to raw areas and does not sting, stick or stain and has no odour. Clearly Tinaderm is not 'just another preparation' for fungal infections of the skin. Where others have failed Tinaderm usually works.

Homogenisation ensures that the nutrients in Ostermilk are dispersed throughout the feed. Even on standing, there is minimal separation of nutrients. Fats and the fat soluble vitamins A and D do not become concentrated at the end of the feed where they may not be taken at all — or the fat may cause vomiting. Because the fat doesn't separate out, all the feeds for the day may be mixed at the same time and bottles and other utensils are far easier to wash after use. Thus there are sound medical and practical reasons for recommending homogenised Ostermilk.

Systemic steroids?
Betnesol Tablets
provide the benefits of betamethasone . . .

Whenever steroid therapy is justified, there is particular advantage in using the steroid Betnesol (betamethasone). Its exceptionally high anti-inflammatory activity ensures swift suppression of symptoms with the minimal risk of side effects. Normally devoid of salt retaining activity betamethasone is unlikely to cause oedema or hypertension. It has negligible effect on potassium balance. The superior potency of betamethasone gives therapeutic effectiveness at very low and economical dosage levels.

... enhanced by the
solubility

Betnesol Tablets contain betamethasone as the soluble disodium phosphate. Dropped into a glass of water, the tablets effervesce and dissolve to form a clear palatable drink. There is clinical evidence that Betnesol is absorbed more efficiently than the relatively insoluble forms of corticosteroids when given by mouth.* Because Betnesol is so well absorbed, it has the most constant therapeutic effect. The absence of solid steroid particles ensures better tolerance with less risk of gastric disturbance. This simple means of administration is especially helpful in the treatment of children or the elderly or patients who find any tablet difficult to swallow.

Glaxo brief

Re-examine the evidence for the "overall superiority" of Betnovate

In a double-blind clinical study* Betnovate (betamethasone 17-valerate) was compared with five other commonly used topical steroids in the treatment of 345 cases of eczema and 462 cases of psoriasis. The other steroids in the trial were fluocinolone, triamcinolone, flurandrenolone, betamethasone phosphate and hydrocortisone. Ointments containing each steroid in its marketed strength were applied conventionally or under occlusive plastic dressings to bilateral symmetrical lesions. The results obtained showed "the overall superiority of betamethasone 17-valerate". The authors concluded "in the treatment of psoriasis and eczema, the findings show that a better response is more likely with betamethasone 17-valerate than with any of the other corticosteroids tested".

ADVERTISMENT

UNIVERSITY OF EXETER
Postgraduate Medical Institute

A full-time postgraduate course lasting ten weeks will begin on October 2, 1967. These courses are held three times a year starting in October, January and April. Each course includes instruction in general medicine, paediatrics, preventive medicine, pathology, psychiatry, orthopaedics and general surgery. The programme is planned so that students wishing to specialize in a particular clinical subject are given facilities to do so while other students are taught in each of the main clinical departments. Unpaid clinical attachments can be arranged at the end of the course for students requiring a longer period of training.

It is sometimes possible to accept general practitioners for one or two weeks of a course, and attendance for this period is recognized under Section 48 of the N.H.S. Act (1946). These courses are also recognized under the special scheme for the re-training for general practice of doctors who have been out of the health service for at least five years.

The fee for this course will be £40 (£60 for students from outside the United Kingdom). Further particulars and application forms for these courses are obtainable from the Director, the Postgraduate Medical Institute, the University, Exeter, Devonshire. (11237)

UNIVERSITY OF SURREY

The Department of Biological Sciences offers three year courses in human biology and in microbiology leading to honours B.Sc. degrees. Those reading for human biology may take a nursing option, in which an additional period of 1½ years leads to state registration.

THE BOARD OF MANAGEMENT OF ALFRED HOSPITAL

Applications invited from legally qualified medical practitioners for the position of DIRECTOR OF REHABILITATION SERVICES

Alfred Hospital conducts a convalescent and rehabilitation division at Caulfield Hospital, for patients transferred from the general teaching hospitals in the southern suburbs of Melbourne (Prince Henry's and Alfred Hospitals).

The division comprises 158 in-patient beds for convalescent and rehabilitation patients, and an out-patient service (day hospital) for rehabilitation patients.

The Director is responsible to the Medical Superintendent, Alfred Hospital, for the conduct of this division, and is assisted by a staff of Resident Medical Officers, Medical Social Workers, Physiotherapists, Occupational Therapists, Speech Therapists, Trade Instructors and Employment Officers.

In addition, he is required to conduct consultative clinics at the two teaching hospitals and to consult with the staffs of these hospitals regarding patients requiring rehabilitation.

As the patients may come from all medical specialties, the appointee should have a broad general medical experience. Special qualifications and experience in rehabilitation are desirable.

Salary and conditions are according to the scale determined by the Hospitals and Charities Commission of Victoria. For an appointee without a postgraduate qualification the scale is $A7,261 to $A9,383 according to experience. For one with an appropriate qualification, the scale is up to $A11,699 according to experience.

Superannuation is available. In addition, the appointee may be granted the right of limited private practice.

Further information may be obtained from the Medical Superintendent.

Applications, in writing, giving details of age, qualifications, experience, and date when available to commence duty, will be received by the undersigned, until October 16, 1967. —G. B. Canham, Manager. (H.4246)

Obstetrics in General Practice

Published July 1966

This book is made up of a series of articles printed in the "Current Practice" section of the BRITISH MEDICAL JOURNAL. It is designed to give a lucid and practical account of obstetrics as it is carried out in the patient's home or in a maternity unit, with special emphasis on the role of the general practitioner and his relationship to the consultant obstetrician and the hospital. The principal authors are consultant obstetricians, but to ensure that the general practitioner's own view and special experience should be represented the consultant contributors were asked to prepare their articles in collaboration with general practitioners. The book as a whole is a product of such co-operative effort. It will prove a useful guide to this important branch of medical practice.
