The results of a recent double-blind crossover trial of Cetiprin suggest that "the drug may alter the established habit of rising at night to pass urine." 1

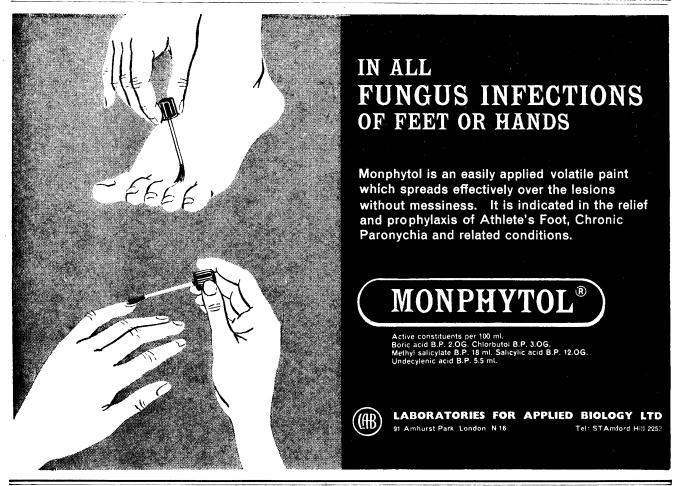

"This trial showed that emepronium bromide (Cetiprin) given in dosage of 150 mgs. on going to bed, effectively diminished nocturnal frequency of micturition in aged women. On the basis of a double-blind crossover trial an important difference emerged between those participants given the placebo before the drug, and those given the drug first. In the first case, there is little effect with the placebo but a moderate effect with the drug. In the latter case, there is a more marked effect with the drug – and this is carried over into the placebo period."²

"Nocturnal frequency of micturition is one of the trials of old age. In a previous paper we have shown it to be present in 64% of the total elderly population (70% of males and 61% of females of 65 years and over)."³

Problem: in asthma and chronic bronchitis spasm + sputum = distress for the patient

Now, Alupent = control of spasm and Bisolvon = control of sputum

- :. Alupent + Bisolvon = control of spasm + control of sputum
 But Alupent + Bisolvon = New Alupent Expectorant
- Alupent Expectorant = dual control of spasm and sputum...

 Quod Erat Demonstrandum

Composition: Each tablet contains Alupent (orciprenaline sulphate B.P.) 20 mg. and Bisolvon (bromhexine hydrochloride) 8 mg. Each 5 ml. mixture contains Alupent 10 mg. and Bisolvon 4 mg.

Indications: Alupent Expectorant is indicated in conditions in which both bronchospasm and thick, sticky, non-infected sputum are present, e.g. asthma, non-infected phases of chronic bronchitis. During infected episodes a suitable antibiotic should be given in addition to Alupent Expectorant.

Contra-Indications: Alupent: Alupent should not be given to patients with thyrotoxicosis. In view of the known interaction between sympathomimetic amines and mono-amine oxidase inhibitors, care should be exercised if it is proposed to administer an MAO inhibitor concurrently with Alupent.

Bisolvon: No absolute contra-indications but observe caution in the use of Bisolvon in patients with gastric ulcer-

Precautions: When patients under treatment for tuberculosis are receiving Bisolvon, sputum cultures for tubercle bacilli should be continued for at least three months before a negative result may be assumed.

Side-effects: Alupent: Transient sympathomimetic side-effects, such as tachycardia, headaches and dizziness may occur, but these are rarely severe and should respond to dosage adjustment. Abdominal discomfort and nausea may occur.

Bisolvon: Mild gastro-intestinal side effects may occur in some patients. During treatment with Bisolvon, a transient rise in serum transaminase levels may be observed in some patients but these levels should fall again as treatment continues, even in patients in whom there pre-exists some impairment in hepatic function.

Dosage: Tablets: Adults, 1 four times daily; children 5-10 years, ½ three or four times daily; children under 5 years, mixture recommended.

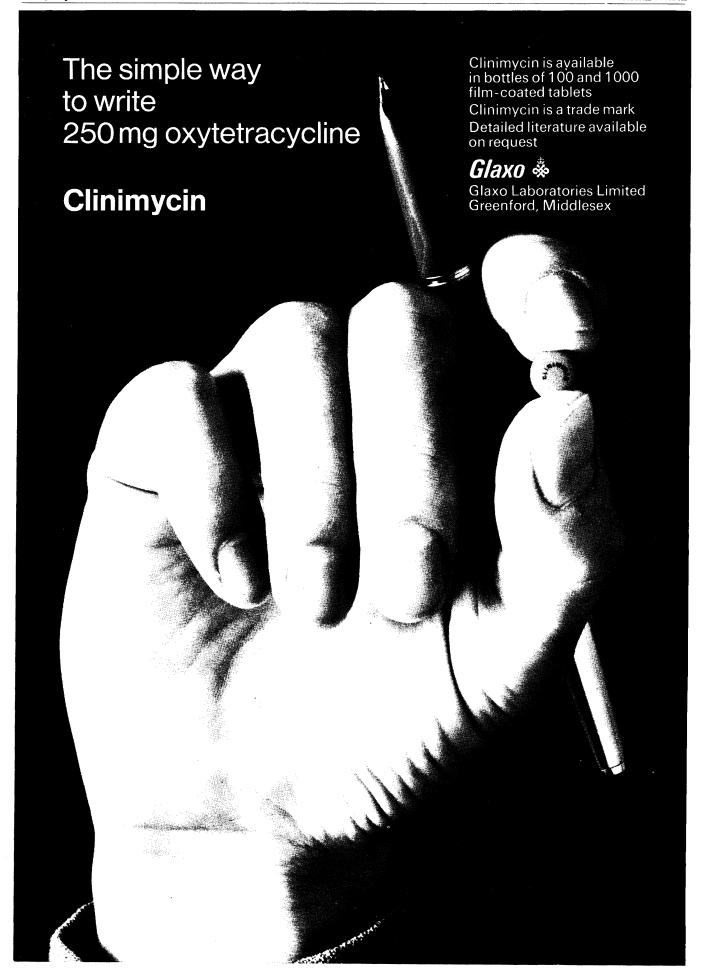

Mixture: Adults, two 5 ml. spoonfuls four times daily; children 5-10 years, one 5 ml. spoonful three or four times daily; children under 5 years, one 5 ml. spoonful twice daily.

Availability: Tablets, containers of 30 and 250; Mixture, bottles of 300 ml.

DOSE

ONE TABLET DAILY THROUGHOUT PREGNANCY

It is now known beyond doubt that megaloblastic anaemia of pregnancy is caused by deficiency of folic acid.

From the very excellent results obtained over the years by the prophylactic use of folic acid and iron given orally from the beginning of pregnancy it is becoming more and more generally accepted that anaemia of pregnancy can be prevented. The question of the optimum dose of folic acid has not been easy to establish but recent work* suggests that not less than 300 mcg. and not more than 400 mcg. daily can be considered adequate.

In the light of this knowledge Folex-350 containing 350 mcg. of folic acid and 308 mg. of ferrous fumarate has been introduced.

Haelan certainly is effective—it contains flurandrenolone, one of the most powerful steroids for topical use. Haelan has the right concentration of flurandrenolone (0.0125%) to resolve most steroidresponsive skin conditions without undue risk of systemic side effects. But there's more to Haelan than that.

Because flurandrenolone is so active, Haelan provides an ample quantity of base for easy application, and the big 60G (2 oz) tube is large enough to treat the average patient without the need for repeat prescriptions. Last, but by no means least, Haelan, at less than 2½d per gramme is clearly economical.

We'll help you feel at home abroad.

We have a couple of helpful schemes for people who want to take a car abroad.

If you're about to leave Britain you can take a 'tax-free' Ford with you. And, before you go, you can run it in this country for up to 6 months. So with this in mind, we rustled up our personal Export Scheme.

But if you're coming home temporarily, you can also buy a Ford free of purchase tax. Provided you've been away at least a year. And you return abroad again within 12 months. In this case use our Visit Europe Scheme.

Both schemes mean that Ford's personal service doesn't stop at Dover. We'll arrange to ship your car anywhere in the world. And wherever you go, you'll find a Ford service depot. But if you do get stuck, we'll fly a spare part out specially.

So, although you're abroad, it won't seem all that far from home.

by a comfortable margin. In a recent report of a comparative trial* involving three antihypertensive agents satisfactory control of blood pressure was obtained with each drug.

With 'Esbatal' for instance, a standing diastolic pressure of 100 mm. Hg or less was achieved in 75% of cases. The authors pointed out that 'Esbatal', guanethidine and methyldopa are probably similar in their ability to control blood pressure. It was found, however, that 'Esbatal' produced fewer uncomfortable side-effects and was preferred by more patients than were the other agents.

In contrast to the other drugs, all the patients on 'Esbatal' were able to complete the course of treatment.

An aid to oral hygiene

Maintenance of oral hygiene during the postoperative period, especially among geriatric patients, is obviously essential. But at the same time this can prove to be somewhat timeconsuming for the nursing staff.

However, recent experience in a London hospital has shown that the patient can help to provide his own nursing care, with the minimum of effort.

This experience covers patients who are fed intravenously and post-operative cases who find normal cating and drinking difficult. These patients often exhibit signs of mouth infection very quickly, and treatment for this can often cause considerable discomfort.

A more pleasant treatment is possible in many cases, for it has been found that giving the patient chewing gum promotes salivary gland activity. Patients are encouraged to chew gum at two-hourly periods, and this treatment frequently allays the symptoms and produces a considerable improvement in the condition of the tongue and mucosa. Quite striking results have been noted after carrying out this treatment for a 24-hour period.

in staphylococcal septicaemia powerful · bactericidal · antistaphylococcal

The potential severity of staphylococcal septicaemia demands prompt antibacterial therapy—often well before sensitivity reports become available. FUCIDIN is rapidly and easily absorbed, and gives serum levels which are bactericidal against almost all pathogenic staphylococcal strains; FUCIDIN exhibits remarkable ability to reach the nidus of infection despite poverty of blood supply or presence of pus. For early control of these dangerous infections FUCIDIN has proved a reliable and economical choice—in over five years of clinical use. For full literature and prescribing information please write to the Medical Information Department.
