anxiety/depression—

patient — with

LIMBITROL*

Conflicting symptoms often merge imperceptibly into the ill-defined syndrome in which anxiety and depression co-exist.<sup>1</sup> The problem of mixed anxiety and depression is ubiquitous.<sup>2</sup> The solution in 70 per cent of patients is the single therapy of Limbitrol:<sup>3</sup> tranquilliser and anti-depressant in one capsule for co-ordinated treatment of some of the complex disturbances of Homo sapiens.

1. "The overtly depressed patient is usually anxious, tense or agitated as well, while in the predominantly anxious patient an underlying depression can often be discerned if care is taken to look for it." Brit. J. clin. Pract., 1967, 21, 348.

2. Over 10 per cent of all patients seen in general practice may be suffering from mixed anxiety and depression: J. roy. Coll. Gen. Practit., 1968, 15, 107; Proc. IV Int. Congr. Neuropsychopharmacology, 1967, p. 717.

3. 70 per cent of 3,500 patients in initial trials showed 'good' or 'very good' response to Limbitrol (unpublished data). In a comparative trial twice as many patients were 'greatly' improved on Limbitrol as on amitriptyline alone — Brit. J. Psychiat., 1967, 113, 993.

Temperature can rise so quickly in tonsillitis

The child is burning hot. He wants to sleep. His throat is so sore he can hardly swallow at all. The tonsils are red and swollen, the fauces narrowed. A typical case of acute tonsillitis in a young child. You look for a treatment that is effective quickly, and easy to take.

You decide to prescribe Broxil. It is absorbed rapidly. For children, the elderly or patients who have extreme difficulty in swallowing, you probably prefer Broxil Syrup.

Otherwise capsules and tablets are available.

Broxil works. In practice patients do seem to get better quicker with Broxil. It has the excellent safety record of a well-tried penicillin.

For upper respiratory, ENT, soft tissue infections, no other antibiotic treatment can match up to Broxil's record of safety and effectiveness over ten years of practice.

Don't you think your patients should be told?

Punch has changed a lot in the last few years

Unfortunately, the most recent copy in some waiting rooms was published around the time you took 2nd MB.

Which — Punch being topical as well as funny — is not much use to patients who like to examine the funnier sides of this year's happenings.

So we suggest you do these three things:

1 Treat yourself to some remedial humour. Become a paid up Punch subscriber.

2 Share your good humour with your patients. Each Wednesday, when you get your latest copy, pass last week's issue across to the waiting room.

3 Retrieve your old copies, every few years. One day, a collector might pay as much for them as you did.

It'll cost you just £5. 15s. a year to enjoy Punch each week. This is a special offer to readers of the British Medical Journal and represents a saving of 15/- on the normal annual subscription. Post the coupon today.

Road Accidents and the Family Doctor

Road accidents are now acknowledged to be one of the major epidemics of our time. It has been estimated that as many as a quarter of accident deaths could be saved by skilled treatment at the site of the accident, and recently doctors in Britain and abroad have been playing an increasingly active part in this. This booklet, which reprints a series of articles which appeared in the B.M.J. last autumn, contains contributions on organization and medical equipment, the management of soft-tissue injuries, resuscitation, fractures of the spine, and extrication of persons trapped in a vehicle. The introduction is written by Mr. Norman Capener, Chairman of the Medical Commission on Accident Prevention.

Heart-risk people and polyunsaturates

Diet is related to coronary disease. It is not the only factor and the relationship is still far from clear, but already considerable concern has been expressed about the amount of animal fats most of us are eating.

So to be on the safe side, it is suggested that we limit our consumption of fats to no more than 40% of our calorie intake, and as far as possible make sure the fats are polyunsaturated.

This means all of us, not just the incipient heart case, and the younger we start the better.

Flora vegetable oil margarine was designed a few years ago to meet just this situation, and recently its polyunsaturate content—already high—was almost doubled. It tastes noticeably good, spreads easily, cooks well, and can be bought in almost any supermarket.

Everything you need to make Flora the kind of advice that people are likely to take.

in bronchitis more effective than ampicillin or tetracycline

Compared with ampicillin

In a controlled single-blind trial involving 50 patients with chronic bronchitis SEPTRIN* was shown to be more effective than ampicillin, with reference to reduction of sputum volume and purulence.

Sputum volume reduction

There was a significantly greater reduction in mean sputum volume after treatment with SEPTRIN than after treatment with ampicillin.

Sputum purulence reduction

23 out of 24 cases with purulent sputum receiving SEPTRIN improved (using MRC sputum grading) as compared with 16 cases out of 22 cases with purulent sputum receiving ampicillin who improved in this respect. The success rate for SEPTRIN was significantly higher than for ampicillin.

Clinical improvement

Clinically, 24 out of 25 cases receiving SEPTRIN responded as compared with 19 out of 25 receiving ampicillin.

Compared with tetracycline

In a trial designed to compare the effect of SEPTRIN with that of tetracycline in the treatment of chronic bronchitis, it was found that a week's course with SEPTRIN was more beneficial than a week's course of tetracycline.

24 patients received SEPTRIN and 22 received tetracycline, and objective data was collected from the two groups at the beginning and at the end of treatment.

Sputum volume

The decrease in mean sputum volume after treatment, as a fraction of the initial measurements, was significantly larger for the SEPTRIN group.

Sputum purulence

Objective grading of reduction in purulence of the sputum showed better results with SEPTRIN than with tetracycline at the end of treatment.

in cerebral ischaemia duvadilan helps arteries to help themselves

When cerebral arteries begin to lose their elasticity through sclerosis and atheroma, or vascular tone gives way to vasospasm, impaired blood flow may give rise to symptoms like dizziness, headache, forgetfulness, disorientation and irritability.

Although little can be done for an artery which has completely sclerosed, treatment with

DUVADILAN in the early stage of the disease can delay the further deterioration of the clinical condition and reduce the number of ischaemic attacks.<sup>1,2,7</sup>

DUVADILAN (isoxsuprine hydrochloride) has a unique mode of action.<sup>1,3,4,5,6</sup> It stimulates the  $\beta$  receptors of vascular smooth muscle which relieves vasospasm<sup>2,9</sup> and simultaneously blocks the  $\alpha$  receptors to prevent rebound vasoconstriction<sup>4,5,8</sup> which can be a problem with some vasodilators.

DUVADILAN fully exploits collateral vessels threatened by spasm and any remaining elasticity in a partially sclerosed artery, increasing the supply of oxygen and nourishment to starved tissues before they become irreversibly damaged.

It is important that patients should be kept on DUVADILAN for at least 6 weeks to allow time for clinical improvement to become apparent.

DUVADILAN acts primarily on vascular smooth muscle.<sup>1,2,3,4,6,8,9</sup> Thus, even though an artery may be partly sclerosed any elasticity which remains in that artery, or in the surrounding vessels, is utilised to improve blood supply. "Nocturnal frequency of micturition is present in 64% of the total elderly population (70% of males and 61% of females of 65 years and over)".<sup>1</sup>

The results of a double-blind crossover trial of CETIPRIN (emepronium bromide) suggest that "the drug may alter the established habit of rising at night to pass urine".<sup>2</sup> CETIPRIN increases bladder capacity and delays the first desire to void urine, but as frequency of urination may have become established as a habit as well as a physiological weakness, it is wise to persist with treatment for at least 14 to 21 days. Improvement in the patient's condition is manifest by the enjoyment of uninterrupted sleep and a new feeling of physical and mental well-being.

DOSAGE

Adults and Geriatric patients:

1. Nightly tenesmus: 100 mg at bedtime. In chronic cases it may be necessary to use 200 mg and reduce the dose when control is established.

2. Urinary frequency and severe incontinence in old people: 100-200 mg three times daily.

The Ideal Suture. DEXON.

Davis + Geck introduce DEXON polyglycolic acid suture.

- * A completely new kind of suture material.
- * It is synthetic, inert, and is absorbed uniformly, predictably, and progressively.
- * Its use results in less tissue reaction than gut, cotton, or silk.
- * It has high tensile strength and handles like silk.

New DEXON* is a major scientific discovery. This unique suture material combines strength with supple handling. It is non-protein, physiologically inert, and is absorbed predictably, uniformly and progressively, with less tissue reaction than gut, cotton, or silk. These unique qualities make it the ideal replacement for both absorbable and non-absorbable sutures in most surgical procedures (see Indications below).

DEXON meets criteria commonly accepted for the ideal suture.

1. It is absorbed by the tissues at a uniform and predictable rate. It stays strong during the critical wound-healing period even in the presence of infection.

2. In contrast to gut, DEXON is physiologically inert and is absorbed with minimal tissue reaction, resulting in less pain.
3. Tests show that knot-pull strength of DEXON approximates to that of the strongest synthetics.
4. DEXON is braided and has excellent handling properties similar to silk.
5. Unlike other synthetics, DEXON has excellent knot-holding properties.

Summary

DEXON polyglycolic acid sutures are sterile, absorbable, non-toxic, and non-collagenous. Polyglycolic acid is a synthetic polymer which is primarily hydrolysed and not digested like gut and collagen through enzymatic action. DEXON sutures are uniform in size and tensile strength, but are smaller in diameter than other absorbable surgical sutures of equivalent gauge.

Indications

DEXON sutures may be used for tissue repair where absorbable and non-absorbable materials are generally used, and may be removed or allowed to remain until complete absorption occurs. DEXON sutures are also currently being evaluated in clinical trials for cardiovascular, neural, and ophthalmic surgery. DEXON is not recommended for use in procedures where extended approximation of tissue must be maintained.

PAROVEN® in varicose veins and post phlebitic syndrome

Recent clinical and double blind trials<sup>1 2</sup> have confirmed that PAROVEN provides outstanding relief of symptoms due to chronic venous insufficiency or back pressure. Particularly good results were obtained in night cramps, heavy legs and chronic aching pain. Other symptoms which respond to long-term therapy with Paroven include:

superficial thrombophlebitis, varicose ulcers, varicose eczema, ankle oedema, restless legs, paraesthesia, haemorrhoids.

Dosage Initial treatment: 4 capsules a day, preferably with meals. Maintenance treatment: 1-2 capsules a day.

Side effects and Precautions In a few patients, slight gastro-intestinal disorders, flushes and headaches have been reported. These are usually overcome by taking the capsules with meals or by slight adjustment of dosage. There are no known contra-indications to Paroven; it is virtually non-toxic and has no teratogenic effects. In keeping with current teaching and practice its use during the first trimester should, however, be avoided.

Availability Capsules, each containing 250 mg of 0-( $\beta$  hydroxyethyl) - rutosides (not less than 45% troxerutin), in bottles of 20 and 100 capsules.
